Such application must be upon the form prescribed by the Board, verified by oath, and accompanied by the required fee and a recent unmounted autographed photograph of the applicant. Any license issued to a person who is a citizen of a foreign country and who has duly declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States shall automatically terminate and the registration of the candidate be annulled in the event such candidate shall fail to submit to the Board satisfactory evidence within six years from the date of such license that he has become a citizen of the United States. (July 2, 1940, 54 Stat. 717, ch. 513, § 7.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Decisions under former law

Writ of mandamus will not issue when applicant has adequate remedy at law with permission to take a subsequent examination before board of dentistry. United States ex rel. McDuffie v. Hawley (1921, 269 F. 479, 50 App. D. C. 137).

§ 2–309. License—Form and execution—Registration—Duplicate licenses.

If such applicant passes the examination and is, in the opinion of the Board, of good moral character, he shall receive a license from the Board, attested by its seal, signed by the members of the Board, and registered with the director of public health, which, after being registered with the director of public health, shall be conclusive evidence of his right to practice dentistry in the District of Columbia. If the loss of a license is satisfactorily shown, a duplicate thereof shall be issued by the Board upon payment of the required fee. (July 2, 1940, 54 Stat. 718, ch. 513, § 9; Aug. 1, 1950, 64 Stat. 393, ch. 513, § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

"Director of public health" substituted for "health officer" to conform to act Aug. 1, 1950. See note set out under section 6–101.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

The functions of the Health Officer [Now known as Director of Public Health] relative to the registration of dentists were transferred to the Director of the Department of Occupations and Professions on Jan. 21, 1964, by subsection F of part VII of Organization Order No. 59 set out in the appendix to Title I.

§ 2–310. Practice of dentistry declared to be subject to regulation and control as affecting public health and safety.

The practice of dentistry in the District of Columbia is hereby declared to affect the public health and safety and to be subject to regulation and control in the public interest. It is further declared to be a matter of public interest and concern that the dental profession merit and receive the confidence of the public and that only qualified dentists be permitted to practice dentistry in the District of Columbia. All provisions of this chapter relating to the practice of dentistry shall be construed in accordance with this declaration of policy. (July 2, 1940, 54 Stat. 718, ch. 513, § 10.)

§ 2–311. Revocation or suspension of license—Jurisdiction of court—Grounds.

The United States District Court for the District of Columbia may revoke or suspend the license of any dentist in the District of Columbia upon proof satisfactory to said court—

(a) That said license or registration was procured through fraud or misrepresentation.

(b) That the holder thereof has been convicted of an offense involving moral turpitude.

(c) That the holder thereof is guilty of chronic or persistent inebriety, or addiction to habit-forming drugs.

(d) That the holder thereof is guilty of advertising professional superiority or the performance of professional services in a superior manner; advertising prices for professional service; advertising by means of large display, glaring light signs, or containing as a part thereof the representation of a tooth, teeth, bridgework, or any portion of the human head; employing or making use of solicitors or free publicity press agents directly or indirectly; or advertising any free dental work, or free examination; or advertising to guarantee any dental service or to perform any dental operation painlessly.

(e) That such holder is guilty of conduct which disqualifies him to practice with safety to the public.

(f) That such holder is guilty of hiring, supervising, permitting, or aiding unlicensed persons to practice dentistry.

(g) That such holder, being a manager, proprietor, operator, or conductor of a place where dental operations are performed, employs a person who is not a licensed dentist to practice dentistry as defined in this chapter, or permits such persons to practice dentistry in his office.

(h) That such holder is guilty of unprofessional conduct.

The following acts on the part of a licensed dentist are hereby declared to constitute unprofessional conduct:

(1) Practicing while his license is suspended.

(2) Wilfully deceiving or attempting to deceive the Board or their agents with reference to any matter under investigation by the board.

(3) Advertising by any medium other than the carrying or publishing of a modest professional card or the display of a modest window or street sign at the licensee's office, which professional card or window or street sign shall display only the name, address, profession, office hours, telephone connections, and, if his practice is so limited, his specialty: Provided, That in case of announcement of change of address or the starting of practice, the usual size card of announcement may be used. The size of said cards or signs shall be designated by the Board.

(4) Practicing dentistry under a false or assumed name or corporate name other than a partnership name containing the names of the partners, or any name except his full proper name which shall be the name used in his license granted by the Board.

(5) Violating this chapter or aiding any person to violate this chapter or violating or aiding any person to knowingly violate the dental practice act of any state or territory.

(6) Practicing in the employment of, or in association with, any person who is practicing in an unlawful or unprofessional manner.

The foregoing specifications of acts constituting unprofessional conduct shall not be construed as a complete definition of unprofessional conduct nor as authorizing or permitting the performance of other or similar acts not denounced, or as limiting or restricting the said court from holding that other or similar acts also constitute unprofessional conduct. (July 2, 1940, 54 Stat. 718, ch. 513, § 11; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

CODIFICATION

The former law (D.C. Code, 1929 ed., title 20, §§ 213, 226, 228) gave the Board power to revoke or suspend licenses or to reinstate licenses. However, the present act contains several additional causes for revocation or suspension. See, also, Codification note under § 2–301.

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Advertising

This section, by terms of which a dentist who employs "bait advertising", large or glaring light signs, pictorial or diagrammatic exhibitions or other extravagant means of alluring or attracting patients, subjects himself to suspension or revocation of his license to practice, contains terms sufficiently definite. Johnston v. Board of Dental Examiners, D. C. (1943, 134 F. 2d 9, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 119, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1177, 319 U. S. 758, 87 L. Ed. 1710).

This section, prohibiting advertising by any medium other than display of modest sign at licensee's office which shall display only the name, address, profession, office hours, telephone connection and, if his practice is so limited, his specialty, gives dentist right to maintain a window or building sign at his office and to put on that sign any and all of such information. Id.

Regulation of Board of Dental Examiners limiting a licensee to a single advertisement not to exceed 2¼ inches in width and 1 inch in height in a copy of any newspaper or publication at one time is reasonable under this chapter. Id.

Signs

This section, authorizing Board of Dental Examiners to make regulations designating size of sign does not require that the Board consider each licensee separately in respect to location of his office building, his floor space, and local traffic conditions, etc. Johnston v. Board of Dental Examiners, D.C. (1943, 134 F. 2d 9, 77 U.S. App. D.C. 119, certiorari denied 63 S. Ct. 1177, 319 U. S. 758, 87 L. Ed. 1710).

Under this section authorizing Board of Dental Examiners to designate the size of signs of licensee, the Board has authority to designate the number of signs that a licensee may employ since the word "signs" as used in this section means aggregate signs. Id.

Regulation of Board of Dental Examiners providing that window signs and signs flush with building may not exceed 288 square inches in area with lettering limited to 3 inches in height and that signs of licensee protruding from building may not exceed 144 square inches in area with letters similarly limited to 3 inches in height is not unreasonable. Id.

Under this chapter, giving Board of Dental Examiners authority to designate size of licensee's sign, if a general dimensional regulation is reasonable and substantially effectuates the purpose of an act designed to promote public health and safety, it does not contravene U. S. Const. Amend. 5 guaranteeing "due process of law". Id.

§ 2–312. Procedure in revoking or suspending license—Petition—Appeal—Terms of suspension.

The United States District Court for the District of Columbia may suspend or revoke any license issued and any registration upon evidence showing to the satisfaction of the court that the licentiate or registrant, as the case may be, has been guilty of misconduct or is professionally incapacitated.

Proceedings looking toward the suspension or revocation of a license or registration shall be begun by petition filed in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in the name of the Board of Dental Examiners and shall be verified by oath. Proceedings shall be conducted according to the ordinary rules of equity practice and such supplementary rules as said court may deem expedient to carry into effect the purposes and intent of this chapter; and said court is hereby authorized to make such supplementary rules. An appeal may be taken from the decision of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia to the United States Court of Appeals of said District. Any such appeal on behalf of the Board of Dental Examiners may be filed without bond. The United States District Court for the District of Columbia may determine whether a license or registration shall be suspended or revoked, and if such license is to be suspended said court may determine the duration of such suspension and the conditions under which such suspension shall terminate. (July 2, 1940, 54 Stat. 719, ch. 513, § 12; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

CODIFICATION

The former law (D. C. Code, 1929 ed., title 20, § 228) provided for reinstatement of dentist or dental hygienist after revocation or suspension, but there seems to be no provisions in the present law for such reinstatement. See also, Codification note under § 2–301.

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

§ 2–313. Fees—Expenses of board—Compensation of members.

That in addition to the fees heretofore fixed herein each applicant for a license as dentist shall deposit with his application a fee of $20; with each application for a duplicate license a fee of $5 shall be paid to said Board, and for each certificate issued by said board a fee of $1 shall be paid. That out of the fees paid to said board, as provided by this chapter, there shall be defrayed all expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions herein contained, including the detection and prosecution of violations of this act, together with a fee of $10 per diem for each member of said Board for each day he may be actually engaged upon business pertaining to his official duties as such Board member: Provided, That such expense shall in no event exceed the total of receipts. (July 2, 1940, 54 Stat. 719, ch. 513, § 13.)

CODIFICATION

The former law (D.C. Code, 1929 ed., title 20, § 229) contained similar provisions and also provided for payment of unexpended funds for any fiscal year in excess of $1,000 into the Treasury of the United States to the credit of the District of Columbia. See, also, Codification note under § 2–301.

§ 2–314. Annual registration of dentists—Fees—Penalty for failure to register—Reinstatement—Copy of register to each dentist.

During the month of December of each year, every licensed dentist shall register with the secretary-treasurer of the Board his name and office address and such other information as the Board may deem necessary upon blanks obtainable from said secretary-treasurer, and thereupon pay a registration fee of $5. On or before the 1st day of November of each year it shall be the duty of the secretary-treasurer of the Board to mail to each dentist licensed in the District of Columbia, at his last-known address, a blank form for registration. In the event of failure to register on or before the 31st day of December a fine of $5 and the registration fee of $5 will be imposed, and should the practitioner fail to register and pay the fine imposed and continue to practice his profession in the District of Columbia, he shall at the end of ten days from said date be considered as practicing illegally and penalized as otherwise provided for in this chapter. If he suspends his practice he may, in the discretion of the Board, upon furnishing satisfactory evidence as to his moral character and professional standing, be reinstated at any time upon registering and paying a prescribed fee of $25. On or before the 1st day of February, annually, said board shall issue a printed register of the names and addresses so received, together with other information deemed interesting to the profession, a copy of which shall be mailed or otherwise sent to each registrant thereon. (July 2, 1940, 54 Stat. 720, ch. 513, § 14.)

CODIFICATION

The former (D.C. Code, 1929 ed., title 20, § 230) contained similar provisions; however, the registration fee was $2 and the reinstatement fee was $5. See, also, Codification note under § 2–301.

Notwithstanding the provisions of this section, no person shall be deemed to be practicing dentistry who on July 2, 1940, is operating a radiographic laboratory for the purpose of making radiographs, or giving written clinical interpretations or readings of dental radiographs, to be used solely by dentists and physicians in making diagnoses. Such expenses shall in no event exceed the total of receipts. All registration or reregistration fees shall be paid to the treasurer of the Board, and shall be paid out under the orders of the Board. It shall be the duty of the auditor of the District of Columbia to audit the accounts of the Nurses' Examining Board at the end of each fiscal year and to make report thereof in writing to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 803, Pub. L. 86–708, § 8; July 3, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

§ 2–428. Qualification requirements—Written examination—Exception—Application fee—Closed and reopened applications.

(a) Except as provided in section 2–429, an applicant for a license to practice as a licensed practical nurse shall submit to the Commissioners written evidence, verified by her oath, that the applicant (1) is at least 18 years of age; (2) is of good moral character; is in good physical and mental health, as certified by a physician licensed to practice in the District of Columbia; (4) has completed at least two years of high school or the equivalent thereof as determined by the Commissioners; and (5) has successfully completed an accredited program for the training of licensed practical nurses approved by the Commissioners, or the equivalent thereof as determined by them. The applicant shall meet such other qualification requirements as the Commissioners may prescribe. Except as otherwise provided in this subchapter, the applicant shall be required to pass a written examination in such subjects as the Commissioners may determine. Each written examination may be supplemented by an oral or practical examination. If the applicant passes such examinations, the Commissioners shall issue to the applicant a license to practice as a licensed practical nurse if they are satisfied that she possesses the required qualifications.

(b) The Commissioners may issue a license to practice as a licensed practical nurse without examination to any applicant who has been duly licensed or registered as a licensed vocational or practical nurse or a person entitled to perform similar service under a different title, by examination, under the laws of a State, territory, or possession of the United States, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or a foreign country, if they are satisfied that the applicant meets the qualifications required of licensed practical nurses in the District of Columbia.

(c) An applicant for a license to practice as a licensed practical nurse shall at the time such application is made pay the required fee for an original license. An application shall be closed and filed as closed and incomplete at the end of a year from the time that the application was received if the applicant has failed to take all steps required of her to obtain a license. In order to reopen an application which has been closed or withdrawn, the applicant shall pay the same fee as is required for an original license. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 804, Pub. L. 86–708, § 9.)

§ 2–429. Conditions for issuance of license without written examination.

(a) Upon receipt of an application, accompanied by the required fee for an original license, the Commissioners shall issue a license to practice as a licensed practical nurse, without written examination, to any person who shall make application therefor prior to the expiration of one year immediately following the effective date of this subchapter: Provided, That (A) the Commissioners find that such person (1) is at least twenty-one years of age; (2) is of good moral character; (3) is in good physical and mental health as certified by a physician licensed to practice in the District of Columbia; (4) has been actively engaged in caring for the sick in the District of Columbia for the year immediately preceding the effective date of this subchapter; (5) has had three or more years of experience in the care of the sick prior to the effective date of this subchapter; and (6) has submitted evidence satisfactory to the Commissioners that she is competent to practice as a licensed practical nurse, and (B) either the application is endorsed by two physicians licensed to practice in the District of Columbia who have personal knowledge of the applicant's nursing qualifications and by two persons who have employed the applicant in the capacity of practical nurse, or the applicant is listed on a nurses' registry licensed in the District of Columbia.

(b)(1) Upon receipt of an application, accompanied by the required fee for an original license, the Commissioners shall issue a license to practice as a licensed practical nurse, without written examination, to any person who shall make application therefor prior to the expiration of the ninetieth day immediately following the effective date of this subsection if (A) the Commissioners find that such person (i) is at least twenty-one years of age; (ii) is of good moral character; (iii) is in good physical and mental health as certified by a physician licensed to practice in the District of Columbia; (iv) has resided in the District of Columbia and been actively engaged in caring for the sick in the Washington metropolitan area for the year immediately preceding the effective date of this Act; (v) has had three or more years of experience in the care of the sick prior to the effective date of this Act; and (vi) has submitted evidence satisfactory to the Commissioners that she is competent to practice as a licensed practical nurse, and (B) either the application is endorsed by two physicians licensed to practice in the District of Columbia who have personal knowledge of the applicant's nursing qualifications and by two persons who have employed the applicant in the capacity of practical nurse, or the applicant is listed on a nurses' registry licensed in the District of Columbia.

(2) Any person whose application under subsection (a) was not approved because such person did not meet the requirement of clause (4) of such subsection may have such application reconsidered in accordance with the requirements of paragraph (1) of this subsection if, no later than the ninetieth day following the effective date of this subsection, such person makes a written request to the Commissioners for such reconsideration. Such application shall be reconsidered without additional charge to such person other than the repayment to the District of Columbia of any fee or portion thereof, paid in connection with the submission of such application under subsection (a), which may have been refunded to such person, and such person may submit, without charge, such additional information in support of such application as she may desire. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 804, Pub. L. 86–708, § 10; July 25, 1966, 80 Stat. 326, Pub. L. 89–518, § 2.)

AMENDMENT

1966—Section 2 of act July 25, 1966, designated the then existing single paragraph as subsec. (a), and added subsec. (b).

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1966 AMENDMENT

Amendment of this section by act July 25, 1966, as effective on thirtieth day following July 25, 1966, see § 3 of such act, set out in note under § 2–421.

EFFECTIVE DATE

Subchapter effective 120 days after funds are appropriated for the purpose of administering the provisions of this subchapter, see section 2–440.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Application under "grandfather clause"

Even though statute did not in express terms require that formal hearing be held when application for license as practical nurse was made under "grandfather clause", an application which substantially complied with statutory provisions could not be denied unless applicant had clear opportunity to meet Board's challenge to her qualifications and unless court was apprised of basis of finding against applicant; and while procedure of Board could be informal, it would have to conform to recognized standards of fairness, and record would have to be made which would permit review of Board's action by court. C. Corbett v. L. Kinlein et al. (D.C. App. 1963, 191 A. 2d 246).

Experience requirement

Actual experience of one year, eleven months, and eleven days plus several months more and association of nurse with practical nurses' registry and availability to work for some four years prior to enactment of Practical Nurses' Licensing Act substantially complied with grandfather clause requiring three years' experience in caring for the sick, and rejection of application for licensure as practical nurse was abuse of discretion. C. Brewster v. M. L. Kinlein et al., as members etc. (D.C. App. 1965, 209 A. 2d 788).

The statement of practical nurses' examining board that 9 months' nursing experience satisfied the 1-year experience requirement for issuance of license did not provide reasonable basis in law for board's decision denying license to one who had almost 7 months' experience. M. E. Matheson v. Practical Nurses' Examining Board (D.C. App. 1963, 195 A. 2d 402).

Findings of fact

Where an informal hearing is held and practical nurses' examining board denies application for license, there can be judicial review only if board has made findings of fact and has applied the regulations to such facts and has issued an order based on facts and regulations. M. E. Matheson v. Practical Nurses' Examining Board (D.C. App. 1963, 195 A. 2d 402).

Timeliness of application

Where petitioner did not at any time file with practical nurses' examining board an application for licensure without written examination, statute specifically providing that application for license without written examination should be made prior to expiration of one year immediately following effective date of statute precluded granting of request made three years beyond time limit for license without examination. Berry v. Kinlein (D.C. App. 1966, 219 A. 2d 850).

Timeliness of petition

Where petitioner, seeking review of decision of Practical Nurses' Examining Board denying her application to reopen proceeding before Board, did not file her motion to reopen proceedings until approximately 8 months after final decision of Board denying her a practical nurse's license, Court of Appeals lacked jurisdiction to entertain review of Board's decision denying her application to reopen proceedings. Spencer v. Practical Nurses' Examining Board (D.C. App. 1966, 217 A. 2d 602).

Petition to review practical nurses' examining board's denial of application for license was timely filed within court rule requiring petition for review to be filed within 15 days of formal notice of final order or decision of a board or commission, where petitioner had no formal notice after February 19 informal meeting that her application had been rejected, petitioner's alternative ground for granting license was rejected in board's letter of April 29, and petition for review was filed on May 10. M. E. Matheson v. Practical Nurses' Examining Board (D.C. App. 1963, 195 A. 2d 402).

§ 2–430. License to be renewed annually—Processing of renewal applications—Reinstatement of lapsed licensees—Nonpracticing list of licensees.

(a) The license of every person licensed under the provisions of this subchapter shall expire on June 30 of each year and be annually renewed. On or before May 31 of each year, the Commissioner shall mail an application for renewal of license to every person who at the time of such mailing holds a valid license under this subchapter. The applicant shall, before the following July 1, complete and execute such application and return the same to the Commissioners with the required renewal fee. Upon receipt of such application and fee, the Commissioners shall verify the accuracy of the application and issue to the applicant a certificate of renewal for the year beginning on such July 1 and expire the following June 30. Any licensee who allows her license to lapse by failing to renew the license as provided above, may be reinstated by the Commissioners by showing cause satisfactory to the Commissioners for such failure and on payment of the required fee.

(b) Any person licensed under the provisions of this subchapter but not so practicing in the District of Columbia shall give written notice of such fact to the Commissioners. Upon receipt of such notice, the Commissioners shall place the name of such person upon the nonpracticing list. While remaining on such list, the person shall not be subject to the payment of any renewal fee and shall not hold herself out as a licensed practical nurse in the District of Columbia. Application for renewal of license and payment of renewal fee for the current year shall be made to the Commissioners by any such person desiring to resume practice as a licensed practical nurse. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 805, Pub. L. 86–708, § 11.)

§ 2–431. Applications to operate a school of practical nursing—Commissioners to pass on qualifications of applicants—Survey of approved schools for maintenance of standards—Removal procedure of schools from accredited list.

(a) Any person conducting or desiring to conduct a school of practical nursing may apply to the Commissioners and submit evidence that such person is prepared to give a course of study of not less than twelve months, including clinical experience, and is prepared to meet the standards prescribed by the Commissioners. Each such person shall pay the required fees at the time such application is made. A survey of such school shall be made by the Commissioners. If, in the opinion of the Commissioners, the requirements for an accredited school of practical nursing are met, they shall approve such school as an accredited school for the training of practical nurses.

(b) The Commissioners may, whenever they deem it necessary, survey any accredited school of practical nursing in the District of Columbia. If the Commissioners determine that any accredited school of practical nursing does not meet the standards required by this subchapter and by the Commissioners, notice thereof in writing specifying the defect or defects shall be given to such school. If the defects are not corrected within a reasonable time, such school shall, after hearing, be removed from the list of accredited schools of practical nursing. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 805, Pub. L. 86–708, § 12.)

§ 2–432. Fixation of miscellaneous fees—Payment into the Treasury.

(a) The Commissioners are authorized and empowered after public hearing, to determine and from time to time to increase or decrease fees for all services rendered under authority of any provision of this subchapter, including fees for the following services: (1) For licenses and renewals thereof; (2) for repeat examinations; (3) for the evaluation of each school record of a candidate for admission to a school of practical nursing; (4) for verification of records; (5) for a duplicate license to practice as a licensed practical nurse upon proof acceptable to the Commissioners that the original license has been lost or destroyed; (6) for duplicate certificates of renewal of licenses; (7) for mailing a certificate a second time if no timely notification of change of address has been made; (8) for the proctoring of out-of-State applicants when the examination is held at a time other than the regular examination of the District of Columbia. The Commissioners shall fix such fees in such amounts, as will, in the judgment of the Commissioners, approximate the cost to the District of Columbia of such services.

(b) All moneys collected for fees and charges under this subchapter shall be paid into the Treasury to the credit of the District of Columbia. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 806, Pub. L. 86–708, § 13.)

§ 2–433. Denial, revocation, or suspension of licenses—Procedure—Lists of persons denied licenses may be furnished upon written request to boards of examiners of States, Territories, or foreign countries.

The Commissioners are authorized and empowered to deny, revoke, or suspend any license, or certificate of renewal of license, issued by the Commissioners or applied for in accordance with the provisions of this subchapter if the applicant or holder thereof—

(1) has been guilty of fraud or deceit in procuring or attempting to procure any license, or renewal thereof provided for in this subchapter;

(2) has been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude;

(3) is an intemperate consumer of intoxicating liquors or is addicted to the use of habit-forming drugs;

(4) has been guilty of unprofessional conduct;

(5) has willfully or repeatedly violated any of the provisions of this subchapter or rules or regulations promulgated by the Commissioners pursuant to authority contained in this subchapter; or

(6) is mentally incompetent:

Provided, That said denial, revocation, or suspension shall be made only upon specific charges in writing. A certified copy of any such charge and at least five days' notice of the hearing of the same shall be served upon the holder of or applicant for such license. The Commissioners are hereby authorized to furnish a list of names and addresses of persons to whom licenses, or renewal of licenses, have been denied, revoked, or suspended under this section to the board of examiners of a State, territory, or possession of the United States, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or a foreign country, upon written request of such board. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 806, Pub. L. 86–708, § 14.)

§ 2–434. Review of orders and decisions of Commissioners.

Any person aggrieved by any final decision or final order of the Commissioners denying, suspending, or revoking any license, or renewal of license, issued or applied for under this subchapter may obtain a review thereof in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, and may seek a review by the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit of any judgment of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals entered pursuant to its review of any such decision or order, all in accordance with subsection (f) of section 11–772. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 806, Pub. L. 86–708, § 15; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 78, Pub. L. 88–60, § 6.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Reviewable orders

Generally, an order denying motion for rehearing, or motion to reopen, or motion for new trial, and similar motions, is not final and not appealable. Spencer v. Practical Nurses' Examining Board (D.C. App. 1966, 217 A. 2d 602).

Review in Court of Appeals is limited to final orders and decisions of the Practical Nurses' Examining Board. Id.

(a) Prosecutions for violations of any provision of section 2–424 or 2–435 shall be conducted in the name of the District of Columbia in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions by the Corporation Counsel or any of his assistants.

(b) It shall be necessary to prove in any prosecution or hearing under this subchapter only a single act prohibited by law or a single holding out or an attempt without proving a general course of conduct in order to constitute a violation. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 807, Pub. L. 86–708, § 18; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Board's inquiry of applicant

Questions asked of applicant for registration as physical therapist by members of Physical Therapists Examining Board that were concerned with either clarifying applicant's testimony or eliciting further information as to her training and experience were proper. Schramm v. Physical Therapists Examining Board (D.C. App. 1966, 219 A. 2d 846).

Procedure of board

Although physical therapists examining board has statutory authority to prescribe rules and regulations, it may proceed by general rule or by individual ad hoc litigation within its informed discretion. R. W. Hicks v. Physical Therapists Examining Board etc. (D.C. App. 1966, 221 A. 2d 712).

§ 2–457. Registration of qualified applicants—Issuance of certificates.

The Commissioners shall register as physical therapists all applicants who prove to the satisfaction of the Commissioners their fitness for registration under the terms of this subchapter. The Commissioners shall issue to each person registered a certificate of registration, which shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the person to whom it is issued to represent herself as a registered physical therapist, and authorized to practice as such under this subchapter. (Sept. 22, 1961, 75 Stat. 580, Pub. L. 87–280, § 8.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See section 2–472.

§ 2–458. Registration without examination.

The Commissioners shall register as a physical therapist, without examination, any physical therapist who is at least twenty years of age and of good moral character and who presents evidence satisfactory to the Commissioners that she was, prior to the effective date of this subchapter, practicing physical therapy in the District of Columbia for a period of two years immediately preceding the effective date of this subchapter, and that she (1) has graduated from an approved school of physical therapy listed in the register of approved schools or (2) received comparable training or experience in the practice of physical therapy as determined by the Commissioners. Application for registration under this section shall be made on or before the expiration of one year from the effective date of this subchapter. (Sept. 22, 1961, 75 Stat. 580, Pub. L. 87–280, § 9.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See section 2–472.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Abuse of discretion

Physical therapists examining board did not abuse its discretion in denying applicant's application for registration, without examination, as physical therapist where applicant presented only self-serving declarations as evidence of experience and training comparable to that received in approved schools. C. M. Hlebanja v. Physical Therapists Examining Board etc. (D.C. App. 1966, 219 A. 2d 848).

Board's finding of fact

Conclusions expressed in document which resulted from Examining Board's detailed study of physical therapist registration applicant's answers and an ex parte evaluation of those answers could not be used to sustain a finding of fact based thereon, where there had been no right of cross-examination or opportunity to meet conclusions by answering evidence. R. F. Sherman v. Physical Therapists Examination Board etc. (D.C. App. 1965, 208 A. 2d 728).

Board's right to question applicant

Members of Physical Therapists Examining Board had right to question applicant for registration as physical therapist after she had been cross-examined by counsel, but questions of board members should not take form of examination. Schramm v. Physical Therapists Examining Board (D.C. App. 1966, 219 A. 2d 846).

Burden of proof

Applicant for registration as physical therapist without examination who had not graduated from approved physical therapist school had burden of proof to satisfy Physical Therapist Examining Board that she had received comparable training or experience sufficient to qualify her as physical therapist. Schramm v. Physical Therapists Examining Board (D.C. App. 1966, 219 A. 2d 846).

Applicant for registration as physical therapist without examination who had not graduated from approved physical therapy school did not meet her burden of proving that her experience and training were comparable to that obtained in school where sole evidence in hearing held by Physical Therapists Examining Board was applicant's self-serving declarations. Id.

In absence of proof that her experience and training as physical therapist were comparable to that received in approved school, applicant was not entitled to registration, without examination, as physical therapist under "grandfather clause" of registration statute, even though she had practiced physical therapy for required period prior to effective date of registration statute. Id.

Applicant for registration, without examination, as physical therapist had burden to present evidence satisfactory to examining board to establish, in absence of any showing that she had graduated from approved school of physical therapy, that she had received comparable training or experience in practice of physical therapy. C. M. Hlebanja v. Physical Therapists Examining Board (D.C. App. 1966, 219 A. 2d 848).

Applicant for registration without examination, as physical therapist did not furnish evidence satisfactory to board to prove that she had received training or experience in practice of physical therapy comparable to that received in approved school where only evidence before board was her own testimony. Id.

Comparable training

Training or experience offered to meet statutory requirement for registration as physical therapist in absence of graduation from approved school must establish that applicant's competence to assist his patients without endangering their health and safety is "comparable" to that of therapist who has graduated from approved approved school of physical therapy, though applicant need not possess all of fine skills and specialized knowledge presumably possessed by graduate of approved school. R. W. Hicks v. Physical Therapists Examining Board etc. (D.C. App. 1966, 221 A. 2d 712).

It was error, but not reversible error, for physical therapists examining board to consider petitioner's education, including his study and clinical experience at school of naturopathy, only, in reaching its determination that petitioner had not complied with educational requirements to be registered as physical therapist, where petitioner offered his schooling, study and training as proof of comparable training or experience, the statutory alternative to graduation from an approved school of physical therapy. Id.

Experience

Although applicant is not entitled to registration as physical therapist simply because he has practiced, his practice is a compensatory circumstance to be considered in weighing his possible shortcomings in refinement of skills and specialization of knowledge. R. W. Hicks v. Physical Therapists Examining Board etc. (D.C. App. 1966, 221 A. 2d 712).

Standard

Physical therapists examining board was not required to create and publish a standard for comparable training and experience needed by applicant, who sought to be registered without having graduated from approved school. R. W. Hicks v. Physical Therapists Examining Board etc. (D.C. App. 1966, 221 A. 2d 712).

Findings of the board

Where record showed any relation of former employment of applicant seeking registration as physical therapist to physical therapy was effectively contradicted, physical therapists examining board did not err in finding that applicant did not meet statutory standard to be registered as physical therapist without having graduated from approved school. R. W. Hicks v. Physical Therapists Examining Board etc. (D.C. App. 1966, 221 A. 2d 712).

In determining whether petitioner for registration as physical therapist possessed training and experience comparable with one graduating from approved school of physical therapy, reviewing court was bound to recognize the expertise of the physical therapists examining board. Id.

Relevancy of education of applicant seeking registration as physical therapist was for the physical therapists examining board. Id.

Prior denial without hearing—prejudicial

Physical Therapists Examining Board's prior denial, without a hearing, of applicant's application for registration, without examination, as physical therapist was not per se prejudicial to applicant in hearing on application. Schramm v. Physical Therapists Examining Board (D.C. App. 1966, 219 A. 2d 848).

Registration without examination

District of Columbia statute on physical therapist registration after examination of applicants who are graduates of approved school or possess comparable educational qualifications should not have been applied to applicant who was entitled to registration under grandfather clause requiring registration without examination of one who has received comparable training or experience in the practice of physical therapy. R. F. Sherman v. Physical Therapists Examination Board etc. (D.C. App. 1965, 208 A. 2d 728).

Under grandfather clause of District of Columbia physical therapist registration statute an applicant who meets test as to age, character, etc., and who has actually practiced profession for prescribed period shall be registered without examination, and for applicants in this status law creates a clear exception. Id.

Questioning which amounted to knowledge test of applicant for registration as a physical therapist was not proper where applicant was entitled to registration without examination on basis of comparable training or experience. Id.

Applicant who had had more than 27 years of varied and extensive training and experience in physical therapy was entitled to registration as a physical therapist without examination under grandfather clause of District of Columbia physical therapy statue providing for registration of those receiving comparable training or experience. Id.

Protection of grandfather clause of District of Columbia physical therapist registration statute is not limited to exceptionally able persons but is designed to include those who, though of less than the highest competence, still possess basic qualifications and meet other legal requirements. Id.

Uncontradicted testimony

Generally, uncontradicted testimony, even of interested party, may not be disregarded and may, in some instances, be sufficient to prove case. Schramm v. Physical Therapists Examining Board (D.C. App. 1966, 219 A. 2d 846).

§ 2–459. Registration after examination.

The Commissioners shall pass upon the qualifications of applicants for registration, provide for and conduct all examinations, determine which applicants have successfully passed the examination and duly register such applicants. To be eligible to be examined for registration as a physical therapist, an applicant must meet the following requirements:

(a) Be at least twenty years old.

(c) Be in good physical and mental health, as certified by a physician licensed to practice in the District of Columbia.

(d) Be a graduate of an approved school of physical therapy listed in the register of approved schools; or possess comparable educational qualifications as determined by the Commissioners.

The examinations specified in this section shall be conducted at such times and places as the Commissioners may determine, and notice of time and place of such examination shall be published not less than thirty days before the first day of each examination in one or more newspapers of local circulation.

The examination shall embrace such coverage of the following subjects to determine the applicant's qualification: The applied sciences of anatomy, neuroanatomy, kinesiology, physiology, pathology, physics; "physical therapy" as defined in this subchapter, applied to medicine, neurology, orthopedics, pediatrics, psychiatry, surgery; medical ethics; technical procedures in the practice of "physical therapy" as defined in this subchapter. (Sept. 22, 1961, 75 Stat. 580, Pub. L. 87–280, § 10.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See section 2–472.

§ 2–460. Reciprocity.

Any applicant who has practiced physical therapy and has been registered, certified, or licensed as such in any State may, upon proof of good moral character, be registered without examination, provided the applicant has graduated from a school of physical therapy approved by the Commissioners, or has received competent comparable training as determined by the Commissioners. It is intended that the standards of education and training required for registration under this section shall be substantially equivalent to those required for registration pursuant to section 2–459. This section shall be construed to apply only to candidates from States which admit registered physical therapists of the District of Columbia without examination. (Sept. 22, 1961, 75 Stat. 580, Pub. L. 87–280, § 11.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See section 2–472.

§ 2–461. Renewal of registration—Nonpracticing therapists.

(a) Every registered physical therapist engaged in or who proposes to engage in the practice of physical therapy in the District of Columbia is hereby required to register with the Commissioners annually. Any registrant who allows her registration to lapse by failing to renew the registration annually may be reinstated by the Commissioners by showing cause satisfactory to the Commissioners for such failure and upon payment of all required fees. The Commissioners are authorized, after public hearing, to change from time to time the period for which registration or renewal thereof may be issued.

(b) Any person registered under the provisions of this subchapter but not so practicing in the District of Columbia shall give written notice of such fact to the Commissioners. Upon receipt of such notice, the Commissioners shall place the name of such person upon the nonpracticing list. While remaining on such list, such person shall not be subject to the payment of any renewal fee and shall not hold herself out as a registered physical therapist nor practice as such in the District of Columbia. Application for renewal of registration and payment of renewal fee for the current year shall be made to the Commissioners by any such person desiring to resume practice as a registered physical therapist. (Sept. 22, 1961, 75 Stat. 581, Pub. L. 87–280, § 12.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See section 2–472.

§ 2–462. Denial, revocation, and suspension of registration.

The Commissioners are authorized and empowered to deny, revoke, or suspend any registration or certificate of renewal of registration issued by the Commissioners or applied for in accordance with the provisions of this subchapter if the applicant or holder thereof—

(1) has been guilty of fraud or deceit in procuring or attempting to procure any registration or renewal thereof provided for in this subchapter;

(2) has been convicted of a crime involving moral turpitude;

(3) is an intemperate consumer of intoxicating liquors or is addicted to the use of habit-forming drugs;

Provided, That such denial, revocation, or suspension shall be made only upon specific charges in writing. A copy of any such charges and at least ten days' notice of the hearing of the same shall be mailed to the holder of or applicant for such registration, addressed to her at her last known address. Application

And it shall be unlawful for any owner or manager of a pharmacy, drug store, or other place of business to cause or permit any person other than a licensed pharmacist to compound, dispense, or sell, at retail, any drug, medicine, or poison, except as an aid to and under the proper supervision of a licensed pharmacist: Provided, That nothing in this section shall be construed to interfere with any legally registered practitioner of medicine, dentistry, or veterinary surgery in the compounding of his own prescriptions, or to prevent him from supplying to his patients such medicines as he may deem proper; nor with the exclusively wholesale business of any dealer who shall be licensed as a pharmacist, or who shall keep in his employ at least one person who is so licensed, except as hereinafter provided; nor with the sale by others than pharmacists of poisonous substances sold exclusively for use in the arts, or as insecticides, when such substances are sold in unbroken packages bearing labels having plainly printed upon them the name of the contents, the word "poison," when practicable the name of at least one suitable antidote, and the name and address of the vendor: Provided further, That such person, firm, or corporation has obtained a permit from the Board of Pharmacy, which grants the right and privilege to make such sales, such permit to be issued for a period of three years, and that each sale of such substance be registered as required of a licensed pharmacist, and it shall be unlawful for any person under the age of twenty-one years to sell such substances, and in no case shall the sale be made to a person under eighteen years of age except upon the written order of a person known or believed to be an adult: And provided further, That persons other than registered pharmacists may sell household ammonia and concentrated lye, in sealed containers plainly labeled, so as to indicate the nature of the contents with the word "poison," and with a statement of two or more antidotes to be used in case of poisoning, and may sell bicarbonate of soda, borax, cream of tartar, olive oil, sal ammoniac, and sal soda; and persons other than registered pharmacists may, furthermore sell in original sealed containers, properly labeled, such compounds as are commonly known as "patent" or "proprietary" medicines, except those the sale of which is regulated by the provisions of sections 2–610 and 2–612. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Character Evidence in drug prosecution

In prosecution of defendant who was not licensed pharmacist for dispensing drugs, question put to police officer on cross-examination by defense counsel as to whether defendant had a record for narcotics was not the proper way to elicit character evidence and should have been stricken as irrelevant but once admitted, the question placed defendant's character in issue, and answer to effect that defendant had no previous narcotics record tended to establish defendant's good character and prosecution had the right to rebut such testimony. Adams v. District of Columbia and United States (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 134 A. 2d 645).

Evidence

In prosecution of defendant who was not licensed pharmacist for dispensing drugs, evidence was sufficient to establish continuous custody of the drugs up until the time of trial, even though inspector for Food and Drug Administration who received evidence in Washington and delivered it to Food and Drug Administration located in Baltimore did not testify. Adams v. District of Columbia and United States (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 134 A. 2d 645).

Instructions to jury

In prosecution of defendant who was not licensed pharmacist for dispensing drugs, where evidence was admitted that defendant had been previously convicted for unauthorized use of an automobile, carrying a deadly weapon, and robbery, trial court's failure in not immediately correcting mistaken testimony about robbery conviction to show that actual conviction was for assault was not prejudicial error in view of trial judge's corrective instruction to jury at close of prosecution's case. Adams v. District of Columbia and United States (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 134 A. 2d 645).

Practicing pharmacy without a license

The Municipal Court for the District of Columbia has inherent power to entertain a motion to vacate a sentence partially or totally void even after expiration of the term at which it was entered. Ingols v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 103 A. 2d 879).

Prejudicial error

In prosecution of defendant who was not licensed pharmacist for dispensing drugs, defense counsel's eliciting of testimony on cross-examination that defendant had no record of narcotics violations placed defendant's character in issue only to extent of character trait involved and admission of prosecution's evidence that defendant had prior convictions unrelated to narcotics was error but such error was not prejudicial in view of defendant's prior intent to testify and his testimony where his record was admitted for purpose of affecting his credibility. Adams v. District of Columbia and United States (D. C. Mun. App. 1957, 134 A. 2d 645).

§ 2–602. Application for licenses—Sworn statement of qualifications—Examination—Minimum age and experience—College graduation—Recognition of any school of pharmacy.

Every person not registered under an act to regulate the practice of pharmacy in the District of Columbia, approved June 15, 1878 (20 Stat. 137), who shall desire to be licensed as a pharmacist shall file with the Board of Pharmacy an application, duly verified under oath, setting forth the name and age of the applicant, the experience which the applicant has had in compounding physicians' prescriptions under the direction of a licensed pharmacist, and the name and location of the school or college of pharmacy of which he is a graduate and shall submit evidence sufficient to show to the satisfaction of said board that he is of good moral character and not addicted to the use of alcoholic liquors or narcotic drugs so as to render him unfit to practice pharmacy; and said applicant shall appear at a time and place designated by the Board of Pharmacy aforesaid and submit to an examination as to his qualifications for license as a pharmacist: Provided, That applicants shall be not less than twenty-one years of age, and in order to be entitled to an examination for the determination of his fitness to be licensed as a pharmacist in the District of Columbia, must have had not less than three years' experience in the practice of pharmacy under the instruction of a regular licensed pharmacist; and must be a graduate of an accredited school or college of pharmacy: Provided, however, That the Board of Pharmacy, in its discretion, may establish, by general rules, conditions upon compliance with which by any school or college of pharmacy, and under the submission by said school or college of evidence sufficient to prove such compliance to the satisfaction of said Board, applicants who have been graduated by such school or college during any specified year or years may be allowed credit for experience in the practice of pharmacy by reason of attendance at and graduation by said school or college. (May 7, 1906, 34 Stat. 176, ch. 2084, § 4; Feb. 27, 1907, 34 Stat. 1005, ch. 2085, § 1.)

The license of any person to practice pharmacy in the District of Columbia may be revoked if such person be found to have obtained such license by fraud; or to be addicted to the use of any narcotic or stimulant, or to be suffering from physical or mental disease, in such manner and to such an extent as to render it expedient that in the interests of the public his license be canceled; or to be of an immoral character; or if such person be convicted in any court of competent jurisdiction of any offense involving moral turpitude. It shall be the duty of the major and superintendent of police of said District to investigate any case in which it is discovered by him, or made to appear to his satisfaction, that any license issued under the provision of this chapter is revocable and to report the result of such investigation to the Board of Pharmacy, which board shall, after full hearing, if in their judgment the facts warrant it, revoke such license. And said Board is hereby authorized, upon the payment of such fees as are hereinafter provided, to renew such license or permit in the month of November for a period of three years from the 31st day of October immediately preceding the date thereof. The board shall make a written report of its findings after such hearing, which report, with a transcript of the entire record of the proceedings, shall be filed with the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and, if the board's finding is adverse to the person seeking reissuance of his license or permit, the license or permit shall stand revoked and annulled at the expiration of thirty days from the filing of the report, unless a petition for review is filed in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, and a stay is granted, in the manner provided by sections 11–742, 17–303, 17–304, 17–305(b), 17–306 and 17–307 of the District of Columbia Code.

Every license to practice pharmacy and every permit to sell poisons for use in the arts or as insecticides and every current renewal of such permit shall be conspicuously displayed by the person to whom the same has been issued in the pharmacy, drug store, or place of business, if any, of which the said person is the owner or manager. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Hearing requirements

The prescribed hearing following Board of Pharmacy's denial of pharmacist's application for a three-year renewal of his license, although only an administrative proceeding and not surrounded by the same formality as a court trial, must not lack rudimentary requirements of fair play. Feldman v. Board of Pharmacy of Dist. of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1960, 160 A. 2d 100).

The hearing which pharmacist may request following Board of Pharmacy's denial of pharmacist's application for a three-year renewal of his license is provided to comply with the requirements of due process. Id.

Where decision of Board of Pharmacy was not rendered until four years after the hearing on denial of pharmacist's application for a renewal of his license, and four of the five board members present at the hearing had been replaced by the time the decision was rendered, decision of the board, relying heavily as it did on the credibility of witnesses and based upon a reading of the record only, could not be sustained. Id.

Illegal practice

District of Columbia Board of Pharmacy should not have permitted person, who had practiced pharmacy illegally for more than five years, to apply for renewal of his pharmacist's license which had, for such period, been void. Hendelberg v. Goldstein et al. (1954, 211 F. 2d 428, 93 U.S. App. D.C. 395).

Renewal

Failure of District of Columbia Board of Pharmacy to act on pharmacist's license renewal application in the November in which such license could be renewed does not deprive Board of authority later to grant a timely filed application, but, to preserve such authority, Board must record in such month of November reason for failing or refusing to act in such month. Hendelberg v. Goldstein et al. (1954, 211 F. 2d 428, 93 U.S. App. D.C. 395).

Under District of Columbia law, if District Board of Pharmacy refuses to grant, during month following expiration of pharmacist's license, application for renewal filed in such month, Board must record reason for such failure or refusal and may thereafter grant renewal upon such application. Id.

§ 2–607. Board of Pharmacy—Creation—Appointment—Tenure—Removal—Oath—Meetings—Seal — Bond of treasurer—Duty to examine applicants.

There shall be in and for the District of Columbia a Board of Pharmacy, consisting of five licensed pharmacists, appointed by the Commissioners of said District, each of whom shall have been for the five years immediately preceding, and shall be during the term of his appointment, actively engaged in the practice of pharmacy in said District. All appointments shall be made in such manner that the term of office of one member of the Board shall expire on the thirtieth day of June of each year, but every member shall hold office after the expiration of the term for which he has been formally appointed until his successor has been appointed and qualified. No appointee shall enter upon the discharge of his duties until he has taken oath fairly and impartially to perform the same. Said Commissioners may remove, after full hearing, any member of said Board for neglect of duty or other just cause.

Annually the Board shall organize by the election of a president, a secretary, and a treasurer who shall be members of said Board, who shall hold office for one year and until their successors shall have been elected and qualified. Said Board shall have a common seal; and said treasurer shall give such bond for the faithful performance of his duties as the Commissioners of the District of Columbia deem necessary. Said Bcard shall hold meetings for the examination of candidates and for the discharge of such other business as may come before it, commencing on the second Thursdays in January, April, July, and October of each year and at such other times as the Board of Pharmacy shall direct; and said Board of Pharmacy shall examine all applicants for license to practice pharmacy. (May 7, 1906, 34 Stat. 177, ch. 2084, § 8; Feb. 27, 1907, 34 Stat. 1005, ch. 2085, §§ 1, 2.)

AMENDMENT

1907—Act Feb. 27, 1907, changed the name of the "Board of Pharmaceutical Examiners" to "Board of Pharmacy", added the words "and a treasurer" in the second line of the second paragraph and the second sentence of the second paragraph, and deleted words providing for procedure for reports to the prior-existing Board of Supervisors in Medicine and Pharmacy.

CROSS REFERENCE

§ 2–608. Board of Pharmacy to have same powers as Commission on Licensure to Practice the Healing Art—Accounting—Records—Reports.

Said Board of Pharmacy shall have all such rights, powers, and duties with respect to the examination of applicants for license as pharmacists and with reference to the issue of licenses to practice pharmacy and of permits to sell poisons for use in the arts or as insecticides as the said board (Commission on Licensure to Practice the Healing Arts in the District of Columbia) has with reference to the examination of applicants for license to practice medicine, surgery, and midwifery, and with reference to the issue of licenses to such persons, except in so far as may be inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter. The treasurer of said Board shall render to said commissioners accounts of his receipts and disbursements from time to time as said Commissioners shall direct. Said Board shall keep records of its proceedings, and such records shall be prima facie evidence of all matters contained therein in all courts in the District of Columbia. Said Board shall in the month of July of each year, make to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia a written report of its proceedings, of its receipts and disbursements, and of all licenses and permits issued. (May 7, 1906, 34 Stat. 178, ch. 2084, § 9; Feb. 27, 1907, 34 Stat. 1005, ch. 2085, § 1)

CODIFICATION

The words "said board" which are followed by the words in parentheses are contained in act May 7, 1906, and, in that act, refer to the Board of Medical Supervisors as it existed prior to act May 7, 1906. The act of June 3, 1896, 29 Stat. 198, ch. 313, created this Board and defined its powers, but, presumably, this Board has been superseded and its duties and powers transferred to the Commission on Licensure by act Feb. 27, 1929, 45 Stat. 1329, ch. 352, § 12 (§ 2–109).

AMENDMENT

1907—Act Feb. 27, 1907, changed the name "Board of Pharmaceutical Examiners" to "Board of Pharmacy" and vested in the new Board all the powers, rights, duties, and functions with respect to the issuance and revocation of licenses to practice pharmacy and permits to sell poisons vested by act May 7, 1906, in the Board of Supervisors in Medicine and Pharmacy. Provisions concerning the election of a secretary and a treasurer and the treasurer's bond were superseded and similar provisions are now contained in § 2–607.

§ 2–609. Fees—Expenses—Compensation of Board.

Applicants for license to practice pharmacy and for permits to sell poisons for use in the arts or as insecticides shall pay the following fee: For examination for license as pharmacist, $15, and for each renewal thereof $3; for a permit for the sale of poisons for use in the arts or as insecticides, $1. and for each renewal thereof, 50 cents.

All fees for licenses to practice pharmacy and all fees aforesaid shall be paid to the treasurer of the Board of Pharmacy of the District of Columbia before any applicant may be admitted to examination and before any license or permit, or any renewal thereof, may be issued by the said Board. And all expenses of said Board incident to the execution of the provisions of this chapter shall be paid from the fees collected by the Board of Pharmacy aforesaid. If any balance remains on hand on the 30th day of June of any year the members of said board appointed as such shall be paid therefrom such reasonable amounts as the Commissioners of the District of Columbia may determine. (May 7, 1906, 34 Stat. 179, ch. 2084, § 10; Feb. 27, 1907, 34 Stat. 1005, ch. 2085, § 1; Mar. 4, 1927, 44 Stat. 1415, ch. 497, § 4.)

AMENDMENTS

1927—Act Mar. 4, 1927, raised the application fee for examination for license from $10 to $15, deleted parts concerning the former Board of Supervisors in Medicine and Pharmacy, and deleted the last sentence which provided for the disposition of any balance of funds.

1907—Act Feb. 27, 1907, changed the name "Board of Pharmaceutical Examiners" to "Board of Pharmacy."

§ 2–610. Sale of cocaine, morphine, opium, chloral hydrate, or compounds thereof, restricted—Prescription—Filling and refilling prescription—Exceptions—Wholesale trade.

It shall be unlawful for any person, by himself, or by his servant or agent, or as the servant or agent of any other person, or of any firm or corporation, to sell, furnish, or give away any cocaine, salts of cocaine, or preparation containing cocaine or salts of cocaine; morphine, salts of morphine, or preparation containing morphine or salts of morphine; or any opium, or preparation containing opium; or any chloral hydrate, or preparation containing chloral hydrate, except upon the original written order or prescription of a lawfully authorized practitioner of medicine, dentistry, or veterinary medicine, which order or prescription shall be dated and shall contain the name of the person for whom prescribed, or, if ordered by a practitioner of veterinary medicine, shall state the kind of animal for which ordered, and shall be signed by the person giving the order or prescription. Such order or prescription shall be, for a period of three years, retained on file by the person, firm, or corporation who compounds or dispenses the article ordered or prescribed, and it shall not be compounded or dispensed after the first time, except upon the written order of the original prescriber: Provided, That the above provisions shall not apply to preparations containing not more than two grains of opium, or not more than one-quarter grain of morphine, or not more than one-quarter grain of cocaine, or not more than two grains of chloral hydrate in the fluid ounce, or, if a solid preparation, in one avoirdupois ounce. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Court's lengthy interrogation of defendant charged with practicing podiatry without license did not exceed permissible limits of judicial involvement. T. DeW. Baldwin v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1962, 183 A. 2d 566).

Purpose of statute

Podiatry statute was enacted to protect public by assuring that those who hold themselves out as podiatrists have attained specified level of professional competence and one who fails to submit himself to scrutiny of Board of Podiatry Examiners must be considered unfit to practice podiatry, regardless of his claimed qualifications. T. DeW. Baldwin v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1962, 183 A. 2d 566).

Separate prosecutions

District of Columbia's healing arts practice statute permits separate prosecution of isolated acts of treatment. T. DeW. Baldwin v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1962, 183 A. 2d 566).

Each act of treatment by one practicing podiatry without license may be prosecuted as separate offense. Id.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Practice of engineering

The preparation by duly licensed master electricians of plans, diagrams and computations for proposed installations in which carrying capacity will exceed 200 amperes or electrical potential will exceed 240 volts does not constitute "practice of engineering" as contemplated in the Professional Engineers' Registration Act, and order of Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia providing that plans and specifications for proposed electrical installations in excess of 240 amperes or 240 volts should be prepared by registered professional electrical engineer was not required under the legislation regulating the practice of engineering. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

Prior law

The Architect's Registration Act, prior to 1950 amendment, in no way restricted actual practice of architecture, but merely prohibited use of title of architect by one not licensed, and wrongful use of title of architect by one not so licensed did not invalidate his contract and did not deprive him of right to recover for services which were legally rendered under the contract. Dunn v. Finlayson (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 104 A. 2d 830).

Regulations

Order of District of Columbia Board of Commissioners requiring that application for any proposed electrical installation in which current carrying capacity exceeds 200 amperes or electrical potential exceeds 240 volts shall be accompanied by plans and computations prepared and signed by professional electrical engineer bears no relationship to the factors of public health, safety or general welfare, results in discrimination against the electrical trade or business and inevitably increases cost to the consuming public, for no lawful reason, and such order is illogical, unreasonable, arbitrary and capricious. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

Repeal by implication

Where section of Electrical Code providing for plans and specifications to be submitted by licensed electricians as part of permits for proposed electrical installation was in effect at time Congress enacted legislation regulating architects and engineers without repealing the Electrical Code sections, no repeal of Electrical Code sections was intended by implication, and District of Columbia Board of Commissioner's orders amending Electrical Code section to provide that plans and specifications for installations in excess of 240 amperes or 240 volts should be prepared by a registered professional electrical engineer was without basis in law. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

§ 2–1002. Appointment—Qualifications.

The Board shall be composed of five architects who have been in active practice in the District of Columbia for not less than ten years previous to their appointment. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 713, ch. 9, § 2.)

§ 2–1003. Tenure—Filling vacancies.

All appointments shall be for a period of five years. In case a successor is not appointed at the expiration of the term of any member, such member shall hold office until the successor has been duly appointed and has qualified. In the event of any vacancy occurring in the membership of said Board in any manner other than by expiration of time, the said Commissioners shall fill said vacancy by an appointment for the unexpired term. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 713, ch. 9, § 3.)

§ 2–1004. Oath of office.

The members of said Board of Examiners shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe to and file with the secretary of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia the constitutional oath of office. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 714, ch. 9, § 4.)

§ 2–1005. First meeting and election of officers.

The Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects shall meet and elect from its membership a president, secretary, and a treasurer. (Dec. 13, 1924 43 Stat. 714, ch. 9, § 5.)

§ 2–1006. Organization—Meetings.

The said Board shall adopt all necessary rules, regulations, and by-laws, not inconsistent with this chapter, to govern its times and places of meeting for organization and reorganization and the holding of examinations, the length of the terms of its officers and all other matters requisite to the exercise of its powers, the performance of its duties, and the transaction of its business under the provisions of this chapter. At least two meetings shall be held each year for the purpose of examination for registration. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 714, ch. 9, § 6.)

CROSS REFERENCE

§ 2–1007. Quorum—Votes.

Three members of the said Board shall constitute a quorum, but no action at the meeting can be taken without at least three votes in accord. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 714, ch. 9, § 7.)

§ 2–1008. Minutes—Clerical assistance.

The secretary of the said Board shall keep a true record of all proceedings of the said Board and may employ such clerical assistance as the said Board may deem necessary. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 714, ch. 9, § 8.)

§ 2–1009. Duty to enforce law—Payment of expenses.

The said Board shall be charged with the duty of enforcing the provisions of this chapter and may incur such expenses as shall be necessary, all of which expenses shall be paid only out of the revenue arising from this chapter in the manner hereinafter mentioned and provided. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 714, ch. 9, § 9.)

§ 2–1010. Roster of architects—Report.

A roster showing the names and places of business and residences of all architects shall be prepared by the secretary of the Board during the month of June of each year; such roster shall be printed out of the funds of the Board as provided in section 2–1011. On or before the 1st day of August each year the Board shall submit to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia a report of its transactions for the preceding fiscal year, together with a complete statement of the receipts and expenditures of the Board, certified by the chairman and the secretary, and a copy of the said roster of architects. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 714, ch. 9, § 10; Sept. 7, 1950, 64 Stat. 780, ch. 908, § 1.)

The expenses of said Board, subject to the approval of said Board, shall be paid by him upon written order and warrant of the president and secretary of said Board. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 714, ch. 9, § 11.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Architectural services

Where person, designated as architect and supervising engineer in construction contract, had drawn plans and prepared specifications prior to effective date of 1950 amendment to Architect's Registration Act, which amendment, as a regulatory measure, prohibited practice of architecture without certificate from Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects, and building was under actual construction before such date, although not completed for some months thereafter, services rendered by such person after such date were not architectural services. Dunn v. Finlayson (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 104 A. 2d 830).

Construction

Within Architect's Registration Act, subsequent to 1950 amendment, the practice of architecture is restricted to acts done in connection with design of any building or addition or structural alteration thereto, and does not extend to the actual construction or superintendence of construction of a building. Dunn v. Finlayson (D. C. Mun. App. 1954, 104 A. 2d 830).

The Architect's Registration Act, subsequent to 1950 amended is a regulatory act designed for public welfare, and one who engages in practice of architecture in violation of the act cannot recover for his services. Id.

§ 2–1015. Holder of certificate may use title of architect.

Any person having a certificate pursuant to the requirements of this chapter may be styled or known as an architect or registered architect. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 715, ch. 9, § 15.)

§ 2–1016. Registration as architect limited to individuals.

No firm, company, partnership, association, corporation or other similar organization shall be registered as an architect. Only individuals shall be registered as architects but a number of architects constituting a firm may use the collective title "architects" or "registered architects." (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 715, ch. 9, § 16; May 29, 1928, 45 Stat. 950, ch. 861; Sept. 7, 1950, 64 Stat. 781, ch. 908, § 3.)

AMENDMENTS

1950—Act Sept. 7, 1950, amended section generally. Section previously read: "No person who was engaged in the practice of architecture in the District of Columbia on December 13, 1924, shall use or assume any title indicating that he or she is an architect, or any words, letters, or figures to indicate that the person using them is an architect, unless he or she shall have qualified and obtained a certificate of registration as an architect, or unless he or she has, within six months after May 29, 1928, filed with said Board an affidavit establishing to the satisfaction of said Board the fact that he or she was in practice as an architect in said District on and prior to December 13, 1924. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to prevent any person who was engaged in the practice of architecture in said District on and prior to December 13, 1924, from applying to said Board at any time for examination under this chapter. No firm shall be entitled to the style or designation 'architect' or 'registered architect' unless and until every member thereof shall be entitled to such designation. A corporation whose principal business, as shown by its charter, is the practice of architecture, may apply for and obtain a certificate of registration, provided all its executive officers and directors are registered architects. The same exemptions shall apply to partnerships and corporations as apply to individuals under this chapter."

1928—Act May 29, 1928, amended the section generally. Section previously read: "That no person presumed to have the right to secure such certificate because of his or her use of the title architect prior to the time this Act goes into effect shall assume any title indicating that he or she is an architect, or any words, letters, or figures to indicate that the person using them is an architect, unless he or she shall have qualified and obtained a certificate of registration as an architect, or unless he or she shall have filed an affidavit establishing the fact that he or she was in practice as an architect previous to the passage of this act and has a legal right to practice without a certificate. Each member of a firm or corporation practicing architecture shall be registered before being entitled to be known as or to style themselves architects or registered architects."

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1950 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act Sept. 7, 1950, effective 90 days after Sept. 7, 1950, see section 8 of act Sept. 7, 1950, set out as a note under section 2–1031.

§ 2–1017. Employees of architects entitled to practice under supervision—Exceptions.

Nothing contained in this chapter shall prevent the draftsmen, students, clerks of work, superintendents, and other employees of those lawfully practicing as architects under the provisions of this chapter from acting under the instruction, control, or supervision of their employers, or to prevent the employment of superintendents of the construction, enlargement, or structural alteration of buildings or any appurtenance thereto. Nor shall anything contained in this chapter be construed to apply to alterations to any building which do not involve changes affecting the structural safety thereof or the public health; nor to prevent the preparation of details and shop drawings by persons, other than architects, for use in connection with the execution of their work; nor to prevent the preparation of drawings or details for fixtures, cabinet work, furniture, or other interior appliances or equipment, or for any work necessary to provide for their installation unless the same involves public health or safety; nor apply to the construction or alteration of a building that does not cover over one thousand square feet of ground area, and does not have a height of over twenty feet to the uppermost ceiling, or two habitable floors above a basement. Nor shall anything contained in this chapter prevent persons, engineers, mechanics, or builders from making plans, specifications for, or supervising the erection, enlargement, or alteration of buildings or any appurtenance thereto: Provided, That the plans and specifications for such construction are signed by the authors thereof with their true appellation, without the use in any form of the title 'architect' or 'architects.'"

NOTES TO DECISIONS

False statement in application

Renewal is largely a ministerial act and in no way establishes validity of original registration, and Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects could not have refused to renew on sole ground that charges were pending against registrar or that it had received information adverse to him; and, therefore, Board could not be held to have waived its right to revoke by annually renewing registration. Stone v. Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 126 A. 2d 157).

Three-year statute of limitations, if applicable to proceeding to revoke architect's certificate of registration as obtained through fraud or misrepresentation, would not begin to run until discovery of facts. Id.

Findings of board

Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects was not bound to accept registrant's testimony that he did not know his Maryland registration had been revoked when he gave negative response to question as to whether any of his registration certificates had ever been revoked; and, on record presented, Board could reasonably find that his response had been false. Stone v. Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 126 A. 2d 157).

Even if Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects would not have been authorized to refuse registration merely on basis of revocation in another jurisdiction, false answer to question seeking to elicit such information would be ground for revocation. Id.

§ 2–1020. Qualifications of applicants.

Any citizen of the United States or any person who has declared his (or her) intention of becoming a citizen, being at least twenty-one years of age, of good moral character, and who has had at least three years of practical architectural experience in offices engaged in the practice of architecture as defined by this chapter, may apply for registration or for such examination as shall be requisite for registration under this chapter. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 715, ch. 9, § 20; Sept. 7, 1950, 64 Stat. 781, ch. 908, § 3.)

AMENDMENT

1950—Act Sept. 7, 1950, raised minimum age of applicants from twenty to twenty-one years, and added further qualification of "at least three years of practical architectural experience in offices engaged in the practice of architecture as defined by this chapter."

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1950 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act Sept. 7, 1950, effective 90 days after Sept. 7, 1950, see section 8 of act Sept. 7, 1950, set out as a note under section 2–1031.

§ 2–1021. Examination of applicants—Registration in another jurisdiction.

The applicant shall satisfactorily pass an examination in such technical and professional subjects as shall be prescribed by the said Board. The Board may in lieu of examination accept registration or certification as an architect in another State, Territory, or country where the qualifications prescribed at the time of such registration or certification were equal to those prescribed in the District of Columbia at the date of application; and where such State, Territory, or country accepts in like manner the registration of architects of the District of Columbia. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 716, ch. 9, § 21; Sept. 7, 1950, 64 Stat. 781, ch. 908, § 3.)

AMENDMENT

1950—Act Sept. 7, 1950, amended section generally. Section previously read:

"The applicant shall satisfactorily pass an examination in such technical and professional subjects as shall be prescribed by the Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects. The Board may, in lieu of examination, accept satisfactory evidence of any one of the qualifications set forth under subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section.

"(a) A diploma of graduation or satisfactory certificate from an architectural college or school that he or she has completed a technical course approved by the board, together with and subsequent thereto of at least three (3) years satisfactory experience in the office or offices of a reputable architect or architects.

"The Board may require applicants under this subdivision to furnish satisfactory evidence of knowledge of professional practice.

"(b) Registration or certification as an architect in another state or country, where the qualifications prescribed at the time of such registration or certification were equal to those prescribed in this District at date of application, and where such state, territory, or foreign country accepts in like manner the registration of architects in the District of Columbia."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Judgment

Where mathematical computation indicated that trial court erroneously allowed plaintiff to recover on two contracts, whereas recovery on one contract was barred by violation of architects' licensing statute, but evidence supported award in part, judgment would be affirmed on condition of remittitur. Holiday Homes, Inc. v. William K. Briley (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 122 A. 2d 229).

Where architect's license was erroneously renewed in 1953, since fee forwarded was insufficient, and architect did not renew registration until October 1955, his rendition of designs while registration was lapsed was violative of statute, but such violation extended only to November, 1954 agreement under which he consented to use of existing plans, and agreed to design new house, and did not preclude recovery for separable agreement to render designs in plans for additional salary, under which he rendered designs after renewal of license. Id.

Practice of architecture

The statute prohibiting practice of "architecture" without license does not preclude all supervision of performance of one having a knowledge of architecture, especially when supervision is primarily concerned with analyzing and correcting inefficiencies in a business apparently being operated at a loss. Holiday Homes, Inc. v. William K. Briley (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 122 A. 2d 229).

Discharge of general supervisory duties in construction business did not constitute practice of "architecture" within licensing statute. Id.

Validity of original registration

Renewal is largely a ministerial act and in no way establishes validity of original registration, and Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects could not have refused to renew on sole ground that charges were pending against registrar or that it had received information adverse to him; and, therefore, Board could not be held to have waived its right to revoke by annually renewing registration. Stone v. Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 126 A. 2d 157).

§ 2–1026. Exemptions.

Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to affect or prevent the following, provided that no words, letters, figures, or other device shall be used in such manner as to tend to convey the impression that the person rendering such service is an architect duly registered under this chapter:

(a) Consultants, officers, and employees of the United States or of the District of Columbia Governments while engaged solely in the practice of architecture for said Governments.

(b) Landscape architects, landscape engineers, city and regional planners from the preparation of drawings for, and the supervision of, planting, grading, walks, paving, and such minor structural features as fences, steps, walls, pools, and garden structures, normally included as a part of their work, where such features could not constitute a possible menace to life, health, or public welfare.

(c) Professional structural engineers, heating engineers, plumbing engineers, air conditioning and ventilation engineers, electrical engineers, elevator engineers and civil engineers from performing architectural services which are purely incidental to their engineering practice. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 717, ch. 9, § 26; May 29, 1928, 45 Stat. 951, ch. 861; Sept. 7, 1950, 64 Stat. 781, ch. 908, § 3.)

AMENDMENTS

1950—Act Sept. 7, 1950, amended the section generally. Section previously read:

"The following shall be exempted from the requirements of this chapter: (1) Any person practicing or desiring to practice architecture in the District of Columbia who shall have made application to the Board of Registration as an architect and who shall have paid the fee provided for in section 2–1023, such exemption to continue only until the board shall have denied such application; (2) any officer or employee of the United States or the District of Columbia practicing architecture in that capacity alone."

1928—Act May 29, 1928, amended the section generally. Section previously read: "That the following shall be exempted from the provisions of this act:

"(1) Practice as an architect in the District of Columbia by any person not a resident of and having no established place of business in the District of Columbia, but whose arrival in the District of Columbia is recent: Provided, however, That such person shall have filed an application for registration as an architect and shall have paid the fee provided for in section 24 of this act. Such exemption shall continue for only such reasonable time as the Board requires in which to consider and grant or deny the said application for registration.

"(2) Engaging in architectural work as an employee of a registered architect, or as an employee of an architect, or an engineer authorized by paragraphs 1 and 2 of this section: Provided, That said work may not include responsible charge of design or supervision.

"(3) Practice of architecture by any person not a resident of and having no established place of business in the District of Columbia as a consulting associate of an architect registered under the provisions of this act: Provided, That the nonresident is qualified for such professional service in his own state or country.

"(4) Practice of architecture solely as an employee of the United States.

"(5) Practice of architecture solely as an officer or as an employee of the District of Columbia at the time this act becomes effective and thereafter only until the expiration of the then existing term of office of such employee."

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1950 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act Sept. 7, 1950, effective 90 days after Sept. 7, 1950, see section 8 of act Sept. 7, 1950, set out as a note under section 2–1031.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Practice of engineering

The preparation by duly licensed master electricians of plans, diagrams and computations for proposed installations in which carrying capacity will exceed 200 amperes or electrical potential will exceed 240 volts does not constitute "practice of engineering" as contemplated in the Professional Engineers' Registration Act, and order of Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia providing that plans and specifications for proposed electrical installations in excess of 240 amperes or 240 volts should be prepared by registered professional electrical engineer was not required under the legislation regulating the practice of engineering. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

Regulations

Order of District of Columbia Board of Commissioners requiring that application for any proposed electrical installation in which current carrying capacity exceeds 200 amperes or electrical potential exceeds 240 volts shall be accompanied by plans and computations prepared and signed by professional electrical engineer bears no relationship to the factors of public health, safety or general welfare, results in discrimination against the electrical trade or business and inevitably increases cost to the consuming public, for no lawful reason, and such order is illogical, unreasonable, arbitrary and capricious. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

Repeal by implication

Where section of Electrical Code providing for plans and specifications to be submitted by licensed electricians as part of permits for proposed electrical installation was in effect at time Congress enacted legislation regulating architects and engineers without repealing the Electrical Code sections, no repeal of Elctrical Code sections was intended by implication, and District of Columbia Board of Commissioner's orders amending Electrical Code section to provide that plans and specifications for installations in excess of 240 amperes or 240 volts should be prepared by a registered professional electrical engineer was without basis in law. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

§ 2–1027. Revocation of certificate—Notice—Causes.

The Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects may revoke any certificate after thirty days' notice with grant of hearings to the holder thereof if proof satisfactory to the board be presented in the following cases:

(a) In case it is shown that the certificate was obtained through fraud or misrepresentation.

(b) In case the holder of the certificate has been found guilty by said board or by a court of justice of any fraud or deceit in his professional practice or has been convicted of a felony by a court of justice.

(c) In case the holder of the certificate has been found guilty by said board of gross incompetency or of recklessness in the planning or construction of buildings. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 717, ch. 9, § 27; May 29, 1928, 45 Stat. 951, ch. 861; Sept. 7, 1950, 64 Stat. 781, ch. 908, § 3.)

AMENDMENTS

1950—Act Sept. 7, 1950, struck out subsection (d) which provided: "In case a corporation holding a certificate of registration shall have as one of its executive officers or directors a person not a registered architect."

1928—Act May 29, 1928, added subsection (d).

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1950 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act Sept. 7, 1950, effective 90 days after Sept. 7, 1950, see section 8 of act Sept. 7, 1950, set out as a note under section 2–1031.

CROSS REFERENCE

Revocation or suspension of license for violation of the Uniform Narcotic Drug Act, see § 33–418.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Findings by Board

Even though the sole conclusion of Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects was that registrant violated District of Columbia statute permitting revocation of certificate of registration obtained through fraud or misrepresentation, the Board must also find from the evidence of record that the actual obtaining of the certificate was due to fraud or misrepresentation in order to revoke the certificate. Stone v. Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects etc. (1957, 249 F. 2d 104, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 348).

Fraud or misrepresentation

Even if Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects would not have been authorized to refuse registration merely on basis of revocation in another jurisdiction, false answer to question seeking to elicit such information would be ground for revocation. Stone v. Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 126 A. 2d 157).

Three-year statute of limitations, if applicable to proceeding to revoke architect's certificate of registration as obtained through fraud or misrepresentation, would not begin to run until discovery of facts. Id.

§ 2–1028. Procedure for revocation—Appeal.

The proceedings for the annulment of registration, that is, the revocation of a certificate, shall be begun by filing written charges against the accused with the Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects by the Board itself or by a complainant. A copy of the charges, together with a notice of the time and place of hearing, shall be served on the accused at least thirty calendar days in advance of the hearing, which shall be postponed if necessary to give the requisite notice. Where personal services can not be made within the District of Columbia, service may be made by publication or personal service in accordance with such rules as the Board adopts, following generally and in principle the provisions of sections 13–336 to 13–338 and 13–340 of the District of Columbia Code. At the hearing, the accused may be represented by counsel, may introduced evidence, and may examine and cross-examine witnesses. The secretary of the Board may administer oaths. The Board shall make a written report of its findings, which report, with a transcript of the entire record of the proceedings, shall be filed with the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and, if the Board's finding is adverse to the accused, his certificate of registration shall stand revoked and annulled at the expiration of thirty days from the filing of the report, unless a petition for review is filed in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, and a stay is granted, in the manner provided by sections 11–742, 17–303, 17–304, 17–305(b), 17–306 and 17–307 of the District of Columbia Code. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 717, ch. 9, § 28; May 29, 1928, 45 Stat. 951, ch. 861; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(a); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; Dec. 23, 1963, 77 Stat. 616, Pub. L. 88–241, § 6.)

AMENDMENTS

1963—Act Dec. 23, 1963, corrected a reference to certain sections in Title 13, in view of the enactment of revised Part II of this Code, and substituted "unless a petition for review is filed in the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, and a stay is granted, in the manner provided by sections 11–742, 17–303, 17–304, 17–305(b), 17–306 and 17–307" for the following provisions: "unless within said period of thirty days a writ of error shall be issued as hereinafter provided, in which event said certificate shall stand suspended until the final determination of the Court of Appeals upon such writ of error. If an exception is taken to any ruling of the Board on matter of law, the exception shall be reduced to writing and stated in the bill of exceptions with so much of the evidence as may be material to the question or questions raised, and such bill of exceptions shall be settled by the Board and signed by the secretary within such time as the rules of the Board may prescribe. Any party aggrieved by the decision of the said Board may seek a review thereof in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia by petition under oath setting forth concisely but clearly and distinctly the nature of the proceeding before said Board, the trial and determination thereof, and the particular ruling upon matter of law to which exception has been taken, said petition to be presented to any judge of the Court of Appeals within thirty days after the filing of the report of said Board with the Commissioners, with such notice to the Board as may be required by the rules of the Court of Appeals. If the judges shall be of the opinion that the action of the Board ought to be reviewed, a writ of error shall be issued from the Court of Appeals, within such time as may be prescribed by that court, a transcript of the record in the case sought to be reviewed, and the Court of Appeals shall review said record and affirm, reverse, or modify the judgment in accordance with law".

1948—Act June 25, 1948, as amended by act May 24 1949, substituted "judge" and "judges" for "justice" and "justices", respectively.

1928—Act May 29, 1928, amended section generally. Section previously read: "That proceedings for the annulment of registration (that is, the revocation of a certificate) shall be begun by filing written charges against the accused with the Board of Examiners and Registrars of Architects. A time and place for the hearing of the charges shall be fixed by the Board. Where personal service or services through counsel cannot be effected, service may be made by publication. At the hearing the accused shall have the right to be represented by counsel, to introduce evidence, and to examine and cross-examine witnesses. The secretary of the Board is hereby empowered to administer oaths and the Board shall make a written report of its findings, which report shall be filed with the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and which shall be conclusive."

EFFECTIVE DATE OF 1963 AMENDMENT

Amendment of section by act Dec. 23, 1963, was made effective on Jan. 1, 1964. See note preceding ch. 1, Title II.

§ 2–1029. Attendance of witnesses and production of documents.

The said Board shall have power to require the attendance of persons and the production of books and papers and to require such persons to testify in any and all matters within its jurisdiction. The chairman and the secretary of the Board shall have power to issue subpœnas, and upon the failure of any person to attend as a witness when duly sub-pœnaed or to produce documents when duly directed by said Board, the Board shall have power to refer the said matter to any judge of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, who may order the attendance of such witness or the production of such books and papers or require the said witness to testify, as the case may be; and upon the failure of the witness to attend, to testify, or to produce such books or papers, as the case may be, such witness may be punished for contempt of court as for failure to obey a subpœna issued or to testify in a case pending before said court. (Dec. 13, 1924, 43 Stat. 717, ch. 9, § 29; May 29, 1928, 45 Stat. 952, ch. 861; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32 (a), (b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

§ 2–1030. Penalty for illegal practice or misuse of title.

Any person who shall practice or offer to practice architecture or who shall use the title "architect" or "registered architect" or any other words, letters, figures, or other device indicating or intending to imply that the person using the same is an architect, without having complied with the provisions of this chapter, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $200, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, prosecution therefor to be made in the name of the District of Columbia by the corporation counsel. The commission is authorized in its sole judgment and discretion to assign to licensed professional promoters dates on which boxing contests may be held, and no licensed professional promoter shall hold any boxing contest on any date unless specifically authorized so to do by the commission. When two or more promoters make application to hold separate boxing contests on an identical date not at the time of such application assigned to either or any of the promoters making such applications, the commission shall, at a meeting open to the public, make its determination as to whether either or any of such applications will be granted, and if so, which, and in connection with such determination shall take into consideration the public interest, local demand, and the relative ranking of the boxers engaging in the proposed contests. Each such permit shall be limited to a period of one day, except that in case of any interscholastic or intercollegiate meet a permit may be issued for the duration of such meet, and for training exhibitions in connection with boxing contests where an admission fee is charged or received, a permit may be issued for the duration of the training period. No permit as described in this section shall be issued to any person unless such person agrees to accord to the Commission the right to examine the books of accounts and other records of such person relating to the boxing contest or exhibition for which such permit is issued, and such permit shall so state on its face. A permit may be revoked at any time in the discretion of the Commission. (Dec. 20, 1944, 58 Stat. 824, ch. 612, § 4; July 5, 1952, 66 Stat. 392, ch. 577, § 1.)

Before a license shall be granted to a promoter, he shall execute and file with the Commission a bond in the sum of $2,000 or 10 per centum of the estimated receipts, whichever is the larger, to be approved as to form and sufficiency of sureties by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, or by such official as they may designate, or in lieu thereof cash or certified check in equal amount, conditioned for the faithful performance by said promoter of the provisions of this chapter and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, the fulfillment of his contracts with contestants or their managers, and the payment of license and permit fees and taxes on gross receipts. In case of default in such performance, recovery may be had on such bond in the same manner as other penalties are recovered by law. (Dec. 20, 1944, 58 Stat. 825, ch. 612, § 8.)

Payments of money required by this section shall be accompanied by reports in such form as shall be prescribed by the Commission. Each ticket of admission to any such boxing contest shall bear clearly upon the face thereof the purchase price of the said ticket. (Dec. 20, 1944, 58 Stat. 825, ch. 612, § 9; July 5, 1952, 66 Stat. 392, ch. 577, § 2.)

For the issuance of a certificate without examination to operators or instructors licensed in jurisdictions meeting the requirements of the District of Columbia, or to those who furnish satisfactory proof that they have been engaged elsewhere in the occupation of cosmetology for a period of five years, the initial fee for a certificate of registration shall be $15.00. Such aid or aids shall not be connected with any school teaching cosmetology. Any person called by the Board to its aid as provided herein shall receive for his or her services not more than $10.00 for each day employed in the actual discharge of his or her official duties, and his or her actual and necessary expenses incurred, to be paid in the same manner as herein provided for the payment of compensation and expenses of members of the Board (June 7, 1938, 52 Stat. 618, ch. 321, § 20.)

Such temporary license shall remain in force until the next regular meeting of the Board at which examinations are held and no longer. Two such temporary licenses may not be issued to the same person. Each temporary license shall state the date of expiration and the temporary license shall after such date be void and of no effect. (June 7, 1938, 52 Stat. 618, ch. 321, § 23.)

§ 2–1324. Exemptions from provisions.

Nothing in this chapter shall prohibit service in case of emergency, or domestic administration, without compensation, nor services by persons authorized under the laws of the District of Columbia to practice medicine, surgery, dentistry, chiropody, osteopathy, or chiropractic, nor services by barbers, insofar as their usual and ordinary vocation and profession is concerned, when engaged in any of the following practices, namely: Arranging, cleansing, cutting, or singeing the hair of any person; nor in massaging, cleansing, stimulating, exercising, or similar work, the scalp, face, or neck of any person, with the hands, or with mechanical or electrical apparatus or appliances, or by the use of cosmetic preparations, antiseptics, tonics, lotions, or creams; nor shall anything in this chapter apply to the practice of physiotherapy or massaging, stimulating or exercising of the head, neck, arms,

In addition to such advisory duties as said Commissioners shall assign them, it shall be the duty of said plumbing board to examine all applicants for license as master plumbers or gas fitters, and to report to said Commissioners, who, if satisfied from such report that the applicant is a fit person to engage in the business of plumbing or gas fitting, shall issue a license to such person to engage in such business. Applicants for licenses as master plumbers and gas fitters or master gas fitters, who are citizens of the United States, must be twenty-one years of age, must make application in their own handwriting, and must accompany such application with a certificate as to good character signed by at least three reputable residents of the District of Columbia, two of whom shall certify that the applicants have had at least four years' experience in the plumbing and gas-fitting business. The said Commissioners and their successors are authorized and empowered to require every person licensed to practice the business of plumbing and gas fitting in the District of Columbia, before engaging in the said business, to file a bond in such amount not exceeding the sum of two thousand dollars and with such number of sureties as the said commissioners shall determine, conditioned upon the faithful performance of all work in compliance with the plumbing regulations, and that the District of Columbia shall be kept harmless from the consequence of any and all acts of the said licensee during the period covered by the said bond. (Apr. 23, 1892, 27 Stat. 21, ch. 53, § 2; Mar. 3, 1893, 27 Stat. 543, ch. 199.)

CODIFICATION

Act March 3, 1893, extended the provisions and penalties of act April 23, 1892, to include the practice of the business of gas fitting in the District of Columbia.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Action on bond

Where District of Columbia Commissioners had never exercised their enlarged authority under Additional Powers Act and as a consequence prior code section providing that District of Columbia shall be kept harmless from consequences of any and all acts of said licensee plumber during period covered by plumber's indemnity bond was still in effect, purchasers of property upon which sewer pipe was allegedly negligently installed by plumber could not bring action against plumber's surety on indemnity bond which named only District of Columbia as obligee therein. Bolten v. Clarke and Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1956, 125 A. 2d 60).

§ 2–1405. License—Renewal, fee, revocation.

All renewals of existing licenses and all new licenses as a master plumber and gas fitter or master gas fitter shall be for a period of not more than one year and the fee for such license shall be not less than $10.00 nor more than $25.00 per annum, to be fixed by the commissioners of the District of Columbia, for a license year beginning January 1 and ending December 31. Such special license fee shall be separate from, or in addition to any contractors' or business license tax, hereafter fixed for this and similar occupations by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia according to law. Licenses issued at any time after the beginning of the year shall date from the first day of the month in which the license is issued and end on the last day of the license year, and payment shall be made of a proportional amount of the annual license fee. Any licensee may apply for and receive a license for or on behalf of any firm, copartnership, or corporation that he is a bona fide member of, or a substantial stockholder in, but all plumbing or gas fitting done pursuant to such license shall be done under the immediate personal supervision of the licensed man.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia or their duly authorized agent shall have the power to suspend or revoke any plumber's or gas fitter's license for a violation of the plumbing or gas-fitting regulations after a public hearing granted the licensee or after conviction in court for such violation or for conduct involving moral turpitude. (June 18, 1898, 30 Stat. 477, ch. 467, § 4; July 14, 1932, 47 Stat. 659, ch. 476 § 4.)

AMENDMENT

1932—Act July 14, 1932, amended section generally. Prior to such amendment, section read as follows: "The fee for a license as master plumber or gas fitter shall be three dollars."

AUTHORITY TO CHANGE FEES

Commissioners authorized and empowered to increase or decrease, from time to time, the fees specified in this section, see §§ 1–252, 1–253.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Action on bond

Where District of Columbia Commissioners had never exercised their enlarged authority under Additional Powers Act and as a consequence prior code section providing that District of Columbia shall be kept harmless from consequences of any and all acts of said licensee plumber during period covered by plumber's indemnity bond was still in effect, purchasers of property upon which sewer pipe was allegedly negligently installed by plumber could not bring action against plumber's surety on indemnity bond which named only District of Columbia as obligee therein. Bolten v. Clarke and Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. (D.C. Mun. App. 1956, 125 A. 2d 60).

Immediate personal supervision

Administrative interpretation, by District of Columbia plumbing board secretary, that code provision requiring that plumbing work be done under a licensed plumber's immediate personal supervision did not necessitate his physical presence on the site was not clearly wrong and would be entitled to due respect of court interpreting the provision. G. A. Cook v. James E. Griffith, Inc. (D.C. App. 1963, 193 A. 2d 427).

Alleged failure of duly licensed corporation engaged in plumbing business to perform plumbing work in accordance with code provision requiring that all work by unlicensed persons be done under the immediate supervision of a licensed plumber did not relieve the contractor, which had engaged the corporation, from liability for the plumbing job which was otherwise properly performed. Id.

§ 2–1406. License required.

It shall be unlawful for any person to engage in the work of plumbing or gas-fitting in the District of Columbia unless he is licensed as provided in this chapter, or is an employee of a licensed master plumber (June 18, 1898, 30 Stat. 477, ch. 467, § 5.)

§ 2–1407. Employment of unlicensed plumber by owner or lessee prohibited.

It shall be unlawful for the owner or lessee of any building in the District of Columbia, or the agent or representative of such owner or lessee, to knowingly employ an unlicensed person to do plumbing or gas fitting in or about such building (June 18, 1898 30 Stat. 477, ch. 467, § 6.)

§ 2–1408. Penalties.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this chapter shall, on conviction thereof in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions, be punished by a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $100; and in default of payment of such fine such person shall be confined in the workhouse of the District of Columbia for a period not exceeding six months; and all prosecutions under this chapter shall be in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions, in the name of the District of Columbia. (June 18, 1898, 30 Stat. 477, ch. 467, § 8; Apr. 1, 1942, 56 Stat. 190, ch. 207, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

"Municipal Court for the District of Columbia" was substituted for "police court" and for "police court of said district" to conform to act Apr. 1, 1942, which consolidated the Police Court and the Municipal Court.

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "Municipal Court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

§ 2–1502. Board of examiners—Constitution—Examination of applicants—Compensation of Board members—Inspection of engines and boilers.

All persons applying for such license shall be examined by a board of examiners composed as follows: Two practical engineers, neither of whom shall be in the employ of the United States or the District of Columbia, to be appointed by the commissioners of the District of Columbia, and the boiler inspector for the District of Columbia. Each appointed member shall receive compensation at the rate of $10 per day when actually engaged in the work of the board, such compensation not to exceed $300 per annum. One of the appointed engineers shall be appointed for a term of one year and the others for a term of two years. All such bonds may be registered as to principal alone or both principal and interest, shall be payable as to principal within not to exceed thirty years from the date thereof, shall be in such denominations, shall be executed in such manner, and shall be payable in such medium and at such place or places as the Board may determine, and the face amount thereof shall be so calculated as to produce, at the price of their sale, the cost of the stadium constructed pursuant to this subchapter. The Board may reserve the right to redeem any or all of the bonds before maturity in such manner and at such price or prices not exceeding 105 per centum of the face value and accrued interest as may be fixed by the Board prior to the issuance of the bonds. The Board when it deems advisable may issue refunding bonds to refinance any outstanding bonds, and interest thereon, at maturity or before maturity when called for redemption, except that such refunding bonds shall mature within not to exceed thirty years from the date thereof, or not to exceed fifty years from September 7, 1957, whichever shall first occur.

(b) The bonds may be sold at not less than par. If the proceeds of the bonds shall exceed the cost, the excess shall be placed in the fund created by section 2–1724 for the payment of the principal and interest of such bonds. Prior to the preparation of definitive bonds the Board may, under like restrictions, issue temporary bonds, or may, under like restrictions, issue temporary bonds or interim certificates without coupons, of any denomination whatsoever, exchangeable for definitive bonds when such bonds that have been executed are available for delivery.

(c) All bonds, or other securities, issued by the Board under authority of this subchapter, shall be exempt both as to principal and interest, from all taxation (except estate and inheritance taxes) now or hereafter imposed by the District of Columbia. (Sept. 7, 1957, 71 Stat. 619, Pub. L. 85–300, § 4; July 28, 1958, 72 Stat. 421, Pub L. 85–561, § 1 (4—8).)

AMENDMENTS

1958—Subsec. (a) amended by act July 28, 1958, § 1(4—7), which empowered the Board to provide for the payment of the cost of preliminary engineering and economic surveys, and for the cost of planning, designing and constructing the stadium, and eliminated provisions which limited the cost of the stadium to not more than $6,000,000, and which permitted the Board to enter into a trust agreement with any bank or trust company.

Subsec. (c) amended by act July 28, 1958, § 1(8), which substituted "securities" for "obligations" and eliminated words "by the United States, or" which followed "hereafter imposed."

§ 2–1723. Authority of Board outlined.

In order to carry out the purposes of this subchapter, The Board is hereby authorized without regard to any other provision of law, but subject to any contract entered into with the Secretary of the Interior under section 2–1721—

(1) to determine all questions concerning the use of the stadium for the purposes of this subchapter;

(2) to enter into contracts and agreements with the District of Columbia and the Federal departments, bureaus, establishments, and offices, and the Act of March 4, 1915, as amended (31 U. S. C. § 686), is hereby made applicable to such contracts;

(3) to acquire by purchase or lease, equipment, appliances, facilities, and property of any kind necessary or desirable to carry out the purposes of this subchapter, and to sell or dispose of any such property so acquired when in its judgment it shall be advantageous to do so, except that no contract for more than $3,000 shall be entered into for the purpose of this paragraph without competitive bidding;

(4) to make such structural and other changes in the stadium as it may deem necessary or desirable for carrying out the purposes of this subchapter;

(5) to light, operate and maintain motor-vehicle parking lots;

(6) to operate or contract for the operation of such concessions, including the checking of clothing and the sale of beverages and food as the Board may deem appropriate to the purposes for which the stadium may be rented or leased;

(7) to furnish such services to renters, lessees, and other occupants of the stadium as in its judgment are necessary or suitable for carrying out the purposes of this subchapter;

(8) to rent or lease from time to time for any of the purposes of this subchapter, all or any part or parts of the stadium including any or all structures, equipment, or facilities of the stadium, at such rental values and for such periods of time as the Board shall determine;

(9) to carry public-liability insurance protecting the Board, and the members, officers, and employees thereof engaged in operating and maintaining the stadium, and in operating and maintaining the motor-vehicle parking areas in connection therewith; and to require tenants or lessees of the stadium to carry public-liability insurance protecting the interests of such tenants or lessees;

(10) to accept the gratuitous services of such persons as may volunteer to aid in the conduct of its activities.

(11) to enter into contracts, contingent or otherwise, for expert, professional, and other personal services, and for printing, engraving, supplies, or any items or services necessary and incident to the preparation and sale of bonds, to be paid out of the proceeds of the sale of such bonds.

(Sept. 7, 1957, 71 Stat. 620, Pub. L. 85–300, § 5; July 28, 1958, 72 Stat. 421, 422, Pub. L. 85–561, § 1(9—11); Sept. 23, 1959, 73 Stat. 702, Pub. L. 86–378, § 1(4, 5).)

AMENDMENTS

1959—Act Sept. 23, 1959, substituted "to light, operate and maintain motor-vehicle parking lots" for "to prepare, maintain, light, and operate motor-vehicle parking lots" in par. (5), and inserted provisions in par. (9) authorizing the Board to carry public-liability insurance protecting the Board engaged in operating and maintaining the motor-vehicle parking areas.

1958—Act July 28, 1958, inserted words "but subject to any contract entered into with the Secretary of the Interior under section 2–1721" in the opening paragraph, eliminated words "in such land as is provided for that purpose by the Secretary of the Interior under section 2–1721" from par. (5), and added par. (11).

§ 2–1724. Deposit of receipts into operating fund—Use of funds—Record of cost and maintenance to be kept—Board may advance moneys for operation and maintenance—Reimbursement—Surplus moneys to be placed in sinking fund—Statement to be filed with Congress.

(a) The Board shall place into an operating fund all receipts derived from the exercise by the Board of the powers granted by this subchapter. All records and accounts relating to the operations, revenues, expenses, and costs of the stadium and the lighting, operation, and maintenance of motor-vehicle parking areas in connection with such stadium shall be kept separate and distinct from the records and accounts relating to the operations, revenues, expenses, and costs of the District of Columbia National Guard Armory. The Board is authorized, from time to time, to make advances for the operation and maintenance of the stadium and the lightning, operation, and maintenance of motor-vehicle parking areas in connection with such stadium from the armory board working capital fund established in section 2–1708, but not to exceed a total of $25,000 at any one time. Such advances shall be reimbursed from the operating fund created by this subsection. The operating fund shall be used for constructing, operating, maintaining, and repairing the stadium and the lighting, operation, and maintenance of motor-vehicle parking areas in connection with such stadium. After payment or provision for payment from the operating fund of all costs for construction, maintenance, repair, and operation of the stadium and the lighting, operation, and maintenance, of motor-vehicle parking areas in connection with such stadium and the reservation of an amount of money estimated to be sufficient for the maintenance, repair, and operation during the ensuing period of not more than twelve months, the remainder of the receipts derived from the exercise by the Board of the powers granted by this subchapter shall be placed in a sinking fund. Such sinking fund shall be used for the following purposes and in the following order of priority: (1) to pay the interest on and principal of bonds and other securities issued under authority of section 2–1722; (2) to reimburse the District of Columbia for any moneys advanced from its revenues and any amounts borrowed by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia from the Secretary of the Treasury, including interest on such borrowed amounts, to pay interest on or principal of bonds issued by the Board; and (3) to redeem bonds before maturity as provided in section 2–1722, or to repurchase bonds before maturity. All revenues from the operation of the stadium and the lighting, operation, and maintenance of motor-vehicle parking areas in connection with such stadium are hereby pledged to the uses and to the application thereof as heretofore in this section required. An accurate record of the cost of the stadium and the lighting, operation, and maintenance of motor-vehicle parking areas in connection with such stadium, the expenditures for maintenance and operation, and of rentals and lease receipts shall be kept and shall be available for the information of all interested persons.

(b) Within a reasonable time after the construction of the stadium, the Board shall file with Congress and the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia a sworn itemized statement showing the cost of constructing the stadium, and the amount of bonds, debentures, or other evidences of indebtedness issued in connection with the construction of such stadium. (Sept. 7, 1957, 71 Stat. 621, Pub. L. 85–300, § 6; July 28, 1958, 72 Stat. 422, Pub. L. 85–561, § 1 (12); Sept. 23, 1959, 73 Stat. 702, Pub. L. 86–378, § 1(6, 7).)

AMENDMENTS

1959—Act Sept. 23, 1959, inserted the phrase "and the lighting, operation, and maintenance of motor-vehicle parking areas in connection with such stadium" in six places in subsection (a), and substituted "maintenance and operation" for "maintaining and operating it".

1958—Subsec. (a) amended by act July 28, 1958, which designated the fund into which receipts are required to be deposited as the operating fund, required records and accounts relating to the operations, revenues, expenses, and costs of the stadium to be kept separate and distinct, empowered the Board to make advances from the armory board working capital fund, and created a sinking fund.

§ 2–1725. Title to stadium to vest in United States—Date.

After payment of the bonds and interest or after a sinking fund sufficient for such purpose shall have been provided and shall be held solely for that purpose, but in any event not later than fifty years from September 7, 1957, all right, title, and interest in and to the stadium constructed under this subchapter shall vest in the United States. (Sept. 7, 1957, 71 Stat. 621, Pub. L. 85–300, § 7; July 28, 1958, 72 Stat. 422, Pub. L. 85–561, § 1 (13).)

AMENDMENT

1958—Act July 28, 1958, substituted "all right, title, and interest in and to the stadium constructed under sections 2–1720 to 2–1729 shall vest in the United States" for "the Board shall deliver deeds or other suitable instruments of conveyance of the interest of the Board in and to the stadium to the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, for the District of Columbia and the stadium shall thereafter be properly operated, maintained, and repaired by the District of Columbia."

§ 2–1726. Employment of personnel and fixing of compensation—Delegation of authority.

(a) The Board is authorized to employ and fix compensation of such personnel as may be necessary to carry out the purposes of this subchapter, without regard to the provisions of the civil-service laws and section 305, chapter 51, subchapter III of chapter 53, and sections 5341, 5342, 5504, 5509 and 7154, of title 5, U.S. Code [relating to the classification of government employees and related matters].

(b) Under the direction of the Board and with the written authorization signed by the members thereof, an employee of the Board may exercise such of the powers vested in the Board by section 2–1723 as the Board shall determine. (Sept. 7, 1957, 71 Stat. 621, Pub. L. 85–300, § 8.)

§ 2–1727. Limitation on indebtedness—Limitation on liability of Board members—Deficits to be included in budget estimates—Commissioners may borrow from Secretary of Treasury—Repayment—Bonds guaranteed by the United States.

Nothing contained in this subchapter shall be construed to authorize or permit the Board or any member thereof to create any obligation or incur any liability other than such obligations and liabilities as are dischargeable solely from funds contemplated to be provided by this subchapter. No obligation created or liability incurred pursuant to this subchapter shall be a personal obligation or liability of any member or members of the Board but shall be chargeable solely to the funds contemplated to be provided by this subchapter. Whenever the Board certifies to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia that there will not be a sufficient amount in the sinking fund created by section 2–1724 (a) to pay amounts becoming due and payable during any fiscal year on account of interest on or retirement of the bonds, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall include in the budget estimates for the District of Columbia for such fiscal year such amounts out of the revenues of the District of Columbia as may be necessary to insure the payment of such interest or the retirement of such bonds. In the event an appropriation has not been made by the time the amount becomes due and payable on account of interest on or retirement of the bonds, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized to borrow from the Secretary of the Treasury the amounts required, to bear interest at a rate determined by the Secretary of the Treasury, taking into consideration the current average rate on current marketable obligations of the United States of comparable maturities as of the last day of the month preceding the month in which the amount is borrowed. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to lend to said Commissioners the amounts required hereunder and for such purposes the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to use as a public debt transaction the proceeds from the sale of any securities issued under the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, and the purposes for which securities may be issued under the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, are extended to include any loans to said Commissioners hereunder. Amounts borrowed by said Commissioners from the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to this section and the interest thereon shall be repaid promptly from the funds appropriated pursuant to authority in this section and from any other appropriation available for such purpose. Amounts appropriated for payment of interest on or retirement of bonds and amounts borrowed by the Commissioners for such purpose shall be advanced by the Commissioners to the Board and shall be placed by the Board in such sinking fund. All bonds and other securities issued by the Board under authority of this subchapter are hereby guaranteed as to both principal and interest by the United States. (Sept. 7, 1957, 71 Stat. 621, Pub. This chapter shall be known and may be cited as the Professional Engineers' Registration Act. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 854, ch. 953, § 1.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 19 of act Sept. 19, 1950, provided: "This Act [adding this chapter] shall take effect upon the expiration of the ninetieth day after the date of its enactment [Sept. 19, 1950]."

§ 2–1802. Definitions.

As used in this chapter—

(a) The term "practice of engineering" shall mean the performance of any professional service or creative work requiring engineering education, training and experience, and the application of special knowledge of the mathematical, physical, and engineering sciences to such professional services or creative work as consultation, investigation, evaluation, planning, design, and supervision of construction for the purpose of assuring compliance with specifications and design, in connection with the utilization of the forces, energies, and materials of nature in the development, production, and functioning of engineering processes, apparatus, machines, equipment, facilities, structures, works, or utilities, or any combinations or aggregations thereof employed in or devoted to public or private enterprise or uses. The term "practice of engineering" comprehends the practice of those branches of engineering, the pursuit of any of which affects the safety of life, health or property, or the public welfare. Said practice includes the doing of such architectural work as is incidental to the practice of engineering.

(b) The term "professional engineer" shall mean a person who, by reason of his special knowledge of the mathematical and physical sciences and the principles and methods of engineering analysis and design, customarily acquired by a prolonged course of specialized intellectual instruction and study and practical experience, is qualified to engage in the practice of engineering as attested by his certificate of registration as a professional engineer.

(c) The term "engineer-in-training" shall mean a candidate for registration as a professional engineer who has been granted a certificate as an engineer-in-training after successfully passing the first stage of the prescribed examination in fundamental engineering subjects, and who, upon completion of the requisite years of training and experience in engineering under the supervision of a professional engineer or similarly qualified engineer and satisfactory to the Board, shall be eligible for the second stage of the prescribed examination for registration as a professional engineer.

(d) The term "responsible charge" shall mean such degree of competence and accountability gained by education, training, and experience in engineering of a grade and character sufficient to qualify an individual to engage personally and independently in and be entrusted with the work involved in the practice of engineering.

(e) The term "institution" shall mean a school, college, university, department of a university, or other educational institution granting baccalaureate degrees in engineering, reputable, and in good standing in accordance with the rules prescribed by the Board.

(f) The term "board" shall mean the District of Columbia Board of Registration for Professional Engineers.

(g) The term "Commissioners" shall mean the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 854, ch. 953, § 2.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Corporations may not qualify

District of Columbia statutory requirements for professional engineers can be met by natural persons only, and a corporation cannot be licensed as professional engineer. Potomac Engineers, Inc. v. Walser et al. (D.C.D.C. 1954, 127 F. Supp. 41, affirmed 223 F. 2d 356, 96 U.S. App. D.C. 64).

Practice of engineering

The preparation by duly licensed master electricians of plans, diagrams and computations for proposed installations in which carrying capacity will exceed 200 amperes or electrical potential will exceed 240 volts does not constitute "practice of engineering" as contemplated in the Professional Engineers' Registration Act, this chapter, and order of Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia providing that plans and specifications for proposed electrical installations in excess of 240 amperes or 240 volts should be prepared by registered professional electrical engineer was not required under the legislation regulating the practice of engineering. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653.)

Regulations

Order of District of Columbia Board of Commissioners requiring that application for any proposed electrical installation in which current carrying capacity exceeds 200 amperes or electrical potential exceeds 240 volts shall be accompanied by plans and computations prepared and signed by professional electrical engineer bears no relationship to the factors of public health, safety or general welfare, results in discrimination against the electrical trade or business and inevitably increases cost to the consuming public, for no lawful reason, and such order is illogical, unreasonable, arbitrary and capricious. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

Repeal by implication

Where section of Electrical Code providing for plans and specifications to be submitted by licensed electricians as part of permits for proposed electrical installation was in effect at time Congress enacted legislation regulating architects and engineers without repealing the Electrical Code sections, no repeal of Electrical Code sections was intended by implication, and District of Columbia Board of Commissioner's orders amending Electrical Code section to provide that plans and specifications for installations in excess of 240 amperes or 240 volts should be prepared by a registered professional electrical engineer was without basis in law. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

§ 2–1803. Practice of engineering declared to be subject to regulation.

In order to safeguard life, health, and property and promote the public welfare, the practice of engineering in the District of Columbia is hereby declared to be subject to regulation in the public interest. It is further declared to be a matter of public interest and concern that the profession of engineering merit and receive the confidence of the public and that only qualified persons be permitted to engage in the practice of engineering. All provisions of this chapter relating to the practice of engineering shall be construed in accordance with this declaration of policy. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 855, ch. 953, § 3.)

§ 2–1804. Practice of engineering without registration prohibited.

Any person engaged in or offering to engage in the practice of engineering in the District of Columbia shall submit evidence that he is qualified to practice and shall be registered as hereinafter provided; and it shall be unlawful for any person to engage or offer to engage in the practice of engineering in the District of Columbia, or by verbal claim, sign, advertisement, letterhead, card, or in any other way, represent himself to be a professional engineer, or through the use of the title including the word "engineer" or words of like import, or any other title, imply that he is a professional engineer, unless such person is registered under the provisions of this chapter. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 855, ch. 953, § 4.)

§ 2–1805. Board of registration — Appointment of members — Qualifications — Terms — Removal of members.

There is hereby created the District of Columbia Board of Registration for Professional Engineers, whose duty it shall be to administer the provisions of this chapter. The Board shall consist of five members who shall be appointed by the Commissioners. Each appointment to the first Board shall be from a list of three eligibles submitted by the representative organizations of the engineering profession in the District of Columbia. A person to be eligible for appointment to the Board shall be a citizen of the United States, shall have been engaged in the practice of engineering for twelve or more years, of which at least five years shall have been in responsible charge of important engineering work, and at the time of appointment shall have been actively engaged in the practice of engineering in the District of Columbia for a period of at least five years next preceding this appointment. The Board shall at all times include one representative for each of the chemical, civil, electrical, and mechanical branches of engineering. The members of the first Board shall be appointed within three months after the effective date of this chapter to serve for the following terms: One member for one year, one member for two years, one member for three years, one member for four years, and one member for five years from the date of their appointment, or until their successors are duly appointed and qualified. Each member of the Board shall receive a certificate of his appointment from the Commissioners, and before beginning his term of office shall file with the Secretary of the Board of Commissioners his written oath for the faithful discharge of his official duty. Each member of the Board first appointed hereunder shall be registered as a professional engineer under this chapter. On the expiration of the term of any member of the Board, the Commissioners shall appoint for a term of five years a professional engineer to take the place of the member whose term on said Board is about to expire. Each member shall hold office until the expiration of the term for which such member is appointed or until a successor shall have been duly appointed and shall have qualified. The Commissioners may remove any member of the Board for incompetency, misconduct, neglect of duty, or for any sufficient cause. An appointment to fill an unexpired term on the Board shall be made within three months after the vacancy occurs, and shall be for the period of such unexpired term. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 855, ch. 953, § 5.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective upon the expiration of the ninetieth day after Sept. 19, 1950, see note under § 2–1801.

§ 2–1806. Compensation of members of Board.

Each member of the Board shall be entitled to receive such reasonable compensation for his services as may be determined by the Commissioners not to exceed $25 per day for each day he may be actually engaged upon business pertaining to his official duties as such Board member. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 856, ch. 953, § 6.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Rehearing after appeal

Where District Court, on applicant's appeal from action of District of Columbia Board of Registration for Professional Engineers in denying application for registration, remanded case for rehearing, remand should have been without qualification so that Board might, after hearing additional evidence, make initial decision on enlarged factual situation. Walser v. Merle (1956, 228 F. 2d 465, 97 U.S. App. D.C. 118).

§ 2–1807. Board meetings and organizations.

The Board shall hold a meeting within ten days after its members are first appointed and thereafter shall hold at least two regular meetings each year. The Board shall elect annually from its members at least the following officers: A Chairman and a secretary-treasurer. A quorum of the Board shall consist of not less than three members, and no action shall be taken without three members in accord. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 856, ch. 953, § 7.)

§ 2–1808. General powers of Board.

The Board shall have power:

(a) Approval of institutions.—To investigate and to approve those institutions that provide and maintain satisfactory standards for the education of students desiring to engage in the practice of engineering.

(b) Registration of professional engineers.—To register as a professional engineer any person of good character and repute who is a citizen of the United States, at least twenty-five years of age, and who speaks and writes the English language, if such person—

(1) holds a license or certificate of registration to engage in the practice of engineering issued to him by proper authority of a State or Territory of the United States in which the requirements and qualifications for obtaining such license or certificate of registration are reasonably equivalent in the opinion of the Board to the standards set forth in this chapter. A person may be registered under this subdivision without examination; or

(2) holds a certificate of qualification issued by the National Bureau of Engineering Registration of the National Council of State Boards of Engineering Examiners: Provided, however, That the requirements and qualifications of said body for obtaining such certificate are reasonably equivalent, in the opinion of the Board, to the standards set forth in this chapter. A person may be registered under the provisions of this subdivision without examination; or

(3) has had four or more years' experience in engineering work of a grade or character satisfactory to the Board, and indicating that he is qualified to assume responsible charge of the work involved in the practice of engineering and either holds a certificate as an engineer-in-training issued to him by the Board or by proper authority of a State or Territory in which the requirements and qualifications of said bodies for obtaining such certificate are reasonably equivalent, in the opinion of the Board, to the standards set forth in this chapter, or is a graduate in engineering from an institution having a course in engineering of four or more years, and who, in either event, successfully passes a written, or written and oral, examination prescribed by the Board of engineering subjects. In the case of the examination of an engineer-in-training, his examination shall be directed and limited to those matters which will test the applicant's ability to apply the principles of engineering to the actual practice of engineering. In the case of an applicant who is not an engineer-in-training, the examination shall be for the purpose of testing the applicant's knowledge of fundamental engineering subjects, including mathematics and the physical sciences, and those matters which will test the applicant's ability to apply the principles of engineering to the actual practice of engineering; or

(4) has completed an approved secondary-school course of study or equivalent and has had twelve or more years of combined education and experience in engineering of a grade and character satisfactory to the Board and indicating that he is qualified to assume responsible charge of the work involved in the practice of engineering, and who successfully passes a written, or written and oral, examination prescribed by the Board for the purpose of testing the applicant's knowledge of fundamental engineering subjects, including mathematics and the physical sciences, and those matters which will test the applicant's ability to apply the principles of engineering to the actual practice of engineering; or

(5) submits evidence that he is an engineer of established and recognized standing in the engineering profession and that he has been lawfully engaged in the practice of engineering for twelve or more years, of which at least five years shall have been in responsible charge of important engineering work of a grade and character satisfactory to the Board. A person may be registered under this subdivision without examination; or

(6) submits evidence that he was a resident of the District of Columbia, or that he was engaged in the practice of engineering in the District of Columbia, prior to September 19, 1950, and for one year immediately preceding the date of his application, and submits evidence of experience in engineering, of a grade and character satisfactory to the Board, indicating that he is qualified to assume responsible charge of the work involved in the practice of engineering. Registration shall not be granted under the provisions of this subdivision unless the application therefor is filed with the Board within one year after September 19, 1950. A person may be registered under this subdivision without examination.

The requirement of this subsection of residence or practice of engineering in the District of Columbia for one year immediately preceding the date of application shall not be applied to applicants who were on active duty in the armed forces of the United States during such year, and who entered on such duty after October 16, 1940, but any such applicant for license under this subsection must have been a resident or engaged in the practice of engineering in the District of Columbia for at least one year prior to the effective date of this chapter.

(c) Certification of engineers-in-training.—To provide for and to regulate the certification and to certify as an engineer-in-training any person of good character and repute who is a citizen of the United States, at least twenty-one years of age or has graduated from an institution, and who speaks and writes the English language, if such person—

(1) is a graduate in engineering from an institution having a course in engineering of four or more years and who successfully passes a written, or written and oral, examination prescribed by the Board for the purpose of testing the applicant's knowledge of fundamental engineering subjects, including mathematics and the physical sciences. A person may be certified as an engineer-in-training under this subdivision without a written, or written and oral, examination: Provided, however, That the application therefor is filed with the Board within one year after September 19, 1950; or

(2) has completed an approved secondary-school course of study or equivalent, and has had eight or more years of combined education, training, and experience in engineering, of a grade and character satisfactory to the Board, and who successfully passes a written, or written and oral, examination prescribed by the Board for the purpose of testing the applicant's knowledge of fundamental engineering subjects, including mathematics and the physical sciences.

(d) Registration of noncitizen professional engineers.—To register as a professional engineer any person who is not a citizen of the United States, who is of good character and repute, at least twenty-five years of age, and speaks and writes the English language, if such person submits evidence, of a grade and character satisfactory to the Board, that he is an engineer of established and recognized standing in the profession of engineering in his own country, and who submits certification as to character and qualifications from at least two professional engineers of the District of Columbia. Such registration shall entitle the holder to engage in the practice of engineering only for the duration of and in connection with a specific project for which it was granted, and shall be subject to annual renewal and to suspension or revocation as registration granted as otherwise provided in this chapter. Engineers to whom such temporary registration has been granted shall be separately listed in the roster.

(e) Application form.—To require all candidates for registration as professional engineers to file with the secretary-treasurer of the Board a written application on a prescribed form and accompanied by the required fee. Such application shall contain statements made under oath, showing the applicant's education, detailed summary of his experience in engineering work, and the general field or fields of engineering in which he has his principal activity, and shall contain not less than five references, of whom three or more shall be engineers having personal knowledge of his engineering training and experience.

(f) Investigation of applications; determination of qualification and competency of applicants.—To investigate the allegations contained in any application for registration as a professional engineer in order to determine the truth of such allegations, and to determine the competency of any person applying for a registration to assume responsible charge of the work involved in the practice of engineering, such competency to be determined by the grade and character of the engineering work actually performed. Any person having the necessary qualifications prescribed in this chapter to entitle him to registration or certification shall be eligible therefor, although he may not be practicing his profession at the time of making his application. Evaluation of experience in engineering shall be based upon the applicant's knowledge of the fundamental engineering subjects, which shall be broad in scope and of a nature to develop and mature the applicant's engineering knowledge and judgment. In considering the qualifications of an applicant who has graduated in engineering from an approved institution; each year, but not exceeding two years, of successful postgraduate study in engineering, and each scholastic year, in excess of four, of an approved five- or six-year engineering curriculum, and each year of teaching engineering subjects, in an approved institution may be considered as equivalent to one year of experience in engineering. In considering the qualifications of an applicant who is an undergraduate in engineering, or who has graduated in a curriculum other than engineering, from an approved institution; each equivalent year of approved engineering education, as determined by evaluation by the Board of the educational records submitted, may be considered as equivalent to two years of combined education and experience in engineering. Experience in engineering gained under the supervision of a professional engineer or similarly qualified engineer, and experience in engineering gained subsequent to the attaining of an equivalent of the minimum requirements for certification as an engineer-in-training, of a grade and character satisfactory to the Board, shall be given full credit. In any case when the evidence presented in the application does not appear to the Board conclusive nor warranting the issuance of a certificate of registration or a certificate as engineer-in-training without examination, the applicant may be required to present further evidence for the consideration of the Board, and may also be required to pass an oral or written examination, or both, as the Board may determine. Whenever the Board determines otherwise than by examination that an applicant has not produced sufficient evidence to show that he is competent to assume responsible charge of the work involved in the practice of engineering, and shall refuse to examine or to register such applicant, it shall set forth in writing its findings and the reasons for its conclusions, and furnish a copy thereof to the applicant.

(g) Examinations.—To prescribe the scope, manner, time, and place for the examination of applicants for registration as professional engineers, to provide for the conduct of and to conduct such examinations, and to make written reports of such examinations. The prescribed examinations shall be written, or written and oral, and designed to permit an applicant for registration as a professional engineer to take the examination in two stages. The first stage of the examination shall be designed to test the applicant's knowledge of fundamental engineering subjects, including mathematics, physical and applied sciences, properties of materials, and the principles of engineering design. Satisfactory passing of this portion of the examination shall constitute a credit for the life of the applicant or until he is registered as a professional engineer. The second stage of the examination shall be designed to test the applicant's ability to apply the principles of engineering to the actual practice of engineering in the field of engineering in which he has indicated his principal activity. An applicant failing to pass an examination may apply for reexamination at the expiration of six months and will be reexamined upon payment of the prescribed fee.

(h) Certificate of registration; form and execution; expiration; duplicate certificate; biennial renewal of registration; renewal fee; penalty for delayed renewal.—To issue a certificate of registration and a pocket registration card to each professional engineer granted registration under the provisions of this chapter. The certificate of registration shall authorize the registrant to practice as a professional engineer, show the full name of the registrant, have a serial number, and be signed by the members of the Board under the seal of the Board. The pocket registration card issued with the certificate shall show the full name and registration number of the registrant, state that the person named therein has been granted registration to practice as a professional engineer for the period ending on the 31st day of October in the second year of the then current biennial registration renewal period, and be signed by the Chairman and secretary-treasurer of the Board; to provide for and regulate the renewal of registration of professional engineers registered under this chapter. On or before the 1st day of August 1952, and biennially thereafter, the secretary-treasurer of the Board shall mail to every professional engineer registered under this chapter a blank application for biennial renewal of registration, addressing such application to the last known post-office address. Upon receipt of such application blank, a registrant shall execute and return the application for his biennial registration renewal card to the Board together with the biennial registration renewal fee of $2. Upon receipt of such application and renewal fee the Board shall issue a pocket registration renewal card which shall show the full name and registration number of the registrant, be signed by the Chairman and secretary-treasurer of the Board, and state that the person named therein has been granted registration to practice as a professional engineer for the period beginning November 1 in the year of issue and expiring on the 31st day of October in the second year following. Application shall be made biennially on or before the 1st day of November and if not so made an additional fee of $1 for each thirty days delay beyond the 1st day of November, and up to the 1st day of March following shall be added to the current biennial registration renewal fee to be paid upon renewal; to issue a duplicate certificate of registration to replace a certificate lost, destroyed, or multilated, subject to the rules of the Board, and upon payment of the prescribed fee. The issuance of a certificate of registration by the Board shall be presumptive evidence in all courts and places that the person named therein is entitled to all the rights and privileges of a registered professional engineer while said certificate remains unsuspended, unrevoked, or unexpired.

(i) Certificate of registration to a noncitizen; form and execution; expiration; renewal of registration; renewal fee.—To issue a special certificate of registration and pocket registration card to every noncitizen professional engineer granted registration under the provisions of this chapter. The special certificate of registration shall authorize the registrant to practice as a professional engineer in connection with a specific project, show the full name of the registrant, have a registration number, and be signed by the members of the Board under the seal of the Board. The special pocket registration card issued with such certificate shall show the full name and registration number of the registrant, state that the person named therein has been granted temporary registration to practice as a professional engineer, state the specific project in connection with which the special registration is granted, the period for which it is granted, not to exceed one year from the date of issue, and be signed by the Chairman and secretary-treasurer of the Board. Temporary registration may be renewed at the discretion of the Board for periods not in excess of one year upon application therefor and payment of the annual renewal fee.

(j) Certificate as engineer-in-training.—To prescribe and to issue a certificate, attested by its seal and signed by the members of the Board, to any applicant who in the opinion of the Board has satisfactorily met all the requirements of this chapter for certification as an engineer-in-training.

(k) Roster of registrants.—To keep a roster of all professional engineers registered under this chapter, showing the registrant's name, place of business or employment, registration number, and the general field or fields of engineering in which registrant qualified to practice, and a roster of engineers-in-training certified under this chapter. These rosters, together with other information deemed to be of interest to the engineering profession, shall be published in booklet form by the Board on the 1st day of March of each even year, beginning with 1952, or as soon thereafter as practicable. The Board shall also, upon the 1st day of March of each odd year, beginning with 1953, or as soon thereafter as practicable, publish a supplemental roster of all registered professional engineers and certified engineers-in-training. Such published rosters shall contain at the beginning thereof the words: "Each professional engineer receiving this roster is requested to report to the Board the names and addresses of any persons known to be engaged in the practice of engineering in the District of Columbia whose names do not appear in this roster. The names of persons giving such information shall not be divulged". Copies of these rosters shall be mailed or otherwise sent to each registered professional engineer and engineer-in-training and be furnished to other persons upon request.

(l) Official seal; minutes and records.—To adopt and have an official seal, and to keep minutes and records of all its transactions and proceedings, and a complete record of the credentials of each applicant and registrant. A transcript of an entry in such minutes and records, certified by the secretary-treasurer under the seal of the Board, shall be prima facie evidence of the original entry in such minutes and records.

(m) Member of national council of state boards of engineering examiners; dues.—To become a member of the National Council of State Boards of Engineering Examiners and to pay such dues as said council shall establish, and to send a delegate to the annual meeting of said council and to defray his reasonable and necessary expenses.

(n) Administrative rules and regulations; employees.—To adopt, amend, rescind, promulgate, and enforce such administrative rules and regulations not inconsistent with this chapter, as are deemed necessary and proper by the Board to carry into effect the powers conferred by this chapter. To employ such clerical or other assistants as are necessary for the proper performance of its duties. The regular annual employees of the Board shall, for the purpose of laws relating to compensation, classification, retirement, and leave, be employees of the District of Columbia. The Board may at its discretion fix and change from time to time, without reference to the Classification Act of 1949, the compensation of employees of the Board employed on a temporary or part-time basis.

(o) Enforcement of laws; investigations; attendance of witnesses; production of books and papers; subpena procedure; witness fees.—To enforce the provisions of this chapter, to investigate for unauthorized and unlawful practice, to employ such persons as it may deem necessary to assist in the investigations and prosecutions incident to enforcement, to require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers, and to require such witnesses to testify as to any and all matters within its jurisdiction. The Chairman and secretary-treasurer of the Board shall have power to issue subpenas, and each shall have authority to administer oaths. Upon the failure of any person to attend as a witness, when duly subpenaed, or to produce documents when duly directed by said Board, the Board shall have power to refer the said matter to any justice of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, who may order the attendance of such witness, or the production of such documents, or require the said witness to testify, as the case may be, and upon the failure of the witness to attend, to testify, or to produce such documents, as the case may be, such witness may be punished for contempt of court as for failure to obey a subpena issued or to testify in a case pending before said court. Witnesses who have been subpenaed by the Board, and who testify if called upon, shall be paid the same fees that are paid witnesses in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia.

(p) Refusal, suspension, and revocation of certificates.—To refuse to issue a certificate to any person, or to suspend or revoke the certificate of registration of any professional engineer or the certification of any engineer-in-training issued hereunder if such person—

(1) has been convicted of a felony;

(2) has been found guilty of deceit, misrepresentation, violation of contract, fraud, or gross incompetency, in his practice;

(3) has been found guilty of fraud or deceit in obtaining his registration or certification;

(4) has aided or abetted any person in the violation of any provision of this chapter;

(5) has violated any provision of this chapter;

(6) has been declared insane by a court of competent jurisdiction and has not thereafter been lawfully declared sane.

(q) Reissuance of revoked certificates.—To reconsider the application of any person whose application has been refused or to reissue a certificate of registration to any professional engineer or a certification to any engineer-in-training whose certificate has been revoked for reasons the Board deems sufficient, upon payment of the prescribed fee for such reissuance. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 856, ch. 953, § 8.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective upon the expiration of the ninetieth day after Sept. 19, 1950, see note under § 2–1801.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Corporations may not qualify

District of Columbia statutory requirements for professional engineers can be met by natural persons only, and a corporation cannot be licensed as professional engineer. Potomac Engineers, Inc. v. Walser et al. (D.C.D.C. 1954, 127 F. Supp. 41, affirmed 223 F. 2d, 356, 96 U.S. App. D.C. 64).

Declaratory judgment

District Court did not abuse its discretion in dismissing one action and in granting summary judgment for defendants in another, which actions sought declaratory judgments against officials of District of Columbia government, alleging that such officials threatened criminal actions against plaintiff for its manner of use of word "engineers" in its corporate name and business in claimed violation of Professional Engineers Registration Act, this chapter, and seeking adjudication of dispute as to use of name, declaration that such use was legal, and injunction against criminal prosecution. T.V. Engineers, Inc., v. Bogan, etc. (1959, 274 F. 2d 93, 107 U.S. App. D.C. 31).

§ 2–1809. Complaints — Hearings — Proceedings — Appeals.

(a) The Board may upon its own motion, and shall upon the sworn complaint in writing of any person setting forth charges which would constitute grounds for refusal, suspension, or revocation of a certificate, as set forth in section 2–1808 (p), investigate the acts of any person holding or claiming to hold a certificate. All charges, unless dismissed by the Board as unfounded or trivial, shall be heard by the Board within three months after the date on which they shall have been filed.

(b) The Board shall, at least thirty days prior to the date set for the hearing, notify the accused in writing, of any charges made, and shall afford him an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel in reference thereto. Such notice may be served by its delivery personally to the accused licensee by the United States marshal in the manner prescribed for service of original process in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, or by mailing it by registered mail or by certified mail with return receipt demanded, to the place of business last theretofore specified by the accused in his last notification to the Board. At the time and place fixed in the notice, the Board shall proceed to hearing of the charges and both the accused and the complainant shall be accorded ample opportunity to present in person or by counsel, such testimony, evidence, and argument as may be pertinent to the charges or to any defense thereto. The Board may continue such hearing from time to time and shall give notice in writing to all parties in interest of the date and hour to which the hearing has been continued, and the place at which it is to be held.

(c) The Board shall preserve a complete record of all proceedings at the hearing of any case wherein a certificate is refused, revoked, or suspended. The notice of hearing, complaint, and all other documents in the nature of pleadings and written motions filed in the proceedings, the transcript of testimony, and the orders of the Board shall be the record of such proceedings. The Board shall furnish a transcript of such record at cost to any person interested in such hearing.

(d) If, after completion of the hearing, the Board shall be of the opinion that the accused is guilty of the charges, or any of them, the Board shall issue an order refusing, suspending, or revoking the certificate. Such order shall be served upon the accused person either personally or by mailing it by registered mail to the address specified by the accused person in his last notification to the Board.

(e) Any person aggrieved by the action of the Board in refusing, suspending, or revoking a registration or certification or by any other action of the Board, which is alleged to be improper, unreasonable, or unlawful may appeal from such action of the Board to the United States District Court for the District of Columbia.

(f) Appeals from suspension or revocation of registration and certification must be taken within thirty days after such refusal, suspension, or revocation. In the case of appeals from other actions of the Board, the appeal may be taken at any time by the person aggrieved by such action. No such action shall act as supersedeas unless specially allowed by the court.

(g) Proceedings shall be conducted according to the Rules of Civil Procedure for the United States District Courts and the appeal shall be heard by the judge or judges of the court without a jury. The court shall affirm the decision of the Board, unless it shall find the same is in violation of the constitutional rights of the appellant, or is not in accordance with law, or was made upon unlawful procedure, or that any finding of fact made by the Board and necessary to support its adjudication is not supported by substantial evidence. If the adjudication of the Board is not affirmed the court may set aside or modify it in whole or in part, or may remand the proceeding to the Board for further disposition in accordance with the order of the court.

(h) Either party may appeal from the decision of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia circuit. Any appeal on behalf of the Board may be filed without bond. The decree of the United States Court of Appeals shall be final and conclusive. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 862, ch. 953, § 9; June 11, 1960, 74 Stat. 202, Pub. L. 86–507, § 1(41).)

AMENDMENT

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Rehearing after appeal

Where District Court, on applicant's appeal from action of District of Columbia Board of Registration for Professional Engineers in denying application for registration, remanded case for rehearing, remand should have been without qualification so that Board might, after hearing additional evidence, make initial decision on enlarged factual situation. Walser v. Merle (1956, 228 F. 2d 465, 97 U. S. App. D. C. 118).

§ 2–1810. Exemptions.

Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to affect or prevent the following:

(a) The practice of engineering by any person who, within one year after September 19, 1950, has filed with the Board an application for registration under this chapter. This exemption shall continue only for such time as the Board may require for consideration of said application.

(b) The practice of engineering for not exceeding thirty days in the aggregate in one calendar year by a nonresident not having a place of business in the District of Columbia, if such person is licensed or registered to engage in the practice of engineering in a State or Territory in which the requirements and qualifications for obtaining a license or registration are reasonably equivalent to those specified in this chapter.

(c) The practice of engineering for more than thirty days by a nonresident not having a place of business in the District of Columbia, or by a person who has recently become a resident of or has recently entered the practice of engineering in the District of Columbia, and who has filed with the Board an application for registration, if such person is registered or licensed to engage in the practice of engineering in a State or Territory in which the requirements and qualifications for obtaining a license or registration are reasonably equivalent to those specified in this chapter. Such practice shall be permitted only for such time as the Board requires for the consideration of the application.

(d) The performance of engineering work by any person who acts under the supervision of a professional engineer, or by an employee of a person lawfully engaged in the practice of engineering, and who, in either event, does not assume responsible charge of design or supervision.

(e) The practice of engineering as a consultant, officer, or employee of the Government of the United States or the government of the District of Columbia while engaged solely in such practice for said governments.

(f) The practice of any other legally recognized profession.

(g) The practice of engineering exclusively as an officer or employee of a public-utility corporation (sections 43–122 and 43–123) by rendering to such corporation such service in connection with its facilities and property which are subject to supervision with respect to safety and security thereof by the Public Service Commission of the District of Columbia and so long as such person is thus actually and exclusively employed and no longer: Provided, however, That each such public-utility corporation shall employ at least one registered professional engineer who shall be in responsible charge of such engineering work.

(h) The practice of architecture by a person authorized to use the title of architect or registered architect under the provisions of this chapter, and his doing such engineering work as is incidental to his architectural work.

(i) The construction or alteration of a building that does not cover over one thousand square feet of ground area and does not have a height of over twenty feet to the uppermost ceiling, or two habitable floors above a basement.

(j) The execution of construction work as a contractor, or the superintendence of such construction work as a foreman or superintendent, or the work performed as a salesman of engineering equipment or apparatus.

(k) The operation or maintenance of boilers, machinery, or equipment when the operators are duly licensed under the provisions of sections 2–1501 to 2–1507.

(l) The usual supervision of construction or installation of equipment within a plant under his immediate supervision by a person ordinarily designated as supervising engineer or chief engineer of power. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 863, ch. 953, § 10; Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 634, Pub. L. 88–503, § 21.)

CHANGE OF NAME

Section 21 of act Aug. 30, 1964, Pub. L. 88–503, changed the name of the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia to "Public Service Commission of the District of Columbia." See § 2–2418.

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective upon the expiration of the ninetieth day after Sept. 19, 1950, see note under § 2–1801.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Burden of proving exception

Fact that Professional Engineers' Registration Act excepts from its provisions practice of any other legally recognized profession did not require that information allege and that prosecution prove that defendant was not within exception, and defendant had burden of proving that it was within exception. T.V. Engineers, Inc. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 166 A. 2d 920).

Practice of engineering

The preparation by duly licensed master electricians of plans, diagrams and computations for proposed installations in which carrying capacity will exceed 200 amperes or electrical potential will exceed 240 volts does not constitute "practice of engineering" as contemplated in the Professional Engineers' Registration Act, this chapter, and order of Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia providing that plans and specifications for proposed electrical installations in excess of 240 amperes or 240 volts should be prepared by registered professional electrical engineer was not required under the legislation regulating the practice of engineering. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

Corporation could be convicted under provision of Professional Engineers' Registration Act making it misdemeanor for anyone to represent himself to be professional engineer without being registered as provided in the act, though only natural person may be registered under act. T.V. Engineers, Inc. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 166 A. 2d 920).

Regulations

Order of District of Columbia Board of Commissioners requiring that application for any proposed electrical installation in which current carrying capacity exceeds 200 amperes or electrical potential exceeds 240 volts shall be accompanied by plans and computations prepared and signed by professional electrical engineer bears no relationship to the factors of public health, safety or general welfare, results in discrimination against the electrical trade or business and inevitably increases cost to the consuming public, for no lawful reason, and such order is illogical, unreasonable, arbitrary and capricious. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

Repeal by implication

Where section of Electrical Code providing for plans and specifications to be submitted by licensed electricians as part of permits for proposed electrical installation was in effect at time Congress enacted legislation regulating architects and engineers without repealing the Electrical Code sections, no repeal of Electrical Code sections was intended by implication, and District of Columbia Board of Commissioner's orders amending Electrical Code section to provide that plans and specifications for installations in excess of 240 amperes or 240 volts should be prepared by a registered professional electrical engineer was without basis in law. Electrical Contractors Association of the District of Columbia et al. v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 153 F. Supp. 653).

§ 2–1811. Seal of registrants.

(a) Each person registered under this chapter may obtain a seal of a design authorized by the Board which shall bear the registrant's name and registration number, the legend "Registered Professional Engineer", and such other words or figures as the Board may deem necessary. Such seal, or a facsimile imprint of same, shall be stamped on all plans, specifications, and reports by the registrant responsible for the accuracy and adequacy of such plans, specifications, and reports, when filed with public authorities.

(b) It shall be unlawful for a registered engineer to affix or permit his seal to be affixed to any plans, specifications, or drawings for which he does not assume full responsibility for the adequacy and accuracy thereof.

(c) It shall be unlawful for any person to use such seal during the period the registration of the holder thereof is expired, suspended, or revoked, or to use a seal of any design not approved by the Board. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 864, ch. 953, § 11.)

§ 2–1812. Display of certificate of registration.

Whoever engages in the practice of engineering shall keep displayed in a conspicuous place in his established place of business the certificate of registration granted him under this chapter, and evidence of current renewal. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 864, ch. 953, § 12.)

§ 2–1813. Fees—Payment of expenses—Audit.

Each application for registration as a professional engineer shall be accompanied by the appropriate prescribed application fee and the registration fee. A person desiring certification as an engineer-in-training shall pay the prescribed application fee for such certification with his application and shall pay the additional application fee and the registration fee upon filing his application for registration as a professional engineer.

Should the Board deny the issuance of a certificate of registration to any applicant, the registration fee deposited with the application shall be refunded.

The amount of the fees prescribed in this chapter is that fixed by the following schedule:

(a) The application fee for professional engineer with first- and second-stage examination is $20.

(b) The application fee for professional engineer without examination is $10.

(c) The application fee for engineer-in-training with examination is $7.50.

(d) The application fee for engineer-in-training without examination is $5.

(e) The application fee for professional engineer with second-stage examination is $12.50.

(f) The fee for reexamination shall be determined by the Board not to exceed $10.

(g) The registration fee for professional engineer is $5.

(h) The biennial registration renewal fee for professional engineer is $6.

(i) The fee for reissuance of a revoked certificate of engineer-in-training is $7.50.

(j) The fee for reissuance of a revoked registration certificate is $20.

(k) The fee for issuance of a duplicate certificate of registration is $5.

(l) The penalty for delinquence is $1 for each month after the date upon which the biennial renewal fee became due: Provided, however, That the total shall not exceed $4.

The secretary-treasurer of the Board shall receive and account for all money derived from the provisions of this chapter and shall keep such money in a separate fund to be known as "Professional engineers' fund", such fund to be disbursed only by the secretary-treasurer, upon itemized vouchers approved by the Chairman and attested by the secretary-treasurer of the Board. The secretary-treasurer shall furnish bond for the faithful discharge of his duties, in such form and amount as the Commissioners shall require. The premium on such bond shall be regarded as a proper and necessary expense of the Board. The secretary-treasurer of the Board shall receive such salary as the Commissioners shall determine, in addition to the compensation provided for in section 2–1806. The Board may make expenditures from this fund for any purpose which, in the opinion of the Board, is reasonably necessary for the proper performance of its duties under this chapter: Provided, however, That such expenditures shall in no event exceed the total of receipts. It shall be the duty of the Auditor of the District of Columbia to audit annually the accounts of the Board and make a report thereof to the Commissioners. For the purpose of performance of such duty the Auditor shall have free access to the books of account, records, and papers of the Board. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 864, ch. 953, § 13.)

INCREASE OF FEES

Sections 1–252 and 1–253 authorize the Commissioners to increase or decrease, from time to time, the fees specified in this section.

In accordance with this authority the Commissioners increased the fee for renewal registration in par. (h) from $2.00 to $6.00 biennially effective Sept. 14, 1954.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

All functions of the Office of the Auditor including the functions of all officers, employees and subordinate agencies were transferred to the Director, Department of General Administration by Reorganization Order No. 3 of the Board of Commissioners dated Aug. 28, 1952 and effective Sept. 2, 1952. The function of the annual audit of accounts of the District of Columbia Board of Registration for Professional Engineers was transferred from the Auditor of the District of Columbia to the Internal Audit Officer, Department of General Administration by Reorganization Order No. 19. These orders were issued by the Board of Commissioners pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1952. The orders and plan are set out in the Appendix to Title 1, Administration.

§ 2–1814. Penalties.

Whoever shall engage or offer to engage in the practice of engineering without being registered, or exempted, as provided in this chapter, or by verbal claim, sign, letterhead, card, or in any other way represent himself to be a professional engineer or through the use of any title including the word "engineer" or words of like import, or any other title, imply that he is a professional engineer without being registered as provided in this chapter, or shall present or attempt to use as his own the registration certificate of another, or shall give any false or forged evidence of any kind to the Board, or to any member thereof, in order to obtain registration as a professional engineer, or shall use any suspended or revoked registration, or shall otherwise violate the laws relating to the practice of engineering shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 865, ch. 953, § 14.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Burden of proving exception

Fact that Professional Engineers' Registration Act excepts from its provisions practice of any other legally recognized profession did not require that information allege and that prosecution prove that defendant was not within exception, and defendant had burden of proving that it was within exception. T.V. Engineers, Inc. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 166 A. 2d 920).

Practice of engineering

Corporation could be convicted under provision of Professional Engineers' Registration Act making it misdemeanor for anyone to represent himself to be professional engineer without being registered as provided in the act, though only natural person may be registered under act. T.V. Engineers, Inc., v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 166 A. 2d 920).

Violation question of fact

Question whether use of name "T.V. Engineers Inc.," by corporation which employed no professional engineers, violated provision of Professional Engineers' Registration Act making it misdemeanor for anyone to represent himself to be professional engineer without being registered, was factual determination for trial court. T.V. Engineers, Inc. v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 166 A. 2d 920).

§ 2–1815. Prosecutions.

(a) All violations of laws relating to the practice of engineering in the District of Columbia shall be prosecuted in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions by the corporation counsel. The corporation counsel shall render such other legal services as may from time to time be required by the Board.

(b) The Superintendent of the Metropolitan Police Department shall detail such members of his force as may be necessary to assist the Board in the investigations and prosecutions incident to the enforcement of this chapter.

(c) The corporation counsel is hereby authorized to apply for relief by injunction to restrain a person from the commission of any act which is prohibited by this chapter. In such proceedings it shall not be necessary for the corporation counsel to allege or prove either that an adequate remedy at law does not exist, or that substantial and irreparable damage would result, from the continued violation thereof. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 866, ch. 953, § 15; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "municipal court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

Functions of Superintendent of the Metropolitan Police Department transferred to Chief of Police, see transfer of functions note under section 4–103.

§ 2–1816. Annual report.

The Board shall submit an annual report to the Commissioners on the first Monday in August, containing a statement of moneys received and disbursed and a summary of its official acts during the next preceding fiscal year, and recommendations for such further legislation relating to the practice of engineering as may be necessary in the public interest. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 866, ch. 953, § 16.)

§ 2–1817. Separability of provisions

If any section or sections, clause or clauses, of this chapter, or any regulations promulgated thereunder, be declared unconstitutional or invalid, that shall not invalidate any other sections or clauses of this chapter, or any other regulations promulgated thereunder. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 866, ch. 953, § 17.)

§ 2–1818. Repeal of conflicting legislation.

All laws or parts of laws and regulations promulgated thereunder in conflict with the provisions of this chapter shall be, and the same are hereby, repealed. (Sept. 19, 1950, 64 Stat. 866, ch. 953, § 18.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Entrapment

In prosecution for operating pawnshop without a license in violation of District of Columbia statute, evidence presented question of fact as to whether the two police officers, who had misled defendant as to their identity, had entrapped defendant. Kronstadt v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1959, 155 A. 2d 76).

§ 2–2003. Appointment of attorney and application for licenses.

(a) No license shall be issued to any person unless and until such person shall, in writing and in the form prescribed by the Commissioners, appoint the Commissioners as his true and lawful attorney upon whom all judicial and other process or legal notice directed to such person may be served. A copy of any such process or notice so served upon the Commissioners shall be forthwith sent by registered mail by the plaintiff or his attorney to the defendant at his residence or his place of business.

(b) Each application for a license under this chapter shall be in writing, under oath or affirmation, to the Commissioners in such form as they may prescribe. Such application shall contain (1) in the case of an individual, his name and the address of his residence and place of business, (2) in the case of a firm or voluntary association, the name and address of every member thereof and the address of the place where such business is to be conducted, (3) in the case of a joint-stock company, incorporated society, or corporation, the names and addresses of the officers and directors thereof and the address of the place where such business is to be conducted, and (4) such additional information as the Commissioners may prescribe.

(c) Each applicant shall prove to the satisfaction of the Commissioners that he has available, for use in the business of making loans authorized by this chapter at the location specified in his application, cash capital of at least $20,000.

(d) Upon the filing of any such application the applicant shall pay to the Commissioners the sum of $50 as a fee for investigating the application, which sum shall be retained by the District whether such application is approved or disapproved. (Aug. 6, 1956, 70 Stat. 1036, ch. 970, § 3.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective at the expiration of 60 days after Aug. 6, 1956, see note under § 2–2001.

§ 2–2004. Bond provisions—Annual renewal.

(a) Each applicant shall file with his application a bond running to the District in the sum of $5,000 with two or more sufficient sureties, whose liability as such securities shall not exceed the said sum in the aggregate; except that the execution of any such bond by a fidelity or surety company authorized by the laws of the United States to transact business in the District shall be equivalent to the execution thereof by two sureties, but such company, if excepted to, shall justify in the manner required by law of fidelity and surety companies. Such bond shall be approved by the Commissioners and conditioned upon the compliance by the applicant with all the provisions of this title and all rules and regulations lawfully made pursuant thereto. Any person injured by the noncompliance with any such provision, rule, or regulation by any licensee under this chapter may maintain a suit in his own name in any court of competent jurisdiction and recover on the bond such damages as shall be adjudged by such court together with costs of such suit. Recovery upon any such bond shall not preclude recovery against such licensee for any liability in excess of the amount recovered upon the bond, and such recovery shall not be held to extinguish any remedy under other law.

(b) The bond or bonds which the licensee is required to file hereunder shall be renewed and refiled annually at the time of making payment of the annual license fee. If the Commissioners shall find that any such bond has for any reason become insecure or exhausted, an additional bond in the sum of not more than $5,000 shall be filed by the licensee within ten days after written demand therefor by the Commissioners. (Aug. 6, 1956, 70 Stat. 1037, ch. 970, § 4.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective at the expiration of 60 days after Aug. 6, 1956, see note under § 2–2001.

§ 2–2005. Issuance of license.

(a) If the Commissioners approve the bond filed by the applicant and the form of the application, and find after investigation (1) that the financial responsibility, experience, character, and general fitness of such applicant, and of the members thereof if the applicant is a firm or voluntary association, and of the officers and directors thereof if the applicant is a joint-stock company, incorporated society, or corporation are such as to command the confidence of the community and to warrant the belief that the business of the applicant will be operated honestly, fairly, and efficiently in accordance with the purposes of this chapter; (2) that permitting such applicant to engage in such business will promote the convenience and advantage of the community; and (3) that the applicant has available for use in such business at the location specified in the application cash capital of at least $20,000, the Commissioners shall, upon payment by the applicant of a license fee of $500, issue to the applicant a license to make such loans in accordance with the provisions of this chapter at the location specified in such application; except that if any such license is issued after the thirtieth day of April of any year the fee for such license shall be $250. If the Commissioners do not so find after investigation they shall notify the applicant thereof and return the bond filed with the application. Within sixty days from the date of filing the application for license, accompanied by the investigation fee and bond required by this chapter the Commissioners shall either issue or refuse to issue such license, but no applicant shall be denied a license until after a due hearing by the Commissioners, at which the applicant shall have a reasonable opportunity to be heard and to produce evidence in support of his application. If the application be denied the Commissioners shall within twenty days thereafter prepare a written decision and findings with respect thereto containing a summary of the evidence and the reasons supporting the denial and forthwith serve upon the applicant a copy thereof.

(b) Each license issued under this chapter shall state fully the name of the licensee and the place at which the business is to be conducted under such license. Such license shall be kept conspicuously posted in such place of business. No such license shall be transferable or assignable. Not more than one place of business shall be maintained under the same license, but the Commissioners may issue more than one license to the same licensee upon compliance for each such license with all the provisions of this title applicable to the original issuance of licenses. Whenever a licensee shall desire to change his place of business to another location within the District he shall immediately give written notice thereof to the Commissioners. Upon receipt of such notice the Commissioners shall attach to the license a statement of the change of location and the date thereof, which shall be authority for the operation of such business under such license at the new location.

(c) No licensee shall transact such business or make any loan provided for by this chapter under any other name or at any other place of business than that named in the license. (Aug. 6, 1956, 70 Stat. 1037, ch. 970, § 5.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective at the expiration of 60 days after Aug. 6, 1956, see note under § 2–2001.

§ 2–2006. Revocation, suspension, and renewal of licenses.

(a) Each license shall remain in full force and effect until the first day of November following the date of issuance unless sooner surrendered by the licensee or suspended or revoked as hereinafter provided. Application for license for the following year may be made by any licensee within twenty days prior to the first day of November. If the Commissioners are satisfied that no fact or condition then exists which clearly would warrant the Commissioners in refusing to issue a license on an original application the Commissioners are authorized to issue license for the year commencing on the first day of November following the date of such application, upon payment of license fee of $250.

(b) The Commissioners shall, upon ten days' notice to the licensee stating that they contemplate the revocation or suspension of his license, and, in general, the grounds therefor, revoke or suspend such license, after reasonable opportunity has been afforded to the licensee to be heard, if the Commissioners find (1) that the licensee has failed to maintain in effect the bond or bonds required under this chapter or (2) that the licensee has either knowingly or without the exercise of due care to prevent the same, violated any provision of this chapter or has failed to comply with any rule or regulation lawfully made pursuant thereto, or (3) that any fact or condition then exists which clearly would warrant the Commissioners in refusing to issue a license on an original application. If the license be revoked or suspended the Commissioners shall, within twenty days thereafter, prepare a written decision and findings with respect thereto containing a summary of the evidence and the reasons supporting the revocation or suspension and forthwith serve upon the licensee a copy thereof.

(c) The Commissioners may revoke or suspend only the particular license with respect to which there are grounds for revocation or suspension; but if the Commissioners find that such grounds for revocation or suspension apply or extend to more than one license issued to any person under this chapter, they shall revoke or suspend all the licenses affected thereby.

(d) The licensee may at any time surrender any license issued to him under this chapter upon filing written notice to that effect with the Commissioners.

(e) No revocation, suspension, or surrender of any such license shall impair or affect the obligation of any preexisting lawful contract between the licensee and any borrower, or any bond given by such licensee. (Aug. 6. 1956, 70 Stat. 1038, ch. 970, § 6.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective at the expiration of 60 days after Aug. 6, 1956, see note under § 2–2001.

§ 2–2007. Enforcement provisions—Commissioners to investigate licensees—Production of records—Contempt proceedings—Filing of reports—Preservation of records—Review of Commissioners' decisions.

(a) The provisions of this chapter shall be enforced by the Commissioners, who are authorized to make such rules and regulations in addition hereto and not inconsistent herewith, as may be necessary for the enforcement of this chapter. The Commissioners shall make such examination and investigations of the affairs, business, office, and records of every licensee, and such further examinations or investigations as they shall deem necessary for the purpose of discovering violations of this chapter or of securing information necessary for its proper enforcement. For the purpose of making such examinations or investigations the Commissioners and their duly designated representatives shall have authority to require by subpena the production of books, papers, and records and the attendance, and examination under oath, of all persons whomsoever whose testimony they may require relative to the loans or business of any such licensee, and shall have free access to the accounts, papers, records, files, safes, vaults, offices, and places of business used in connection with any business conducted under any license issued in accordance with this chapter. In the event of contumacy or refusal to obey any such subpena or requirement under this section, the Commissioners may make application to the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions for an order requiring obedience thereto. Thereupon the court, with or without notice and hearing, as it in its discretion may decide, shall make such order as is proper and may punish as a contempt any failure to comply with such order in accordance with the provisions of section 11–756(c).

(b) Each licensee shall annually on or before the fifteenth day of March file with the Commissioners a report giving such information as the Commissioners may require, relevant to the business and operations during the preceding calendar year, of each licensed place of business conducted by such licensee in the District. Such report shall be made under oath and in the form prescribed by the Commissioners. The Commissioners shall make and publish annually an analysis and recapitulation of such reports.

(c) Each licensee shall keep and use in his business and shall preserve for at least three years after making the final entry on any loan recorded therein, such books, accounts, records, or card systems as will enable the Commissioners to determine whether such licensee is complying with the provisions of this chapter and with the rules and regulations made pursuant thereto.

(d) The Commissioners are authorized to appoint such assistants, clerks, or other employees as may be required for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this chapter.

(e) Any person aggrieved by any action, decision, or ruling of the Commissioners under this chapter may, within twenty days thereafter, or within twenty days after the service upon such person of any written decision and findings required by this chapter, appeal to the Commissioners for a review thereof. Upon any such review, the Commissioners may affirm, set aside, or modify such action, decision, or ruling. In any such case the Commissioners shall, within ten days thereafter, prepare a written decision and findings with respect thereto, containing a summary of the evidence and the reasons supporting the affirmance, setting aside, or modification, and forthwith serve upon the aggrieved person a copy thereof. (Aug. 6, 1956, 70 Stat. 1039, ch. 970, § 7; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77; Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

§ 2–2008. Advertising—Statement of rates.

(a) No licensee or other person, firm, voluntary association, joint stock company, incorporated society, or corporation shall advertise, print, display, publish, distribute, or broadcast, or cause or permit to be advertised, printed, displayed, published, distributed, or broadcast, in any manner whatsoever, any statement or representation with regard to the rates, terms, or conditions for the lending of money, credit, goods, or things in action in the amount or of the value of $1,000 or less, which is false, misleading, or deceptive, or, in the case of a licensee, which refers to the supervision of such business by the District of Columbia, or any department or official thereof. The Commissioners may order any licensee to desist from any conduct which they shall find to be a violation of the foregoing provisions.

(b) The Commissioners may require that rates of charge, if stated by a licensee, be stated fully and clearly in such manner as they may deem necessary to prevent misunderstanding thereof by prospective borrowers. (Aug. 6, 1956, 70 Stat. 1040, ch. 970, § 8.)

§ 2–2009. Investigations of economic conditions relating to pawnbrokerage business—Fixing of interest rates—Payment of loan.

(a) The Commissioners shall investigate from time to time the economic conditions and other factors relating to and affecting the business of making pawnbroker loans under this chapter, and shall ascertain all pertinent facts necessary to determine what maximum rate of interest should be permitted. Upon the basis of such ascertained facts, the Commissioners shall determine and fix by regulation or order a maximum rate of interest in connection with such loans which will induce efficiently managed commercial capital to be invested in such business in sufficient amounts to make available adequate credit facilities to individuals seeking such loans at reasonable rates of interest, and which will afford those engaged in such business a fair and reasonable return upon the assets. The Commissioners may from time to time, upon the basis of changed conditions or facts, redetermine and refix any such maximum rate of interest, but, before determining or redetermining any such maximum rate, the Commissioners shall give reasonable notice of their intention to consider doing so to all licensees and a reasonable opportunity to be heard and introduce evidence with respect thereto and such notice shall also be published once each week for two consecutive weeks in one or more of the daily newspapers published in the District. Any such changed maximum rate of interest shall not affect preexisting loan contracts lawfully entered into between any licensee and any borrower. Until such time as a different rate is fixed by the Commissioners in accordance with the authorization contained in this section, every licensed pawnbroker may contract for and receive on any loan of money, not exceeding 2 per centum per month, or fraction thereof, upon any loan not exceeding the sum of $200, or more than 1 per centum per month or fraction thereof, upon any loan exceeding $200 and not exceeding $1,000, and 8 per centum per annum on any loan in excess of $1,000, under a penalty of $100 for each such offense: Provided, That pawnbrokers may ask, demand, and receive a minimum charge in lieu of interest of 50 cents.

(b) The borrower may pay all or any part of any loan made pursuant to this chapter at any time before the date of maturity thereof, but any such payment may first be applied by the licensee to all interest unpaid up to the date of such payment. (Aug. 6, 1956, 70 Stat. 1040, ch. 970, § 9.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective at the expiration of 60 days after Aug. 6, 1956, see note under § 2–2001.

"(b) Sections 6, 7, and 8 [sections 2–2205, 2–2206, and 2–2207] shall take effect on the date of enactment of the first Act appropriating moneys to carry out the purposes of this Act [this chapter] which is enacted after the date of enactment of this Act [June 27, 1960], and section 3 [section 2–2202] shall take effect on the sixtieth day after the date of enactment of such appropriation Act."

SHORT TITLE

Section 1 of act June 27, 1960, provided: "That this Act [adding this chapter] may be cited as 'The District of Columbia Legal Aid Act'."

§ 2–2202. Counsel for indigents to be provided in criminal proceedings and proceedings of a criminal nature.

The Agency shall make attorneys available to represent indigents in criminal proceedings in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia and in preliminary hearings in felony cases, and in cases involving offenses against the United States in which imprisonment may be for one year or more in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions, in proceedings before the Coroner for the District of Columbia and the United States Commissioner, in proceedings before the juvenile court of the District of Columbia, and in proceedings before the Commission on Mental Health of the District of Columbia and proceedings in the courts arising therefrom.

The Agency shall from time to time advise each of the courts and tribunals named in this section of the names of the attorneys employed by the Agency who are available to accept assignments in said court or tribunal. The judges or other presiding officers of the several courts and tribunals may assign attorneys employed by the Agency to represent indigents, such assignments to be upon a case-to-case basis, a group-of-cases basis, or a time basis, as the assigning authority may prescribe. Each such court and tribunal will make every reasonable effort to provide assignment of counsel as early in the proceeding as practicable. (June 27, 1960, 74 Stat. 229, Pub. L. 86–531, § 3; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60 § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "Municipal Court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective on the sixtieth day after the date of enactment of the first act appropriating moneys to carry out the purposes of this chapter, see note under section 2–2201.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Duty of counsel

Legal Aid Agency attorney as much as other attorney owes entire devotion to interest of client, warm zeal in maintenance and defense of client's rights and exertion of his utmost learning and ability to end that nothing be taken or be withheld from client, save by rules of law, legally applied. D. A. Young and J. W. Simmons v. United States (1965, 346 F. 2d 793, 120 U.S. App. D.C. 312).

Juvenile court proceedings

Proceeding to determine question of waiver of juvenile court jurisdiction is one in which assistance of counsel is provided by District of Columbia Legal Aid Act. Black v. United States (1965, 355 F. 2d 104, 122 U.S. App. D.C. 393).

Right to counsel

Defendant at preliminary hearing should have been informed by commissioner that if he desired a lawyer and was unable to retain one, commissioner could assign one to represent him. R. A. Smith, Jr. v. United States (1966, 361 F. 2d 74, 124 U.S. App. D.C. 57).

Under District of Columbia Legal Aid Act, United States Commissioner sitting in District of Columbia must not only inform defendant of his right to retain counsel but must inform indigent defendant of his right to have counsel assigned. W. D. Blue v. United States (1964, 342 F. 2d 894, 119 U.S. App. D.C. 315, cert. denied 85 S. Ct. 1029).

If prisoner, once informed, chooses freely and intelligently to refuse legal representation Congress has provided in District of Columbia, no appointment must be made. Id.

Where United States Commissioner sitting in District of Columbia informed indigent defendant of right to retain counsel but not of his right to have counsel assigned, subsequent return of indictment did not cure inadequacy. Id.

Waiver of preliminary hearing

Accused who is permitted in District of Columbia to waive preliminary hearing without proper advice or who is wrongfully denied opportunity to present witnesses in his own behalf will be entitled to order of release unless hearing is held, or to order reopening hearing for presentation of further evidence, but such remedies should be asserted at earliest possible moment. W. D. Blue v. United States (1964, 342 F. 2d 894, 119 U.S. App. D.C. 315, cert. denied 85 S. Ct. 1029).

Unless some reason is shown why counsel could not have discovered and challenged defect before trial, it will generally be assumed that any objection to preliminary proceedings were considered and waived, and no post-conviction remedies will be available. Id.

Purpose of preliminary hearing is to afford accused opportunity to establish that there is no probable cause for continued detention and thereby to regain his liberty and, possibly, escape prosecution, and to afford a chance to learn in advance of trial the foundations of charge and evidence which will comprise government's case against him. Id.

That indigent accused who waived preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner in District of Columbia was erroneously not informed before such waiver that he was entitled to have counsel appointed for him did not require new trial where accused was represented at trial by counsel who had opportunity to move, before trial, to correct defect and where no prejudice appeared. Id.

§ 2–2203. Eligibility for legal services—Standards and procedures—Penalty.

The legal representation services hereinbefore described shall be provided only to such persons who first subscribe and state in writing upon oath that such person has been unable to hire an attorney and is further unable to pay modest attorney's fee; except that the aforesaid sworn statement in writing shall not be required of patients in proceedings before the Commission on Mental Health of the District of Columbia and proceedings in courts arising therefrom. This oath may be administered by any person under law authorized and empowered to administer oaths. The Board of Trustees may provide more detailed standards and procedures consistent with the rules and policies of the respective courts and tribunals, to carry out the provisions of this section: Provided further, That any person making a false oath on any material matter required herein shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both. (June 27, 1960, 74 Stat. 230, Pub. L. 86–531, § 4.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective on June 27, 1960, see note under § 2–2201.

§ 2–2204. Power of agency vested in Board of Trustees—Appointment and terms of trustees.

The powers of the Agency shall be vested in a Board of Trustees composed of seven members, each serving a term of three years. Each trustee shall be appointed, for a full term or for the balance of an unexpired term, by a panel (of which four members shall be a quorum) consisting of—the Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia;

the Chief Judge of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia;

the Chief Judge of the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions;

the Chief Judge of the District of Columbia Court of Appeals;

the President of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia; and the Judge of the juvenile court of the District of Columbia.

Said panel shall be presided over by the Chief Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia (or his designee, in his absence).

The Board of Trustees of the Agency shall be appointed initially as follows: three members for three-year terms, two members for two-year terms, and two members for a one-year term. Thereafter each appointment (except an appointment for the balance of an unexpired term) shall be for a three-year term. Each appointee shall hold office until his successor is appointed and qualifies. (June 27, 1960, 74 Stat. 230, Pub. L. 86–531, § 5; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, 78, Pub. L. 88–60, §§ 1, 6.)

2–2301. Bonding of persons engaged in home improvement business—Definitions.
2–2302. Commissioners may establish classes and subclasses of persons licensed in the home improvement business—Bonds for the protection of the public—Licensees may be required to carry public liability and property damage insurance—Designation of Commissioners by licensees as their attorney for service of process—Terms and conditions of bonds—Aggrieved person may sue on the bond.

§ 2–2301. Bonding of persons engaged in home improvement business—Definitions.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized, in connection with the licensing of persons engaged in the home improvement business, whether as principal, agent, salesman, employee, or otherwise, to require the furnishing of bond as a condition to the issuance of such license. For the purposes of this chapter, the term "home improvement business" means the repair, remodeling, alteration, conversion, or modernization of, or addition to, residential property, all as may be more particularly defined in regulations promulgated by the Commissioners. Such bonding may be required notwithstanding the fact that a person may also be subject to the bonding requirements of any other law. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 815, Pub. L. 86–715, § 1.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 8 of act Sept. 6, 1960, provided that: "This Act [adding this chapter] shall take effect on the thirtieth day after the date of enactment of this Act [Sept. 6, 1960]."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Payment in advance

Under regulations promulgated pursuant to Home Improvement Business Act that no person shall accept any payment under home improvement contract "in advance of the full completion of all of the work required to be performed by such contract" unless such person is licensed as home improvement contractor, absence of a license is relevant only where contractor requires or accepts payment in advance of full completion of contracted work. F. P. Hoffheins et ano. v. B. E. Heslop etc. (D.C. App. 1965, 210 A. 2d 841).

Where following execution of contract for home improvement at price of $15,635 homeowners sold the contractor a used automobile for $50 which he credited to contract price, the $50 credit could not be considered payment "under" that contract within regulations promulgated pursuant to Home Improvement Business Act that no person shall require or accept any payment under home improvement contract in advance of full completion of contracted work unless contractor is licensed as home improvement contractor. Id.

§ 2–2302. Commissioners may establish classes and subclasses of persons licensed in the home improvement business—Bonds for the protection of the public—Licensees may be required to carry public liability and property damage insurance—Designation of Commissioners by licensees as their attorney for service of process—Terms and conditions of bonds—Aggrieved person may sue on the bond.

(a) The Commissioners may, from time to time, and in their discretion, establish classes and subclasses of persons licensed to engage in the home improvement business and specify the amount and conditions of the bond or other security acceptable to the Commissioners to be deposited by each of the members of any such class or subclass. In connection with the licensing of persons to engage in the home improvement business, and the bonding of the members of any such class or subclass of such persons, the Commissioners, in their discretion, may by regulation require applicants for licenses or licensees—

(1) to furnish and keep in force a bond or bonds running to the District, or other security acceptable to the Commissioners, to protect members of the public against financial loss by reason of the failure of the licensee or of any officer, agent, employee, salesman, or other person acting on behalf of said licensee, to observe any law or regulation in force in the District of Columbia applicable to the licensee's conduct of the licensed business;

(2) to procure and keep in force public liability insurance or property damage insurance, or both; and

(3) to appoint the Commissioners as their true and lawful attorney upon whom all judicial and other process or legal notice directed to such person may be served.

(b) The bonds authorized by this section shall be corporate surety bonds in amounts to be fixed by the Commissioners, but no bond shall exceed $25,000, and such bond shall be conditioned upon the observance by the licensee and any officer, agent, employee, salesman, or other person acting on behalf of said licensee, of all laws and regulations in force in the District applicable to the licensee's conduct of the licensed business, for the benefit of any person who may suffer damages resulting from the violation of any such law or regulation by or on the part of such licensee or any officer, agent, employee, salesman, or other person acting on behalf of the licensee.

(c) Any person aggrieved by the violation of any law or regulation applicable to the licensee's conduct of the licensed activity shall have, in addition to his right of action against such licensee, a right to bring suit against the surety on a bond authorized by this section, either alone or jointly with the principal thereon, and to recover in an amount not exceeding the penalty of the bond any damages sustained by reason of any act, transaction, or conduct of the licensee, or of any officer, agent, employee, salesman, or other person acting on behalf of said licensee, which is in violation of law or regulation in force in the District relating to the licensed activity. The provisions of the second, third, and fifth subparagraphs of paragraph (b) of section 1–244 shall be applicable to each bond authorized by this section as if it were the bond authorized by the first subparagraph of such paragraph (b) of section 1–244: Provided, That nothing in this subsection shall be construed to impose upon the surety on any such bond a greater liability than the total amount thereof or the amount remaining unextinguished after any prior recovery or recoveries. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 815, Pub. L. 86–715, § 2.)

§ 2–2303. Payment as defense to assertion of lien.

In any case in which a property owner or occupant has entered into a contract with a person offering to perform or to arrange for the performance of home improvement work, and such property owner or occupant makes payment for such work to the person offering to perform or arrange for the performance of the same, proof of such payment shall constitute a defense against, and render void, any lien sought to be asserted under the authority of sections 38–101 to 38–103. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 816, Pub. L. 86–715, § 3.)

§ 2–2304. Penalty for violation of chapter.

Any person who shall violate any provision of this chapter or of any regulation promulgated by the Commissioners under the authority of this chapter, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $300 or by imprisonment for not more than ninety days, or both. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 816, Pub. L. 86–715, § 4.)

§ 2–2305. Prosecutions to be conducted by Corporation Counsel.

Prosecutions for violations of this chapter, or of the regulations made pursuant thereto, shall be conducted in the name of the District by the Corporation Counsel or any of his assistants. As used in this chapter the term "Corporation Counsel" means the attorney for the District, by whatever title such attorney may be known, designated by the Commissioners to perform the functions prescribed for the Corporation Counsel in this chapter. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 816, Pub. L. 86–715, § 5.)

§ 2–2306. Supplemental authority of Commissioners.

The authority and power vested in the Commissioners by any provision of this chapter shall be deemed to be additional and supplementary to authority and power now vested in them, and not as a limitation. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 816, Pub. L. 86–715, § 6.)

§ 2–2307. Separability of provisions.

If any provision of this chapter or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, such invalidity shall not affect other provisions or the application of this chapter which can be effected without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of this chapter are severable. (Sept. 6, 1960, 74 Stat. 816, Pub. L. 86–715, § 7.)

(5) any transaction pursuant to an offer directed by the offeror to not more than twenty-five persons in the District during any period of twelve consecutive months, whether or not the offeror or any of the offerees is then present in the District, if the seller reasonably believes that all the buyers in the District are purchasing for investment;

(6) any offer or sale of a preorganization certificate or subscription if (A) no commission or other remuneration is paid or given directly or indirectly for soliciting any prospective subscriber, and (B) the number of subscribers does not exceed twenty-five, and (C) no payment is made by any subscriber;

POPULAR NAME

Section 1 of act Aug. 30, 1964, provides as follows: "This Act [This chapter and the amendment of section 11–742], may be cited as the 'District of Columbia Securities Act'."

§ 2–2402. Fraud.

It shall be unlawful for any person, in connection with the offer, sale, or purchase of any security, directly or indirectly—

(a) to employ any device, scheme, or artifice to defraud;

(b) to make any untrue statement of a material fact, or to omit to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements made, in the light of the circumstances in which they are made, not misleading; or

(c) to engage in any act, practice, or course of business which operates or would operate as a fraud or deceit upon any person.

(Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 623, Pub. L. 88–503, § 3.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 20 of act Aug. 30, 1964, provides: "(a) Sections 3, 13b, 13d, 16, and 25 [Sections 2–2402, 2–2412(b), 2–2412(d), 2–2415, and 2–2418], together with definitions of terms used therein, shall take effect upon approval of this chapter.

"(b) The remaining provisions of this chapter shall take effect at 12:01 antemeridian on the one hundred and eightieth day after approval of this chapter, or, if the one hundred and eightieth day be a holiday in the District, at 12:01 antemeridian on the first business day thereafter."

§ 2–2403. License requirement.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person to transact business in the District as a broker-dealer or agent unless he is effectively licensed under this Chapter.

(b) It shall be unlawful for any broker-dealer or issuer to employ an agent unless the agent is effectively licensed under this Chapter. The license of an agent shall not be effective during any period when he is not associated with a particular broker-dealer or a particular issuer. When an agent begins or terminates a connection with a broker-dealer or issuer, or begins or terminates those activities which make him an agent, the agent as well as the broker-dealer or issuer shall promptly notify the Commission.

(c) Every license and renewal license shall expire one year from its effective date, but in any case in which timely and sufficient application for a renewal license has been made in accordance with section 2–2404(a) no license shall expire until final action of the Commission upon such pending application. The Commission may by rule or order fix a schedule for the first renewal of licenses so that subsequent renewals may be staggered over the one-year period. For this purpose the Commission shall reduce the license fee proportionately for any initial license which may expire before one year from its effective date. (Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 623, Pub. L. 88–503, § 4.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See note to section 2–2402.

§ 2–2404. License procedure.

(a) A broker-dealer or agent may obtain an initial license by filing with the Commission an application executed by all partners, directors, and officers of the applicant personally engaged in the securities business in the District, together with a consent to service of process pursuant to section 2–2414(f). The application for each broker-dealer applicant shall contain the following information, and for each partner, officer, or director, each person occupying a similar status or performing similar functions and each person directly or indirectly controlling such broker-dealer the information prescribed in subdivisions (3), (4), (5) and (7); and the application for each agent shall contain the information specified in subdivisions (3), (4), (5) and (7):

(1) the applicant's form and place of organization;

(2) the applicant's proposed method of doing business;

(3) the qualifications and business history of the applicant;

(4) each injunction or administrative order or conviction of a misdemeanor involving a security or any aspect of the securities business and any conviction of a felony;

(5) each disciplinary action by a securities exchange or securities association within the ten years preceding the date of application;

(6) the applicant's financial condition and history; and

(7) such other matters as the Commission may by rule prescribe as being necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors.

The Commission may by rule or order require an applicant for an initial license to publish an announcement of the application in one or more specified newspapers published in the District. If no denial order is in effect and no proceeding is pending under section 10, a license shall become effective at noon of the thirtieth day after any application is filed. The Commission may by rule or order specify an earlier effective date, and it may by order defer the effective date until noon of the thirtieth day after the filing of any amendment to an application. A license of a broker-dealer shall be deemed to constitute a license of any agent who is a partner, officer, or director, or a person occupying a similar status or performing similar functions.

(b) An applicant for an initial or renewal license shall pay a filing fee. The filing fee for an initial or a renewal license shall, except for agents, be fixed by the Commission but shall not exceed $125 for a broker-dealer, plus an amount not exceeding $12.50 for each partner, officer, and director, and each person occupying a similar status or performing similar functions, who transacts business in the District. The filing fee for an initial license for an agent shall be $12.50. The filing fee for each renewal license for an agent shall be $5.

(c) A licensed broker-dealer may file an application for a license of a successor, whether or not the successor is then in existence, for the unexpired portion of the period during which the license of such broker-dealer is effective. There shall be no filing fee.

(d) Each broker-dealer licensed in the District shall have and maintain a minimum net capital of $25,000, except that the Commission may, by rule, fix a minimum net capital in lesser amounts, but in no case less than $5,000 net capital, for a broker-dealer with a limited license which authorizes such broker-dealer to engage only in transactions in securities registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940. The Commission may by rule prescribe a ratio between net capital and aggregate indebtedness.

(e) The Commission may by rule require a licensed broker-dealer or the agent of an issuer to post a surety bond issued by a corporate surety company licensed to do business in the District of Columbia in such amounts up to $25,000 and on such conditions as the Commission may determine to be necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors, the surety bond of a licensed broker-dealer to cover such broker-dealer and all licensed agents thereof in the District of Columbia. Every bond shall provide for suit thereon by any person who may have a cause of action arising under section 2–2413, and, if the Commission by rule or order requires, by any person who may have a cause of action not arising under this chapter. Every bond shall provide that no suit may be maintained to enforce any liability on the bond unless brought within two years after the sale or other act upon which such liability is based.

(f) The license of a broker-dealer or agent may be renewed by filing with the Commission prior to the expiration thereof an application containing such information as the Commission may require to indicate any material change in the information contained in the original application or any renewal thereof, payment of the prescribed fee and, in the case of a broker-dealer, a financial statement showing the financial condition of such broker-dealer as of a date within one year prior to the date of such application for renewal. (Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 625, Pub. L. 88–503, § 5).

EFFECTIVE DATE

See note to section 2–2402.

§ 2–2405. Unlawful representation concerning licensing.

(a) Neither the fact that an application for a license has been filed nor the fact that a person is effectively licensed shall constitute a finding by the Commission that any document filed under this chapter, or that any statement made therein, is true, complete, and not misleading. Neither any such fact nor the fact that an exemption is available for any person, security or transaction shall mean that the Commission has passed in any way upon the merits or qualifications of, or recommended or given approval to, any person, security, or transaction.

(b) It shall be unlawful for any broker-dealer or agent to make, or cause to be made, to any prospective purchaser, customer, or client any representation inconsistent with subsection (a). (Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 625, Pub. L. 88–503, § 6.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See note to section 2–2402.

§ 2–2406. Records and reports.

(a) Every licensed broker-dealer and agent shall make, keep, and preserve for such periods, such accounts, correspondence, memorandums, papers, books, and other records, and make such reports, as the Commission by rule shall prescribe as necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors.

(b) All the records and reports referred to in subsection (a) shall be subject at any time or from time to time to such reasonable periodic, special, or other examinations by the Commission, within or without the District, as the Commission may deem necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors. For the purpose of avoiding unnecessary duplication of examinations, the Commission, insofar as it may deem it practicable in administering this subsection, may cooperate with the securities administrator of any State, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and any national securities exchange or national securities association registered under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. (Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 625 Pub. L. 88–503, § 7.)

§ 2–2407. Filing of sales and advertising literature.

The Commission may by order require any specific broker-dealer or agent to file with the Commission any prospectus, pamphlet, circular, form letter, advertisement, or other sales literature or advertising communication addressed or intended for distribution to prospective investors, except sales and advertising literature describing an exempt security as defined in section 2–2401(e) or used in an exempt transaction as defined in section 2–2401(f). § 2–2408. Misleading filings.

It shall be unlawful for any person to make or cause to be made, in any document filed with the Commission or in any proceeding under this chapter, any statement which is, at the time and in the light of the circumstances in which it is made, false or misleading in any material respect. (Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 626, Pub. L. 88–503, § 9.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See note to section 2–2402.

§ 2–2409. Denial, revocation, suspension, cancellation, and withdrawal of license.

(a) The Commission may by order deny, suspend, or revoke any license if it finds that the order is in the public interest and that the applicant or licensee or, in the case of a broker-dealer, any partner, officer, or director, any person occupying a similar status or performing similar functions, or any person directly or indirectly controlling the broker-dealer—

(1) has filed an application for a license which as of its effective date, or as of any date after filing in the case of an order denying effectiveness, was incomplete in any material respect or contained any statement which was, in light of the circumstances under which it was made, false or misleading with respect to any material fact;

(2) has willfully violated or willfully failed to comply with any provision of this chapter or any rule or order under this chapter, or has violated or failed to comply with the minimum capital requirement of section 2–2404(d) or any ratio rule prescribed thereunder;

(3) has been convicted, within the past ten years, of any misdemeanor involving a fiduciary relationship or a security or any aspect of the securities business, or of any felony, or has been acquitted of any such offense within the same period solely on the ground that he was insane at the time of its commission;

(4) is permanently or temporarily enjoined by any court of competent jurisdiction from engaging in or continuing any conduct or practice involving any aspect of the securities business;

(5) is the subject of an order of the Commission denying, suspending, or revoking a license as a broker-dealer or agent;

(6) is the subject of an order entered within the past five years by the securities administrator of any State or by the Securities and Exchange Commission denying or revoking a license or registration as a broker-dealer or agent, or the substantial equivalent of those terms as defined in this chapter, or is the subject of an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission suspending or expelling him from a national securities exchange or national securities association, or is the subject of a United States Post Office fraud order; but (i) the Commission may not institute a revocation or suspension proceeding under clause (6) more than two years from the date of the order or action relied on, and (ii) it may not enter an order under clause (6) on the basis of an order under a State act unless that order was based on facts which would currently constitute a ground for an order under this section;

(7) has engaged in dishonest or unethical practices in the securities business or while acting in any fiduciary capacity;

(8) is insolvent, either in the sense that his liabilities exceed his assets or in the sense that he cannot meet his obligations as they mature; but the Commission may not enter an order against a broker-dealer under this clause without a finding of insolvency as to the broker-dealer; or

(9) is not qualified on the basis of such factors as training, experience, and knowledge of the securities business, except as otherwise provided in subsection (b).

The Commission may by order deny, suspend, or revoke any license if it finds that the order is in the public interest and that the applicant or licensee—

(10) has failed reasonably to supervise his agents if he is a broker-dealer; or

(11) has failed to pay the proper filing fee; but the Commission may enter only a denial order under this clause, and it shall vacate any such order when the deficiency has been corrected.

The Commission may not institute a suspension or revocation proceeding solely on the basis of a fact or transaction known to it when the license became effective unless the proceeding is instituted within the next thirty days.

(b) The following provisions shall govern the application of subsection (a)(9):

(1) The Commission may not enter an order against a broker-dealer on the basis of the lack of qualification of any person other than (A) the broker-dealer himself if he is an individual or (B) an agent of the broker-dealer.

(2) The Commission may not enter an order solely on the basis of lack of experience if the applicant or licensee is qualified by training or knowledge or both.

(3) The Commission shall consider that an agent who will work under the supervision of a licensed broker-dealer need not have the same qualifications as a broker-dealer.

(4) The Commission shall by rule provide for an examination, which may be written or oral or both, to be taken by any class of, or all, applicants.

(c) The Commission may by order summarily postpone issuance of a license or suspend an effective license pending determination of any proceeding under this section. Upon the entry of the order, the Commission shall promptly notify the applicant or licensee, as well as the employer or prospective employer if the applicant or licensee is an agent, that it has been entered and of the reasons therefor and that within fifteen days after the receipt of a written request the matter will be set down for hearing. If no hearing is requested and none is ordered by the Commission, the order will remain in effect until it is modified or vacated by the Commission. If hearing is requested or ordered, the Commission, after notice of an opportunity for hearing, may modify or vacate the order or extend it until final determination.

(d) If the Commission finds that any licensee or applicant for a license is no longer in existence, or has ceased to do business as a broker-dealer or agent, or has been adjudicated to be of unsound mind or is subject to the control of a committee, conservator, or guardian, or cannot be located after reasonable search, the Commission may by order cancel the license or application.

(e) Withdrawal of a license of a broker-dealer or agent shall become effective thirty days after receipt of an application to withdraw or within such shorter period of time as the Commission may determine, unless a revocation or suspension proceeding is pending when the application is filed or a proceeding to revoke or suspend or to impose conditions upon the withdrawal is instituted within thirty days after the application is filed. If a proceeding is pending or instituted, withdrawal shall become effective at such time and upon such conditions as the Commission shall by order determine. If no proceeding is pending or instituted and withdrawal automatically becomes effective, the Commission may nevertheless institute a revocation or suspension proceeding under subsection (a)(2) within one year after withdrawal became effective and enter a revocation or suspension order as of the last date on which the license was effective.

(f) No order may be entered under any part of this section except the first sentence of subsection (c) without (1) appropriate prior notice to the applicant or licensee (as well as the employer or prospective employer if the applicant or licensee is an agent), (2) opportunity for hearing, and (3) findings and conclusions, as well as the reasons or basis therefor, upon all the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented on the record. (Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 626, Pub. L. 88–503, § 10.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

§ 2–2410. Investigations and subpenas.

(a) The Commission in its discretion (1) may make such public or private investigations within or without the District as it deems necessary to determine whether any person has violated or is about to violate any provision of this chapter or any rule or order hereunder, or to aid in the enforcement of this chapter or in the prescribing of rules and forms hereunder, (2) may require or permit any person to file a statement in writing, under oath or otherwise as the Commission may determine, as to all the facts and circumstances concerning the matter to be investigated, and (3) may publish information concerning any violation of this chapter or any rule or order hereunder, except that no public statement, notice, or release concerning any investigation, proceeding, or order under this chapter which is not a finding of a hearing examiner or of a Commissioner or a final determination of the Commission shall allege a violation of this chapter or a ground for denial, suspension, or revocation of a license, unless such statement, notice, or release specifies that such allegations are unproved until final determination, and that the purpose of the investigation or proceeding is to determine whether the allegations are true.

(b) For the purpose of any investigation or proceeding under this chapter, the Commission may administer oaths and affirmations, subpena witnesses, compel their attendance, take evidence, and require the production of any books, papers, correspondence, memorandums, agreements, or other documents or records which it deems relevant or material to the inquiry.

(c) In case of contumacy by, or refusal to obey a subpena issued to any person, the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, upon application by the Commission with the approval of the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia, may issue an order compelling such person to appear before the Commission, or the officer designated by it, there to produce documentary evidence if so ordered or to give evidence touching the matter under investigation or in question; and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof.

(d) No person shall be excused from attending and testifying or from producing any document or record before the Commission, or the officer designated by it, in obedience to a court order pursuant to subsection (c), on the ground that the testimony or evidence (documentary or otherwise) required of him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture; but no individual may be prosecuted or subjected to any penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, or thing concerning which he is by such order compelled, after claiming his privilege against self-incrimination, to testify or produce evidence (documentary or otherwise), except that the individual testifying shall not be exempt from prosecution and punishment for perjury or contempt committed in testifying.

(e) Any person compelled to appear in person before the Commission or a representative thereof shall be accorded the right to be accompanied, represented, and advised by counsel. (Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 628, Pub. L. 88–503, § 11.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See note to section 2–2402.

§ 2–2411. Injunctions.

Whenever it shall appear to the Commission that any person has engaged or is about to engage in any act or practice constituting a violation of this chapter or any rule or order hereunder, it may in its discretion bring an action in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia to enjoin the acts or practices and to enforce compliance with this chapter or any rule or order hereunder. Upon a proper showing a permanent or temporary injunction, restraining order, or writ of mandamus shall be granted and a receiver or conservator may be appointed for the defendant or the defendant's assets. The court may not require the Commission to post a bond. (Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 629, Pub. L. 88–503, § 12.)

§ 2–2412. Criminal penalties.

(a) Any person who shall willfully violate any provision of this chapter except sections 2–2402 and 2–2408, or who shall willfully violate section 2–2408 knowing the representation to be false or misleading in any material respect shall upon conviction be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than three years, or both.

(b) Any person who shall willfully violate section 2–2402 shall upon conviction be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than five years, or both.

(c) Any person who shall willfully violate any rule or order under this chapter shall upon conviction be fined not more than $5,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both; but no person may be imprisoned for the violation of any rule or order if he proves that he had no knowledge of the rule or order.

(d) No person shall be prosecuted, tried, or punished for any offense under this chapter or any rule or order hereunder unless the indictment is returned or the information is filed within five years next after such offense shall have been committed.

(e) Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to limit the power of the United States or of the District of Columbia to punish any person for any conduct which constitutes an offense under any other Act of Congress applicable in the District, or under any municipal ordinance or regulation of the District, or at common law. (Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 629, Pub. L. 88–503, § 13.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 20 of act Aug. 30, 1964, provides: "(a) Sections 3, 13b, 13d, 16, and 25 [Sections 2–2402, 2–2412(b), 2–2412(d), 2–2415, and 2–2418], together with definitions of terms used therein, shall take effect upon approval of this chapter.

"(b) The remaining provisions of this chapter shall take effect at 12:01 antemeridian on the one hundred and eightieth day after approval of this chapter, or, if the one hundred and eightieth day be a holiday in the District, at 12:01 antemeridian on the first business day thereafter."

§ 2–2413. Civil liabilities.

(a) Any person who—

(1) offers or sells a security in violation of section 2–2403(a) or 2–2405(b); or

(2) offers or sells a security by means of any untrue statement of a material fact or any omission to state a material fact necessary in order to make the statements, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading (the purchaser not knowing of such untruth or omission), and who shall not sustain the burden of proof that he did not know, and in the exercise of reasonable care could not have known, of such untruth or omission, shall be liable to the person purchasing such security from him, and the purchaser may bring a civil action to recover the consideration paid for the security with interest thereon and with costs and reasonable attorney fees less the amount of any income received on the security, upon the tender of the security, or for damages if he no longer owns the security. For this purpose damages shall be the amount that would be recoverable upon a tender, less the market value of the security when the buyer disposed of it and interest from the date of disposition.

(b) Any person who directly or indirectly controls a seller liable under subsection (a), any partner, officer, or director of such a seller and any person occupying a similar status or performing similar functions, any employee of such a seller who materially aids in the sale, and any broker-dealer or agent who materially aids in the sale shall also be liable jointly and severally with and to the same extent as the seller, unless the nonseller who shall be so liable sustains the burden of proof that he did not know, and in the exercise of reasonable care could not have known, of the existence of the facts by reason of which the liability is alleged to exist. There shall be contribution as in cases of contract among the several persons so liable.

(c) Any tender specified in this section may be made at any time before entry of judgment.

(d) Any liability or cause of action under this section shall survive the death of any person who, if living, would have such a liability or cause of action.

(e) No person may bring an action under this section after two years from the contract of sale. No person may bring an action under this section (1) if the buyer received a written offer, before suit and at a time when he owned the security, to refund the consideration paid for the security together with interest at 6 per centum per annum from the date of payment, less the amount of any income received on the security, and if he failed to accept that offer within thirty days of its receipt, or (2) if the buyer received such an offer before suit and at a time when he did not own the security, unless he rejected the offer in writing within thirty days of its receipt.

(f) No person who has made or engaged in the performance of any contract in violation of any provision of this chapter or of any rule or order hereunder, or who has acquired any purported right under any such contract with knowledge of the facts by reason of which its making or performance was in violation, may base any suit upon the contract.

(g) Any condition, stipulation, or provision binding any person who acquires any security to waive compliance with any provision of this chapter or with any rule or order under this chapter shall be void.

(h) The rights and remedies provided by this chapter shall be in addition to any other rights or remedies that may exist at law or in equity, but this chapter shall not create any cause of action not specified in this or section 2–2404(e). (Aug. 30, 1964, 78 Stat. 629, Pub. L. 88–503, § 14.)

§ 2–2414. Scope of chapter and service of process.

(a) Sections 2–2402, 2–2403(a), 2–2405, and 2–2413 shall apply to persons who sell or offer to sell when (1) an offer to sell is made in the District, or (2) an offer to buy is made and accepted in the District.

(b) Sections 2–2404, 2–2403(a), and 2–2405 shall apply to persons who buy or offer to buy when (1) an offer to buy is made in the District, or (2) an offer to sell is made and accepted in the District.

(c) For the purpose of this section, an offer to sell or to buy is made in the District whether or not either party is then present in the District, when the offer (1) originates from the District or (2) is directed by the offeror to the District and received at the place to which it is directed (or at any post office in the District in the case of a mailed offer).

(d) For the purpose of this section, an offer to buy or to sell is accepted in the District when acceptance (1) is communicated to the offeror in the District and (2) has not previously been communicated to the offeror, orally or in writing, outside the District. Acceptance is communicated to the offeror in the District, whether or not either party is then present in the District, when the offeree directs it to the offeror in the District reasonably believing the offeror to be in the District and it is received at the place to which it is directed (or to any post office in the District in the case of a mailed acceptance).

(e) An offer to sell or to buy is not made in the District by anything appearing in (1) any bona fide newspaper or other publication of general, regular, and paid circulation, circulated by or on behalf of the publisher in the District which is not published in the District, or which is published in the District but has had more than two-thirds of its circulation outside the District during the past twelve months, or (2) any radio or television program received in the District which originates outside of the District.

(f) Any applicant for a license under this chapter shall file with the Commission, in such form as it by rule may prescribe, an irrevocable consent appointing each member of the Commission or his successor in office to be his attorney to receive service of any lawful process in any noncriminal suit, action, or proceeding against him or his successor, executor, or administrator which shall arise under this chapter or any rule or order hereunder after the consent has been filed, with the same force and validity as if served personally on the person filing the consent. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Jurisdiction of Court of General Sessions

Findings of commissioners of public welfare department are final under statute and judicial review of such findings does not lie with District of Columbia Court of General Sessions or any branch thereof. D. D. Brewer, Director, etc. v. M. Simmons and H. Simmons, Jr. (D.C. App. 1964, 205 A. 2d 60).

Power of domestic relations branch to provide for support of minor children by persons responsible for their care was not intended to extend to actions and duties of local governmental agency dealing with distribution of welfare money provided by separate statute passed by the Congress merely because agency also deals with support and care of dependent minor children. Id.

General equity power that is vested in domestic relations branch of District of Columbia Court of General Sessions is applicable only to effectively carry out purposes of its creative statute and encompasses no supervisory control or restraint over actions and funds of local welfare agency operating under separate statute. Id.

§ 3–215. Public assistance not assignable.

Public assistance awarded under this chapter shall not be transferable or assignable at law or in equity, and none of the money paid or payable to any recipient under this chapter shall be subject to execution, levy, attachment, garnishment, or other legal process, or to the operation of any bankruptcy or insolvency law. (Oct. 15, 1962, 76 Stat. 917, Pub. L. 87–807, § 16.)

§ 3–216. Fraud in obtaining public assistance—Repayment.

(a) Any person who by means of false statement, failure to disclose information, or impersonation, or by other fraudulent device obtains or attempts to obtain or any person who knowingly aids or abets such person in the obtaining or attempting to obtain, (1) any grant or payment of public assistance to which he is not entitled; (2) a larger amount of public assistance than that to which he is entitled; or (3) payment of any forfeited grant of public assistance; or any person who with intent to defraud the District aids or abets in the buying or in any way disposing of the real property of a recipient of public assistance, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than $500, or imprisoned not to exceed one year, or both.

(b) Any person who obtains any payment of public assistance to which he is not entitled, or in excess of that to which he is entitled shall be liable to repay such sum, or if continued on assistance, shall have future grants proportionately reduced until the excess amount received has been repaid. In any case in which, under this section, a person is liable to repay any sum, such sum may be collected without interest by civil action brought in the name of the District. Any repayment required by this subsection may, in the discretion of the Commissioners, be waived in whole or in part, upon a finding by the Commissioners that such repayment would deprive such person, his spouse, parent, or child of shelter or subsistence needed to enable such person, spouse, parent, or child to maintain a minimum standard of health and well-being. (Oct. 15, 1962, 76 Stat. 917, Pub. L. 87–807, § 17.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See note to sections 3–201 and 3–204.

§ 3–217. Property—District's claim against estate of recipient.

(a) At the death of any person who has received public assistance in the form of old-age assistance, or aid to the disabled pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, or of any Act repealed by this chapter, the District shall have a preferred claim for the amount of any such public assistance against the estate of the deceased recipient. Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law, no statute of limitations shall be deemed applicable as a defense to any claim of the District made pursuant to this section. The Commissioners are authorized to waive any such claim when in their judgment they deem it appropriate to do so.

(b) In addition to the remedy provided by subsection (a) of this section, or by any other provision of law, the Commissioners may file a notice in the office of the Recorder of Deeds in any case where public assistance in the form of old-age assistance or aid to the disabled is granted to any person under this chapter, and such notice shall constitute and have the effect of a lien in favor of the District against the real and personal property of such person for the amount of such public assistance which theretofore has been granted or which may thereafter be granted to, or on behalf of, such persons. Any such lien may be enforced by a proceeding filed in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia. The Commissioners shall file in the office of the Recorder of Deeds a release of any such real and personal property from the effect of such lien whenever there has been repaid to the District the amount of the public assistance theretofore granted to, or on behalf of, such person. The Commissioners are also authorized to release any such lien when in their judgment they deem it appropriate to do so. Such notices and releases may be filed without payment of fees.

(c) If the District collects from any recipient of public assistance in the form of old-age assistance or aid to the disabled or from his estate, or otherwise, any amount with respect to public assistance furnished him under this chapter, or under any Act repealed by this chapter the pro rata share to which the United States is equitably entitled shall be paid to the United States in accordance with the provisions of the Social Security Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. §§ 303, 603, 1203, 1353). The pro rata share due the District shall be deposited as miscellaneous receipts to the credit of the District. (Oct. 15, 1962, 76 Stat. 918, Pub. L. 87–807, § 18.)

[Transferred from former section 46–201 et seq.]

Public policy

There is a sound public policy in favor of upholding contracts which will insure the support of parties attempting to provide for their own support in their old age, and at the same time effect the transfer of properties and businesses to their heirs or relatives prior to death. G. Ottenberg, assignee etc. v. F. Ottenberg, Individually etc. (D.C.D.C. 1961, 194 F. Supp. 98).

§ 3–218. Responsible relatives.

(a) The husband, wife, father, mother, or adult child of a recipient of public assistance, or of a person in need thereof, shall, according to his ability to pay, be responsible for the support of such person. Any such recipient of public assistance or person in need thereof or the Commissioners may bring an action to require such husband, wife, father, mother, or adult child to provide such support and the court shall have the power to make orders requiring such husband, wife, father, mother, or adult child to pay to such recipient of public assistance or to such person in need thereof such sum or sums of money in such installments as the court in its discretion may direct and such orders may be enforced in the same manner as orders for alimony.

(b) The Commissioners shall be empowered on behalf of the District to sue such husband, wife, father, mother, or adult child for the amount of public assistance granted under this chapter or under any Act repealed by this chapter to such recipient or for so much thereof as such husband, wife, father, mother, or adult child is reasonably able to pay.

(c) All suits, actions, and court proceedings under this section shall be brought in the domestic relations branch of the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions. To the extent applicable, the provisions of sections 11–758 to 11–770 shall be followed in suits, actions, and proceedings brought pursuant to this section. (Oct. 15, 1962, 76 Stat. 918, Pub. L. 87–807, § 19; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Abatement of action for support

Where action had been brought under statute by mother to compel an adult daughter to support the mother, trial court denied relief, and mother appealed but died while appeal was pending, and executor was substituted as appellant, appeal would be dismissed as moot on ground that mother's death abated the action since the statute is prospective only. Stone v. Brewster (D.C. App. 1966, 218 A. 2d 41).

Responsibility of adult child

At common law there was no duty on adult child to support his parent, and the statute does not ipso facto place such an obligation on the child; the statutory obligation does not arise until the court first determines the parent's need for support, the child's ability to furnish such support, and the extent to which such support should be furnished. Stone v. Brewster (D.C. App. 1966, 218 A. 2d 41).

The statute making the husband, wife, father, mother, or adult child of a person in need of public assistance responsible, according to his ability to pay, for support of such person contemplates present and future support, and a child may not be required to make restitution for what should have been paid in the past or to reimburse a private person for support already furnished. Id.

§ 3–219. Payment of expenses.

All necessary expenses incurred by the District in carrying out the provisions of this chapter shall be disbursed in the same manner as other expenses of the District are disbursed. (Oct. 15, 1962, 76 Stat. 919, Pub. L. 87–807, § 20.)

§ 3–220. Delegation of authority.

The Commissioners are authorized to make provisions for delegation and subdelegation of any function vested in them by this chapter to any agency, officer, or employee of the District. (Oct. 15, 1962, 76 Stat. 919, Pub. L. 87–807, § 21.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

§ 3–221. Voluntary services.

The Commissioners are authorized to accept voluntary services in administering the provisions of this chapter. Such voluntary services shall not create any obligation against the District. (Oct. 15, 1962, 76 Stat. 919, Pub. L. 87–807, § 22.)

§ 3–222. Appropriations.

(a) The Commissioners shall include in their annual estimates of appropriations such sums as may be needed to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

EFFECTIVE DATE

See note to sections 3–201 and 3–204.

§ 3–223. Validity.

If any provision of this chapter or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the chapter and the application of such provision to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby. (Oct. 15, 1962, 76 Stat. 920, Pub. L. 87–807, § 26.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Status of employees

A member of metropolitan police in District of Columbia is not an employee of the United States, but is an employee of the municipal corporation, the District of Columbia. Wham v. United States (D.C.D.C. 1949, 81 F. Supp. 126, reversed on other grounds 180 F. 2d 38, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 128).

§ 4–102. Police districts and precincts to be established by commissioners.

The Metropolitan Police district of the District of Columbia shall be coextensive with the District of Columbia, and shall be subdivided into such police districts and precincts as the commissioners of said District may from time to time direct. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Abuse of authority

Where Board of Commissioners for the District of Columbia issued a directive requiring all police officers to answer lengthy questionnaire of Senate District Crime Investigating Committee, and there was no clear showing of an abuse of lawful authority or wrongful usurpation of power by Board, action would not be enjoined although Board had no authority to issue such a directive under governing statutes. Barrett v. *J. Said commissioners, in addition to the powers vested in them by law, are also hereby authorized and empowered to make, modify, and enforce, under such penalties as they may deem necessary, all needful rules and regulations for the proper government, conduct, discipline, and good name of said Metropolitan Police force; and said commissioners are hereby authorized and empowered to fine, suspend with or without pay, and dismiss any officer or member of said police force for any offense against the laws of the United States or the laws and ordinances or regulations of the District of Columbia, whether before or after conviction thereof in any court or courts, and for misconduct in office, or for any breaches or violation of the rules and regulations made by said commissioners for the government, conduct, discipline, and good name of said police force: Provided, That no person shall be removed from said police force except upon written charges preferred against him in the name of the major and superintendent of said police force to the trial board or boards hereinafter provided for and after an opportunity shall have been afforded him of being heard in his defense; but no person so removed shall be reappointed to any office in said police force: Provided further, That special policemen and additional privates may be removed from office by said commissioners, or a majority of them, without cause and without trial: Provided further, That charges preferred against any member of said police force to the trial board or boards hereinafter provided for may be altered or amended, in the discretion of such trial board or boards, at any time before final action by such board or boards, under such regulations as the commissioners may adopt, provided the accused have an opportunity to be heard thereon (Feb. 28, 1901, 31 Stat. 819, ch. 623, § 1, par. 4; June 8, 1906, 34 Stat. 221, ch. 3056.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Decisions under former law

Full authority is given to the Commission; and in the absence of rules and regulations directing a different procedure, its act of summary dismissal from the police force of the District of Columbia of officers and members can not be challenged. Eckloff v. District of Columbia (1890, 10 S. Ct. 752, 135 U. S. 240, 34 L. Ed. 120).

Charges

"While a member of the police force may not be removed except upon written charges, Congress did not intend to require such charges to be formed with the technical accuracy of an indictment for crime. If the nature of the dereliction forming the subject matter of the investigation is pointed out with sufficient clearness and accuracy to enable the accused to prepare his defense, the purpose of the statute is met." Rudolph v Creamer (1912, 39 App. D. C. 1).

Where charges were filed against members of District of Columbia police force on ground of conduct prejudicial to reputation, good order and discipline of police force, specification that the members stopped in front of certain premises and were given money in attempt to procure or bring about failure of the members to report violation of law, or to take proper police action in connection with gambling business carried on in the premises, was sufficient. Brodie v. Young (1943, 133 F. 2d 406, 77 U.S. App. D. C. 169).

Hearing on transfer

Even if transfer of District of Columbia police officer having civil service status from detective bureau to traffic bureau was a demotion, he was not entitled to hearing and to be furnished with copies of charges and to be allowed to answer, although police force rules provided that duration of assignment should be dependent on quality of officer's work which was subject to judgment of superintendent and Commissioners. Maghan v. Board of Com'rs of District of Columbia (1944, 141 F. 2d 274, 78 U. S. App. D. C. 370).

Libel and slander

One who writes communications to police captain and chief of police relating to alleged misconduct of police officer, acting out of what he believes to be his social duty, is entitled to qualified privilege against liability for libel and slander with respect to such communications. Sowder v. William E. Nolan (D.C. Mun. App. 1956, 125 A. 2d 52).

Performance of duty

Under police regulation providing that in no case will sick time be allowed any member of the police force in excess of 30 days in any one calendar year, except when the same is in direct consequence of injury received in the actual performance of duty, the words "actual performance of duty" are used in a literal sense and mean more than being subject to orders from proper authorities and to call from citizens. Stanberger v. Mason (1942, 124 F. 2d 401, 75 U. S. App. D. C. 105).

Where policewoman's 30-day sick leave for calendar year had been exhausted before granting of leave, salary for which was in issue, injury received by policewoman when struck by a taxicab while on her way home, after police surgeon, at about 11 a. m., had restored her to duty to report for active duty at 4 p. m. on the same day was not received in the "actual performance of duty" within regulation providing that in no case will sick time be allowed in excess of 30 days in any one calendar year, except when the same is in direct consequence of injury received in the actual performance of duty. Id.

Sick leave

It is for the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to make the rules which mark the limits of the classes of injuries for which sick leave on pay in excess of 30 days in any one calendar year will be allowed to members of the police force, and when the rules are clear the courts must enforce them as they find them. Stanberger v. Mason (1942, 124 F. 2d 401, 75 U. S. App. D. C. 105).

§ 4–122. Trial board—Appointment—Hearings—Findings—Appeals—Existing rules and regulations ratified.

The said commissioners are also hereby authorized and empowered to create one or more trial board or boards, to be composed of such number of persons as said commissioners may appoint thereto, for the trial of officers and members of said police force; and said commissioners are hereby also authorized and empowered to make and amend rules of procedure before such trial board or boards and to change or abolish any such trial board or boards as they may deem proper; and the findings of such trial board or boards shall be final and conclusive unless appeal in writing therefrom is made within five days to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, the hearings on appeal to be submitted either orally or in writing, and the decision of the said commissioners thereon shall be final and conclusive: Provided, That said commissioners shall not be required, in their review of the sentences and findings of such trial board or boards, to take evidence, either oral, written, or documentary, and they shall have power to reduce or modify the findings and penalty of the trial board or boards or remand any case against any officer or member of said police force to such board or boards for such further proceedings as they may deem necessary: Provided, That the chairman for the time being of any and every trial board be, and he is hereby, authorized to administer oaths to and take affirmations of witnesses before such board or boards; And provided, That the rules and regulations of said Metropolitan police force promulgated and in force on July 8, 1906, are hereby ratified and shall remain in force until changed, altered, amended, or abolished by said commissioners. (Feb. 28, 1901, ch. 623, § 1, par. 5, as added June 8, 1906, 34 Stat. 222, ch. 3056.)

CODIFICATION

The proviso of act June 8, 1906, amending this section and reading: "Provided further, That all proceedings now pending before any trial board authorized by said Commissioners shall be continued according to the practice heretofore existing until final determination thereof" has been omitted as obsolete.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

Reorganization Plan No. 48 of the Board of Commissioners dated June 26, 1953, established in the Government of the District of Columbia a Regular Police Trial Board, a Special Police Trial Board, and a Complaint Review Board to operate in accordance with applicable laws, rules, and regulations. The order sets forth the purpose, manner of selection of members, and the functions of the boards, and abolished the previously existing Police Trial and Review Boards. This order was issued pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1952. The order and plan are set out in the Appendix to Title 1, Administration.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Advisory opinions

The Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia may not delegate its power to take disciplinary action for dereliction of duty against members of Metropolitan Police Department but there is nothing to prevent Board from seeking outside advisory opinions from members of local bar association or any other group, and such group would not be part of Board and its designated representatives since they would not be bona fide employees of municipal government, and therefore commissioners did not oust themselves of their statutory powers by appointment of three member outside committee to render advisory opinion relating to activities of certain police officers. In re Bullock (D.C.D.C. 1952, 103 F. Supp. 639).

Certiorari

Where police tribunals had full jurisdiction of charges against members of police force, specifications were adequate and sufficient and evidence supported finding that the members were guilty, it was not necessary for court to decide whether case was proper one for certiorari or whether the members lost privilege of using certiorari by their long delay in filing petition. Brodie v. Young (1943, 133 F. 2d 406, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 169).

Evidence

Where members of police force of District of Columbia were charged with conduct prejudicial to reputation, good order, and discipline of police force, evidence supported trial board's determination finding the members guilty and the affirmation of such determination by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia. Brodie v. Young (1943, 133 F. 2d 406, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 169).

Jurisdiction

Where charges were filed against members of police force of District of Columbia on ground of conduct prejudicial to reputation, good order, and discipline of police force, the police tribunals had full jurisdiction. Brodie v. Young (1943, 133 F. 2d 406, 77 U. S. App. D. C. 169).

Libel and slander

One who writes communications to police captain and chief of police relating to alleged misconduct of police officer, acting out of what he believes to be his social duty, is entitled to qualified privilege against liability for libel and slander with respect to such communications. Sowder v. William E. Nolan (D.C. Mun. App. 1956, 125 A. 2d 52).

§ 4–123. Commissioners and major and superintendent of police may administer oaths.

Each commissioner, the major and superintendent of police, have power to administer, take, receive and subscribe all affirmations and oaths to any depositions necessary by the rules and regulations of the commissioners, relating to the Metropolitan Police. (R. S., D. C., § 392; June 11, 1878, 20 Stat. 107, ch. 180, § 6; June 8, 1906, 34 Stat. 221, ch. 3056.)

§ 4–124. Police surgeons—Qualifications—Duties.

Police surgeons shall have actually and bona fide resided in the District of Columbia for at least two years next preceding the date of their appointment and shall be duly qualified according to law for the practice of medicine and surgery in said District and shall have actively been engaged in the practice of their profession for a period of at least three years next preceding the date of their appointment. Such police surgeons shall be subject to such laws, rules, and regulations as the Commissioners of the District of Columbia may from time to time make, alter, or amend. Such police surgeons shall attend, without charge, all members of said police force and of the fire department of said District for any injury received or disease contracted (whether or not received or contracted in the performance of duty), examine applicants for appointment and retirement in and to said police force and said fire department, and attend such dependent sick and injured, and examine and attend such insane or alleged insane persons as may be taken in charge by said police, and shall perform such other duties as the said commissioners may direct. (Feb. 28, 1901, 31 Stat. 819, ch. 623, § 1; June 8, 1906, 34 Stat. 222, ch. 3056, par. 7; Sept. 27, 1962, 76 Stat. 635, Pub. L. 87–708, § 1.)

AMENDMENT

1962—Act of Sept. 27, 1962, amended the third sentence of this section by adding after the words "fire department of said District" the clause, "for any injury received or disease contracted (whether or not received or contracted in the performance of duty)".

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

Reorganization Order No. 47 of the Board of Commissioners dated June 26, 1953 reconstituted the then existing Board of Police and Fire Surgeons including the Office of the Chairman, with the same name and with the same functions previously performed, including the powers, duties, and authorities of all members, officers, and employees assigned thereto. The order provided that the reconstituted Board should be organizationally a part of the Fire Department. All positions, personnel, property, records and unexpended funds relating to the functions of the previous Board were transferred to the reconstituted Board. The order provided that the previously existing Board would be abolished. This order was issued pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1952. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Police records

Contents of resume used by police in homicide cases was not within scope of statute requiring police department to keep general complaint files in which name and residence of complainant was entered, and government was not required to produce it for inspection and copying by defense which had already learned identity and residence of informant. United States v. G. E. Ross, Jr. (D.C.D.C. 1966, 259 F. Supp. 388).

Contents of resume used by police in homicide cases was not within scope of statute requiring police department to keep arrest books containing information concern, inter alia, accused, offense and complainant, and government was not required to produce resume for inspection and copying by defense even if arrest books did not contain all information required by statute to be contained therein. Id.

In context of a homicide case in which there is no complainant in usual sense of that term, statute requiring police department to keep general complaint files in which name and address of complainant is entered requires police to record similar information with respect to person who notifies them that crime may have been committed. Id.

Purpose of amendment to statute governing police records and requiring police department to keep arrest books containing information concerning, inter alia, accused, offense and complainant was to insure that keeping of such records and their availability to public should be matters of law and not of administrative discretion. Id.

§ 4–134a. Central criminal records.

(a) In addition to the records kept under section 4–134, the Metropolitan Police force shall keep a record of each case in which an individual in the custody of any police force or of the United States marshal is charged with having committed a criminal offense in the District (except those traffic violations and other petty offenses to which the Commissioners determine this section should not apply). The record shall show—

(1) the circumstances under which the individual came into the custody of the police or the United States marshal;

(2) the charge originally placed against him, and any subsequent changes in the charge (if he is charged with murder, manslaughter, or causing the death of another by the operation of a vehicle at an immoderate speed or in a careless, reckless, or negligent manner, the charge shall be recorded as "homicide");

(3) if he is released (except on bail) without having his guilt or innocence of the charge determined by a court, the circumstances under which he is released;

(4) if his guilt or innocence is so determined, the judgment of the court;

(5) if he is convicted, the sentence imposed; and

(6) if, after being confined in a correctional institution, he is released therefrom, the circumstances of his release.

(b) The Attorney General, the Corporation Counsel, the United States Commissioner for the District, the clerk of the district court, the clerk of the municipal court, and the Director of the Department of Corrections shall furnish the Chief of Police with such information as the Commissioners consider necessary to enable the Metropolitan Police force to carry out this section. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Police records

Contents of resume used by police in homicide cases was not within scope of statute requiring police department to keep general complaint files in which name and residence of complainant was entered, and government was not required to produce it for inspection and copying by defense which had already learned identity and residence of informant. United States v. G. E. Ross, Jr. (D.C.D.C. 1966, 259 F. Supp. 388).

§ 4–136. Police to have power of constables.

The members of the Board of Commissioners, and of the police force, shall possess in every part of the District all the common-law powers of constables, except for the service of civil process and for the collection of strictly private debts, in which designation fines imposed for the breach of the ordinances in force in the District, shall not be included. (R. S., D. C., §§ 394, 1035; June 11, 1878, 20 Stat. 107, ch. 180, § 6.)

AMENDMENT

1878—Act June 11, 1878, abolished the Board of Metropolitan Police and transferred its powers and duties to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Common-law powers

"At common-law a constable could arrest without warrant one whom he had reason to suspect had committed a felony, and we are aware of no statute in modification of that rule in this District." Carroll v. Parry (1919, 48 App. D.C. 453.)

§ 4–137. Preservation and destruction of records.

All records of the Metropolitan Police force shall be preserved, except that the Board of Commissioners, upon recommendation of the major and superintendent of police, may cause records which it considers to be obsolete or of no further value to be destroyed. (R. S., D. C., § 390; June 11, 1878, 20 Stat. 107, ch. 180, § 6; June 29, 1953, 67 Stat. 99, ch. 159, title III, § 301(c).)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Appeal and error

Record on appeal from conviction for carrying concealed pistol without license failed to establish plain error warranting reversal, notwithstanding failure to raise issue below, on ground that defendant's arrest for disorderly conduct was sham employed by police as gamble for detecting larger crime. H. Johnson v. United States (1966, 370 F. 2d 489, 125 U.S. App. D.C. 43).

Applicability of Federal Rules in Municipal Court

Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure do not apply to proceedings in District of Columbia Municipal Court (now District of Columbia Court of General Sessions) in which the judges try misdemeanors, although they do govern proceedings in which the judges act as committing magistrates. K. B. Larkin v. United States (D. C. Mun. App. 1958, 144 A. 2d 100).

Arrest by narcotics officer

Local narcotics officer had authority extended by statute to police officers generally to make arrest without warrant of person committing offense in his presence of drinking alcoholic beverage in public place. L. R. Hutcherson v. United States (1965, 345 F. 2d 964, 120 U.S. App. D.C. 274

Arrest, definition of Evidence that from time that police stopped defendant because of traffic violations he was not free to go, that police intended to take him to police station, and that defendant felt he was being detained established that defendant was in fact arrested by such officers. M. L. Brown v. United States (1966, 365 F. 2d 976, 125 U.S. App. D.C. 43).

Mere detention does not give rise to arrest in all circumstances, and police may question citizen even though such questioning may involve momentary detaining. Id.

"Arrest" occurred when police officer waved motorist to a halt and restricted his liberty of movement pursuant to traffic violation, notwithstanding officer's testimony that he did not place motorist under arrest until after glove compartment had been opened and numbers slips discovered, when officer formally arrested him for both traffic violation and lottery violation. United States v. Washington (D.C.D.C. 1965, 249 F. Supp. 40).

A man is under "arrest" at that point when officer has effectively restrained him and he is cognizant of that restraint, not necessarily when officer formally proclaims that he is being taken into custody. Id.

Action of police officer, who released defendant to custody of his mother upon learning that he was a juvenile, on understanding that she would bring him to police headquarters, constituted an "arrest." United States v. Willis (D.C.D.C. 1965, 248 F. Supp. 265).

The term "arrest" may be applied where a person is taken into custody or restrained of his full liberty, or where detention of person in custody is continued for even a short period of time. Morton v. United States (1945, 147 F. 2d 28, 79 U.S. App. D.C. 329, certiorari denied 65 S. Ct. 1015, 324 U.S. 875, 89 L. Ed. 1428). See, also, Hanna v. The Meteor (1950, 179 F. 2d 957); United States v Willis (D.C.D.C. 1965, 248 F. Supp. 265).

Arrest, illegal

Offense of failure to exhibit operator's permit could not be upheld since it was directly traceable to illegal stopping in District of Columbia by Maryland state police officer and subsequent illegal arrest by the United States Park Police officer, even though committed within officer's presence. District of Columbia v. Perry (D.C. App. 1966, 215 A. 2d 845).

Illegality of arrest is material when it forms basis for motion to suppress evidence obtained as result of such arrest. Id.

Where police stopped moving automobile, not for purpose of routine interrogagtion but to investigate suspected connection between occupants of automobile and felony, there was not momentary detention but unlawful arrest for investigation. H. Bowling v. United States (1965, 350 F. 2d 1002, 122 U.S. App. D.C. 25).

Arrest without warrant

Where defendant, who was known to police as a narcotics addict, was seen to surreptitiously take a small brown envelope from a person who was known by police to be a narcotic peddler, arrest of defendant immediately upon street without a warrant and search of his person was lawful. United States v. Simms (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 834).

Officer, who found billfold containing numbers slips, possession of which constituted crime, had right to determine owner and to arrest him, and, therefore, when party admitted ownership of billfold, no warrant for his arrest was necessary. Roseborough v. United States (D. C. Mun. App. 1952, 86 A. 2d 920).

Where police officers were in a position to see a crime committed in their presence, and saw narcotics paraphernalia in room and defendant in act of injecting himself, officers were under duty to arrest offender immediately without a warrant. P. C. Reid v. United States (D.C. App. 1964, 201 A. 2d 867).

Court in prosecution for unlawful entry was not required to inquire into legality or illegality of defendant's arrest, where no evidence was obtained as result of arrest. L. E. Smith v. United States (D.C. Mun. App. 1961, 173 A. 2d 739).

Circumstances warranting arrest

An arrest for an offense committed in actual view of police officer is lawful. Hoover v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 730).

Where officers knew, before going to defendant's room, that another had been killed, and that liquor dealer had identified defendant as the man who had purchased liquor, prior to the killing, in a bottle of same kind, and same stamp number as one found at scene of murder, and who had come back later for more liquor, with blood on his clothing, evidence was sufficient to justify an arrest without a warrant, and shirt and trousers taken from defendant's closet and partly filled bottle of whisky and newspaper taken from table in his room were properly admitted in evidence. Morton v. United States (1945, 147 F. 2d 28, 79 U.S. App. D.C. 329, certiorari denied 65 S. Ct. 1015, 324 U.S. 875, 89 L. Ed. 1428). See, also, Hanna v. The Meteor (1950, 179 F. 2d 957).

Confession

Statements which police elicited from defendant on day of his arrest, after victim had positively identified defendant to satisfaction of arresting officer about 30 minutes after arrest and before defendant was taken before committing magistrate were inadmissible. C. L. Ricks v. United States (1964, 334 F. 2d 964, 118 U.S. App. D.C. 216).

Construction

Where Congress enacted two statutes applicable to different jurisdictions but both requiring that an accused be taken promptly before a committing officer, courts must assume the congressional intention in both instances was the same and give each statute the same construction. Hayes v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 709).

Delay in presentment before magistrate

Once police delay accused's presentment before magistrate for production of evidence, detention becomes illegal and time for admissible threshold confessions has passed. H. W. Greenwell v. United States (1964, 336 F. 2d 962, 119 U.S. App. D.C. 43).

Evidence

Where police officer, after making informal arrest for traffic violations, searched glove compartment of automobile for driver's registration card, discovering numbers slips, and then formally arrested driver for both traffic violation and lottery violation, and made further search of automobile for lottery evidence, the lottery evidence was not subject to suppression. United States v. Washington (D.C.D.C. 1965, 214 F. Supp. 40).

Where accused confessed guilt and consented to officers going to his home to recover stolen property shortly after his arrest, evidence of confession, and stolen property, were admissible, notwithstanding that accused was not arraigned until eight days later. United States v. Mitchell (1944, 64 S. Ct. 896, 322 U.S. 65, 88 L. Ed. 1140, rehearing denied 64 S. Ct. 1257, 322 U.S. 770, 88 L. Ed. 1595).

Confessions made while a defendant is under arrest are admissible in evidence if voluntarily made and if the rule requiring defendant to be promptly taken before a committing magistrate is not violated, whether the arrest was legal or illegal. Smith v. United States (1958, 254 F. 2d 751, 103 U.S. App. D.C. 48).

In prosecution for narcotics violation, inculpatory statement made immediately on the arrest and without there having been any illegal detention was admissible, and this was so whether the arrest was legal or illegal. Id.

Where officers, who had been informed by arrested addict that certain person had sold him narcotics procured at apartment at certain address, arranged for purchase of narcotics from that person, whom they followed to apartment building and arrested in taxicab with narcotics and marked bills, and subsequently occupants of apartment opened door on being informed of presence of officers but left in place chain lock which officers broke, and officers entered and arrested occupants, arrest was lawful, under such exceptional circumstances, and marked money seized in search of apartment was admissible in evidence in narcotics prosecution of occupants. Shepherd v. United States (1957, 244 F. 2d 750, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 302).

A voluntary confession is not rendered inadmissible because obtained during an illegal detention provided it was not induced by the illegal detention. Sykes v. United States (1944, 143 F. 2d 140, 79 U.S. App. D.C. 97).

Where defendant, after arrest but prior to arraignment, denied having any connection with robbery but admitted being in company of two other men, charged with same offense, shortly before and shortly after the robbery, admission of evidence of defendant's statement was not error where statement was not claimed to have been coerced. Id.

The rule excluding from evidence a confession elicited during a period of illegal detention or delay between arrest and arraignment is applicable to proceedings in the District of Columbia Municipal Court (now District of Columbia Court of General Sessions). K. B. Larkin v. United States (D.C. Mun. App. 1958, 144 A. 2d 100).

Any delay in arraignment after confession is immaterial and could have no retroactive effect on validity of confession. Id.

The period of time from formal arrest of defendant at 11:00 a. m., after he had made oral confession, to the conclusion of dictation of written confession at 12:40 p. m. the same day, which was simply used to reduce oral statements to written form, was legitimate delay and permissible. Id.

Delay from 10:00 a. m., when defendant arrived at police headquarters at officer's request, to 11:00 a. m. when oral admissions were made, was not so unreasonable as to render inadmissible written confessions based on the oral admissions, where no interrogation took place during such period but defendant and officers were waiting arrival of complaining witness so that identification could be made and the oral admissions were made promptly and spontaneously upon being confronted with complainant's version of incident especially in view of police officer's testimony that defendant was free to come and go. Id.

Where defendant was arrested for vagrancy on Sunday, July 4, but criminal division of the Municipal Court (now District of Columbia Court of General Sessions) was in session Monday notwithstanding that Monday was a legal holiday and defendant was not taken into court until Tuesday, defendant's detention was unlawful and testimony of arresting officer in vagrancy prosecution as to admissions made to him by defendant after arrest was improperly admitted. Burns v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 714).

The rule that those statements obtained by the police through an unlawful detention are inadmissible against defendant does not exclude from evidence all statements made by defendant while in custody of the police. Clark v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 711).

Where defendant was arrested Saturday afternoon while court was not in session but was taken to court Monday morning when court reopened, the detention was not illegal so as to justify excluding statement made by defendant to officer while under arrest. Id.

Where defendant was arrested without warrant Friday evening and could have been taken to court for arraignment on Saturday but was not taken into court until Tuesday, the detention was unlawful, and, in prosecution for vagrancy which followed, admission of statements made by defendant to arresting officer was error notwithstanding statements were made at time of arrest and while detention was still lawful. Hayes v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 34 A. 2d 709).

Admission of unsolved housebreakings and larcenies made a number of hours after defendant had been arrested at 12:25 a.m. upon probable cause for attempted housebreaking was inadmissible against defendant who was not presented before a commissioner until some time after 10 a.m. Coleman v. United States (1963, 317 F. 2d 891, 115 U.S. App. D.C. 191).

Issue of fact

Whether defendant's arrest for disorderly conduct was sham, employed by police as gamble for detecting larger crime, was one for inference to be drawn by fact-finder based upon credibility and demeanor. H. Johnson v. United States (1966, 370 F. 2d 489, — U.S. App. D.C. —).

Lawful arrest

Arrest of defendant, who was observed by officers running across street from church doorway at midnight, and who, when stopped, used obscene language toward officers, on charges of disorderly conduct was lawful, and thus incriminating statement made by defendant and pistol found near scene of arrest were not inadmissible on the grounds asserted. H. Johnson v. United States (1966, 370 F. 2d 489, — U.S. App. D.C. —).

Not in officer's view

Defendant's arrest by United States Park Police officer for offenses of operating automobile in excess of speed limit and while under influence of intoxicating liquor was invalid where offenses were not committed in presence of or within view of officer. District of Columbia v. Perry (D.C. App. 1966, 215 A. 2d 845).

An officer may not arrest for a misdemeanor, in the District, without a warrant, if not committed in his view Maghan v. Jerome (1937, 88 F. 2d 1001, 67 App. D.C. 9).

Probable cause for arrest

Police officers, who, after observing defendant's violations of traffic regulations, stopped his automobile, and who, while questioning him as to such violations, heard over police radio that robbery had been committed by person answering defendant's general appearance and driving automobile similar to that driven by defendant, had probable cause for arresting defendant on robbery charge. M. L. Brown v. United States (1966, 365 F. 2d 976, 125 U.S. App. D.C. 43).

Although observations by victim of crime may be faulty in some respects, such mistakes are irrelevant if there is sufficient particularized information to constitute probable cause for arrest based on such observations. Id.

Where police continued their detention of arrested defendant, after having probable cause to believe that defendant was wanted robber described over police radio, arrest of defendant also became one for robbery, and whether or not specific statement of that fact was made to defendant was irrelevant. Id.

Arrest without warrant may be made if there is probable cause to believe that felony has been committed and that arrested person committed it, or if a misdemeanor has been committed in presence of arresting officer. S. A. Curtis v. United States and District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1966, 222 A. 2d 840).

Where defendant set off hotel burglar alarm by leaving through side door and returned inside with employee who called police and arresting officer found defendant sitting quietly at desk, officer lacked probable cause to believe that the felony had been committed. Id.

Officers who, in responding to radio report of possible robbery, found defendant being restrained outside dwelling, who observed one victim still handcuffed to stair rail, and who were informed by men restraining defendant that they had observed him fleeing from house, had probable cause to believe that defendant had committed crime and thus had probable cause for arrest. Kennedy v. United States (1965, 353 F. 2d 462, 122 U.S. App. D.C. 291).

The evidence, including police officer's testimony that when he looked through partially opened window of parked automobile he recognized operator of automobile as meeting the description given in police broadcast, disclosed that the on-the-spot arrest of operator was made with probable cause. Smith v. United States (1965, 353 F. 2d 838, 122 U.S. App. D.C. 300).

Evidence discovered subsequent to time of arrest may not be considered in determining probable cause. Id.

Police officers who were on routine investigation of report that heroin was being "capped" at rooming house and who saw paraphernalia used by narcotics addicts in room from public hallway to which they had been properly admitted had probable cause to enter the room to arrest defendant, and having done so, properly seized heroin found in envelope and the paraphernalia. Jennings v. United States (1957, 247 F. 2d 784, 101 U.S. App. D.C. 198).

Probable cause for arrest depends upon reasonable ground for belief of guilt. Sherherd v. United States (1957, 244 F. 2d 750, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 302). See, also, United States v. Willis (D.C.D.C. 1965, F. Supp. 265).

Search and seizure

Where defendant was properly arrested on robbery charge, search of his person and automobile incidental to arrest and not remote in time and place therefrom was valid. M. L. Brown v. United States (1966, 365 F. 2d 976, 125 U.S. App. D.C. 43).

In case involving arrest without warrant for traffic violation, additional factors may validate search of arrested driver and his automobile, if search is not remote in time or place from arrest. Id.

Where defendant's arrest was illegal, search of defendant's pocketbook and seizure of narcotics paraphernalia was unlawful and admission of evidence was reversible error. S. A. Curtis v. United States and District of Columbia (D.C. App. 1966, 222 A. 2d 840).

Police officer's limited inspection of glove compartment in automobile, where motorist had indicated his registration card was located, was incident to arrest for traffic violation and reasonable, though officer was allegedly also concerned with protecting himself by searching for weapon in glove compartment. United States v. Washington (D.C.D.C. 1965, 249 F. Supp. 40).

Where informal traffic arrest preceded officer's search in glove compartment for driver's registration card, opening of such compartment and subsequent uncovering of envelopes showing lottery violation was not subject to objection that search took place prior to arrest. Id.

Seizure of key of rape and robbery victim from pocket of defendant's pants found alongside defendant's bed in room in which he slept was incident to a lawful arrest. United States v. Willis (D.C.D.C. 1965, 248 F. Supp. 265).

Where arrests are lawful, it is equally lawful to search premises and to use incriminating things found as evidence in the prosecution. Hoover v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 730).

An officer making a lawful arrest on a criminal charge may take such articles as may reasonably be used as evidence, Morton v. United States (1945, 147 F. 2d 28, 79 U.S. App. D.C. 329, certiorari denied 65 S. Ct. 1015, 324 U.S. 875, 89 L. Ed. 1428). See, also, Hanna v. The Meteor (1950, 179 F. 2d 957).

Where defendant was informed by officers that they were from police headquarters and that inspector wanted to talk to defendant, and officers took defendant to a police automobile, there was an "arrest" so as to authorize seizure of articles usable as evidence. Id.

§ 4–141. Powers of officers in connection with suspected felonies.

The major and superintendent of police and the lieutenants of police, having just cause to suspect that any felony has been, or is being, or is about to be, committed within any building, or on board of any ship, boat, or vessel within the said District, may enter upon the same at all hours of day or night, to take all necessary measures for the effectual prevention or detection of all felonies, and may take then and there into custody all persons suspected of being concerned in such felonies, and also may take charge of all property which he or they shall have then and there just cause to suspect has been stolen. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Arrest without warrant

Where defendant, who was known to police as a narcotics addict, was seen to surreptitiously take a small brown envelope from a person who was known by police to be a narcotic peddler, arrest of defendant immediately upon street without a warrant and search of his person was lawful. United States v. Simms (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 834).

Circumstances warranting arrest

Probable cause for arrest depends upon reasonable ground for belief of guilt. Shepherd v. United States (1957, 244 F. 2d 750, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 302).

Evidence

Where officers, who had been informed by arrested addict that certain person had sold him narcotics procured at apartment at certain address, arranged for purchase of narcotics from that person, whom they followed to apartment building and arrested in taxicab with narcotics and marked bills, and subsequently occupants of apartment opened door on being informed of presence of officers but left in place chain lock which officers broke, and officers entered and arrested occupants, arrest was lawful, under such exceptional circumstances, and marked money seized in search of apartment was admissible in evidence in narcotics prosecution of occupants. Shepherd v. United States (1957, 244 F. 2d 750, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 302).

Evidence in detinue action sustained finding that money, which was found in coin-operated locker at railroad station by locker company after locker had been in use in excess of 24 hours without additional deposit having been paid and which had been turned over to property clerk of police department, was not wrongfully detained by locker company and property clerk. J. E. Lewis v. A. A. Aderholdt and Washington Terminal Co. (D.C. App. 1964, 203 A. 2d 919).

Evidence concerning burglary of drug store at which plaintiff had recently worked was admissible in detinue action against locker company, which found money in railroad station locker, and property clerk of police department to whom money was turned over, since evidence was relevant and material to determination whether there was probable cause for suspecting that money found in locker was connected with burglary. Id.

Probable cause for arrest

Police officers, who, after observing defendant's violations of traffic regulations, stopped his automobile, and who, while questioning him as to such violations, heard over police radio that robbery had been committed by person answering defendant's general appearance and driving automobile similar to that driven by defendant, had probable cause for arresting defendant on robbery charge. M. L. Brown v. United States (1966, 365 F. 2d 976, 125 U.S. App. D.C. 43).

Although observations by victim of crime may be faulty in some respects, such mistakes are irrelevant if there is sufficient particularized information to constitute probable cause for arrest based on such observations. Id.

Where police continued their detention of arrested defendant, after having probable cause to believe that defendant was wanted robber described over police radio, arrest of defendant also became one for robbery, and whether or not specific statement of that fact was made to defendant was irrelevant. Id.

Right of entry

Entry of police officer into defendant's home was lawful where officer identified himself to defendant's mother as a policeman, stated his purpose, and had probable cause to arrest defendant for serious charges of rape and robbery. United States v. Willis (D.C.D.C. 1965, 248 F. Supp. 265).

§ 4–142. Information and return after arrest.

Every case of arrest shall be made known within six hours thereafter to the lieutenant of police on duty in the precinct in which the arrest is made, by the person making the same; and it shall be the duty of the lieutenant within twelve hours after such notice, to make written return thereof, according to the rules and regulations of the Board of Commissioners, together with the name of the party arrested, the offense, the place of arrest, and the place of detention. (R. S., D. C., § 400.)

§ 4–144. Detention of witnesses.

The Board of Commissioners shall provide suitable accommodations within the District for the detention of witnesses who are unable to furnish security for their appearance in criminal proceedings, and such accommodations shall be in premises other than those employed for the confinement of persons charged with crime, fraud, or disorderly conduct; and it shall be the duty of all magistrates in committing witnesses to have regard to the rules and regulations of the Board of Commissioners in reference to their detention. (R. S., D. C., § 401; June 11 1878, 20 Stat. 107, ch. 180, § 6.)

§ 4–145. Authority for search and arrest in cases of gaming-houses, bawdy-houses, and deposit or sale of lottery tickets.

If any member of the police force, or if any two or more householders shall report in writing, under his or their signature, to the major and superintendent of police that there are good grounds, stating the same, for believing any house, room, or premises within the police district to be kept or used for any of the following purposes, namely:

First. As a common gaming-house, common gaming-room, or common gaming-premises, for therein playing for wagers of money at any game of chance; or,

Second. As a bawdy-house, or as a house of prostitution, or for purposes of prostitution; or,

Third. For lewd and obscene public amusement or entertainment; or,

Fourth. For the deposit or sale of lottery tickets or lottery policies, it shall be lawful for the major and superintendent of police to authorize any member or members of the police force to enter the same, who shall forthwith arrest all persons there found offending against law, and seize all implements of gaming, or lottery tickets, or lottery policies, and convey any person so arrested before the proper court, and bring the articles so seized to the office of the Board of Commissioners. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Search without warrant

Where defendant, who had been under police observation, was observed entering rooming house where he had rented a room and one of police officers, without search warrant, opened window leading to landlady's room, climbed through and admitted other officers to the house, officer looked through transom, observed defendant and a guest as well as numbers slips, money and adding machines, and officers then arrested defendant and his guest and seized the machines, numbers slips and money, denial of defendant's motion for suppression of evidence and return of property to him was error, and convictions of both defendant and his guest for carrying on a lottery would be reversed. McDonald v. United States (1948, 69 S. Ct. 191, 335 U.S. 451, 93 L. Ed. 153).

Where officers heard adding machines which they knew were frequently used in the numbers operation and saw defendants busily engaged in their lottery venture, the officers had adequate grounds for seeking a search warrant and inconvenience of officers and delay in preparing papers and getting before magistrate was not a justification for search without warrant. Id.

§ 4–146. Duty of major and superintendent to prosecute—Property seized.

It shall be the duty of the major and superintendent of police to cause all persons arrested in pursuance of the provisions of section 4–145 to be rigorously prosecuted, the articles seized to be destroyed, and such room or house to be closed, and not again used for such unlawful purpose (R. All property or money alleged or supposed to have been feloniously obtained, or which shall be lost or abandoned, and which shall be thereafter taken into the custody of any member of the police force, or the police or criminal court of the district, or which shall come into such custody, shall be, by such member, or by order of the court, given into the custody of the property clerk and kept by him. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Burden of proof

Where locker company, which maintained coin-operated lockers at railroad station, opened all lockers, which had been in use in excess of 24 hours, and for which additional deposit for extended use had not been made, and found $2,500 in cash in one of the lockers, and money was turned over to property clerk of police department, claimant of money, who brought detinue action against locker company and property clerk had burden of proving ownership of money by preponderance of evidence. J. E. Lewis v. A. A. Aderholdt and Washington Terminal Co. (D.C. App. 1964, 203 A. 2d 919).

Deposit of unlawfully seized property

Retention of seized money subject to tax lien

District court, in a proceeding on motion for return of property and suppression of property as evidence could, after suppressing evidence, direct that money be retained in custody subject to federal tax lien and a final disposition thereof. Welsh v. United States of America (1955, 220 F. 2d 200, 95 U.S. App. D.C. 93).

Summary judgment

In action by leasehold tenant of apartment to recover damages from her landlord, his agent, and District of Columbia for negligence in execution of writ of restitution from Municipal Court for the District of Columbia (now District of Columbia Court of General Sessions), from allegations of complaint and facts before court which were given in support of defendants' motions for summary judgment, tenant was entitled to trial to show whether property was negligently damaged by defendants or any of them and if so to recover from any defendant who might be liable in law for its negligence or that of its servants for whom it is responsible. O'Neil Wilson v. Bittinger et al. (1958, 262 F. 2d 714, 104 U.S. App. D.C. 403).

Trial de novo

This section giving police property clerk authority to conduct hearing for purpose of determining ownership of property coming into hands of police department does not confer force of a judgment upon clerk's determination, so as to deprive courts of jurisdiction to determine title to the property as between conflicting claims de novo. Carroll v. E. Heidenheimer, Inc. (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 71).

§ 4–156a. Repealed. Sept. 25, 1962, 76 Stat. 691, Pub. L. 87–691, § 3.

Section of act June 29, 1953, 67 Stat. 101, ch. 159, §§ 306 (b) and (c) dealt with collection of fees on impounded vehicles and deposit of collected fees in U.S. Treasury. Subject matter is now covered by section 4–159.

§ 4–157. Return of property to accused upon acquittal.

Whenever property or money shall be taken from persons arrested, and shall be alleged to have been feloniously obtained, or to be the proceeds of crime, and whenever so brought with such claimant and the person arrested before any court for trial, and the court shall be satisfied from evidence that the person arrested is innocent of the offense alleged, and that the property rightfully belongs to him, said court may, in writing, order such property or money to be returned, and the property clerk, if he have it, to deliver such property or money to the accused person himself, and not to any attorney, agent, or clerk of such accused person. (R. S., D. C., § 414.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Deposit of unlawfullly seized property

Where court had reason to believe from evidence adduced that property unlawfully seized by officers was stolen property, court though suppressing use of such property as evidence, would not order property returned to defendant but rather would direct that the property be returned to custody of the Property Clerk of the District of Columbia without prejudice to defendant's right to gain possession thereof by establishing valid claim thereto. United States v. Scott (D.C.D.C. 1957, 149 F. (a) All property or money taken on suspicion of having been feloniously obtained, or of being the proceeds of crime, and for which there is no other claimant than the person from whom such property was taken, and all lost property coming into possession of any member of the police force, and all property and money taken from pawnbrokers as the proceeds of crime or from persons alleged to be insane, intoxicated, or otherwise incapable of taking care of themselves, shall be transmitted as soon as practicable to the property clerk to be fully registered and advertised for the benefit of all parties interested, and for the information of the public as to the amount and disposition of the property so taken into custody by the police.

(b) (1) Whenever any money or property of a deceased person of a value of less than $1,000 coming into the custody of the property clerk shall remain in his custody for a period of six months or more without being claimed and repossessed by the next of kin or the legal representative of such deceased person, such money or property shall be disposed of as lost or abandoned property as provided in section 4–160 of this chapter: Provided, That prior to the disposition of such property of a deceased person it shall be the duty of the property

Construction

In imposing a notice requirement, Congress intended that the advertisement contain reasonably complete identification of the particular chattel to be sold, and such description should be such as to convey to a person reading the advertisement sufficient information to enable him to recognize the chattel as his own before commencing to count a limitation against him. District of Columbia v. Hamilton National Bank (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 60).

Purpose

A two-fold purpose underlies this Code provision, namely, to provide for the police department a legal method of disposing of unclaimed property which has come into its custody and to restore such property to lawful claimants. District of Columbia v. Hamilton National Bank (D. C. Mun. App. 1950, 76 A. 2d 60).

For the purpose of this section the term "gross negligence" means a willful intent to injure property, or a reckless or wanton disregard of the rights of another in his property. (Sept. 25, 1962, 76 Stat. 591, Pub. L. 87–691, § 5.)

§ 4–162. Sale of perishable property.

§ 4–163. Delivery of property to owner pending trial.

When animals or articles of property (except perishable property) other than money, returned to the property clerk as the proceeds of crime, are shown by sufficient evidence to be necessary for the current use of the owner and not for sale, the Board of Commissioners has power, in its discretion, to authorize the property clerk to place the same in the custody of the owner, upon sufficient bonds being given by the owner in the sum of twice the value of the property, conditioned for the production of the same at any time within one year, when required for use in court as evidence in any proceedings thereon. (R. S., D. C., § 420; June 11, 1878, 20 Stat 107, ch. 180, § 6.)

§ 4–165. When large quantities of goods held for sale by owner may be delivered.

When large quantities of goods held for sale by the owner, come into the possession of the property clerk as the proceeds of crime, the same may be delivered to the owner, his heirs or representatives, as provided in section 4–156, upon ample security to prosecute the case. But in such cases goods to the estimated value of $50.00 shall be retained by the property clerk until the discharge or conviction of the accused. (R.S., D.C., § 422.)

§ 4–166. Use of property as evidence.

If any property or money placed in the custody of the property clerk shall be desired as evidence in any police or other criminal court, such property shall be delivered to any officer who shall present an order to that effect from such court; but such property shall not be retained in the court, but shall be returned to the property clerk, to be disposed of according to the provisions of this chapter. The above-quoted § 403 of the 1964 act was repealed as executed by act Sept. 6, 1966, 80 Stat. 632, Pub. L. 89–554, § 8(a).

§ 4–183a. Retirement of Director—Conditions—Annuities—Appropriations.

Notwithstanding the limitations of existing law, the person who is the director of the Metropolitan Police force band on the effective date of this section may elect to retire after having served ten or more years in such capacity and having attained the age of seventy years. Upon such retirement, whether for age and service or for disability, said director and his surviving spouse shall be entitled to receive annuities in amounts equivalent to, and under the conditions applicable to, the annuities which a captain in the Metropolitan Police force and his surviving spouse may be entitled to receive after such captain has retired from said force for substantially the same reason as that for which said director may retire, whether for age and service or for disability, as the case may be. If the said director shall apply for retirement for disability, he shall not be eligible to retire under section 4–527, but he shall be eligible to apply for retirement under section 4–526, in like manner as if the said director were an officer or member of the Metropolitan Police force. The annuities hereby authorized shall be in addition to any pension or retirement compensation which said director may be entitled to receive from any other source, whether from the United States or otherwise. The annuities payable to said director and his surviving spouse pursuant to sections 4–182 to 4–184 shall be payable from District of Columbia appropriations, but shall not be considered as annuities payable to an officer or member of the Metropolitan Police force or to the surviving spouse of such officer or member. Appropriations for the operations of the Metropolitan Police Department are made available for this purpose. Annuities authorized by this section shall be computed on the basis of compensated service rendered after July 11, 1947. (July 11, 1947, ch. 226, § 3, as added Sept. 22, 1959, 73 Stat. 640, Pub. L. 86–356.)

§ 4–183b. Retirement of Director to be pursuant to provisions of sections 183a and 183b—Transfer of moneys from Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund.

The person who is the Director of the Metropolitan Police force band on September 22, 1959 shall, upon his retirement from such position, be retired under the provisions of sections 4–182 to 4–184 and not under sections 1308, 3323, and 8331—8348 of title 5, U.S. Code [relating to retirement of government employees], and the moneys to his credit in the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund created under the authority of the Civil Service Retirement Act of May 29, 1930, as amended, on the date of such retirement, together with such moneys in such fund as may have been contributed by the District of Columbia toward the cost of his annuity under such Act, shall be transferred to the credit of the general revenues of the District of Columbia. (July 11, 1947, ch. 226, § 4, as added Sept. 22, 1959, 73 Stat. 641, Pub. L. 86–356.)

CODIFICATION

The reference in this section to "sections 1308, 3323, and 8331—8348 of title 5, U.S. Code [relating to retirement of government employees]" was substituted for "the Civil Service Retirement Act", on authority of § 7(b) of act Sept. 6, 1966, Pub. L. 89–554, set out in note under § 1–251. The Civil Service Retirement Act (May 29, 1930, 46 Stat. 468, ch. 349), as generally amended by act July 31, 1956, 70 Stat. 743, ch. 804, title IV, § 401, and as amended by other acts, was repealed by act Sept. 6, 1966, 80 Stat. 632, Pub. L. 89–554, § 8(a) (of which § 1 revised and enacted title 5, U.S.C., into law), and is now covered by the provisions of title 5, U.S.C., cited.

However, the second and third statutory references in this section to "Civil Service Retirement Act of May 29, 1930, as amended", and "such Act", respectively, have not been changed, as these appear to have a historical concept, only, and apparently are not prospective as used in this section.

§ 4–184. Appropriations for band authorized.

Appropriations to carry out the purpose of sections 4–182 to 4–184 is hereby authorized. (July 11, 1947, 61 Stat. 311, ch. 226, § 4, formerly § 3; renumbered Sept. 22, 1959, 73 Stat. 641, Pub. L. 86–356.)

AMENDMENT

1959—Section 1 of act Sept. 22, 1959, added section 5 to act July 11, 1947 which provided that "Section 3 of said Act approved July 11, 1947, as amended, is renumbered § 4".

§ 4–185. Advances to the chief of police.

CODIFICATION

Section, act July 5, 1955, 69 Stat. 262, ch. 272, § 9, which authorized the disbursing officer to advance sums of money to the chief of police, is omitted as superseded by section 1–263.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Base of pension

Pensions are to be based on pay of class to which applicant for increase belongs at time of application; and Board had power to make physical examination of retired applicant. Dougherty v. United States ex rel. Roberts (1929, 30 F. 2d 471, 58 App. D.C. 308).

Employment status

The plaintiff, as a member of the Metropolitan police, is not an employee of the United States but is an employee of the municipal corporation, the District of Columbia. Wham v. United States (D.C.D.C. 1949, 81 F. Supp. 126, reversed on other grounds 180 F. 2d 38, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 128).

Moral turpitude

Possession and transportation of intoxicating liquor was a crime involving moral turpitude, as regards ground for discontinuance of pension of policeman under former section 4–513. Rudolph v. United States ex rel. Rock (1925, 6 F. 2d 487, 55 App. D.C. 362, 40 A.L.R. 1042, certiorari denied 46 S. Ct. 20, 269 U.S. 559, 70 L. Ed. 411).

Vested rights

While there is no vested right in a pension which cannot be divested by the mere exercise of the legislative will, if relators have any rights, they are vested ones so long only as the statute in question remains in force and unchanged, subject to be divested at any time that Congress may desire. Dougherty v. United States ex rel. Browning (1931, 45 F. 2d 926, 60 App. D.C. 8).

The right of a retired member of the police force to a pension, or to a particular pension, is not a vested right, and a change by statute does not impair the obligation of a contract. Id.

§ 4–522. United States Secret Service Division—Transfer of Civil Service retirement funds—Credit for prior service with other police units.

Whenever any member of the United States Secret Service Division has actively performed duties other than clerical for ten years or more directly related to the protection of the President, such member shall be authorized to transfer all funds to his credit in the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund continued by sections 8331(5) and 8348 of title 5, U.S. Code, to the general revenues of the District of Columbia and after the transfer of such funds the salary of such member shall be subject to the same deductions for credit to the general revenues of the District of Columbia as the deductions from salaries of other members under sections 4–521 to 4–535, and he shall be entitled to the same benefits as the other members to whom such sections apply. Any member of the United States Secret Service Division appointed from the White House Police force and assigned to duties directly related to the protection of the President shall receive credit for periods of prior service with the Metropolitan Police force, the United States Park Police force, or the White House Police force toward the required ten years or more service. (Sept. 1, 1916, ch. 433, § 12(b), as added Aug. 21, 1957, 71 Stat. 392, Pub. L. 85–157, § 3; Aug. 21, 1964, 78 Stat. 586, Pub. L. 88–476, § 1.)

CODIFICATION

The reference in this section "continued by sections 8331(5) and 8348 of title 5, U.S. Code" was substituted for "created by the Act of May 22, 1920", on authority of § 7(b) of act Sept. 6, 1966, Pub. L. 89–554, set out in note under § 1–251. The act of May 22, 1920 (41 Stat. 614, ch. 195), which created the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund, was superseded by act July 31, 1956, 70 Stat. 743, ch. 804, title IV, § 401 (amending the Civil Service Retirement Act of May 29, 1930). The act of July 31, 1956 was repealed by act Sept. 6, 1966, 80 Stat. 632, Pub. L. 89–554, § 8(a) (of which § 1 revised and enacted title 5, U.S.C., into law). The latter act also repealed said act of May 22, 1920, and provisions regarding the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund are now set forth in 5 U.S.C. §§ 8331(5) and 8348.

§ 4–523. Creditable service—Military and other government service.

(1) A member's service for the purposes of sections 4–521 to 4–535 shall mean all police or fire service and such military and Government service as is authorized by such sections prior to the date of separation upon which title to annuity is based.

(2) Each member shall be allowed credit for periods of military service served prior to the date of the separation upon which the annuity is based; however, if a member is awarded retired pay on account of military service, such military service shall not be included, unless such retired pay is awarded on account of a service-connected disability (a) incurred in combat with an enemy of the United States or (b) caused by an instrumentality of war and incurred in line of duty during an enlistment or employment as provided in Veterans Regulation numbered 1 (a), part I, paragraph I, or is awarded under title III of Public Law 810, Eightieth Congress. Nothing in sections 4–521 to 4–535 shall affect the rights of members to retired pay, pension, or compensation in addition to the annuity herein provided.

(3) Credit shall be allowed for leaves of absence granted a member while performing military service, excluding from credit so much of any other leaves of absence without pay as may exceed six months in the aggregate in any calendar year.

(4) A member who, during any war or national emergency as proclaimed by the President or declared by the Congress, has left or leaves his position to enter the military service shall not be considered, for the purposes of sections 4–521 to 4–535, as separated from his position by reason of such military service, unless he shall apply for and receive his salary deductions: Provided, That such member shall not be considered as retaining such position beyond December 31, 1957, or the expiration of five years of such military service, whichever is later.

(5) Each member shall be allowed credit for government service performed prior to appointment in any of the departments mentioned in paragraph (1) of section 4–521: Provided, That such member deposits with the Collector of Taxes of the District of Columbia, for credit to the revenues of the District of Columbia, a sum equal to the entire amount including interest, if any, refunded to him for such period of government service: Provided further, That if such member so elects he shall deposit with the Collector of Taxes of the District of Columbia, the total amount of such refund in equal monthly installments not exceeding 24.

(6) The total service of a member shall be the full years and twelfth parts thereof, excluding from the aggregate any fractional part of a month.

(7) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, any military service (other than military service covered by military leave with pay from a civilian position) performed by an individual after December 1956 shall be excluded in determining the aggregate period of service upon which an annuity payable under this Act to such individual or to his widow or child is to be based, if such individual or widow or child is entitled (or would upon proper application be entitled), at the time of such determination, to monthly old-age or survivors benefits under section 202 of the Social Security Act based on such individual's wages and self-employment income. If in the case of the individual or widow such military service is not excluded under the preceding sentence, but upon attaining retirement age (as defined in section 216(a) of the Social Security Act) he or she becomes entitled (or would upon proper application be entitled) to such benefits, the Commissioners shall redetermine the aggregate period of service upon which such annuity is based, effective as of the first day of the month in which he or she attains such age, so as to exclude such service. The Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare shall, upon the request of the Commissioners, inform the Commissioners whether or not any such individual or widow or child is entitled at any specified time to such benefits. (Sept. 1, 1916, ch. 433, § 12(c), as added Aug. 21, 1957, 71 Stat. 392, Pub. L. 85–157, § 3.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Separation from position

Supp. 890).

§ 4–524. Deductions, deposits and refunds—Order of persons entitled to refunds for deductions.

(1) On and after the first day of the first pay period which begins on or after August 21, 1957 there shall be deducted and withheld from each member's basic salary an amount equal to 6½ per centum of such basic salary. Such deductions and withholdings shall be paid to the Collector of Taxes of the District of Columbia, and shall be deposited in the Treasury to the credit of the District of Columbia.

(2) Any member coming under the provisions of sections 4–521 to 4–535 who is separated from his department, except for retirement as authorized by such sections, shall be refunded the amount of the deductions made from his salary under such sections. The receipt of payment of such deductions by such member shall void all annuity rights under such sections, unless and until such member shall be reappointed to any department whose members come under such sections. If such officer or member is subsequently reappointed to any department whose members come under such sections, he shall be required to redeposit the amount of deductions so refunded to him.

(3) In order to facilitate the settlement of the accounts of each member coming under the provisions of sections 4–521 to 4–535 who dies prior to retirement leaving no survivor entitled to receive an annuity under the provisions of such sections, the Commissioners shall pay all deductions for retirement made from the salary of such deceased member to the person or persons surviving at the time of death, in the following order of precedence, and such payment shall be a bar to recovery by any other person of amounts so paid:

First, to the beneficiary or beneficiaries designated in writing by such member, filed with the Commissioners and received by them prior to the death of such member;

Second, if there be no such beneficiary, to the child or children of such deceased member and the descendants of deceased children by representation;

Third, if there be none of the above, to the parents of such member, or the survivor of them;

Fourth, if there be none of the above, to the duly appointed legal representative of the estate of the deceased member, or if there be none to the person or persons determined to be entitled thereto under the laws of the domicile of the deceased member. Redeposit inequity in requiring a member returning to the force to restore that which he had withdrawn for he receives the same consideration thereafter as if he had not retired. District of Columbia v. Smith (1934, 72 F. 2d 735, 63 App. D.C. 363).

Whenever any member coming under sections 4–521 to 4–535 completes five years of police or fire service and is found by the Commissioners to have become disabled due to injury received or disease contracted other than in the performance of duty, which disability precludes further service with his department, such member shall be retired on an annuity computed at the rate of 2 per centum of his basic salary at the time of retirement for each year or portion thereof of his service: Provided, That such annuity shall not exceed 70 per centum of his basic salary at time of retirement: Provided further, That the annuity of a member retiring under this section shall be at least 40 per centum of his basic salary at time of retirement. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Applicability of statute enacted after retirement

Metropolitan police department member who was retired for disability which was found not to have been contracted in performance of duty, but which was aggravated by performance of duty was not entitled to benefit of statute enacted subsequently to retirement providing higher annuity rates when disability is attributable to aggravation, due to performance of duty, of a disease not contracted in performance of duty. F. C. Zangardi v. W. N. Tobriner, President etc. (1965, 348 F. 2d 370, 121 U.S. App. D.C. 141).

Evidence

Where District of Columbia police department initiates proceeding to retire officer against his will and for disability which is alleged to be unrelated to his official service evidence of such lack of connection should clearly preponderate and be substantial and persuasive. Blohm v. Tobriner (1965, 350 F. 2d 785, 122 U.S. App. D.C. 2).

Under showings that police officer suffered recent service injury of serious and apparently relevant nature, subsequent disability was treated by department as service-connected for many purposes and was characterized as such by department physician, department's finding of nonservice-connected disability such as would permit retirement at lower pension was not supported by required convincing evidence. Id.

Where District of Columbia police department initiated proceeding to retire plaintiff policeman against his will and finding of disability was made, plaintiff was entitled to judgment setting aside order declaring that disability was not incurred in line of duty and requiring retirement of plaintiff for service connected disability, in absence of substantial and persuasive evidence of lack of duty connection. Monica v. Tobriner (D.C.D.C. 1966, 253 F. Supp. 851).

Where police department initiates proceedings to retire officer against his will for disability which is alleged to be unrelated to his official service, evidence of such lack of connection should clearly preponderate and be substantial and persuasive. Carroll v. Tobriner (D.C.D.C. 1966, 253 F. Supp. 87).

Involuntary retirement

Any retirement, under District of Columbia statute setting up machinery for retirement of policemen for disability, may be considered as inherently involuntary in nature, to extent that disability is ordinarily not desired. Monica v. Tobriner (D.C.D.C. 1966, 253 F. Supp. 851).

Length of service

Under statute providing that when member of police or fire department completes five years of police or fire service and is disabled by injury received not in performance of duty he shall be retired on annuity of at lease forty percent of his salary, a policeman who became disabled, not in performance of duty, after serving four years and nearly ten months in police department was not entitled to statutory benefits on theory that his former military service should be counted. W. N. Tobriner et al. v. J. J. O'Donnell, Jr. (1964, 336 F. 2d 743, 118 U.S. App. D.C. 354).

Not service connected

Record supported finding that disability of metropolitan police department member who was retired for disability on annuity of 40% of basic salary was not due to injury or disease contracted in performance of duty or aggravated by performance of duty. E. L. Taylor v. W. N. Tobriner et al. (1965, 346 F. 2d 797, 120 U.S. App. D.C. 316).

Presumption

Usual presumption in favor of sustaining findings of administrative body is not to be indulged in in case where District of Columbia policeman is retired for disability not incurred in line of duty. Monica v. Tobriner (D.C.D.C. 1966, 253 F. Supp. 851).

§ 4–527. Retirement for disability while performing or not performing duty.

(1) Whenever any member is injured or contracts a disease in the performance of duty or such injury or disease is aggravated by such duty at any time after appointment and such injury or disease or aggravation permanently disables him for the performance of duty, he shall upon retirement for such disability, receive an annuity computed at the rate of 2 per centum of his basic salary at the time of retirement for each year or portion thereof of his service: Provided, That such annuity shall not exceed 70 percentum of his basic salary at the time of retirement, nor shall it be less than 66⅔ per centum of his basic salary at the time of retirement.

(2) In any case in which the proximate cause of an injury incurred or disease contracted by a member is doubtful, or is shown to be other than the performance of duty, and such injury or disease is shown to have been aggravated by the performance of duty to such an extent that the member is permanently disabled for the performance of duty, such disability shall be construed to have been incurred in the performance of duty. The member shall, upon retirement for such disability, receive an annuity computed at the rate of 2 per centum of his basic salary at the time of his retirement for each year or portion thereof of his service: Provided, That such annuity shall not exceed 70 per centum of his basic salary at the time of retirement, nor shall it be less than 66⅔ per centum of his basic salary at the time of retirement. (Sept. 1, 1916, ch. 433, § 12(g), as added Aug. 21, 1957, 71 Stat. 394, Pub. L. 85–157, § 3; Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1133, Pub. L. 87–857, § 1.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Abuse of discretion

Where first count asked for a mandatory injunction requiring Commissioners of District of Columbia to pay policeman a larger retirement allowance, and second count asked for a declaratory judgment that he was entitled to the larger allowance, District Court's denial of Commissioners' motion for summary judgment on first count and granting it on second count was abuse of discretion, and hence the judgment would be set aside and case remanded for further proceedings. F. C. Zangardi v. W. N. Tobriner et al. (1964, 330 F. 2d 224, 117 U.S. App. D.C. 350).

Civil actions

Where member of the Metropolitan Police Force was injured while on duty by the negligence of a government employee, he has a right of action against the United States under Federal Tort Claims Act, notwithstanding his position in the Metropolitan Police for whose members the United States established a Police Pension Relief Fund. Wham v. United States (1950, 180 F. 2d 38, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 128).

Construction

D.C. Code (1951) § 4–507, 39 Stat. 718, was not entirely consistent with § 4–508; section 4–507 was enacted in 1916 and § 4–508 in 1940; to the extent of the inconsistency, the later statute superseded the earlier. Spencer v. Bullock (1954, 216 F. 2d 54, 94 U.S. App. D.C. 388).

The portion of former section 4–527 providing for benefits to widow and children of a deceased member of District of Columbia metropolitan police force was not required to be read in terms with preceding portion providing for retirement for disability sustained in line of duty so as to require a construction that the death must have been the result of injury or disease sustained or contracted in line of duty in order for benefits to be payable. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 887).

Election of remedies

Where member of Metropolitan Police Force was injured while on duty by the negligence of a government employee, and was not barred under Federal Tort Claims Act, he was not required to elect between relief granted by that Act or relief granted under the Police Pension Relief Fund, since case did not present the elements requiring an election: viz. existence of inconsistent remedies to enforce the same cause. Wham v. United States (1950, 180 F. 2d 38, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 128).

Evidence

Where District of Columbia police department initiates proceeding to retire officer against his will and for disability which is alleged to be unrelated to his official service evidence of such lack of connection should clearly preponderate and be substantial and persuasive. Blohm v. Tobriner (1965, 350 F. 2d 785, 122 U.S. App. D.C. 2).

Under showings that police officer suffered recent service injury of serious and apparently relevant nature, subsequent disability was treated by department as service-connected for many purposes and was characterized as such by department physician, department's finding of nonservice-connected disability such as would permit retirement at lower pension was not supported by required convincing evidence. Id.

Where District of Columbia police department initiated proceeding to retire plaintiff policeman against his will and finding of disability was made, plaintiff was entitled to judgment setting aside order declaring that disability was not incurred in line of duty and requiring retirement of plaintiff for service-connected disability, in absence of substantial and persuasive evidence of lack of duty connection. Monica v. Tobriner (D.C.D.C. 1966, 253 F. Supp. 851).

Where police department initiates proceedings to retire officer against his will for disability which is alleged to be unrelated to his official service, evidence of such lack of connection should clearly preponderate and be substantial and persuasive. Carroll v. Tobriner (D.C.D.C. 1966, 253 F. Supp. 87).

In case in which police officer contends that disability warranting retirement occurred in line of duty, evidence should be considered in light of humane purpose of retirement laws. Id.

Evidence established that psychoneurotic depressive reaction, chronic, with some paranoid trends suffered by police officer, who contended that his disability requiring retirement had been incurred in line of duty, had been aggravated by his police service. Id.

Evidence showing that retired police officer's disability from a chronic lumbosacral strain resulted from officer's fall while making an arrest entitled officer to retirement under this section providing more favorable pension in case of disability due to injury incurred in performance of duty. Crawford v. McLaughlin et al. (C.A. D.C. 1960, 286 F. 2d 821).

Evidence before Police and Firemen's Retirement and Relief Board of the District of Columbia supported finding that policeman who had worked as a dispatcher and who was suffering from essential hypertension with uncontrolled elevations in blood pressure and hypertensive cardiovascular disease had a disability due to injury received in performance of duties. J. M. Lynch v. W. N. Tobriner, president et al. (D.C.D.C. 1965, 237 F. Supp. 313).

Evidence did not support finding that District of Columbia police officer's disabling arthritis had not been incurred in performance of duty as motorcycle officer. J. R. Hyde v. W. N. Tobriner, et al. (1964, 329 F. 2d 879, 117 U.S. App. D.C. 311).

Evidence in officers' retirement cases must be viewed in light more favorable to applicant seeking relief than in usual type of civil action, in consideration of humane purpose of retirement laws. Id.

Injury defined

Where "injury" is used in District of Columbia Code provisions regarding disability pension, it is not limited to injuries caused by force or violence and includes any injury, or disease, or illness, arising out of and in the course of the employment, which causes the incapacity. J. M. Lynch v. W. N. Tobriner, president et al. (D.C.D.C. 1965, 237 F. Supp. 313).

Involuntary retirement

Any retirement, under District of Columbia statute setting up machinery for retirement of policemen for disability, may be considered as inherently involuntary in nature, to extent that disability is ordinarily not desired. Monica v. Tobriner (D.C.D.C. 1966, 253 F. Supp. 851).

Presumption

Usual presumption in favor of sustaining findings of administrative body is not to be indulged in in case where District of Columbia policeman is retired for disability not incurred in line of duty. Monica v. Tobriner (D.C.D.C. 1966, 253 F. Supp. 851).

Public policy

Public policy requires that disability pension provisions of District of Columbia Code be construed liberally. J. M. Lynch v. W. N. Tobriner, president et al. (D.C.D.C. 1965, 237 F. Supp. 313).

Record of injury

As contained in District of Columbia fireman's personnel file, cryptic notation "3–2–48 Lumbo-sacral strain, Box 9322", when shown to refer to fire at which fireman claimed to have injured his back while carrying a 275–300 pound body of a fire victim, required reconsideration of fireman's claim to retirement on basis of disability incurred in performance of duties, where retirement board had granted retirement for nonservice-connected disability on ground of lack of record of injury in personnel file. W. D. Lovell v. W. N. Tobriner et al., etc. (1962, 310 F. 2d 870, 114 U.S. App. D.C. 65).

Retroactive application

Amendment to section of District of Columbia Code dealing with police and firemen's disability retirement to effect that, in any case in which cause of injury incurred or disease contracted is doubtful, disability shall be construed to have been incurred in performance of duty is not retroactive and commissioners were not required to function under such provision in disposing of matter prior to effective date of amendment. J. R. Blohm v. W. N. Tobriner et al., Board of Commissioners (D.C.D.C. 1964, 234 F. Supp. 941).

Service connected disability

Record supported finding that disability of metropolitan police department member who was retired for disability on annuity of 40% of basic salary was not due to injury or disease contracted in performance of duty or aggravated by performance of duty. E. L. Taylor v. W. N. Tobriner et al. (1965, 346 F. 2d 797, 120 U.S. App. D.C. 316).

Where record concerning policeman's retirement contained no evidence contrary to physician's testimony that policeman's disability, consisting of marked, mixed type of neurosis with anxiety and depressive features and multiple psychogenic complaints following severe attack of bulbar polio, was connected with performance of his police duty, there was no basis in record for Commissioners' determination that disability had not been incurred in line of duty. T. L. Souder v. W. N. Tobriner et al. (1963, 314 F. 2d 272, 114 U.S. App. D.C. 267).

Relief from summary judgment in favor of Commissioners of District of Columbia on basis of administrative record involving policeman's right to retire for disability alleged to have occurred in performance of his duty was not available to court almost 16 months thereafter under federal rule. W. N. Tobriner et al., v. D. Chefer (1964, 335 F. 2d 281, 118 U.S. App. D.C. 246.)

Where almost 16 months after trial court granted summary judgment for Commissioners of District of Columbia on basis of administrative record involving policeman's right to retire for disability alleged to have occurred in performance of his duty court sua sponte vacated such order and ordered this case set down for hearing, vacating order exceeded court's jurisdiction. Id.

Taxation

Where pensioners accepted retirement for age and length of service with maximum retirement pay and raised no objection on procedural or any other ground and thereby acquired and have retained for many years retired status with pay, any provisions of statute prescribing certain procedures in granting of retirement orders which were not followed must be deemed to have been waived insofar as the courts are concerned, and courts could not thereafter require Commissioners to set aside original retirement orders and to issue new ones, even though such action might result in income tax benefit to pensioners, if, upon reconsideration, new orders should rest upon ground of disability incurred in line of duty. Allen et al. v. Spencer et al. (1954, 214 F. 2d 205, 93 U.S. App. D.C. 361).

Where Board of Commissioners of District of Columbia retired fireman over age of 64 years and granted him pension under provision of former section 4–507 providing that firemen may be retired with compensation after having reached age of 60 years, and prior to such time it appeared that fireman had suffered physical disability in line of duty, but there had been no determination by Commissioners of extent of disability as a basis for fixing compensation or retirement pay, it was necessary to treat fireman for income tax purposes as having been retired for age, and retirement compensation received by him was not excludable from his gross income for income tax purposes under provision of the Internal Revenue Code exempting amounts received under workmen's compensation acts, as compensation for personal injuries or sickness in determining income. Simms v. Commissioner of Internal Revenue (1952, 196 F. 2d 238, 90 U.S. App. D.C. 322).

Monies received by members of the police or fire departments of the District of Columbia, who were retired for disability, being in the nature of compensation for personal injuries under a workmen's compensation act, was not subject to federal income tax. Frye v. United States (D.C.D.C. 1947, 72 F. Supp. 405).

(1) Any member who attains the age of fifty years and completes twenty years of police or fire service may, after giving at least sixty days' written advance notice to his department head stating his intention to retire and stating the date on which he will retire, voluntarily retire from the service and shall be entitled to an annuity computed at the rate of 2 per centum of his basic salary at the time of his retirement for each year of service; except that the rate of 3 per centum of his basic salary at time of retirement shall be used to compute each year's police or fire service in excess of twenty years: Provided, That such notice requirement may be waived by the department head when, in his opinion, circumstances justify such waiver: Provided further, That whenever the Commissioners or the Chief of the White House Police force, or the Chief of the United States Park Police force, or the Chief of the United States Secret Service division shall determine that there exists an emergency which is likely to endanger the safety of the public and that the public safety cannot be adequately protected except by suspending the retirement provisions of this paragraph, then the Commissioners or any of said Chiefs shall be authorized to suspend the retirement provisions of this paragraph in any one or more of the departments under their respective jurisdictions until such time as, in the opinion of the Commissioners or any of said Chiefs, respectively, public safety can be adequately protected without such suspension.

(2) Any member of the Metropolitan Police force or of the Fire Department of the District of Columbia having reached the age of sixty years shall, in the discretion of the Commissioners, and any member of the White House Police force or of the United States Park Police force or of the United States Secret Service Division to whom sections 4–521 to 4–535 apply shall, in the discretion of the head of his department, be retired from the service and shall be entitled to receive an annuity as computed in paragraph (1).

(3) No annuity granted under paragraph (1) or (2) of this section shall exceed 70 per centum of the basic salary of such member at the time of retirement. (Sept. 1, 1916, ch. 433, § 12(h), as added Aug. 21, 1957, 71 Stat. 395, Pub. L. 85–157, § 3.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Construction

D.C. Code (1951) § 4–507, 39 Stat. 718, was not entirely consistent with § 4–508; section 4–507 was enacted in 1916 and § 4–508 in 1940; to the extent of the inconsistency, the later statute superseded the earlier. Spencer v. Bullock (1954, 216 F. 2d 54, 94 U.S. App. D.C. 388).

Right to retirement

Under former section 4–528 providing that, whenever police department member, who has served twenty-five or more years as member of department and has reached age of fifty-five, he may, at his election, be retired from service and shall be entitled to retirement compensation, plaintiff, who, at time he made his election, was qualified as to age and length of service requirements, was entitled to retirement even though he was thereafter suspended because of failure to explain source of some of his income. Spencer v. Bullock (1954, 216 F. 2d 54, 94 U.S. App. D.C. 388).

Fireman suspended for misconduct was still a "member" of fire department within statute providing that any member attaining age of 50 years and completing 20 years of service may state intention to retire and shall be entitled to annuity and firearm, who had not been discharged, had absolute right to elect retirement. E. J. Daigle v. Robert E. McLaughlin et al. (D.C.D.C. 1961, 193 F. Supp. 902).

Voluntary retirement

Under former section 4–508 providing that police department member, who has served twenty-five or more years as member and has reached age of fifty-five, may, at his election, be retired from service and shall be entitled to retirement compensation, words "may, at his election, be retired" are equivalent to "may elect to be retired", and to say that policeman could, at his election, be retired was not to say that after he had made his election commissioners could, at their election, refuse to retire him. Spencer v. Bullock (1954, 216 F. 2d 54, 94 U.S. App. D.C. 388).

§ 4–529. Involuntary separation from service.

If any member is injured or contracts a disease during his first five years of service in his department which, in the judgment of the Board of Police and Fire Surgeons, disables him from performing further duty in his department, and if the Police and Firemen's Retiring and Relief Board finds that such injury or disease was not incurred in the performance of duty in his department, such member shall, upon the approval of such finding by the head of his department, and without regard for the provisions of any other law or regulation, be separated from the service. (Sept. 1, 1916, ch. 433, § 12(i), as added Aug. 21, 1957, 71 Stat. 395, Pub. L. 85–157, § 3.)

CODIFICATION

Section is comprised of subsec. (i) of section 12 of act Sept. 1, 1916. Remainder of section 12 of act Sept. 1, 1916 is classified to sections 4–521 to 4–528 and 4–530 to 4–535.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

Reorg. Ord. No. 47, as amended June 21, 1962, transferred the authority to express a judgment as to the disability of a member from performing further duty in his department to the Police and Firemen's Retirement and Relief Board. This authority was formerly vested in the Board of Police and Fire Surgeons. This amendment also outlined certain duties of the Board of Police and Fire Surgeons. The amendment to the order is set out in the appendix to Title 1.

Board of Police and Fire Surgeons, reconstitution of, see note under section 4–124.

§ 4–530. Recovery from disability or restoration to earning capacity—Earning capacity defined—Suspension of annuity—Restoration to duty.

(1) If any annuitant retired under section 4–526 or 4–527, before reaching the age of fifty-five, recovers from his disability or is restored to an earning capacity fairly comparable to the current rate of compensation of the position occupied at the time of retirement, payment of the annuity shall cease (1) upon reemployment in the department from which he was retired, (2) one year from the date of the medical examination showing such recovery, or (3) one year from the date of determination that he is so restored, whichever is earliest. Earning capacity shall be deemed restored if in each of two succeeding calendar years the income of the annuitant from wages or self-employment or both shall be equal to at least 80 per centum of the current rate of compensation of the position occupied immediately prior to retirement. Nothing in this section shall preclude such member from having an annuity reestablished if his disability recurs, or when his earning capacity is less than 80 per centum of the rate of compensation of the position occupied immediately prior to retirement for any full year thereafter: Provided, That whenever any member is reinstated with his respective department it shall be at the same grade or rank held by the member at the time of his retirement.

(2) When an annuitant recovers prior to age fifty-five from a disabling condition for which he has been retired, and applies for reinstatement in the department from which he was retired, he shall be reinstated in the same or nearest equivalent grade and salary available as that received at the time of his separation from the service: Provided, That such applicant meets the current entrance requirements of such department as to character. (Sept. 1, 1916, ch. 433, § 12(j), as added Aug. 21, 1957, 71 Stat. 396, Pub. L. 85–157, § 3.)

CODIFICATION

Section is comprised of subsec. (j) of section 12 of act Sept. 1, 1916. Remainder of section 12 of act Sept. 1, 1916 is classified to sections 4–521 to 4–529 and 4–531 to 4–535.

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective on Oct. 1, 1956, see note under section 4–521.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Recovery from disability

It is apparent that Congress was of the view that it would be more equitable to place on a basis of equality all policemen and firemen who were retired on account of being unfit for duty due to specified causes, but it was not the intent to continue a pension where the pensioner has recovered from his disability. Dougherty v. United States ex rel. Roberts (1929, 30 F. 2d 471, 58 App. D.C. 308).

§ 4–531. Survivor annuities—Amount—To whom payable—Election of type of annuity.

(1) In case of the death of any member before retirement, or of any former member after retirement, leaving a widow or dependent widower, such widow or dependent widower shall be entitled to receive an annuity in the greater amount of (1) $1,800, or (2) 30 per centum of such member's basic salary at the time of death, or 30 per centum of the basis upon which the annuity, relief, or retirement compensation being received by such former member at the time of death was computed. Such annuity shall begin on the first day of the month in which the member or former member dies, and such annuity or any right thereto shall terminate upon the survivor's death or remarriage. If such member or former member is survived by a wife or husband, each surviving child shall be entitled to receive an annuity equal to the smallest of (1) 40 per centum of such member's basic salary at the time of death, or 40 per centum of the basis upon which the annuity, relief, or retirement compensation being received by such former member at the time of death was computed, divided by the number of children, (2) $600; or (3) $1,800 divided by the number of children. If such member or former member is not survived by a wife or husband, each surviving child shall be paid an annuity equal to the smallest of (1) 50 per centum of the member's basic salary at the time of death, or 50 per centum of the basis upon which the annuity, relief, or retirement compensation being received by such former member at the time of death was computed, divided by the number of children, (2) $720; or (3) $2,160 divided by the number of children. The annuity of any child under this section shall begin on the first day of the month in which the member or former member dies, and such annuity or any right thereto shall terminate upon (1) his attaining age 18, unless incapable of self-support, (2) his becoming capable of self-support after age 18, (3) his marriage, or (4) his death.

(2) Upon the death of the surviving wife or husband or termination of the annuity of a child, the annuity of any other child or children shall be recomputed and paid as though such wife, husband, or child had not survived the member or former member.

(3) Any member retiring under sections 4–526, 4–527, or 4–528, may, at the time of such retirement, elect to receive a reduced annuity in lieu of the full annuity, and designate in writing the person to receive an increased annuity after the retired annuitant's death: Provided, That the person so designated be the surviving spouse or child of the retiring member. Whenever such an election is made, the annuity of the designee shall be increased by an amount equal to the amount by which the annuity of such retiring member is reduced. The annuity payable to the member making such election shall be reduced by 10 per centum of the annuity computed as provided in section 4–526, 4–527, or 4–528. Such increase in annuity payable to the designee shall be reduced by 5 per centum for each full five years the designee is younger than the retiring member, but such total reduction shall not exceed 40 per centum. The increase in annuity payable to the designee pursuant to this paragraph shall be paid in addition to the annuity provided for such designee pursuant to paragraph (1) or (2) of this section and shall be subject to the same limitations as to duration and other conditions as the annuity paid pursuant to such paragraphs (1) and (2). (Sept. 1, 1916, ch. 433, § 12(k), as added Aug. 21, 1957, 71 Stat. 396, Pub. L. 85–157, § 3.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Amount of annuity

Where commissioners of District of Columbia admitted the death of member of metropolitan police force, in exercise of such discretion as they had in determining whether widow and minor children of decedent were entitled to relief from policemen and firemen's relief fund, there was nothing remaining to be done except determination of amount to which widow was entitled. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 890).

Beneficiaries

"Leave of absence without pay", given member of metropolitan police force of District of Columbia when he entered marine corps, temporarily excused him from performing acts of duty as a policeman, was in the nature of a furlough and did not terminate membership in police force or constitute a retirement therefrom so as to preclude benefit to his widow and minor children from policemen and firemen's relief fund following his death in line of duty in marine corps. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 890).

Where member of metropolitan police force of District of Columbia while on military leave, without pay, died in line of duty while serving as a marine corps officer, widow and minor children were within class of beneficiaries designated by former section 4–507 as entitled to relief from policemen and firemen's relief fund notwithstanding that death did not result from injury or disease contracted in line of duty as a policeman. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 887).

Construction

D.C. Code (1951) § 4–507, 39 Stat. 718, was not entirely consistent with § 4–508; section 4–507 was enacted in 1916 and § 4–508 in 1940; to the extent of the inconsistency, the later statute superseded the earlier. Spencer v. Bullock (1954, 216 F. 2d 54, 94 U.S. App. D.C. 388).

Former section 4–507 providing that in case of death of a member of the District of Columbia metropolitan police force, widow shall be entitled to receive relief from policemen and firemen's relief fund was remedial and entitled to liberality of construction. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 887).

The portion of former section 4–527 providing for benefits to widow and children of a deceased member of District of Columbia metropolitan police force was not required to be read in terms with preceding portion providing for retirement for disability sustained in line of duty so as to require a construction that the death must have been the result of injury or disease sustained or contracted in line of duty in order for benefits to be payable. Id.

Divorce

Where purported absolute divorce, obtained by member of police department and police relief association, was void for want of jurisdiction, purported marriage of the member with another was void ab initio, and his first wife whose marriage was terminated by his death was entitled to pension relief and death benefits payable to his widow. Fleischhauer v. Hazen (D.C.D.C. 1948, 80 F. Supp. 74).

Hearing

Where member of metropolitan police force, while on military leave and serving as an officer in the marine corps, died, application of widow for herself and minor children for relief from policemen and firemen's relief fund was properly made by a person legally within class designated by former section 4–507 and entitled as a consequence to a hearing on the merits by commissioners and claim could not summarily be rejected. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 887).

Judgment

Widow of deceased member of metropolitan police force of District of Columbia, in view of broad discretion granted commissioners, was not entitled to a money judgment against policemen and firemen's relief fund, following denial of pension by commissioners. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 887).

Nature of relief

Relief sought by widow and minor children of deceased member of metropolitan police force of District of Columbia from policemen and firemen's relief fund is not a gratuity since fund was created in part by contribution of decedent. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 890).

Review

The broad discretion given District of Columbia commissioners with respect to granting relief to widow and minor children of deceased member of metropolitan police force, which precludes review of commissioners' action properly taken, does not preclude judicial review of arbitrary denial without hearing on the merits of widow's application for relief. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 887).

Summary judgment

Where answer of commissioners of District of Columbia to action by widow of member of metropolitan police force who had died while in military service for mandatory injunction to place widow and minor children on pension roll of police department raised no material issue of fact, widow was entitled to summary judgment, but amount of pension was a matter of discretion for commissioners subject to possible review for abuse thereof. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 890).

Taxation

Although disability retired pay of policeman would be exempt from income tax because it is legally equivalent of workmen's compensation under provision of Internal Revenue Code, which exempts from income taxation "amounts received through accident or health insurance or under Workmen's Compensation Acts, as compensation for personal injuries and sickness," provision for pension for widows under Policemen and Firemen's Relief Fund did not make pension payments dependent on cause of husband's death and therefore widow's pension benefits constituted taxable income. Riley v. United States (1958, 156 F. Supp. 751, 140 Ct. Cl. 381).

§ 4–532. Funeral expenses.

The Commissioners are authorized to pay a sum not exceeding $300 in any one case to defray the funeral expenses of any deceased member dying while in the service thereof. (Sept. 1, 1916, ch. 433, § 12(l), as added Aug. 21, 1957, 71 Stat. 397, Pub. L. 85–157, § 3.)

CODIFICATION

Section is comprised of subsec. (l) of section 12 of act Sept. 1, 1916. Remainder of section 12 of act Sept. 1, 1916 is classified to sections 4–521 to 4–531 and 4–533 to 4–535.

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective Oct. 1, 1956, see note under section 4–521.

§ 4–533. Duties of Commissioners in retirement and annuity matters—Certification of physical condition of member—Written notice of hearing—Procedure at hearings—Subpena—Contempt proceedings.

The Commissioners shall consider all cases for the retirement of members and all applications for annuities under sections 4–521 to 4–535. In each case of retirement of a member the Commissioners shall certify in writing the physical condition of the member for whom retirement is sought. The Commissioners shall give written notice to any member under consideration by them for retirement to appear before them and to give evidence under oath. TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

Reorg. Ord. No. 31 was amended on June 21, 1962, delegating the authority set forth in sec. 4–529 to express a judgment as to the disability of a member, exclusively to the Police and Firemen's Retirement and Relief Board and also outlining the evidence to be considered by the Board in making findings of fact. The amendments to the order are set out in the appendix to Title 1.

Reorganization Order No. 3 of the Board of Commissioners dated Aug. 28, 1952, and effective Sept. 2, 1952, creating the Department of General Administration and the office of Director, transferred the functions and personnel of the Police and Firemen's Retiring and Relief Board to the Director of General Administration. Reorganization Order No. 31 of the Board of Commissioners dated Apr. 30, 1953, abolished the previously existing Police and Firemen's Retiring and Relief Board and created a new board to be known as the Police and Firemen's Retirement and Relief Board composed of the Personnel Officer, the Director of Public Health, the Corporation Counsel, the Chief of Police, and the Fire Chief. These orders were issued pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 5 of 1952. The orders and plan are set out in the Appendix to title 1, Administration.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Function of Board

Former section 4–510 providing that Police and Firemen's Retiring and Relief Board of District of Columbia shall consider all cases for retirement and relief of members of Police Department, granted authority to Board to determine whether applicant for retirement was within pertinent statutory provisions as to age and service, but did not grant Board discretion to grant or deny applications for reasons not specified in statute. Bullock v. Spencer (D.C.D.C. 1953, 112 F. Supp. 147).

Hearing

Where member of metropolitan police force, while on military leave and serving as an officer in the marine corps, died, application of widow for herself and minor children for relief from policemen and firemen's relief fund was properly made by a person legally within class designated by former section 4–507 and entitled as a consequence to a hearing on the merits by commissioners and claim could not summarily be rejected. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 887).

Review

"Commissioners of the District, vested by law with discretion to continue or discontinue plaintiff's pension, have resolved the case against him; and, in the absence of an abuse of that discretion, the court, in a proceeding for a writ of mandamus, is without authority to review the case, as in error, and interfere with the exercise of that discretion." Rudolph v. United States ex rel, Rock (1925, 6 F. 2d 487, 55 App. D.C. 362, 40 A.L.R. 1042, certiorari denied 46 S. Ct. 20, 269 U.S. 559, 70 L. Ed. 411).

The broad discretion given District of Columbia commissioners with respect to granting relief to widow and minor children of deceased member of metropolitan police force, which precludes review of commissioners' action properly taken, does not preclude judicial review of arbitrary denial without hearing on the merits of widow's application for relief. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 887).

Summary judgment

Where answer of commissioners of District of Columbia to action by widow of member of metropolitan police force who had died while in military service for mandatory injunction to place widow and minor children on pension roll of police department raised no material issue of fact, widow was entitled to summary judgment, but amount of pension was a matter of discretion for commissioners subject to possible review for abuse thereof. Thompson v. Young (D.C.D.C. 1946, 63 F. Supp. 890).

§ 4–534. Payment of annuities—Order of payment on death of annuitant—Waiver.

Such waiver may be revoked in writing at any time, but no payment of the annuity waived shall be made covering the period during which such waiver was in effect.

(3) In order to facilitate the settlement of the accounts of each person who, at the time of his death, was receiving or was entitled to receive, an annuity under sections 4–521 to 4–535, the Commissioners shall pay all unpaid annuity due such person at the time of death to the person or persons surviving at the date of death, in the following order of precedence, and such payment shall be a bar to recovery by any other person of amounts so paid:

First, to the widow or widower of such person;

Second, if there be no surviving spouse, to the child or children of such person, and descendants of deceased children, by representation;

Third, if there be none of the above, to the parents of such person or the survivor of them;

(4) "Basic workday" means an eight-hour day excluding rollcall time in the case of officers and members of the police forces specified in this Act; an eight-hour day in the case of officers and members of the District of Columbia Fire Department other than those in the Firefighting Division; and an average twelve-hour workday in the case of officers and members of the Firefighting Division.

(5) (A) "Off-duty days" means the nonwork days which, when combined with the basic workdays make up the administrative workweek.

(B) "Off-duty time" means the time in any basic workday outside the regular tour of an officer or member's duty.

(6) "Rollcall time" means that time, not exceeding one-half hour each workday which is in addition to each basic workday of the basic workweek for reading of rolls and other preparation for the daily tour of duty.

(7) "Rate of basic compensation" means the rate of compensation fixed by law for the position held by an officer or member exclusive of any deductions or additional compensation of any kind.

(8) "Premium pay" means compensation not considered as salary for the purpose of computing deductions for life insurance or for computing annuity payments under the Policemen and Firemen's Retirement and Disability Act.

(9) "Officer or member" means any employee in the Metropolitan Police force or the Fire Department of the District of Columbia, the United States Park Police force, or the White House Police force whose compensation is fixed and adjusted in accordance with the District of Columbia Police and Firemen's Salary Act of 1958, as amended.

(10) "Court duty" means attendance by an officer or member in his official capacity, excluding his appearance as a defendant, at court or at a quasi-judicial hearing.

(11) "Special event" or "special assignment" means any planned activity or function which the authorizing official designates in advance as such.

(b) The Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, the Secretary of the Interior, or the Secretary of the Treasury, as the case may be, is authorized and directed to establish a basic workweek of forty hours to be scheduled on five days for the respective police forces referred to in this Act: Provided, That rollcall time shall be without compensation or credit to the time of the basic workweek.

(c) All officially ordered or approved hours of work (except rollcall time) performed by officers and members in excess of the basic workwork in any administrative workweek, shall be considered as overtime work and shall be compensated for as provided by this Act.

(d) (1) Whenever the authorizing official designates an activity or function as a special event, or special assignment, all overtime work in connection with such special event, or special assignment, shall be compensated for by payment as follows:

(i) For each officer or member who receives compensation at a rate provided for in class 1 through class 4, in the District of Columbia Police and Firemen's Salary Act of 1958, as amended, the overtime work shall be compensated for by payment at one and one-half times the basic hourly rate of such officer or member and all such compensation shall be considered premium pay.

(ii) For each officer or member who receives compensation at a rate provided for classes 5 and above, in the District of Columbia Police and Firemen's Salary Act of 1958, as amended, the overtime work shall be compensated for by payment at the basic hourly rate of such officer or member's basic compensation (except as otherwise limited by subsection (h) (1) and (2) of this section) and all such compensation shall be considered premium pay.

(2) An officer or member may elect to receive compensatory time off as provided in subsection (f) of this section in lieu of payment for overtime work as provided in this subsection.

(e) Each officer or member who on any off-duty time performs court duty (excluding the first appearance in court on each case), or who performs work, as ordered or approved, on any off-duty day shall be compensated in accordance with subsection (d) of this section.

(f) Overtime work, other than that for which compensation by payment or time off is provided by subsections (d) and (e) of this section, shall be compensated for by compensatory time off at a rate of one hour of compensatory time for each hour of overtime work performed. Such compensatory time off shall be granted in accordance with the following provisions:

(1) The authorizing official, or such person as he may designate to act in his place, may, at the request of any officer or member, grant such officer or member compensatory time off from his scheduled tour of duty in lieu of payment for an equal amount of time spent for overtime work, including the first appearance for court duty in each case, if to grant such leave would not unreasonably diminish the number of officers or members available to maintain law, order, and public safety.

(2) Any officer or member who is eligible for compensatory time off and has made application for such compensatory time off, which application was denied, may within thirty days of such denial make application for compensatory pay at his basic hourly rate of basic compensation and all such compensation shall be considered premium pay.

(3) Such compensatory time off shall be used within such period of time as the authorizing official shall prescribe. If such officer or member fails to take such compensatory time off within the prescribed period, he shall thereby waive all right to such compensatory time off, unless his failure to take such compensatory time off is due to an official denial of his request for such compensatory time off. Such overtime work shall be credited for purposes of compensation in multiples of one hour, rounded to the nearest hour in case of fractions thereof. Thirty minutes or more of any such hour shall be credited as one hour.

(g)(1) Whenever any officer or member is authorized or directed to return to overtime duty at a time which is not an immediate continuation of his regular tour of duty, such officer or member shall receive credit for not less than two hours of overtime work for purposes of compensation under this Act.

(2) Overtime work resulting from the immediate continuation of an officer's or member's regular tour of duty which, excluding rollcall time, is thirty minutes or more in excess of the basic workday shall be credited for purposes of compensation under subsection (f) of this section.

(h)(1) No premium pay provided by this Act shall be paid to, and no compensatory time off is authorized for, any officer or member whose rate of basic compensation equals or exceeds the minimum scheduled rate of basic compensation provided for service step 1 in class 10 of the District of Columbia Police and Firemen's Salary Act of 1958, as amended.

(2) In the case of any officer or member whose rate of basic compensation is less than the minimum scheduled rate of basic compensation provided for service step 1 in class 10 of the Police and Firemen's Salary Act of 1958, as amended, such premium pay may be paid only to the extent that such payment would not cause his aggregate rate of compensation to exceed such minimum scheduled rate with respect to any pay period.

(3) Each authorizing official is authorized to promulgate such regulations and issue such orders as are necessary to carry out the intent and purpose of this Act, and to delegate to a designated agent or agents any of the functions vested in the authorizing official by this Act. § 5–103. Alley Dwelling Law—Declaration of legislative intent and public policy—Power of President to purchase, condemn, and acquire by gift, land and buildings to prevent alley dwellings, to replat and improve such property, and to make loans for improvements.

(a) It is hereby declared to be a matter of legislative determination that the conditions existing in the District of Columbia with respect to the use of buildings in alleys as dwellings for human habitation are injurious to the public health, safety, morals, and welfare; and it is hereby declared to be the policy of the United States to protect and promote the welfare of the inhabitants of the seat of the government by eliminating all such injurious conditions by employing all means necessary and appropriate for the purpose; and control by regulatory processes having proved inadequate and insufficient to remedy the evils, it is in the judgment of Congress necessary to acquire property in the District of Columbia by gift, purchase, or the use of eminent domain in order to effectuate the declared policy by the discontinuance of the use for human habitation in the District of Columbia of buildings in alleys, and thereby to eliminate the communities in the inhabited alleys in said District, and to provide decent, safe, adequate, and sanitary habitations for persons or families substantially equal in number to those who are to be deprived of habitation by reason of the demolition of buildings under the terms of this title, and to prevent an acute shortage of decent, safe, adequate, and sanitary dwellings for persons of low income, and to carry out the policy declared in the Act approved May 18, 1918, as amended, of caring for the alley population in the District of Columbia, and to that end it is necessary to enact the provisions hereinafter set forth.

(b) In order to remedy the conditions and evils hereinbefore recited and to carry out the policy hereinbefore declared, the President is hereby authorized and empowered to acquire by purchase, gift, condemnation, or otherwise—

(1) any land, building, or structures, or any interest therein, situated in or adjacent to any inhabited alley in the District of Columbia;

(2) any land, buildings, or structures, or any interest therein, within any square containing an inhabited alley, the acquisition of which is reasonably necessary for utilization, by replatting, improvement, or otherwise, pursuant to the provisions of sections 5–103 to 5–105 and 5–106 to

5–116, of any property acquired under subparagraph (1) of this subsection; and

(c) The authority is authorized and empowered to replat any land acquired under sections 5–103 to 5–105 and 5–106 to 5–116; to pave or repave any street or alley thereon; to construct sewers and watermains therein; to install street lights thereon; to demolish, move, or alter any buildings or structures situated thereon and erect such buildings or structures thereon as deemed advisable: Provided, however, That the same shall be done and performed in accordance with the laws and municipal regulations of the District of Columbia applicable thereto.

(d) The authority is hereby authorized and empowered to lease, rent, maintain, equip, manage, exchange, sell, or convey any such lands, buildings, or structures acquired under this title, for such amounts and upon such terms and conditions as it may determine: Provided, That sales of real property shall be made at public sale to the highest responsible bidder on terms satisfactory to the authority after advertising for three consecutive weeks in at least one daily newspaper of general circulation published in the District of Columbia: Provided, however, That the authority may, without advertising, sell such property to a quasi-public institution or agency not organized or operated for private profit at not less than the cost of such property to the authority, including improvements: And provided further, That if any such lands, buildings, or structures are required for the purposes of the United States or of the District of Columbia, they may be transferred thereto upon payment to the authority of the reasonable value thereof.

(e) The authority is authorized and empowered to aid in providing, equipping, managing, and maintaining houses and other buildings, improvements, and general community utilities on the property acquired under the provisions of this title, by loans, upon such terms and conditions as it may determine, to limited dividend corporations whose dividends do not exceed 6 per centum per annum, or to home owners to enable such corporations or home owners to acquire and develop sites on the property: Provided, however, That no loan shall be made at a lower rate of interest than 5 per centum per annum, and that all such loans shall be secured by reserving a first lien on the property involved for the benefit of the United States. (June 12, 1934, 48 Stat. 930, ch. 465, § 1; June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1186, ch. 691, § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Constitutionality

This chapter as amended, which provides for low rent housing projects and authorizes condemnation of land for that purpose, is valid and is not unconstitutional as authorizing condemnation of property for other than public uses. Keyes v. United States (1941, 119 F. 2d 444, 73 App. D. C. 273, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 70, 314 U. S. 636, 86 L. Ed. 510).

Property subject to condemnation

Under provision of this section the Authority had power to condemn sites for low cost housing projects in addition to and wholly independent of provisions of section 104 of this title relating to providing facilities to persons whose alley dwellings have been demolished. Keyes v. United States (1941, 119 F. 2d 444, 73 App. D. C. 273, certiorari denied 62 S. Ct. 70, 314 U.S. 636, 86 L. Ed. 510).

The fact that taking of owner's property for construction of dwellings for families and persons of low income had no relation to demolition of alley dwellings did not constitute defense to condemnation proceeding which was brought under authority of this section. Id.

Under this section, the property to be acquired need not itself be unsafe or unsanitary and is not required to be acquired only in connection with a project including the demolition of unsafe or unsanitary dwellings. Id.

§ 5–114. Authority considered a public housing agency—Federal financial assistance.

For the purposes of sections 5–112 to 5–116 the Authority shall be considered a public housing agency within the meaning of, and to carry out the purposes of, the United States Housing Act of 1937; and as such, the Authority is empowered to borrow money or accept contributions, grants or other financial assistance from the United States Housing Authority for or in aid of any housing project in the District of Columbia, in accordance with the United States Housing Act of 1937 to take over or lease or manage any such housing project or undertaking constructed, owned, or operated by the United States Housing Authority, and to those ends to comply with such conditions and enter into such mortgages, trust indentures, leases, or agreements as may be necessary, convenient, or desirable: Provided, That the tax exemption of the property of the Authority shall be deemed a contribution by the District of Columbia in accordance with the local contributions requirements of section 1410(a) and section 1411(f), of title 42, U.S. Code. It is the purpose and intent of sections 5–112 to 5–116 to authorize the Authority to do any and all things necessary to secure the financial aid of the United States Housing Authority in the undertaking, construction, maintenance, or operation in the District of Columbia of any housing project by the Authority. (June 12, 1934, ch. 465, title II, § 203, as added June 25, 1938, 52 Stat. 1188, ch. 691, § 5.)

(a) Dedicate, sell, convey, or lease any needed property to the Authority;

The commissioners of the District of Columbia are hereby authorized to lend to the Authority such amounts as may be necessary to enable the Authority to comply with the provisions of the United States Housing Act of 1937 and appropriations for such purpose are hereby authorized out of the revenues of the District of Columbia, and the Authority is empowered to accept such loans. Act Mar. 2, 1934, changed the "Office of National Parks, Buildings, and Reservations" to the "National Park Service" and provided that the "services of the Director and personnel of the Office of National Parks, Buildings, and Reservations shall be continued in the National Park Service under their present appointments."

hospital, seminary, academy, school, college, institute, dormitory, asylum, sanitarium, hall, place of amusement, office building, or store, or of any building three or more stories in height, or over thirty feet in height, other than a private dwelling, in which sleeping quarters for the accommodation of ten or more persons are provided above the first floor, to provide and cause to be erected and fixed to every such building one or more suitable fire escapes, connecting with each floor above the first floor by easily accessible and unobstructed openings, in such location and numbers and of such material, type, and construction as the Commissioners of the District of Columbia may determine; except that buildings designed and built as single-family dwellings, and converted to use as apartment-houses, in which not more than three families reside, including the owner or lessee, or rooming-houses in which sleeping accommodations are provided for less than ten persons above the first floor, not more than three stories nor more than forty feet in height, and having a total floor area not more than three thousand square feet above the first floor, shall be exempted from the provisions of this section; and except that buildings used solely as apartment-houses, not more than three stories nor more than forty feet in height, so arranged that not more than five apartments per floor open directly, without an intervening hall or corridor, on a fire-resistive stairway, three feet or more in width, enclosed with masonry walls in which fire-resistive doors are provided at all openings, shall be exempted from the provisions of this section. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Application of act

This chapter is in the nature of a police regulation and is intended to apply to both those buildings to be erected and those in existence and used for purposes named in this act. Hill v. Raymond (1936, 81 F. 2d 278, 65 App. D. C. 144).

Indictment sufficiency

Where manslaughter indictment charged that, by reason of failure of landlord, its vice president, and tenant, who operated rooming house, to provide a dumb-waiter shaft of fire-resistive materials, and a front fire escape, and by reason of their acts in permitting shaftway to be used as a trash receptacle a fire started and a named individual received fatal burns, the indictment was insufficient to charge that absence of fire escape contributed to the death. United States v. Interstate Properties (1946, 153 F. 2d 469, 80 U.S. App. D.C. 392).

Where manslaughter indictment charged landlord, its vice president, and tenant, who operated rooming house, with negligently failing to have a dumb-waiter shaft constructed of fire-resistive materials and negligently failing to provide a front fire escape, and that defendants were under duty to roomers to comply with all orders, rules, regulations, and ordinances relating to use, occupancy and safety of buildings, and particularly building code and elevator code of District of Columbia, and that regulations required dumb-waiter shaft to be of fire-resistive construction, the indictment did not sufficiently plead existence of applicable regulations requiring use of fire-resistive materials in dumb-waiter shafts and installation of front fire escape. Id.

Kind of fire escape

Negligence

Failure of owner to comply with statute is not conclusive evidence of negligence, but is question for jury. Hill v. Raymond (1936, 81 F. 2d 278, 65 App. D. C. 144).

Use of stairway by tenant when he is aware that owner has not complied with the statute is not contributory negligence as a matter of law but is a question of fact for the jury to determine. Id.

Regulations under § 5–317

Where, after institution of landlord's action for possession based on allegedly unlawful use of leased premises, rigid provisions of this section were relaxed and after entry of judgment for landlord, District Commissioners modified this section so that use complained of, which was the very use contemplated under original letting, was no longer unlawful, case was not "moot" and tenant was entitled on appeal to protection of regulations under § 5–317 and to reversal of judgment for landlord. Cosby v. Shoemaker (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 27).

Voluntary erection by tenant

Tenant cannot voluntarily erect fire escapes and recover therefor from the landlord. Goldwyn Distributing Corp. v. Carroll (1922, 276 F. 63, 51 App. D. C. 75).

§ 5–302. Fire escapes—Stairways—Hall and stair lights required on certain structures.

It shall be the duty of the owner entitled to the beneficial use, rental, or control of any building already erected, or which may hereafter be erected, in which ten or more persons are employed at the same time in any of the stories above the second story, except three-story buildings used exclusively as stores or for office purposes, and having at least two stairways from the ground floor each three or more feet wide and separated from each other by a distance of at least thirty feet, from one of which stairways shall be easy access to the roof, to provide and cause to be erected and affixed thereto a sufficient number of the aforesaid fire escapes, the location and number of the same to be determined by the commissioners, and to keep the hallways and stairways in every such building as is used and occupied at night properly lighted, to the satisfaction of the commissioners, from sunset to sunrise. (Mar. 19, 1906, 34 Stat. 70, ch. 957, § 2; Mar. 2, 1907, 34 Stat. 1247, ch. 2566; June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 843, ch. 388.)

AMENDMENTS

1934—Act June 4, 1934, omitted "said" before the first "Commissioners," and "of the District of Columbia" following the second "Commissioners."

1907—Act Mar. 2, 1907, added exception of stores and office buildings.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Lights for buildings erected prior to act

Requirement as to lights in apartment-houses applies to buildings erected prior to passage of act. Contributory negligence of tenant with knowledge of condition. Hill v. Raymond (1936, 81 F. 2d 278, 65 App. D. C. 144).

§ 5–303. When ten or more persons employed, fire escapes and other safety measures required.

It shall be the duty of the owner entitled to the beneficial use, rental, or control of any building used or intended to be used as set forth in section 5–301 where fire escapes are required, or any building in which 10 or more persons are employed, as set forth in section 5–302, where fire escapes are required, also to provide, install, and maintain therein proper and sufficient guide signs, guide lights, exit lights, hall and stairway lights, standpipes, fire extinguishers, and alarm gongs and striking stations in such locations and numbers and of such type and character as the commissioners may determine; except that in buildings less than six stories in height, standpipes will not be required when fire extinguishers are installed in such numbers and of such type and character as the Commissioners may determine. (Mar. 19, 1906, 34 Stat. 70, ch. 957, § 3; Mar. 2, 1907, 34 Stat. 1247, ch. 2566; June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 843, ch. 388.)

AMENDMENT

1934—Act June 4, 1934, added the requirement of standpipes in buildings where fire escapes are required, also alarm gongs and striking stations, except that standpipes will not be required where fire extinguishers are installed.

CROSS REFERENCE

Voluntary erection by tenant, see § 5–301 and notes.

§ 5–304. Alterations may be required to locate fire escapes or add additional ones.

The Commissioners are hereby authorized and directed to issue such orders and to adopt and enforce such regulations not inconsistent with law as may be necessary to accomplish the purposes and carry into effect the provisions of sections 5–301 to 5–312, and to require any alterations or changes that may become necessary in buildings now or hereafter erected, in order properly to locate or relocate fire escapes, or to afford access to fire escapes, and to require any changes or alterations in any building that may be necessary in order to provide for the erection of additional fire escapes, or for the installation of other appliances required by sections 5–301 to 5–312, when in the judgment of the commissioners such additional fire escapes or appliances are necessary. (Mar. 19, 1906, 34 Stat. 71, ch. 957, § 4; June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 844, ch. 388.)

AMENDMENT

1934—Act June 4, 1934, authorized Commissioners to issue orders and regulations as necessary to carry into effect existing provisions of sections 5–301 to 5–312, and added the provisions for the installation of other appliances required by sections 5–301 to 5–312.

CROSS REFERENCE

Rules and regulations generally, see §§ 1–226, 1–228, 5–412, and notes.

§ 5–305. Elevator and stairway extending to basement to terminate in fireproof compartment—Certain other safety requirements—Office buildings—Certain exemptions, safety devices.

Each elevator shaft and stairway extending to the basement of the buildings heretofore mentioned shall terminate in a fireproof compartment or enclosure separating the elevator shaft and stairs from other parts of the basement, and no opening shall be made or maintained in such compartment or enclosure unless the same be provided with fireproof doors.

Such buildings as are used solely for office buildings above the second floor and defined under the building regulations of the District of Columbia to be fireproof are exempted from the requirements of sections 5–301 to 5–312 as to fire escapes, guide signs, and alarm gongs; but when the face of a wall of any such fireproof building is within thirty feet of a combustible building or structure, or when the side or sides, front or rear of such building or structure faces within thirty feet of a combustible building, or contains a light or air shaft or similar recess within thirty feet of a combustible building, then each and every window or opening in said wall or walls shall be protected from fire by automatic iron shutters or wire glass in fireproof sash and frames. (Mar. 19, 1906, 34 Stat. 71, ch. 957, § 5; Mar. 2, 1907, 34 Stat. 1247, ch. 2566; June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 844, ch. 388.)

AMENDMENTS

1934—Act June 4, 1934, reenacted section without change.

1907—Act Mar. 2, 1907, added the second paragraph.

CROSS REFERENCE

General powers of Commissioners concerning regulation of elevators, see § 1–229.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Indictment, sufficiency

Manslaughter indictment charging violations of elevator regulations should point out with particularity what regulations were violated and should plead facts concerning physical situation to show the regulations relied on where correctly applicable to the situation. United States v. Interstate Properties (1946, 153 F. 2d 469, 80 U.S. App. D.C. 392).

Where manslaughter indictment charged landlord, its vice president, and tenant, who operated rooming house, with negligently failing to have a dumb-waiter shaft constructed of fire-resistive materials and negligently failing to provide a front fire escape, and that defendants were under duty to roomers to comply with all orders, rules, regulations, and ordinances relating to use, occupancy and safety of buildings, and particularly building code and elevator code of District of Columbia, and that regulations required dumb-waiter shaft to be of fire-resistive construction, the indictment did not sufficiently plead existence of applicable regulations requiring use of fire-resistive materials in dumb-waiter shafts and installation of front fire escape. Id.

§ 5–306. Obstruction of halls and stairways prohibited.

It shall be unlawful to obstruct any hall, passageway, corridor, or stairway in any building enumerated in sections 5–301 to 5–312 with baggage, trunks, furniture, cans, or with any other thing whatsoever. (Mar. 19, 1906, 34 Stat. 71, ch. 957, § 6; June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 844, ch. 388.)

AMENDMENT

1934—Act June 4, 1934, substituted "enumerated" for "mentioned."

§ 5–307. Fire escapes and approaches not to be obstructed.

No door or window leading to any fire escape shall be covered or obstructed by any fixed grating or barrier, and no person shall at any time place any encumbrance or obstacle upon any fire escape or upon any platform, ladder, or stairway leading to or from any fire escape. (Mar. 19, 1906, 34 Stat. 71, ch. 957, § 7; June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 844, ch. 388.)

AMENDMENT

1934—Act June 4, 1934, reenacted section without change.

§ 5–308. Penalty for violations.

Any person failing or neglecting to provide fire escapes, guide signs, guide lights, exit lights, hall and stairway lights, standpipes, fire extinguishers, alarm gongs, and striking stations, or other appliances required by sections 5–301 to 5–312 after notice from the Commissioners so to do, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $100 and shall be punished by a further fine of $5.00 for each day that he fails to comply with such notice. Any person violating any other provision of sections 5–301 to 5–312 or regulations promulgated hereunder shall be punished, upon conviction thereof, by a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $100 for each offense. (Mar. 19, 1906, 34 Stat. 71, ch. 957, § 8; June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 845, ch. 388.)

CODIFICATION

Former provisions of section 8 of act Mar. 19, 1906, were omitted by act June 4, 1934, which amended generally the entire law, but a similar provision was enacted in act July 1, 1932, 47 Stat. 550, ch. 366, par. 2. This section appears as § 47–2302. For other licensing provisions, see §§ 47–2344, 47–2345.

AMENDMENT

1934—Act June 4, 1934, added provisions as to guide lights, exit lights, hall and stairway lights, standpipes, and striking stations, and the provision as to regulations promulgated under sections 5–301 to 5–312.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Motion to quash

Whether premises on which violations of rooming house regulations allegedly occurred were within the operation of such regulations though licensed as an apartment house could not be determined on motion to quash information. District of Columbia v. Basiliko (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 407).

Premises included

That premises were licensed as an apartment house did not preclude prosecution for violations of rooming house regulations which allegedly occurred on such premises. District of Columbia v. Basiliko (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 44 A. 2d 407).

§ 5–309. Notice, what to contain.

The notice from the Commissioners requiring the erection of fire escapes and other appliances enumerated in sections 5–301 to 5–312 shall specify the character and number of fire escapes or other appliances to be provided, the location of the same, and the time within which said fire escapes or other appliances shall be provided, and in no case shall more than ninety days be allowed for compliance with said notice unless the Commissioners shall, in their discretion, deem it necessary to extend their time. (Mar. 19, 1906, 34 Stat. 71, ch. 957, § 9; June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 845, ch. 388.)

the commissioners to the contractor for doing the work. (Mar. 19, 1906, 34 Stat. 71, ch. 957, § 10; Mar. 2, 1907, 34 Stat. 1248, ch. 2566, § 1; June 4, 1934, 48 Stat. 845, ch. 388; June 11, 1960, 74 Stat. 203, Pub. L. 86–507, § 1(42).)

§ 5–313. Upon failure of owner to correct condition violative of law, commissioner may do so—Cost of correction, lien on property—Owner not relieved from criminal responsibility.

Whenever the owner of any real property in the District of Columbia shall fail or refuse, after the service of reasonable notice in the manner provided in section 5–315 to correct any condition which exists on or has arisen from such property in violation of law or of any regulation made by authority of law, with the correction of which condition said owner is by law or by said regulation chargeable, or to show cause, sufficient in the judgment of the commissioners of said District, why he should not be required to correct such condition, then, and in that instance, the commissioners of the District of Columbia may, and they are authorized to, cause such condition to be corrected; assess the cost of correcting such condition and all expenses incident thereto (including the cost of publication, if any, herein provided for) as a tax against the property on which such condition existed or from which such condition arose, as the case may be; and carry such tax on the regular tax rolls of the District, and collect such tax in the same manner as general taxes in said District are collected: Provided, That the correction of any condition aforesaid by said commissioners under authority of this section shall not relieve the owner of the property on which such condition existed, or from which such condition arose, from criminal prosecution and punishment for having caused or allowed such unlawful condition to arise or for having failed or refused to correct the same. (Apr. 14, 1906, 34 Stat. 114, ch. 1626, § 1.)

§ 5–314. Authorities permitted to enter property to inspect and correct wrongful conditions—Unlawful to interfere with inspection or correction—Penalty.

Any person who shall hinder, interfere with, or prevent any inspection or work authorized by sections 5–313 to 5–315 shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 or by imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (Apr. 14, 1906, 34 Stat. 115, ch. 1626, § 2.)

§ 5–317. Means of egress and fire safety appliances required in certain public buildings.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia, for protection against fire, are hereby authorized, after public hearing, to promulgate regulations to require the owner entitled to the beneficial use, rental, or control of any building now existing or hereafter erected, other than a private dwelling, which is three or more stories or over thirty feet in height, or is used as a hospital, school, asylum, sanitarium, convalescent home, or for similar use, or as a place of amusement, public assembly, restaurant, or for similar use, to provide, install and maintain sufficient and suitable means of egress, guide signs, guide lights, exit lights, hall and stairway lights, standpipes, fire extinguishers, alarm gongs and striking stations, and such other appliances as the Commissioners may deem necessary for such buildings. Section 8 of act Dec. 24, 1942, provided that: "All Acts, parts of Acts, and regulations promulgated thereunder inconsistent with this Act [sections 5–317 to 5–323] are hereby repealed."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Constitutionality

Fire prevention provisions of the District of Columbia Building Code were not unconstitutional on theory of vagueness even though drawn in technical language which could not be understood by laymen, where such language was understandable by persons with knowledge in the field. R. L. Jones et al. v. District of Columbia; The Ellen Real Estate Corp. et al. v. District of Columbia (1963, 323 F. 2d 306, 116 U.S. App. D.C. 301).

Provisions of District of Columbia Building Code, like municipal ordinances, were protected by a presumption of constitutionality, and they could not be declared unconstitutional unless clearly arbitrary. Id.

Provisions of District of Columbia Building Code relative to fire safety were not unconstitutional merely because they granted discretion to an administrative officer to grant variances in limited cases. Id.

Facts as basis for regulation

Facts developed at public hearings held before promulgation of fire regulations under the District of Columbia Building Code did not necessarily have to support each and every provision of the regulations which resulted therefrom. R. L. Jones et al. v. District of Columbia; The Ellen Real Estate Corp. et al. v. District of Columbia (1963, 323 F. 2d 306, 116 U.S. App. D.C. 301).

Notice, publication of

Although act authorizing commissioners of the District of Columbia to promulgate regulations required a public hearing prior to promulgation of regulations, personal notice to property owners of public hearing was not necessary, and notice requirement was met by publication of notice of hearings in three newspapers of general circulation and by mailing of notice to 300 organizations which had requested notification. R. L. Jones et al. v. District of Columbia; The Ellen Real Estate Corp. et al. v. District of Columbia (1963, 323 F. 2d 306, 116 U.S. App. D.C. 301).

Purpose of law

Purpose of the Means of Egress Act was to protect the public, particularly that portion of the public living in or frequenting buildings covered by the act. R. L. Jones et al. v. District of Columbia; The Ellen Real Estate Corp. et al. v. District of Columbia (1963, 323 F. 2d 306, 116 U.S. App. D.C. 301).

Regulation; retroactive effect

Where, after institution of landlord's action for possession based on allegedly unlawful use of leased premises, rigid provisions of § 5–301 were relaxed and, after entry of judgment for landlord, District Commissioners modified said § 5–301 so that use complained of, which was the very use contemplated under original letting, was no longer unlawful, case was not "moot" and tenant was entitled on appeal to protection of regulations under this section and to reversal of judgment for landlord. Cosby v. Shoemaker (D. C. Mun. App. 1943, 34 A. 2d 27).

Regulations, validity of Fire regulations promulgated by Commissioners of District of Columbia requiring the correction of deficiencies in existing rooming houses were not so burdensome as to make compliance unreasonably onerous or constitute a confiscation of property, especially where provision was made for an owner to apply to Board of Appeals and Review for the grant of a variance if compliance was deemed by owner to be unduly burdensome. R. L. Jones et al., The Ellen Real Estate Corp. et al. v. The District of Columbia (D.C.D.C. 1963, 212 F. Supp. 438).

Fire regulations promulgated by Commissioners of District of Columbia were not invalid as unenforceable for uncertainty and ambiguity where technical language was intrinsically necessary in order to carry out legislative purpose and where language used was reasonably understandable to one having knowledge in the field. Id.

Fire regulations promulgated by Commissioners of District of Columbia were not invalid on ground that appropriate public hearing had not been held where notice had been given and hearing had been held similar in character and purpose to hearings held by congressional committees, even though findings could not be made from the transcript to support each regulation adopted following the hearing. Id.

§ 5–318. Same—Occupancy prohibited after notice of noncompliance.

It shall be unlawful for any person to occupy any building thirty days after notice in writing from the Commissioners of the District of Columbia or their designated agents that the owner entitled to the beneficial use, rental, or control of any building has failed or neglected to comply with the notice provided for by section 5–319 to provide any such building with means of egress or appliances required by the regulations promulgated by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia under section 5–317. (Dec. 24, 1942, 56 Stat. 1083, ch. 818, § 2.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

See section 9 of act Dec. 24, 1942, set out as a note under section 5–317.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Certificate of occupancy

Temporary certificates of occupancy issued to landlords did not relieve them from obtaining new certificates of occupancy under subsequently promulgated District of Columbia Building Code. R. L. Jones et al. v. District of Columbia; the Ellen Real Estate Corp. et al. v. District of Columbia (1963, 323 F. 2d 306, 116 U.S. App. D.C. 301).

§ 5–319. Same—Notice to owner requiring installation—Time for compliance.

The notice from the Commissioners requiring the erection of means of egress and other appliances required by the regulations promulgated under section 5–317 shall specify the character and number of means of egress or other appliances to be provided, the location of the same, and the time within which said means of egress or other appliances shall be provided, and in no case shall more than ninety days be allowed for compliance with said notice unless the Commissioners shall, in their discretion, deem it necessary to extend their time. (Dec. 24, 1942, 56 Stat. 1084, ch. 818, § 3.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

§ 5–320. Same—Penalty for noncompliance.

Any person violating any other provision of sections 5–317 to 5–323 or regulations promulgated hereunder shall be punished, upon conviction thereof, by a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $100 per day for each and every day such violation exists. Any notice to a corporation shall, for the purposes of sections 5–317 to 5–323, be deemed to have been served on such corporation if served on the president, secretary, treasurer, general manager, or any principal officer of such corporation in the manner hereinbefore provided for the services of notices on natural persons holding property in their own right, or if no such officer can be found in said District by reasonable search, then by publication for ten consecutive days in a daily newspaper published in the District of Columbia, and notice to a foreign corporation shall, for the purposes of sections 5–317 to 5–323, be deemed to have been served if served on any agent of such corporation personally or if left with any person of suitable age and discretion residing at the usual residence or employed at the usual place of business of such agent in the District of Columbia, or if published on ten consecutive days in a daily newspaper published in the District of Columbia. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Legislative authority

Zoning regulations must bear substantial relation to public health, safety, morals, or general welfare. Dorsey v. Gotwals (1932, 57 F. 2d 407, 61 App. D. C. 41).

Review by court

Court had no right to substitute its judgment for that of District of Columbia Zoning Commission, and where nothing appeared to indicate that Commission's action in fixing minimum widths and sizes of residential lots was unreasonable or arbitrary, court could not enjoin enforcement of regulation. Salyer v. McLaughlin et al. (1957, 240 F. 2d 891, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 29).

§ 5–402. Height of nonfireproof business buildings.

On a residence street, avenue, or highway no building shall be erected, altered, or raised in any manner so as to be over ninety feet in height at the highest part of the roof or parapet, nor shall the highest part of the roof or parapet exceed in height the width of the street, avenue, or highway upon which it abuts, diminished by ten feet, except on a street, avenue, or highway sixty to sixty-five feet wide, where a height of sixty feet may be allowed; and on a street, avenue, or highway sixty feet wide or less, where a height equal to the width of the street may be allowed: Provided, That any church, the construction of which had been undertaken but not completed prior to June 1, 1910, shall be exempted from the limitations of this paragraph, and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall cause to be issued a permit for the construction of any such church to a height of ninety-five feet above the level of the adjacent curb.

The height of a building on a corner lot will be determined by the width of the wider street.

On streets less than ninety feet wide where building lines have been established and recorded in the office of the surveyor of the District, and so as to prevent the lawful erection of a building in advance of said line, the width of the street, in so far as it controls the height of buildings under sections 5–401 to 5–409, shall be held to be the distance between said building lines.

On blocks immediately adjacent to public buildings or to the side of any public building for which plans have been prepared and money appropriated at the time of the application for the permit to construct said building, the maximum height shall be regulated by a schedule adopted by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

Buildings erected after June 1, 1910, to front or abut on the plaza in front of the new Union Station provided for by Act of Congress approved February 28, 1903, shall be fireproof and shall not be of a greater height than eighty feet.

Spires, towers, domes, minarets, pinnacles, penthouses over elevator shafts, ventilation shafts, chimneys, smokestacks, and fire sprinkler tanks may be erected to a greater height than any limit prescribed in sections 5–401 to 5–409 when and as the same may be approved by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia: Provided, however, That such structures when above such limit of height shall be fireproof, and no floor or compartment thereof shall be constructed or used for human occupancy above the top story of the building upon which such structures are placed: And provided, That penthouses, ventilation shafts, and tanks shall be set back from the exterior walls distances equal to their respective heights above the adjacent roof: And provided further, That a building be permitted to be erected to a height not to exceed one hundred and thirty feet on lots 15, 804, and 805, square 322, located on the southeast corner of Twelfth and E Streets Northwest, said building to conform in height and to be used as an addition to the hotel building located to the east thereof on lot 18, square 322: And further provided, That the building to be erected on lots 813, 814, and 820, in square 254, located on the southeast corner of Fourteenth and F Streets Northwest, be permitted to be erected to a height not to exceed one hundred and forty feet above the F Street curb: And provided further, That the building to be erected on property known as the Dean Tract, comprising nine and one-fourth acres, bounded on the west by Connecticut Avenue and Columbia Road, on the south by Florida Avenue, on the east by Nineteenth Street, and on the north by a property line running east and west five hundred and sixty-four feet in length, said building to cover an area not exceeding fourteen thousand square feet and to be located on said property not less than forty feet distant from the north property line, not less than three hundred and twenty feet distant from the Connecticut Avenue property line, not less than one hundred and sixty feet distant from the Nineteenth Street property line, and not less than three hundred and sixty feet distant from the Florida Avenue line, measured at the point on the Florida Avenue boundary where the center line of Twentieth Street meets said boundary, be permitted to be erected to a height not to exceed one hundred and eighty feet above the level of the existing grade at the center of the location above described: And provided further, That the design of said building and the layout of said ground be subject to approval by the Fine Arts Commission and the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, both of the District of Columbia: And further provided, That the building to be erected by the Georgetown University for a hospital as a part of the Georgetown University Medical School on parcels 28/31, 28/36 and 28/37 located on the south side of Reservoir Road Northwest in the District of Columbia, approximately opposite Thirty-ninth Street, plans for which building are on file in the office of the Inspector of Buildings of the District of Columbia, be permitted to be erected to a height of not to exceed one hundred and ten feet above the finished grade of the land, as shown on said plans, at the middle of the front of the building. (June 1, 1910, 36 Stat. 452, ch. 263, § 5; Dec. 30, 1910, 36 Stat. 891, ch. 8; June 7, 1924, 43 Stat. 647, ch. 340; Feb. 21, 1925, 43 Stat. 961, ch. 289; May 16, 1926, 44 Stat. 298, ch. 150; Apr. 29, 1930, 46 Stat. 258, ch. 220; Mar. 24, 1945, 59 Stat. 38, ch. 37; Sept. 22, 1961, 75 Stat. 583, Pub. L. 87–281, § 1.)

AMENDMENTS

1961—Act Sept. 22, 1961, 75 Stat. 583, Pub. L. 87–281, § 1, amended the third paragraph of the section by striking out the words, "over eight stories in height or".

1930—Act Apr. 29, 1930, added the fifth and sixth provisos.

If the building has more than one front, the height shall be measured from the elevation of the sidewalk opposite the middle of the front that will permit of the greater height. No parapet walls shall extend above the limit of height except on nonfireproof dwellings where a parapet wall or balustrade of a height not exceeding four feet will be permitted above the limit of height of building permitted under sections 5–401 to 5–409. The corporation counsel of the District of Columbia may maintain an action in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in the name of the District of Columbia, to abate and perpetually enjoin such nuisance. § 5–410. Applications for erection or alteration of buildings fronting on certain government property to be submitted to Commission of Fine Arts.

In view of the provisions of the Constitution respecting the establishment of the seat of the national government, the duties it imposed upon Congress in connection therewith, and the solicitude shown and the efforts exerted by President Washington in the planning and development of the capital city, it is declared that such development should proceed along the lines of good order, good taste, and with due regard to the public interests involved, and a reasonable degree of control should be exercised over the architecture of private or semipublic buildings adjacent to public buildings and grounds of major importance. To this end, when application is made for permit for the erection or alteration of any building, any portion of which is to front or abut upon the grounds of the Capitol, the grounds of the White House, the portion of Pennsylvania Avenue extending from the Capitol to the White House, Lafayette Park, Rock Creek Park, the Zoological Park, the Rock Creek and Potomac Parkway, Potomac Park, The Mall Park System and public buildings adjacent thereto, or abutting upon any street bordering any of said grounds or parks, the plans therefor, so far as they relate to height and appearance, color, and texture of the materials of exterior construction, shall be submitted by the commissioners of the District of Columbia to the Commission of Fine Arts; and the said commission shall report promptly to said commissioners its recommendations, including such changes, if any, as in its judgment are necessary to prevent reasonably avoidable impairment of the public values belonging to such public building or park; and said commissioners shall take such action as shall, in their judgment, effect reasonable compliance with such recommendation: Provided, That if the said Commission of Fine Arts fails to report its approval or disapproval of such plans within thirty days, its approval thereof shall be assumed and a permit may be issued. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Adjacent

Under statute giving Commission of Fine Arts duty of approving alteration of buildings adjacent to public buildings of major importance and when part of property fronts or abuts on portion of Pennsylvania Avenue extending from Capitol to White House, property located on Thirteenth Street Northwest was "adjacent" and did "front" on Pennsylvania Avenue within contemplation of statute. Stanley Company of America Inc., et al. v. *R. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Basis of decisions

Zoning Commissioners of District of Columbia are entitled to consider entire situation in a particular locality and need not close their eyes to such factors as adequacy and good condition of existing buildings for uses to which they are presently being put, need of community for those uses, style and attractiveness of existing buildings and the like, since all of that is relevant to preservation of values of surrounding property. Lewis et al. v. District of Columbia et al. (1951, 190 F. 2d 25, 89 U.S. App. D.C. 72).

Refusal of Zoning Commission of District of Columbia to change classification of plaintiff's property from residential to commercial based, in part, on determination of eligibility of plaintiff's properties for limited commercial use and on fact that although classification of plaintiff's properties was residential certain of them on proper permit could lawfully be used for and by, educational or philanthropic institutions, trade associations, and professional persons, was not invalid as such uses are proper matters for consideration. Id.

Zoning Commission of District of Columbia was entitled to take into consideration in refusing plaintiff's request that their premises be changed in classification from residential to commercial, fact that existing residential structures on plaintiff's premises included at least one substantial apartment house, that they were well occupied, and that structures formed a useful part of housing accommodations of community. Id.

Constitutionality

The action of zoning authorities, as of other administrative offices, is not to be declared unconstitutional unless court is convinced that it is clearly arbitrary and unreasonable, having no substantial relation to general welfare, and if question is fairly debatable, zoning stands. Lewis et al. v. District of Columbia et al. (1951, 190 F. 2d 25, 89 U.S. App. D.C. 72).

Act not deprivation of private property in violation of fifth amendment. Larrabee v. Bell (1926, 10 F. 2d 986, 56 App. D.C. 121).

Court review not appeal on merits

A suit to declare a zoning order void is not an appeal on the merits of the issues presented to the Zoning Commission of the District of Columbia at its hearing. Lewis et al. v. District of Columbia et al. (1951, 190 F. 2d 25, 89 U.S. App. D.C. 72).

Hearings of commission

Hearings of Zoning Commission; legality; conclusiveness. Garrity v. District of Columbia (1936, 86 F. 2d 207, 66 App. D.C. 256). See, also, Hazen v. Hawley (1936, 86 F. 2d 217, 66 App. D. C. 266, certiorari denied 57 S. Ct. 315, 299 U. S. 613, 81 L. Ed. 452).

New evidence

Where determination of Zoning Commission of District of Columbia that classification of plaintiff's property should not be changed from residential to commercial was made in year 1947, if after reasonable time elapsed a new application was made to Zoning Commission based on a showing of intervening occurrences and changed conditions, Commission would not be entitled to regard its previous action and the affirmance of its action by the court as conclusive against the plaintiffs. Lewis et al v. District of Columbia et al. (1951, 190 F. 2d 25, 89 U.S. App. D.C. 72).

Reasonableness

Zoning Commission of District of Columbia did not exceed its authority when it took into consideration fact that many properties in commercial areas neighboring plaintiff's premises were not yet used for business purposes, in refusing to change classification of plaintiff's property from residential to commercial. Lewis et al. v. District of Columbia et al. (1951, 190 F. 2d 25, 89 U.S. App. D.C. 72).

Where property situated across a street from that of plaintiff's was a vacant triangle of some two and one-half acres bounded by busy streets on which a residential development could not logically be expected and it appeared that location and characteristics of the two and one-half acre segment were such that its reclassification from residential to commercial would expose neighboring residential areas to a minimum of commercial encroachment, and where plaintiff's property was not similarly situated, differentiaton by Zoning Commission of District of Columbia in refusing to change classification of plaintiff's property from residential to commercial was not discriminatory so as to render Commission's action arbitrary per se. Id.

In the absence of evidence of unreasonableness in zoning regulations, the court will not presume arbitrariness. Golf, Inc. v. District of Columbia (1934, 67 F. 2d 575, 62 App. D.C. 309).

There is a presumption that the regulations and acts of the Zoning Commission of the District of Columbia are reasonable. Hagans v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 97 A. 2d 922).

Regulations not contracts

Zoning regulations are not contracts by the Government and may be modified by Congress. Reichelderfer v. Quinn (1932, 53 S. Ct. 177, 287 U. S. 315, 77 L. Ed. 331, 83 A. L. R. 1429).

Remedy after refusal of permit

Remedy for refusal to issue permit to erect gasoline station is by appeal first, not mandamus. United States ex rel. Connor v. District of Columbia (1933, 61 F. 2d 1015, 61 App. D. C. 288).

Review by court

In reviewing exercise of discretion given to Zoning Commission for District of Columbia for establishment of a comprehensive zoning plan, it is not function of the Court to substitute its judgment for that of the Commission even for reasons which appear most persuasive. Lewis et al. v. District of Columbia et al. (1951, 190 F. 2d 25, 89 U.S. App. D.C. 72).

§ 5–413. Zoning regulations to be made by Zoning Commission—Uniformity.

To promote the health, safety, morals, convenience, order, prosperity, or general welfare of the District of Columbia and its planning and orderly development as the national capital, the Zoning Commission created by section 5–412, is hereby empowered, in accordance with the conditions and procedures specified in sections 5–413 to 5–428, to regulate the location, height, bulk, number of stories and size of buildings and other structures, the percentage of lot which may be occupied, the sizes of yards, courts, and other open spaces, the density of population, and the uses of buildings, structures, and land for trade, industry, residence, recreation, public activities, or other purposes; and for the purpose of such regulation said commission may divide the District of Columbia into districts or zones of such number, shape, and area as said Zoning Commission may determine, and within such districts may regulate the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, conversion, maintenance, and uses of buildings and structures and the uses of land. The said Zoning Commission shall also have power to promulgate regulations to require, with respect to buildings erected subsequent to the promulgation of such regulations, that facilities be provided and maintained either on the same lot with any such building, or on the same lot with any such building or elsewhere, for the parking of automobiles and motor vehicles of the owners, occupants, tenants, patrons, and customers of such building, and of the business, trades, and professions conducted therein. All such regulations shall be uniform for each class or kind of building throughout each district, but the regulations in one district may differ from those in other districts. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 797, ch. 534, § 1; Mar. 4, 1942, 56 Stat. 122, ch. 126.)

AMENDMENT

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Abuse of discretion

Evidence of greater income from plaintiff's property if his property were rezoned as he wished, even if such evidence were not too speculative to support a finding, did not establish abuse of zoning commission's action in declining to rezone as requested. Capital Properties, Inc. v. The Zoning Commission etc. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 229 F. Supp. 255).

Where, pursuant to provision of zoning regulation authorizing District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment to permit construction of office buildings and banks in certain residential area, owners of certain parcels of land in area had applied for and were granted permission to construct office buildings in area, in absence of evidence that conversion of plaintiffs' apartment building to office building would any more adversely affect present character and future development of neighborhood than did uses permitted by board of other properties in area, and in absence of evidence that use of plaintiffs' property would render less desirable, for residential purposes, other property used as such in area, board's refusal to grant plaintiffs' appeal for exception was without reasonable foundation and constituted manifest abuse of discretion. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Arbitrary or capricious

Where zoning regulation formulated certain standards to guide the actions of the Board of Zoning Adjustment in granting exceptions to zoning regulations, court could set aside an action of the board in denying an exception to the regulations if it found that its decision was "arbitrary or capricious"; the quoted phrase having no opprobrious connotation but in technical legal significance meaning an administrative action not supported by evidence, or lacking a rational basis. O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

Burden of proof

Property owner who appeals to District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment for exception under zoning law and regulations has burden of showing existence of conditions warranting granting of such an exception. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Construction of zoning regulation

Provision of zoning regulation authorizing District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment to permit construction of office buildings and banks in certain residential area if certain conditions were satisfied, was not directive to board to preserve residential character of area, especially in view of fact that board had already allowed in area many changes which could not be said to have preserved residential character of area. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Decisions under former law

Legislative power conferred by the act is in the Zoning Commission and not in the Commissioners of the District. Schwartz v. Brownlow (1921, 270 F. 1019, 50 App. D. C. 279, reversed on other grounds 43 S. Ct. 263, 261 U. S. 216, 67 L. Ed. 620).

Notice of hearing by Zoning Commission not necessarily signed by individuals. Larrabee v. Bell (1926, 10 F. 2d 986, 56 App. D.C. 121).

Court can not control reasonable exercise of power by Commission. Id.

An athletic field acquired for use accessory to and a part of a high school could be located in a residential district, when the regulations permitted institutions of an educational character in residential districts. Commissioners of District v. Shannon & Luchs Constr. Co. (1927, 17 F. 2d 219, 57 App. D. C. 67).

Evidence

Substantial evidence failed to sustain decision of the Board of Zoning Adjustment denying an exception to zoning regulations to permit the erection of a gasoline service station on the property of plaintiff, on the ground that the decision of the board denying the exception was arbitrary and capricious in the legal sense. O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

Exception

Whether exception should be granted for particular piece of property is within jurisdiction of board of zoning adjustment, subject to certain limitations. Capital Properties, Inc. v. The Zoning Commission etc. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 229 F. Supp. 255).

An "exception" in a zoning ordinance is one allowable where facts and conditions detailed in ordinance, as those upon which an exception may be permitted, are found to exist. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Intent of zoning regulation

It was not intent of zoning regulation, relating to authorization of District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment to grant request for special exceptions in certain cases upon certain conditions, that appeal for exception must be granted if certain requirements are met. Hyman et al. v. Coe et. al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Power of commission

District of Columbia Zoning Commission had ample statutory authority for action taken in fixing minimum width and sizes of residential lots. Salyer v. McLaughlin et al. (1957, 240 F. 2d 891, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 29).

Under statute authorizing zoning commission to divide District of Columbia into height, area, and use districts and to regulate height and area of buildings and purposes for which buildings and premises therein may be used, commission had power to create residential re stricted zoning use district. Hagans v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 97 A. 2d 922).

Reasons for decision

Ultimate factors established by zoning regulation as prerequisites for allowance of special exception permitting construction of private school in residential district must be satisfied before Board of Zoning Adjustment may lawfully issue decision on merits of application. Robey et al., and Woodley Hill Area Home Owners Assn. et al. v. Schwab, Jr., et al., and Scrivener et al., As Members of Board, etc. (1962, 307 F. 2d 198, 113 U.S. App. D.C. 241).

Parties protesting granting of exception to permit erection of private school in area zoned as residential were entitled to be given official notice of exact plans that Board of Zoning Adjustment would ultimately consider and must be accorded full opportunity to present evidence. Id.

"Full reasons" within section of zoning regulation to effect that full reasons for decisions of Board of Zoning Adjustment shall be entered in minutes book means that, in order to support its conclusions, board shall make basic findings of fact regarding special exceptions and, although finding need not amount to exhaustive summation of all evidence, board must state facts which persuaded it to arrive at its decision. Id.

Order of Board of Zoning Adjustment containing little more than reiteration of language of regulations insofar as they set forth conditions necessary for allowance of special exception to permit erection of private school in area zoned as residential was insufficient under zoning regulations requiring that full reasons for Board's decisions be entered in minutes book and case must be remanded to Board for findings of fact. Id.

Review by court

Scope of judicial review of actions of zoning commission is very narrow, and court may not set aside action of commission merely because court might have decided other way had court been member of commission. Capital Properties, Inc. v. The Zoning Commission etc. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 229 F. Supp. 255).

Whether mistakes were made in locating boundaries of sub-class of commercial district and whether, on change of character of neighborhood, the south side of a street should have been transferred from C–2 to C–3–B classification were matters of discretion for zoning commission, where questions of degree were involved and determinations of commission were not arbitrary. Id.

Court had no right to substitute its judgment for that of District of Columbia Zoning Commission, and where nothing appeared to indicate that Commission's action in fixing minimum widths and sizes of residential lots was unreasonable or arbitrary, court could not enjoin enforcement of regulation. Salyer v. McLaughlin et al. (1957, 240 F. 2d 891, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 29).

In action against the Board of Zoning Adjustment to set aside an order denying an application for permission to establish a gasoline service station, judicial review must be had solely on the record before the board and evidence not introduced before the board but presented to the court in the first instance could not be considered O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

Review of arbitrary decisions

Where decision of District of Columbia Zoning Adjustment Board, upon review, is clearly unreasonable and arbitrary, it will be set aside; court is not bound by arbitrary or capricious action of board, or where there has been a manifest abuse of discretion. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Decisions of District of Columbia Zoning Adjustment Board are discretionary and should not be reversed by courts unless clearly arbitrary and unreasonable. Id.

Ordinarily, review by court of decision of Board of Zoning Adjustment of District of Columbia would be limited to Board's record of proceedings before it, and court would not be permitted to hear evidence dehors that record. W. S. Jarrott, et al. v. S. Schivener Jr., et al., Members of Board of Zoning Adjustments et ano. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 225 F. Supp. 827).

Where integrity of decision of Board of Zoning Adjustment of District of Columbia was questioned, court could go outside Board's record and receive independent evidence. Id.

Generally, correctness or incorrectness of decision of Board of Zoning Adjustment of District of Columbia is not one for judicial review if there is substantial evidence to support it and parties have been accorded due process of law. Id.

An action to review a decision of the Board of Zoning Adjustment differs from an action to review an order of the Zoning Commission in that latter suit involves the question of whether the property has been taken without due process of law. O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

Setting aside orders

Where a lot constituted the corner of less restricted zone, lot was separated on three sides by public park and on all four sides by a park or street or both, from all present and probable future housing, and owner's proposed apartment building would accommodate many more people than single dwellings which might be built on the lot, and enforcement of zoning commission's order restricting lot to single dwellings would greatly impair value of lot and would not increase value of adjoining property, zoning order was properly set aside. Wolpe v. Poretsky (1946, 154 F. 2d 330, 79 U.S. App. D. C. 141, certiorari denied 67 S. Ct. 69, 329 U. S. 724, 91 L. Ed. 627).

Use of hearsay evidence

On an administrative hearing with respect to granting an exception to the zoning regulations to permit the erection of a gasoline station, fact that letter opposing the grant of the application from the capital planning commission was apparently based on hearsay and that neither its writer nor the member of the staff who made the investigation was present for cross-examination did not affect the admissibility of the letter, as would be case at a trial before the judicial tribunal. O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

Use of property

Residential zoning is not invalidated by the fact that if the property were available for business purposes it would bring the owner more revenue. Leventhal v. District of Columbia (1939, 100 F. 2d 94, 69 App. D. C. 229).

§ 5–414. Purposes of zoning regulations.

Such regulations shall be made in accordance with a comprehensive plan and designed to lessen congestion in the street, to secure safety from fire, panic, and other dangers, to promote health and the general welfare, to provide adequate light and air, to prevent the undue concentration of population and the overcrowding of land, and to promote such distribution of population and of the uses of land as would tend to create conditions favorable to health, safety, transportation, prosperity, protection of property, civic activity, and recreational, educational, and cultural opportunities, and as would tend to further economy and efficiency in the supply of public services. Such regulations shall be made with reasonable consideration, among other things, of the character of the respective districts and their suitability for the uses provided in the regulations, and with a view to encouraging stability of districts and of land values therein. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 797, ch. 534, § 2.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

In general

Restrictions can not be imposed on the use of property if they do not bear a substantial relation to the public health, safety, morals, or general welfare. Bugher v. Gottwals (1932, 54 F. 2d 451, 60 App. D. C. 340).

Comprehensive plan

Adoption of comprehensive plan and promulgation of regulations, accompanied by city-wide map, may all be single act, providing entire city is zoned on comprehensive basis. Capital Properties, Inc. v. The Zoning Commission etc. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 229 F. Supp. 255).

Injunction

A suit to enjoin zoning commission from carrying into effect a zoning order is not an appeal on the merits of the issues presented to the commission, and hence court should not substitute its judgment for that of the commission even for reasons which appear most persuasive. Wolpe v. Poretsky (1944, 144 F. 2d 505, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 141, certiorari denied 65 S. Ct. 190, 323 U. S. 777, 89 L. Ed. 621).

Persons bound by decree

Where adjoining property owners had not been parties to suit to enjoin zoning commission from carrying into effect a zoning order and zoning commission had failed to appeal from final decree enjoining enforcement of order, property owners were entitled as a matter of right to intervene in the proceeding, since they would otherwise be bound by the decree. Wolpe v. Poretsky (1944, 144 F. 2d 505, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 141, certiorari denied 65 S. Ct. 190, 323 U. S. 777, 89 L. Ed. 621).

In suit to enjoin members of zoning commission from carrying into effect a zoning order, zoning commission, in absence of intervention by adjoining property owners, sufficiently represented their interests so that a decree setting aside zoning order would be binding upon them. Id.

Power of commission

Purpose

Purpose of zoning is to create districts, large or small, and not to zone or rezone specific property. Capital Properties, Inc. v. The Zoning Commission etc. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 229 F. Supp. 255).

The two purposes of §§ 5–412 to 5–425 are to preserve character of a neighborhood by excluding new business and structures prejudicial to the restricted purposes of the area and gradual elimination of such existing structures and trades, and the protection of an owner's property or existing business from impairment which would result from enforced accommodation to new restrictions. Wood v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 39 A. 2d 67).

Review by court

Court had no right to substitute its judgment for that of District of Columbia Zoning Commission, and where nothing appeared to indicate that Commission's action in fixing minimum widths and sizes of residential lots was unreasonable or arbitrary, court could not enjoin enforcement of regulation. Salyer v. McLaughlin et al. (1957, 240 F. 2d 891, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 29).

§ 5–415. Existing zoning regulations continued until amended—Public hearing on amendments—Notice—Contents.

The regulations prior to June 20, 1938, adopted by the Zoning Commission under the authority of section 5–412 and in force on June 20, 1938, including the maps which at said date accompany and are a part of such regulations, shall be deemed to have been made and adopted and in force under sections 5–413 to 5–428 and shall be and continue in force and effect until and as they may be amended by the Zoning Commission as authorized by said sections 5–413 to 5–428. The Zoning Commission may from time to time amend the regulations or any of them or the maps or any of them. Before putting into effect any amendment or amendments of said regulations, or of said map or maps, the Zoning Commission shall hold a public hearing thereon. At least thirty days' notice of the time and place of such hearings shall be published at least once in a daily newspaper or newspapers of general circulation in the District of Columbia. Such published notice shall include a general summary of the proposed amendment or amendments of the regulation or regulations and the boundaries of the territory or territories included in the amendment or amendments of the map or maps, and the time and place of the hearing. The Zoning Commission shall give such additional notice of such hearing as it shall deem feasible and practicable. At such hearing it shall afford any person present a reasonable opportunity to be heard. Such public hearing may be adjourned from time to time and if the time and place of the adjourned meeting be publicly announced when the adjournment is had, no further notice of such adjourned meeting need be published. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 798, ch. 534, § 3.)

CODIFICATION

Act Mar. 1, 1920, 41 Stat. 501, ch. 92, § 7, provided that: "Maps of the districts established by said Commission and copies of all orders and regulations as to the height and area of buildings to be erected therein and as to the uses to which such buildings may be lawfully devoted, and copies of all other official orders and regulations of the Commission shall be filed in the office of the Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia. Copies of all orders and regulations shall be published in one or more newspapers printed in the District of Columbia for the information of all concerned. (Mar. 1, 1920, 41 Stat. 501, ch. 92, § 7.)" This section was repealed by Act of June 20, 1938, see § 5–427.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Purpose of hearings

A purpose of zoning hearings is to explore subject such as limitations with respect to floor area ratio or limitation of lot occupancy in connection with proposed changes in zoning regulations. S. J. Aquino v. Tobriner et al., Commissioners etc. (1961, 298 F. 2d 674, 112 U.S. App. D.C. 13).

That substantial changes were made in zoning proposals originally put forward did not invalidate changes in regulations rezoning as "R–4", wherein only certain types of residential construction were permitted, lots formerly zoned "first commercial", where rezoning was purpose of hearing, even though original proposals did not require limitation on floor area ratio or lot occupancy and rezoning as adopted did. Id.

Notice of hearing

Statutory requirement that District of Columbia Commissioners give such notice, in addition to notice published in newspaper, of zoning hearing as Commission deems feasible and practical is not mandatory, but whether and what kind of added notice will be given in particular case is in discretion of Commission. S. J. Aquino v. Tobriner et al., Commissioners etc. (1961, 298 F. 2d 674, 112 U.S. App. D.C. 13).

Zoning Commission's failure to give additional notice beyond newspaper publication of notice of hearing on zoning regulation changes was not abuse of discretion in absence of showing that giving of additional notice was feasible and practical, particularly in view of fact that hearing was attended by considerable publicity. Id.

§ 5–416. Majority vote required to amend zoning regulations—Maps.

Any amendment of the regulations or any of them or of the maps or any of them shall require the favorable vote of not less than a full majority of the members of the commission. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 798, ch. 534, § 4.)

§ 5–417. Zoning Advisory Council—Creation—Membership—Submission of amendments to zoning regulations.

A Zoning Advisory Council is hereby created to be composed of a representative designated by the National Capital Planning Commission, a representative designated by the Zoning Commission of the District of Columbia, and a representative designated by the commissioners of the District of Columbia, all of whom shall be persons experienced in zoning practice and shall serve without additional compensation. No amendment of any zoning regulation or map shall be adopted by the Zoning Commission unless and until such amendment be first submitted to said Zoning Advisory Council and the opinion or report of such council thereon shall have been received by the commission: Provided, however, That if said council shall fail to transmit its opinion and advice within thirty days from the date of submission to it, then in such event the Zoning Commission shall have the right to proceed to act upon the proposed amendment without further waiting for the receipt of the opinion and advice of said council. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 798, ch. 534, § 5.)

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

"National Capital Planning Commission" was substituted for "National Capital Park and Planning Commission" in view of act June 6, 1924, ch. 270, § 9, as added July 19, 1952, 66 Stat. 790, ch. 949, § 1, which transferred the functions, powers and duties of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission to the National Capital Planning Commission. See section 1–1009.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Evidence

Substantial evidence sustained findings of zoning commission on the basis of which it permitted change of zoning classification from special purposes zone which did not include as a matter of right permission for commercial use to zone in which commercial establishments including stores were allowed as matter of right. Association for the Preservation of the 1700 Block of N. Street v. C. M. Duke (1966, 356 F. 2d 344, 123 U.S. App. D.C. 5).

Review by court

District Court and Court of Appeals may not substitute their judgment for that of zoning commission and may not set aside its action unless it was clearly arbitrary, unreasonable and had no substantial relation to general welfare. Association for the Preservation of the 1700 Block of N. Street v. C. M. Duke (1966, 356 F. 2d 344, 123 U.S. App. D.C. 5).

Court had no right to substitute its judgment for that of District of Columbia Zoning Commission, and where nothing appeared to indicate that Commission's action in fixing minimum widths and sizes of residential lots was unreasonable or arbitrary, court could not enjoin enforcement of regulation. Salyer v. McLaughlin et al. O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

§ 5–418. Maximum height of buildings—Restrictions on location and use of chanceries and embassies—Definitions.

(a) The permissible height of buildings in any district shall not exceed the maximum height of buildings now authorized upon any street in any part of the District of Columbia by sections 5–401 to 5–409, regulating the height of buildings in the District of Columbia.

(b) After October 13, 1964, a foreign government shall be permitted to construct, alter, repair, convert, or occupy a building anywhere in the District of Columbia, other than a district or zone restricted in accordance with this Act to use for industrial purposes, for use by such government as an embassy.

(c) After October 13, 1964, except as otherwise provided in subsection (d) of this section, no foreign government shall be permitted to construct, alter, repair, convert, or occupy a building for use as a chancery where official business of such government is to be conducted on any land, regardless of the date such land was acquired, within any district or zone restricted in accordance with this Act to use for residential purposes.

(d) After October 13, 1964, a foreign government shall be permitted to construct, alter, repair, convert, or occupy a building for use as a chancery within any district or zone restricted in accordance with this Act to use for medium-high density apartments or high density apartments if the Board of Zoning Adjustment shall determine after a public hearing that the proposed use and the building in which the use is to be conducted are compatible with the present and proposed development of the neighborhood. In determining compatibility the Board of Zoning Adjustment must find that—

(1) in districts or zones restricted in accordance with this Act to use for medium-high density apartments, that off-street parking spaces will be provided at a ratio of not less than one such space for each twelve hundred square feet of gross floor area; and

(2) in districts or zones restricted in accordance with this Act to use for high density apartments, that off-street parking spaces will be provided at a ratio of not less than one such space for each one thousand eight hundred square feet of gross floor area; and

(3) the height of the building does not exceed the maximum permitted in the district or zone in which it is located; and

(4) the architectural design and the arrangement of all structures and off-street parking spaces are in keeping with the character of the neighborhood.

(e) As used in this section, the term—

(1) 'embassy' means a building used as the official residence of the chief of a diplomatic mission of a foreign government.

(2) "chancery means a building containing business offices of the chief of a diplomatic mission of a foreign government where official business of such government is conducted, and such term shall include any chancery annex, and the business offices of attachés of a foreign government who are under the personal direction and superintendence of the chief of mission of such government. Such term shall not include business offices of nondiplomatic missions of foreign governments such as purchasing, financial, educational, or other missions of comparable nondiplomatic nature.

(3) "person" means any individual who is subject to direction by the chief of mission of a foreign government and is engaged in diplomatic activities recognized as such by the Secretary of State.

REFERENCES IN TEXT

"This Act" referred to in text is the act of June 20, 1938, set out as sections 5–413 to 5–428, as amended.

AMENDMENT

1964—Section 1 of act Oct. 13, 1964, amended the section by inserting (a) at the beginning of the section and by adding subsections (b) to (e) thereto.

§ 5–418a. Continued use and maintenance of existing chanceries—Construction, reconstruction, expansion or alterations in accordance with permits issued on or before February 18, 1964.

Nothing in the amendments made by section 5–418 shall prohibit—

(1) the future or continued use of a building as a chancery or the making of ordinary repairs to any such building for which lawful use as a chancery existed on October 13, 1964, or

(2) the construction, reconstruction, expansion, or alteration in accordance with any permit issued by the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia on or before February 18, 1964, of any building used or to be used as a chancery.

The amendments made by section 5–418 shall apply only to applications for special exemptions to the zoning regulations filed with the Board of Zoning Adjustment after May 1, 1964. (Oct. 13, 1964, 78 Stat. 1092, Pub. L. 88–659, § 3.)

§ 5–418c. Transfer or use of chanceries contrary to provisions of section 5–418 (a) to (e)—Exception.

After October 13, 1964, no building or chancery being used by a foreign government in the District of Columbia shall be transferred to or used by another foreign government unless such use is in accordance with section 5–418, as amended, or unless such use was in accordance with applicable law at the time of this enactment. (Oct. 13, 1964, 78 Stat. 1092, Pub. L. 88–659, § 4.)

§ 5–418d. Administration of sections 5–418 to 5–418c—Discrimination against foreign governments prohibited.

Sections 5–418 to 5–418d shall not be administered in such a way as to discriminate against any foreign government on the basis of the race, color, or creed of any of its citizens. (Oct. 13, 1964, 78 Stat. 1092, Pub. L. 88–659, § 5.)

§ 5–419. Use of existing buildings—Restrictions—Discretion of Zoning Commission—Extension of use.

The lawful use of a building or premises as existing and lawful at the time of the original adoption of any regulation heretofore adopted under the authority of section 5–412, or, in the case of any regulation adopted after June 20, 1938, under sections 5–413 to 5–428, at the time of such adoption, may be continued although such use does not conform with the provisions of such regulation, provided no structural alteration, except such as may be required by law or regulation, or no enlargement is made or no new building is erected. The Zoning Commission may in its discretion provide, upon such terms and conditions as may be set forth in the regulations, for the extension of any such nonconforming use throughout the building and for the substitution of nonconforming uses. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 798, ch. 534, § 7.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Abandonment of non-conforming use

The discontinuance of a non-conforming use under §§ 5–412 to 5–425 results from concurrence of the intent to abandon and some overt act or failure to act which carries the implication of abandonment. Wood v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 39 A. 2d 67).

Fact that building which was equipped as a stable, and which had been used for the non-conforming use of buying and selling horses, had been vacant for about six years before being taken over by defendant, did not establish abandonment of the non-conforming use, where building during extended period of vacancy was retained in same condition and was being advertised for lease as a stable. Id.

Burden of proof

In prosecution for engaging in business of conducting rooming house without first having obtained license and for failure to obtain certificate of occupancy, if defendant wished to rely on prior nonconforming use provision of District of Columbia zoning statute, as a defense, burden was on defendant to prove that she was operating a rooming house prior to initial restriction of such use by zoning commission. Hagans v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 97 A. 2d 922).

Continuance of non-conforming use

1938 District of Columbia Zoning Act providing, in effect, that lawful use of premises prior to adoption of any regulations under 1920 or 1938 District of Columbia Zoning Acts may be continued, although such use does not conform with provisions of such regulations is binding on Zoning Commission and if party can show prior nonconforming use, he is entitled to a certificate of occupancy. Hagans v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 97 A. 2d 922).

Where building which was equipped as a stable had been used for non-conforming use of buying and selling horses, a subsequent use of premises for keeping horses for rent and boarding horses for others was a continuance of the prior non-conforming use. Wood v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 39 A. 2d 67).

Decisions under former law

This section does not give authority to nullify an agreement between property owners fixing building-line restrictions. Castleman v. Avignone (1926, 12 F. 2d 326, 56 App. D.C. 253).

Where first floor of building in residence district had been used for some years as garage, without permit and without objection, expenditure of large sums for remodeling, in reliance on a permit to fireproof and repair premises and on a certificate of occupancy for use as a garage, the District may not revoke certificate of occupancy. District of Columbia v. Cahill (1932, 54 F. 2d 453, 60 App. D.C. 342).

Enlargement of non-conforming use

Where area to be occupied by restaurants' altered structure was enclosed on two sides by roofless structure consisting of high basket-weave type wooden fence and structure for which building permit was sought would completely enclose existing structure with four sides and roof and proposed alteration would not increase business of restaurant which operated drive-in service that was a non-conforming use proposed new structure did not constitute an enlargement barred by Code prohibiting enlargement of nonconforming use. Hot Shoppes, Inc., v. Robert O. Clouser et al., Members of District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment (D.C.D.C. 1964, 231 F. Supp. 825).

Proposed change of fenced-in structure to structure completely enclosed by four sides and roof constituted structural alteration within Zoning Act providing that nonconforming use may continue provided no structural alteration except such as may be required by law or regulation is erected. Id.

That Board of Zoning Adjustment stated that it made an inspection of property and that equipment required by Health Department to be enclosed could have been placed somewhere inside existing structure so that construction of building to enclosed equipment was not necessary, did not raise presumption that Board had facts to support its conclusion, where Board did not set forth facts upon which it relied on reaching conclusion that structure for which building permit was sought was not required. Id.

Purpose of zoning regulation giving applicant for building permit chance to make rebuttal after administrative officer and any interested property owners or other interested persons have stated their side of case is to give applicant opportunity to rebut findings including those made as result of inspection of applicant's property. Id.

Lease restrictions

Provision in lease requiring the tenant to use the basement for commercial purposes was a reasonable one in a residential area, as the nonconforming commercial use in a residential district enhances the value of the property and the landlord had the right to insist that this use be maintained in order that it not be lost by reason of the nonuse or abandonment. Amos v. Cummings (D. C. Mun. App. 1949, 67 A. 2d 87).

License

Even if refusal of zoning commissioners of District of Columbia to issue license to conduct rooming house to defendant was wrongful, defendant had no right to continue business without such license. Hagans v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1953, 97 A. 2d 922).

Procedures before board

Inspection of property, for which building permit was sought, by Zoning Board of Adjustment would constitute a "step taken" or "act done" within zoning regulation requiring Secretary of Board of Zoning Appeals to enter in docket all continuances, postponements and other steps taken or acts done by Board or officers on behalf Board. Hot Shoppes, Inc., v. Robert O. Clouser, et al., Members of District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment (D.C.D.C. 1964, 231 F. Supp. 825).

Failure to permit applicant for building permit to question and rebut any evidence gathered at any inspection of his property by Board of Zoning Adjustment and to make inspection itself a matter of record was a denial of due process to applicant. Id.

§ 5–420. Board of Zoning Adjustment—Creation, membership—Tenure—Regulations to govern organization and procedure—Appeal—Procedure, powers—Majority vote necessary.

A Board of Zoning Adjustment is hereby created which shall be composed of five members appointed by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, namely, one member of the National Capital Planning Commission or a member of the staff thereof to be designated in either case by such commission; one member of the Zoning Commission or a member of the staff thereof to be designated in either case by such commission; and three other members, each of whom shall have been a resident of the District of Columbia for at least three years immediately preceding his appointment and at least one of whom shall own his own home.

The representative of the National Capital Planning Commission may be changed from time to time by such commission in its discretion and in case of a vacancy in the position by death, resignation, or other disability, a new representative shall be designated by the said commission and appointed by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to fill said vacancy. The representative of the Zoning Commission may be changed from time to time by such commission in its discretion and in case of a vacancy in the position by death, resignation, or other disability, a new representative shall be designated by the said commission and appointed by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia to fill said vacancy. The terms of the three members designated by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall be three years each, excepting that, in the case of the initial appointments, one shall be for a term of one year and one for a term of two years. In case of any vacancy in the position of any of the three members designated by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, the same shall be filled for the remainder of the term.

The Zoning Commission may provide and specify in its zoning regulations general rules to govern the organization and procedure of the Board of Adjustment not inconsistent with the provisions of sections 5–413 to 5–428, and the Board of Adjustment may adopt supplemental rules of procedure which shall be subject to the approval of the Zoning Commission after public hearing thereon as provided in section 5–415. The Board of Adjustment shall choose its chairman and its other officers. All meetings of the board shall be open to the public. The board shall keep minutes of its proceedings showing the vote of each member upon each question, or if absent or failing to vote indicating such fact, and shall keep records of its examinations and other official actions, all of which shall be immediately filed in the office of the board and shall be a public record.

The regulations adopted by the Zoning Commission may provide that the Board of Adjustment may, in appropriate cases and subject to appropriate principles, standards, rules, conditions, and safeguards set forth in the regulations, make special exceptions to the provisions of the zoning regulations in harmony with their general purpose and intent. The commission may also authorize the Board of Adjustment to interpret the zoning maps and pass upon disputed questions of lot lines or district boundary lines or similar questions as they arise in the administration of the regulations.

The Board of Adjustment shall not have the power to amend any regulation or map.

Appeals to the Board of Adjustment may be taken by any person aggrieved, or organization authorized to represent such person, or by any officer or department of the government of the District of Columbia or the federal government affected, by any decision of the inspector of buildings granting or refusing a building permit or granting or withholding a certificate of occupancy, or any other administrative decision based in whole or part upon any zoning regulation or map adopted under sections 5–413 to 5–428. The Commissioners of the District of Columbia may require and fix the fee to be charged for an appeal, which fee shall be paid, as directed by said commissioners, with the filing of the appeal: Provided, That no citizens' association, or association created for civic purposes and not for profit shall be required to pay said fee. There shall be a public hearing on appeal.

Upon appeals the Board of Adjustment shall have the following powers:

(1) To hear and decide appeals where it is alleged by the appellant that there is error in any order, requirement, decision, determination, or refusal made by the inspector of buildings or the Commissioners of the District of Columbia or any other administrative officer or body in the carrying out or enforcement of any regulation adopted pursuant to sections 5–413 to 5–428.

(2) To hear and decide, in accordance with the provisions of the regulations adopted by the Zoning Commission, requests for special exceptions or map interpretations or for decisions upon other special questions upon which such board is required or authorized by the regulations to pass.

(3) Where, by reason of exceptional narrowness, shallowness, or shape of a specific piece of property at the time of the original adoption of the regulations or by reason of exceptional topographical conditions or other extraordinary or exceptional situation or condition of a specific piece of property, the strict application of any regulation adopted under sections 5–413 to 5–428 would result in peculiar and exceptional practical difficulties to or exceptional and undue hardship upon the owner of such property, to authorize, upon an appeal relating to such property, a variance from such strict application so as to relieve such difficulties or hardship, provided such relief can be granted without substantial detriment to the public good and without substantially impairing the intent, purpose, and integrity of the zone plan as embodied in the zoning regulations and map.

(4) In exercising the above-mentioned powers the Board of Adjustment may, in conformity with the provisions of sections 5–413 to 5–428 reverse or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirement, decision, determination, or refusal appealed from or may make such order as may be necessary to carry out its decision or authorization, and to that end shall have all the powers of the officer or body from whom the appeal is taken.

The concurring vote of not less than a full majority of the members of the board shall be necessary for any decision or order.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

"National Capital Planning Commission" was substituted for "National Capital Park and Planning Commission" in view of act June 6, 1924, ch. 270, § 9, as added July 19, 1952, 66 Stat. 790, ch. 949, § 1, which transferred the functions, powers and duties of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission to the National Capital Planning Commission. See section 1–1009.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Abuse of discretion

Evidence of greater income from plaintiff's property if his property were rezoned as he wished, even if such evidence were not too speculative to support a finding, did not establish abuse of zoning commission's action in declining to rezone as requested. Capital Properties, Inc. v. The Zoning Commission etc. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 229 F. Supp. 255).

Where, pursuant to provision of zoning regulation authorizing District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment to permit construction of office buildings and banks in certain residential area, owners of certain parcels of land in area had applied for and were granted permission to construct office buildings in area, in absence of evidence that conversion of plaintiffs' apartment building to office building would any more adversely affect present character and future development of neighborhood than did uses permitted by board of other properties in area, and in absence of evidence that use of plaintiffs' property would render less desirable, for residential purposes, other property used as such in area, board's refusal to grant plaintiffs' appeal for exception was without reasonable foundation and constituted manifest abuse of discretion. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Arbitrary or capricious

Board of zoning adjustment opinion that relief from zoning ordinance to permit use of house as professional office could not be granted without substantial detriment to public good and without substantially impairing intent, purpose, and integrity of zoning plan relating to neighborhood which largely conformed with its residential zoning was reasonable, and court erred in substituting its own contrary opinion. R. O. Clouser et al., as Members of Board of Zoning etc. v. King David (1962, 309 F. 2d 233, 114 U.S. App. D.C. 12).

Where zoning regulation formulated certain standards to guide the actions of the Board of Zoning Adjustment in granting exceptions to zoning regulations, court could set aside an action of the board in denying an exception to the regulations if it found that its decision was "arbitrary or capricious"; the quoted phrase having no opprobrious connotation but in technical legal significance meaning an administrative action not supported by evidence, or lacking a rational basis. O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

Property owner who appeals to District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment for exception under zoning law and regulations has burden of showing existence of conditions warranting granting of such an exception. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Construction of zoning regulation

Provision of zoning regulation authorizing District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment to permit construction of office buildings and banks in certain residential area if certain conditions were satisfied, was not directive to board to preserve residential character of area, especially in view of fact that board had already allowed in area many changes which could not be said to have preserved residential character of area. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Evidence

Substantial evidence failed to sustain decision of the Board of Zoning Adjustment denying an exception to zoning regulations to permit the erection of a gasoline service station on the property of plaintiff, on the ground that the decision of the Board denying the exception was arbitrary and capricious in the legal sense. O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

Exception

An "exception" in a zoning ordinance is one allowable where facts and conditions detailed in ordinance, as those upon which an exception may be permitted, are found to exist. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Function of board

In performance of adjudicatory function by Board of Zoning Adjustment of District of Columbia, parties whose rights are involved are entitled to same fairness, impartiality and independence of judgment as are expected in court of law. W. S. Jarrott, et al. v. S. Scrivener Jr., et al., Members of Board of Zoning Adjustments et ano. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 225 F. Supp. 827).

Upon appeal for exception, District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment is to decide whether exception sought meets requirements of regulation; though this decision must result from exercise of sound discretion, that is, legal discretion, and must not be arbitrary, capricious or unreasonable. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Hardship

If there were not room inside restaurant to store commissary carts, restaurant owner which was directed by Health Department to store its commissary carts under cover would be entitled to building permit to construct structure to store carts, but, if there were room, application for building permit could be considered as request for variance requiring board to determine whether applicant had established hardship which would support issuance of variance. Hot Shoppes, Inc., v. R. O. Clouser, et al., Members of District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustments (D.C.D.C. 1964, 231 F. Supp. 825).

Hardship not resulting from location, situation, or condition of property, but solely from owner's appropriation of it for commercial purposes without first having obtained necessary zoning change was not such "hardship" as to justify variance. R. O. Clouser et al., as Member of Board of Zoning etc. v. King David (1962, 309 F. 2d 233, 114 U.S. App. D.C. 12).

Intent of zoning regulation

It was not intent of zoning regulation, relating to authorization of District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment to grant request for special exceptions in certain cases upon certain conditions, that appeal for exception must be granted if certain requirements are met. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Parking lot use

Zoning regulation empowering Board of Adjustment to permit, in residential district, "use of unimproved lot for temporary parking of motor vehicles" meant use for temporary parking and not temporary use for parking. Selden et al. v. Capitol Hill Southeast Citizens Association et al. (1954, 219 F. 2d 33, 95 U.S. App. D.C. 62).

Whether use of unimproved lot in residential district as parking lot would interfere "unreasonably" within meaning of zoning regulations, with use of neighborhood properties under zone plan, could only be determined in light of all circumstances, and these included critical parking problem. Id.

Reasons for decision

Ultimate factors established by zoning regulation as prerequisites for allowance of special exception permitting construction of private school in residential district must be satisfied before Board of Zoning Adjustment may lawfully issue decision on merits of application. Robey et al. and Woodley Hill Area Home Owners Ass'n. et al. v. Schwab, Jr., et al., and Scrivener et al., as Members of Board etc. (1962, 307 F. 2d 198, 113 U.S. App. D.C. 241).

Order of Board of Zoning Adjustment containing little more than reiteration of language of regulations insofar as they set forth conditions necessary for allowance of special exception to permit erection of private school in area zoned as residential was insufficient under zoning regulations requiring that full reasons for Board's decisions be entered in minutes book and case must be remanded to Board for findings of fact. Id.

"Full reasons" within section of zoning regulation to effect that full reasons for decisions of Board of Zoning Adjustment shall be entered in minutes book means that, in order to support its conclusions, board shall make basic findings of fact regarding special exceptions and, although findings need not amount to exhaustive summation of all evidence, board must state facts which persuaded it to arrive at its decision. Id.

Parties protesting granting of exception to permit erection of private school in area zoned as residential were entitled to be given official notice of exact plans that Board of Zoning Adjustment would ultimately consider and must be accorded full opportunity to present evidence. Id.

Review by court

Scope of judicial review of actions of zoning commission is very narrow, and court may not set aside action of commission merely because court might have decided other way had court been member of commission. Capital Properties, Inc. v. The Zoning Commission etc. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 229 F. Supp. 255).

Whether mistakes were made in locating boundaries of sub-class of commercial district and whether, on change of character of neighborhood, the south side of a street should have been transferred from C–2 to C–3–B classification were matters of discretion for zoning commission, where questions of degree were involved and determinations of commission were not arbitrary. Id.

In action against the Board of Zoning Adjustment to set aside an order denying an application for permission to establish a gasoline service station, judicial review must be had solely on the record before the Board and evidence not introduced before the Board but presented to the court in the first instance could not be considered. O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

Review of arbitrary decisions

Where decision of District of Columbia Zoning Adjustment Board, upon review, is clearly unreasonable and arbitrary, it will be set aside; court is not bound by arbitrary or capricious action of board, or where there has been a manifest abuse of discretion. Hyman et al. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1956, 146 F. Supp. 24).

Decisions of District of Columbia Zoning Adjustment Board are discretionary and should not be reversed by courts unless clearly arbitrary and unreasonable. Id.

Review of decision of board of zoning adjustment

Generally, remand to Board of Zoning Appeal for further proceedings is appropriate, but where abuse of discretion is manifest and it is clear that applicant has carried its burden of proof, then remand to Board with instructions to grant applicant's request is proper. Hot Shoppes, Inc., v. Robert O. Clouser, et al., Members of District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment (D.C.D.C. 1964, 231 F. Supp. 825).

Order of Zoning Board of Adjustment denying building permit would be vacated and case remanded to Board for further proceedings, where Board and, at least initially, applicant proceeded as if applicant were seeking only variance and applicant should have invoked not hardship but clear statutory right to erect proposed structure under Code. Id.

Greater discretion is vested in Board of Zoning Adjustment in granting or denying variance than there is in determining whether error had been committeed by any official such as inspector of buildings, particularly where alleged error was of statutory interpretation. Id.

An action to review a decision of the Board of Zoning Adjustment differs from an action to review an order of the Zoning Commission in that latter suit involves the question of whether the property has been taken without due process of law. O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

Review of unfair hearing

That three Board of Zoning Adjustment members of District of Columbia, two of whom were subordinate government employees, were secretly informed that highly placed persons in government wanted Board to grant foreign government's application for exception to erect embassy building in residential zone denied fair hearing, rendered favorable decision void and required rehearing by new board created for that purpose. W. S. Jarrott, et al., v. S. Scrivener Jr., et al., Members of Board of Zoning Adjustment et ano. (D.C.D.C. 1964, 225 F. Supp. 827).

Review of zoning order

In proceeding wherein an order of Board of Zoning Adjustment was reviewed, evidence sustained board's findings that critical parking problem existed in neighborhood concerned and that use of unimproved lot in residence district for trial period of two years as parking lot would not interfere unreasonably with use of neighboring property under zone plan. Selden et al. v. Capitol Hill Southeast Citizens Association et al. (1954, 219 F. 2d 33, 95 U.S. App. D.C. 62).

Statutory right

Owner seeking building permit to erect utility building adjacent to restaurant as required by Health Department should not have invoked hardship but clear statutory right to erect proposed structure and owner should have invoked statutory right to appeal from refusal of building inspector to issue building permit. Hot Shoppes, Inc. v. Robert O. Clouser, et al., Members of District of Columbia Board of Zoning Adjustment (D.C.D.C. 1964, 231 F. Supp. 825).

Restaurant had statutory right to continue utilizing same floor and land area utilized at time use became nonconforming. Id.

Any complaints on part of neighbors to noise or other disturbances were wholly immaterial to initial issue before Board on application for permit filed by restaurant to build structure on ground that it was required by Health Department. Id.

Use of hearsay evidence

On an administrative hearing with respect to granting an exception to the zoning regulations to permit the erection of a gasoline station, fact that letter opposing the grant of the application from the capital planning commission was apparently based on hearsay and that neither its writer nor the member of the staff who made the investigation was present for cross-examination did not affect the admissibility of the letter, as would be case at a trial before the judicial tribunal. O'Boyle etc. v. Coe et al. (D.C.D.C. 1957, 155 F. Supp. 581).

§ 5–421. Maps and regulations of Zoning Commission—To be filed—Published.

A copy of any map established by said Zoning Commission and of its zoning regulations shall be filed in the office of the engineer commissioner of the District of Columbia. A copy of any regulation or any amendment adopted after June 20, 1938, shall be published once in one or more daily newspapers printed in the District of Columbia for the information of all concerned. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 800, ch. 534, § 9.)

§ 5–422. Building permits—Construction without obtaining—Certificates of occupancy—Use without obtaining—Construction in violation of regulations—Enforcement—Actions, parties—Penalty.

It shall be unlawful to erect, construct, reconstruct, convert, or alter any building or structure or part thereof within the District of Columbia without obtaining a building permit from the inspector of buildings, and said inspector shall not issue any permit for the erection, construction, reconstruction, conversion, or alteration of any building or structure, or any part thereof, unless the plans of and for the proposed erection, construction, reconstruction, conversion, or alteration fully conform to the provisions of sections 5–413 to 5–428 and of the regulations adopted under said sections. In the event that said regulations provide for the issuance of certificates of occupancy or other form of permit to use, it shall be unlawful to use any building, structure, or land until such certificate or permit be first obtained. It shall be unlawful to erect, construct, reconstruct, alter, convert, or maintain or to use any building, structure, or part thereof or any land within the District of Columbia in violation of the provisions of said sections or of any of the provisions of the regulations adopted under said sections. The owner or person in charge of or maintaining any such building or land or any other person who erects, constructs, reconstructs, alters, converts, maintains, or uses any building or structure or part thereof or land in violation of said sections or of any regulation adopted under said sections, shall upon conviction for such violation on information filed in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions by the corporation counsel or any of his assistants in the name of said District and which court is hereby authorized to hear and determine such cases be punished by a fine of not more than $100 per day for each and every day such violation shall continue. The corporation counsel of the District of Columbia or any neighboring property-owner or occupant who would be specially damaged by any such violation may, in addition to all other remedies provided by law, institute injunction, mandamus, or other appropriate action or proceeding to prevent such unlawful erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, conversion, maintenance, or use, or to correct or abate such violation or to prevent the occupancy of such building, structure, or land. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 800, ch. 534, § 10; Apr. 1, 1942, 56 Stat. 190, ch. 207, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

"Municipal Court for the District of Columbia" was substituted for "Police Court of the District of Columbia" to conform to act Apr. 1, 1942, which consolidated the Police Court and the Municipal Court.

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "Municipal Court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Bar to prosecution

An acquittal on charge of using a single family dwelling without an occupancy permit between certain dates would not bar prosecution for use without a permit between subsequent dates, each information containing a continuando clause. Savage v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 562, affirmed 169 F. 2d 889, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 401, certiorari denied 69 S. Ct. 654, 336 U. S 924, 93 L. Ed. 1086, rehearing denied 69 S. Ct. 810, 336 U. S. 947, 93 L. Ed. 1103).

An applicant who during a two year period failed to correct conditions which caused rejection of application for occupancy permit could not urge as bar to prosecution for operating without a permit that he was never given an opportunity to correct the conditions. Id.

Decisions under former law

To secure consent of owners for the building of a garage in a certain square, owners in another square separated by a street will not be considered although within the designated distance. Hazard v. Blessing (1925, 2 F. 2d 916, 55 App. D. C. 114).

Commissioners having issued permit to erect garage without the necessary consent of owners may be compelled to revoke it. Id.

When owner of garage in residential district made large expenditures to improve it after relying on the building inspector's permit, the District is estopped from revoking occupancy certificates. District of Columbia v. Cahill (1932, 54 F. 2d 453, 60 App. D. C. 342).

When the corporation converted the land into a public golf course without first obtaining a certificate of occupancy, it violated the provisions of the Zoning Act. Golf, Inc. v. District of Columbia (1934, 67 F. 2d 575, 62 App. D. C. 309).

Injunction

A suit to enjoin zoning commission from carrying into effect a zoning order is not an appeal on the merits of the issues presented to the commission, and hence court should not substitute its judgment for that of the commission even for reasons which appear most persuasive. Wolpe v. Poretsky (1944, 144 F. 2d 505, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 141, certiorari denied 65 S. Ct. 190, 323 U. S. 777, 89 L. Ed. 621).

Intervenors, rights of Adjoining property owners intervening subsequent to entry of final decree in suit to enjoin zoning commission from carrying into effect a zoning order were possessed of all rights of a party at that stage of the proceedings, including right to appeal where time for appeal had not expired. Wolpe v. Poretsky (1944, 144 F. 2d 505, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 141, certiorari denied 65 S. Ct. 190, 323 U. S. 777, 89 L. Ed. 621).

The failure of zoning commission to take appeal from order enjoining commission from enforcing a zoning order constituted "inadequate representation" of interests of adjoining property owners who were not parties to the proceeding within Rule 24(a), Appendix to Title 28, U.S.C., providing for intervention in case of inadequate representation of an applicant's interests. Id.

Adjoining property owners have such a vital interest in result of suit to vacate a zoning order that they should be granted permission to intervene as a matter of course unless compelling reasons against such intervention are shown. Id.

An application by property owners to intervene in suit to enjoin zoning commission from carrying into effect a zoning order was timely even though final decree had been entered, where, because of failure of commission to appeal, intervention was necessary to protect property owners' right to appeal. Id.

Jurisdiction of Court of General Sessions

Decision of Federal District Court on issues involved in pending proceeding by plaintiffs for declaratory judgment to review determination of District of Columbia board of zoning adjustment that certificate of occupancy should not issue for premises leased to federal government could not affect function of District of Columbia Court of General Sessions in performing its duty of determining whether same plaintiffs had violated District of Columbia building restriction statute by acting before their rights were fully adjudicated, and plaintiffs were thus not entitled to injunction restraining further prosecution under statute. T. D. McCloskey v. 1717 Mass. Ave. NW. Inc., et ano. (D.C.D.C. 1965, 238 F. Supp. 497).

Jury trial

Where accused was charged under three separate informations which were consolidated for trial, with using premises without a certificate of occupancy, operating the premises as a rooming house between certain dates without a license, and using the same premises as a rooming house without a license between certain other dates, jury trial was properly denied. Savage v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 562, affirmed, 169 F. 2d 889, 83 U. S. App. D. C. 401, certiorari denied 69 S. Ct. 654, 336 U. S. 924, 93 L. Ed. 1086, rehearing denied 69 S. Ct. 810, 336 U. S. 947, 93 L. Ed. 1103).

Notice

An applicant for an occupancy permit under this chapter is entitled to notice of action thereon with reasons therefor, but having been given notice of rejection with reasons, applicant had duty to cease the use applied for. Savage v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1947, 54 A. 2d 562, affirmed 169 F. 2d 889, 83 U.S. App. D.C. 401, certiorari denied 69 S. Ct. 654, 336 U. S. 924, 93 L. Ed. 1086, rehearing denied 69 S. Ct. 810, 336 U. S. 947, 93 L. Ed. 1103).

Persons bound by decree

Where adjoining property owners had not been parties to suit to enjoin zoning commission from carrying into effect a zoning order and zoning commission had failed to appeal from final decree enjoining enforcement of order, property owners were entitled as a matter of right to intervene in the proceeding, since they would otherwise be bound by the decree. Wolpe v. Poretsky (1944, 144 F.

2d 505, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 141, certiorari denied 65 S. Ct. 190, 323 U. S. 777, 89 L. Ed. 621).

In suit to enjoin members of zoning commission from carrying into effect a zoning order, zoning commission, in absence of intervention by adjoining property owners, sufficiently represented their interests so that a decree setting aside zoning order would be binding upon them. Id.

Setting aside orders

Where a lot constituted the corner of less restricted zone, lot was separated on three sides by public park and on all four sides by a park or street or both, from all present and probable future housing, and owner's proposed apartment building would accommodate many more people than single dwellings which might be built on the lot, and enforcement of zoning commission's order restricting lot to single dwellings would greatly impair value of lot and would not increase value of adjoining property, zoning order was properly set aside. Wolpe v. Poretsky (1946, 154 F. 2d 330, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 141).

§ 5–423. Enforcement of regulations—Power to adopt municipal regulations.

The commissioners of the District of Columbia shall enforce the regulations adopted under the authority hereof. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to limit the authority of the commissioners of the District of Columbia to make municipal regulations which are not inconsistent with the provisions of sections 5–413 to 5–428 and the regulations adopted hereunder. (June 20, 1938, 52 Stat. 801, ch. 534, § 11.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Conflict of powers

The commissioners may not adopt a regulation which attempts to regulate the use to which a building could be put, i.e., a drug store, since this is the chief jurisdiction conferred upon the Zoning Commission. Schwartz v. Brownlow (1959, 270 F. 1019, 50 App. D.C. 279 reversed on other grounds 43 S. Ct. 263, 261 U.S. 216, 67 L. Ed. 620).

§ 5–424. Effect of regulations on future construction.

Wherever the regulations made under the authority of sections 5–413 to 5–428 require a greater width or size of yards, courts, or other open spaces, or require a lower height of buildings or smaller number of stories, or require a greater percentage of lot to be left unoccupied, or impose other higher standards than are required in or under any other statute or municipal regulations, the regulations made under authority of said sections shall govern. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Affirmance on appeal

Conviction for occupying a building for human habitation subsequent to condemnation thereof was sustained by evidence. Hammond v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 127 A. 2d 554).

Concession of guilt by counsel

In prosecution for occupying a building for human habitation subsequent to condemnation thereof, defendant's testimony that she had lived in building from period prior to its condemnation up until time of trial constituted an admission of guilt; and under such evidence and all circumstances of case, defendant's counsel's statement to court that he was satisfied of his client's guilt did not constitute such concession away of substantial rights of his client as would require reversal of conviction. Hammond v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 127 A. 2d 554).

Constitutionality

Statute under which the board of condemnation proceeded against appellant's property is constitutional and was contitutionally applied, Keyes v. Madsen (1950, 179 F. 2d 40, 86 U.S. App. D.C. 24, certiorari denied 70 S. Ct. 628, 339 U.S. 928, 94 L. Ed. 546).

Sentence

Monetary portion of sentence of $150 or 30 days imprisonment, for occupying a building for human habitation subsequent to condemnation thereof, was excessive. Hammond v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1956, 127 A. 2d 554).

§ 5–619. Occupancy of condemned building.

No person having authority to prevent shall permit any building or part of building condemned to be occupied, except as specially authorized by the Board for the Condemnation of Insanitary Buildings under the authority contained in sections 5–616 to 5–634, after fifteen days, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, or within such additional time as may be fixed by the Board, from and after the date of service of a copy of the order of condemnation on the owner of such building; or, if a copy of such order of condemnation has been affixed to the condemned building or part of building at a date subsequent to the date of service of the notice on the owner, after fifteen days, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, or within such additional time as may be fixed by the Board, from the date on which said copy of such order of condemnation was so affixed. (May 1, 1906, 34 Stat. 158, ch. 2073, § 4, as amended Aug. 28, 1954, 68 Stat. 886, ch. 1032.)

§ 5–620. Repairs or changes—Demolition—District of Columbia Building Code.

The owner of any building or part of building condemned under the provisions of sections 5–616 to 5–634 shall, within the time specified by the Board for the Condemnation of Insanitary Buildings in the order of condemnation, or any extension of time which may be granted by the Board, (1) make such changes or repairs as will remedy the conditions which led to the condemnation of such building or part of building, or (2) cause such building or part of building to be demolished and removed: Provided, That any owner repairing a building or part of building in accordance with the provisions of sections 5–616 to 5–634 shall be required to make only those repairs which are reasonably related to a correction of the insanitary condition or conditions found by said Board to exist in or about said building, and nothing in sections 5–616 to 5–634 shall be construed as authorizing the Board to require any repair not reasonably related to the correction of any insanitary condition in or about such building, or to require such building to be brought fully into conformity with the District of Columbia

Building Code or other building regulations in effect at the time such repairs are made. Whenever any building is repaired or demolished in accordance with the requirements of this section, such repair or demolition shall be performed in such manner and under the authority of such permit as may be required by any applicable law or regulation. (May 1, 1906, 34 Stat. 158, ch. 2073, § 5, as amended Aug 28, 1954, 68 Stat. 886, ch. 1032.)

If the owner cannot make such changes or repairs within the period within which the owner may lawfully permit such building or part of building to be occupied under section 5–619, but proceeds with such changes or repairs with reasonable diligence during such period, said Board may, by special order, extend from time to time the period within which the occupants of said building or part of building may remain therein, and within which the owner of such building may permit the said occupants so to remain. (May 1, 1906, 34 Stat. 158, ch. 2073, § 6, as amended Aug. 28, 1954, 68 Stat. 886, ch. 1032.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

§ 5–622. Owner's failure to comply with order—Repair or demolition by Board for the Condemnation of Insanitary Buildings—Payment of costs—Effect of appeal.

(a) If the owner of any building or part of building condemned under the provisions of sections 5–616 to 5–634 shall fail to remedy in a manner satisfactory to the Board for the Condemnation of Insanitary Buildings the condition or conditions which led to the condemnation thereof, by failing to cause such building or part of building to be put into sanitary condition or to be demolished and removed within the time specified by said Board in the order of Condemnation or any extension thereof, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be liable to the penalties provided by section 5–631, and such building or part of building may be put into sanitary condition or be demolished and removed under the direction of said Board, and the cost of such repairs or such demolition and removal, including the cost of making good damage to adjoining premises (except such as may have resulted from carelessness or willful recklessness in the demolition or removal of such building), and the cost of publication, if any, herein provided for, less the amount, if any, received from the sale of the old material, shall be assessed by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia as a tax against the premises on which such building or part of building was situated, such tax to be collected as provided in this section: Provided, That the pendency of any review or appeal provided for by sections 5–628 and 5–629 shall stay the operation of any order issued by said Board, unless said Board shall find that the condition of said premises is such as to cause immediate danger to the health or lives of the occupants thereof or of persons living in the vicinity: Provided further, That the taxes authorized to be levied and collected under this chapter may be paid without interest within sixty days from the date such tax was levied. Interest of one-half of 1 per centum for each month or part thereof shall be charged on all unpaid amounts from the expiration of sixty days from the date such tax was levied. Any such tax may be paid in three equal installments with interest thereon. If any such tax or part thereof shall remain unpaid after the expiration of two years from the date such tax was levied, the property against which said tax was levied may be sold for such tax or unpaid portion thereof with interest and penalties thereon at the next ensuing annual tax sale in the same manner and under the same conditions as property sold for delinquent general real estate taxes, if said tax with interest and penalties thereon shall not have been paid in full prior to said sale.

§ 5–701. General purposes.

It is hereby declared to be a matter of legislative determination that owing to technological and sociological changes, obsolete lay-out, and other factors, conditions existing in the District of Columbia with respect to substandard housing and blighted areas, including the use of buildings in alleys as dwellings for human habitation, are injurious to the public health, safety, morals, and welfare, and it is hereby declared to be the policy of the United States to protect and promote the welfare of the inhabitants of the seat of the Government by eliminating all such injurious conditions by employing all means necessary and appropriate for the purpose; and control by regulatory processes having proved inadequate and insufficient to remedy the evils, it is in the judgment of Congress necessary to acquire property in the District of Columbia by gift, purchase, or the use of eminent domain to effectuate the declared policy by the discontinuance of the use for human habitation in the District of Columbia of substandard dwellings and of buildings in alleys and blighted areas, and thereby to eliminate the substandard housing conditions and the communities in the inhabited alleys and blighted areas in such District; and it is necessary to modernize the planning and development of such portions of such District. The Congress finds that the foregoing cannot be accomplished by the ordinary operations of private enterprise alone without public participation in the planning and in the financing of land assembly for such development; and that for the economic soundness of this redevelopment and the accomplishment of the necessary social and economic benefits, and by reason of the close relationships between the development and uses of any part of an urban area with the development and uses of all other parts the sound replanning and redevelopment of an obsolescent or obsolescing portion of such District cannot be accomplished unless it be done in the light of comprehensive and coordinated planning of the whole of the territory of the District of Columbia and its environs; and that this comprehensive planning and replanning should proceed vigorously without delay; and to these ends it is necessary to enact the provisions hereinafter set forth; and that the acquisition and the assembly of real property and the leasing or sale thereof for redevelopment pursuant to a project area redevelopment plan, all as provided in sections 5–701 to 5–719, is hereby declared to be a public use. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 790, ch. 736, § 2.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section 23, formerly § 22, of act Aug. 2, 1946, as renumbered act July 15, 1949, 63 Stat. 441, ch. 338, title VI, § 609, provided that: "This Act [adding sections 5–701 to 5–719] shall take effect ninety days after the date of its approval [Aug. 2, 1946]."

SHORT TITLE

Section 1 of act Aug. 2, 1946, provided that sections 5–701 to 5–719 may be cited as the "District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Commercial properties

In proceeding to condemn property as part of comprehensive plan to develop a waterfront area as well as blighted areas near it, plaintiff, whose properties lay between the waterfront and area of blight and were deemed necessary to the proper completion of the comprehensive plan, was not entitled to defeat the condemnation proceedings on the ground that properties were commercial in character, containing modern and attractive business buildings and were quite distinct from the nearby blighted areas. Donnelly v. District of Columbia Redevelopment & Land Agency et al. (1959, 269 F. 2d 546, 106 U.S. App. D.C. 99).

Constitutionality

Fifth Amendment to the Federal Constitution does not prohibit Congressional legislation to make Nation's capital beautiful as well as sanitary. Berman v. Parker (1954, 75 S. Ct. 98, 348 U. S. 26, 99 L. Ed. 27).

Tort actions

The District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency is a Federal agency within meaning of the Federal Tort Claims Act, and suits based on torts allegedly committed by the Agency or its employees acting in an official capacity are maintainable, if at all, under the Tort Claims Act, and must name the United States as defendant. C. R. Goddard v. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency etc. (1961, 287 F. 2d 343, 109 U.S. App. D.C. 304).

§ 5–702. Definitions.

The following terms, whenever used or referred to in sections 5–701 to 5–719, shall, for the purposes of sections 5–701 to 5–719 and unless a different intent clearly appears from the context, be construed as follows:

(a) The term "Agency" means the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency established by section 5–703.

(b) "District Commissioners" means the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia.

(c) "Housing" includes housing, dwelling, habitation, and residence.

(d) "Housing project" means any low-rent housing (as defined in the United States Housing Act of 1937, U. S. C., title 42, ch. 8), the development or administration of which is assisted by the United States Housing Authority.

(e) "Land" includes bare or vacant land, or the land under buildings, structures, or other improvements; also water and land under water. When employed in connection with "use," as for instance, "use of land" or "land use," "land" also includes buildings, structures, and improvements existing or to be placed thereon.

(f) "Low-rent housing" means safe and sanitary housing within the financial reach of families of comparatively low income and, as a guide for the standard of rental to be used as a maximum at the time of the enactment of this law but not necessarily thereafter, it is specified that such housing shall be rented at not more than $13 per room per month, excluding utilities.

(g) "Lessee" means an individual, partnership, corporation, religious organization, institution, or any other legal entity including, but not limited to, a redevelopment company, which has the power to conform to the applicable provisions of this chapter and to comply with the terms of the lease of a project area or part thereof, and includes the successors or assigns and successors in title of any lessee.

(h) "Planning Commission" means the National Capital Planning Commission.

(i) "Proceeds" means the money proceeds of sales or transfers by the Agency; and "net proceeds" means the gross proceeds after deducting commissions or other expenses of the sales or transfers.

(j) "Project area" is an area of such extent and location as may be adopted by the Planning Commission and approved by the District Commissioners as an appropriate unit of redevelopment planning for a redevelopment project separate from the redevelopment projects for other parts of the District of Columbia. In the provisions of sections 5–701 to 5–719 relating to lease or sale by the Agency, for abbreviation "project area" is used for the remainder of the project area after taking out those pieces of property which in accordance with section 5–706(a) shall have been or are to be transferred for public uses.

(k) "Public low-rent housing" means low-rent housing, constructed by a public agency for families of low income, at rentals which (including the value or cost to tenants of heat, light, water, and cooking fuel) shall not exceed one-fifth of the highest net family income of families eligible for tenancy in such housing, as herein provided. The dwellings in public low-rent housing shall be available solely for such families of low income whose net family income does not exceed the maximum net family income falling within the lowest 20 per centum by number of all family incomes in the District of Columbia, as such maximum net family income shall have been determined, or from time to time redetermined after public hearing, by the District Commissioners. At the end of one year after the enactment of sections 5–701 to 5–719 this definition shall be reexamined by the Commissioners for the District of Columbia and a public hearing shall be held thereon to determine whether administrative or interpretive difficulties or unsatisfactory progress in the provision of low-rent housing requires a modification thereof. Upon the conclusion of such hearing the Commissioners shall forthwith make recommendations to Congress whether said definition should be modified and, if so, to what extent.

(l) "Purchaser" means an individual, partnership, corporation, religious organization, institution, or any other legal entity including, but not limited to, a redevelopment company, which has the power to conform to the applicable provisions of this chapter and to comply with the terms of the sale of a project area or part thereof and includes the successors or assigns and successors in title of any purchaser.

(m) "Real property" includes land; also includes land together with the buildings, structures, fixtures, and other improvements thereon; also includes liens, estates, easements, and other interests therein; and also includes restrictions or limitations upon the use of land, buildings, or structures other than those imposed by exercise of the police power.

(n) "Redevelopment" means replanning, clearance, redesign, and rebuilding of project areas, including open-space types of uses, such as streets, recreation and other public grounds, and spaces around buildings, as well as buildings, structures, and improvements, but not excluding the continuance of some of the existing buildings or uses in a project area. For the purposes of sections 5–701 to 5–719, "redevelopment" also includes the replanning, redesign, and original development of undeveloped areas which, by reason of street lay-out, lot lay-out, or other causes, are backward and stagnant and therefore blighted and for which replanning and land assembly are deemed necessary as a condition of sound development.

(o) "Redevelopment company" means a private or public corporation or body corporate, whether organized under the District of Columbia Code or the laws of the United States or any State, or an unincorporated association, trust, or other legal entity, which, by virtue of the statutes, charter, articles of incorporation, instruments of trust, or other instrument defining its powers, has the power to become a lessee or purchaser of a project area and to conform to the provisions of sections 5–701 to 5–719 and to perform fully and comply with the terms of the lease or sale of such area or part thereof to it.

(p) "Rentals" means the rents specified in a lease to be paid by the lessee to the Agency; "net rentals" means gross rentals after deducting taxes payable by the Agency.

(q) "Revenues" means the revenues or income received by the Agency from real property while held by it and operated or temporarily let by it and not yet leased, transferred, or sold by it; and "net revenues" means the gross revenues after deducting repair, management, maintenance, insurance, and other operating expenses and taxes paid or payable by the Agency.

(r) "Substandard housing conditions" means the conditions obtaining in connection with the existence of any dwelling, or dwellings, or housing accommodations for human beings, which because of lack of sanitary facilities, ventilation, or light, or because of dilapidation, overcrowding, faulty interior arrangement, or any combination of these factors, is in the opinion of the Commissioners detrimental to the safety, health, morals, or welfare of the inhabitants of the District of Columbia. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 791, ch. 736, § 3; Aug. 28, 1958, 72 Stat. 1102, Pub. L. 85–854, § 1 (1, 2, 3).)

AMENDMENT

1958—Subsec. (g) amended by act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1 (1), which included individuals, partnerships, corporations, religious organizations, institutions, redevelopment companies and any other legal entities.

Subsec. (j) was amended by act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(2), which deleted "after public hearing" following "District Commissioners."

Subsec. (l) was amended by act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(3), which included individuals, partnerships, corporations, religious organizations, institutions, redevelopment companies and any other legal entities.

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective ninety days after Aug. 2, 1946, see section 22 of act Aug. 2, 1946, set out as a note under section 5–701.

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

"National Capital Planning Commission" was substituted for "National Capital Park and Planning Commission" in view of act June 6, 1924, ch. 270, § 9, as added July 19, 1952, 66 Stat. 790, ch. 949, § 1, which transferred the functions, powers and duties of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission to the National Capital Planning Commission. See section 1–1009.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Aid of private enterprise

Where redevelopment of substandard housing and blighted areas falls within the scope of congressional authority, aid of private enterprise in redevelopment of such areas may be sought. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Scope of judicial review

Wisdom or accuracy of decisions made by agencies set up by Congress to accomplish urban renewal are, for the most part, beyond scope of judicial review. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Slum

The word "slum" within meaning of the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945, authorizing seizure of realty for slum clearance and prevention, means conditions injurious to the public health, safety, morals, and welfare. Schneider v. District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 117 F. Supp. 705).

Urban renewal on area basis

Under the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Act of 1945, urban renewal may be brought about on an area, rather than on a structure-by-structure basis, thus permitting acquisition of all property within a given project area even if particular parcels may not be liable to be classified as substandard. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

§ 5–703. Establishment and powers of the Agency.

(a) The District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency is hereby established and shall be composed of five members. Two members shall be appointed by the President and three members shall be appointed by the District Commissioners, subject to confirmation by the Senate. One of the Presidential appointees may be an official of the United States Government; one appointee of the District Commissioners may be an official of the District of Columbia Government. Each nonofficial appointee shall have been a resident of the District of Columbia for at least the five next preceding years, and shall have been engaged or employed during such time in private business or industry, or the private practice of a profession, in the District of Columbia. The terms of members shall be for five years, except that the first appointment of one of the Presidential appointees shall be for three years and the other for five years; one of the first appointments of the District Commissioners shall be for four years, one for two years, and one for one year: Provided, That in the event any member shall cease to hold the official position held by him at the time of his designation or appointment, such cessation shall be deemed to create a vacancy in his membership on the Agency, such vacancy, as well as all vacancies from other causes, to be filled by designation or appointment by the President or District Commissioners for the unexpired term. The members shall receive no salary as such, but those members who hold no other salaried public position shall be paid a per diem of $20 for each day of service at meetings or on the work of the Agency.

(b) The said District of Columbia Redevelopment Agency is hereby made a body corporate of perpetual duration, the powers of which shall be vested in and exercised by the board of directors thereof, consisting of the five members thereof appointed as above set forth. It shall have the power to adopt, alter, and use a corporate seal which shall be judicially noticed; to make contracts; to sue and be sued, to complain and defend in its own name in any court of competent jurisdiction, State, Federal, or municipal; to make, deliver, and receive deeds, leases, and other instruments and to take title to real and other property in its own name; to adopt, prescribe, amend, repeal, and enforce bylaws, rules, and regulations for the exercise of its powers under sections 5–701 to 5–719 or governing the manner in which its business may be conducted and the powers granted to it by sections 5–701 to 5–719 may be exercised and enjoyed, including the selection of its chairman and other officers, together with provisions for such committees and the functions thereof as it may deem necessary for facilitation of its work; to protect and enforce any right conferred upon it by sections 5–701 to 5–719, or otherwise acquired, including any lease, sale, or other agreement made by or with it; and in general to exercise all the powers necessary or proper to the performance of its duties and functions under sections 5–701 to 5–719. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 793, ch. 736, § 4.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

Section effective ninety days after Aug. 2, 1946, see section 22 of act Aug. 2, 1946, set out as a note under section 5–701.

Administrative determination

In condemnation proceeding under the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act, District Court could not substitute its judgment for that of the legally authorized administrative agencies as to whether the properties sought to be seized were slum properties. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 70 Parcels of Land, etc. (D.C.D.C. 1954, 153 F. Supp. 840).

The necessity for seizure of title to realty by the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency under the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945 involves facts and judgment that are essentially for the administrators of the act, and function of the courts is limited to determining whether conclusions of the administrators are within reason on the record and within the congressional delegation of authority. Schneider v. District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 117 F. Supp. 705).

Aid of private enterprise

Where redevelopment of substandard housing and blighted areas falls within the scope of congressional authority, aid of private enterprise in redevelopment of such areas may be sought. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Juudgment of three judge court

Where three-judge District Court upheld, with certain limitations, constitutionality of District of Columbia Redevelopment Act and appeal was pending in Supreme Court, the one-judge District Court hearing the summary judgment motion of the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency was bound by the judgment of the three-judge District Court. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 70 Parcels of Land, etc. (D.C.D.C. 1954, 153 F. Supp. 840).

Power of Congress

Congress has the power to delegate to the District of Columbia the power to clear slums. Schneider v. District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 117 F. Supp. 705).

Scope of judicial review

Wisdom or accuracy of decisions made by agencies set up by Congress to accomplish urban renewal are, for the most part, beyond scope of judicial review. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Summary judgment

On motion for summary judgment in condemnation proceeding under District of Columbia Redevelopment Act, record disclosed no genuine issue of fact as to whether the authorized officials acted beyond the scope of the act, in including the property sought to be taken within the project area. District of Columbia Redevelopment Agency v. 70 Parcels of Land, etc. (D.C.D.C., 1954, 153 F. Supp. 840).

Title to property

Under District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945, the redevelopment land agency created by the act had right and power to take full title to realty involved in all cases in which it considered such acquisition necessary to carry out project. Berman v. Parker (1954, 75 S. Ct. 98, 348 U.S. 26, 99 L. Ed. 27).

Whether acquisition of full title to real property involved in condemnation proceedings was necessary to carry out project was a question for the redevelopment land agency created by the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945, and it was not within the province of the courts to determine such necessity. Id.

Urban renewal on area basis

Under the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Act of 1945, urban renewal may be brought about on an area, rather than on a structure-by-structure basis thus permitting acquisition of all property within a given project area even if particular parcels may not be liable to be classified as substandard. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

§ 5–704. Power to acquire and assemble real property.

(a) Subject to and in accordance with the procedures, conditions, and other provisions of sections 5–701 to 5–719, the Agency is hereby granted the power to further the redevelopment of blighted territory in the District of Columbia and the prevention, reduction, or elimination of blighting factors or causes of blight and for that purpose to acquire and assemble real property by purchase, exchange, gift, dedication, or eminent domain, and including the power to rent, maintain, manage, operate, repair, clear, transfer, lease, and sell such real property, but excluding the power to build new structures thereon (other than the improvements mentioned in section 5–706 (i) or the power to enlarge, extend, or make major structural improvements of existing buildings).

(b) Condemnation proceedings for the acquisition of real property for said purposes shall be conducted in accordance with the procedural provisions of sections 16–619 to 16–644. The title to properties acquired under sections 5–701 to 5–719 shall be taken by and in the name of the Agency and proceedings for condemnation or other acquisition of property shall be brought by and in the name of the Agency. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 793, ch. 736, § 5.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Aid of private enterprise

Where redevelopment of substandard housing and blighted areas falls within the scope of congressional authority, aid of private enterprise in redevelopment of such areas may be sought. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Commercial properties

In proceeding to condemn property as part of comprehensive plan to develop a waterfront area as well as blighted areas near it, plaintiff, whose properties lay between the waterfront and area of blight and were deemed necessary to the proper completion of the comprehensive plan, was not entitled to defeat the condemnation proceedings on the ground that properties were commercial in character, containing modern and attractive business buildings and were quite distinct from the nearby blighted areas. Donnelly v. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency et al. (1959, 269 F. 2d 546, 106 U.S. App. D.C. 99).

In view of fact that the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945 applies alike to all realty, which meets the conditions laid down in the act, and authorizing acquisition by condemnation of realty for purpose of the act without differentiating between kinds of realty, application of the act to commercial properties is not without due process of law, on ground that it is not authorized by the act. Schneider v. District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 117 F. Supp. 705).

Constitutionality

In determining constitutionality of housing redevelopment legislation, in action to enjoin condemnation of property, Supreme Court would not pass upon issue whether particular housing project was or was not desirable. Berman v. Parker (1954, 75 S. Ct. 98, 348 U.S. 26, 99 L. Ed. 27).

Rights of property owners who were defendants in condemnation proceedings instituted pursuant to District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945 were satisfied upon receipt of just compensation for the taking, as required by the Fifth Amendment to the Federal Constitution. Id.

The District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945 goes no further than to permit the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency to seize title to realty, on which slums exist or on which a slum may be foreseen, for purpose of eliminating or preventing conditions injurious to the public health, safety, morals, or welfare. and therefore the act is valid. Schneider v. District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 117 F. Supp. 705).

Eminent domain

Claim by property owner that action of District of Columbia redevelopment land agency was arbitrary and capricious in that purpose for which her property was seized was not a public purpose and that the taking was therefore illegal, presented no issue of fact precluding the granting of summary judgment. Mamer v. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency (C.A. D.C. 1960, 284 F. 2d 221).

The clearance of a slum is a public purpose, and condemnation of improvements, which create hazards to health, safety, etc., is within the power of eminent domain. Schneider v. District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 117 F. Supp. 705).

The District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency had power under the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945 to acquire by eminent domain realty to be devoted to streets, schools, recreation centers, parks, for construction of low-cost housing, and other public uses. Id.

Congress did not in the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945 confer power on the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency to seize realty beyond reasonable necessities of slum clearance and prevention. Id.

Police power

The power of the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency to clear slums lies within the well-established concepts of police power, which is the protection of the public health, safety, morals, and welfare. Schneider v. District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 117 F. Supp. 705).

Scope of judicial review

Wisdom or accuracy of decisions made by agencies set up by Congress to accomplish urban renewal are, for the most part, beyond scope of judicial review. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Standards

Standards contained in District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945 were sufficiently definite and adequate to sustain delegation of authority, to agencies concerned. for execution of plan to eliminate not only slums but also blighted areas which tend to produce slums. Berman v. Parker (1954, 75 S. Ct. 98, 348 U.S. 26, 99 L. Ed. 27).

Tort actions

The District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency is a Federal agency within meaning of the Federal Tort Claims Act, and suits based on torts allegedly committed by the Agency or its employees acting in an official capacity are maintainable, if at all, under the Tort Claims Act, and must name the United States as defendant. C. R. Goddard v. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency etc. (1961, 287 F. 2d 343, 109 U.S. App. D.C. 304).

Urban renewal on area basis

Under the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Act of 1945, urban renewal may be brought about on an area, rather than on a structure-by-structure basis thus permitting acquisition of all property within a given project area even if particular parcels may not be liable to be classified as substandard. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Verdict

In proceeding to condemn property under urban redevelopment plan, evidence sustained amount of verdict. Brabner-Smith v. Dist. of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency (C.A. D.C. 1960, 284 F. 2d 229).

§ 5–705. General and project area redevelopment plans—Shaw Junior High School.

(a) The Planning Commission is hereby directed to make and, from time to time, develop a comprehensive or general plan of the District of Columbia, including the appropriate maps, charts, tables, and descriptive, interpretative, and analytical matter, which plan is intended to serve as a general framework or guide of development within which the various project areas may be more precisely planned and calculated, and which comprehensive or general plan shall include at least a land-use plan which designates the proposed general distribution and general locations and extents of the uses of the land for housing, business, industry, recreation, education, public buildings, public reservations, and other general categories of public and private uses of the land.

(b) For the exercise of the powers granted to the Agency by sections 5–701 to 5–719 for the acquisition and disposition of real property for the redevelopment of a project area, the following steps and plans shall be requisite, namely:

(1) Adoption by the Planning Commission of the boundaries of the project area proposed by it, submission of such boundaries to the District Commissioners, and approval thereof by said Commissioners.

(2) Adoption by the Planning Commission and submission to, and, after a public hearing thereon, approval by the District Commissioners, of the redevelopment plan of the project area which shall contain a site and use plan for the redevelopment of the area, including the approximate locations and extents of the land uses proposed for and within the area, such as public buildings, streets, and other public works and utilities, housing, recreation, business, industry, schools, public and private open spaces, and other categories of public and private uses. Such plan shall also contain specifications of standards of population density and building intensity. Any such plan may also specify, by means of specification of maximum rentals or other basis, the amount or character or class of any low-rent housing for which the area or part thereof is proposed to be redeveloped.

(c) In relation to the location and extent of public works and utilities, public buildings, and other public uses in the general plan or in a project area plan, the Planning Commission is directed to confer with the Federal and District public officials, boards, authorities, and agencies under whose administrative jurisdictions such uses respectively fall. In the project area planning, the Planning Commission is directed to consult from time to time with the Agency, and the Agency shall be free at all times to submit to the Planning Commission suggestions regarding both the location and extent of project areas and the use and site plans of project areas.

(d) After a project area redevelopment plan shall have been adopted by the Planning Commission and approved by the District Commissioners, the Planning Commission shall forthwith certify said plan to the Agency, whereupon said Agency shall proceed to the exercise of the powers granted to it in sections 5–701 to 5–719 for the acquisition and assembly of the real property of the area. Following such certification, no new construction shall be authorized by the District Commissioners in such area, including substantial remodeling or conversion or rebuilding, enlargement or extension or major structural improvements on existing buildings, but not including ordinary maintenance or remodeling or changes necessary to continue the occupancy.

(e) Prior to the adoption of an urban renewal plan by the Planning Commission and approval by the District Commissioners, the Agency may exercise the powers granted to it by sections 5–701 to 5–719, for the acquisition and disposition of real property, the demolition and removal of buildings or structures, the relocation of site occupants, and the construction of site improvements for the purpose of providing a site for a new facility to replace Shaw Junior High School within the boundaries which may be established for any urban renewal project area: Provided, That (1) the District Commissioners, after a public hearing, and the Planning Commission approve the acquisition and disposition of all such property or properties; and (2) the District Commissioners agree to assume the responsibility to bear any loss that may arise as a result of the exercise of authority under this subsection in the event that the property is not used for urban renewal purposes because the urban renewal plan is not approved by all appropriate authorities or because such urban renewal plan, as approved by all appropriate authorities does not include such property or properties or is amended to omit any of the acquired property, or is abandoned for any reason. The District Commissioners and the appropriate agencies operating within the District of Columbia are authorized to do any and all things necessary to secure financial assistance under title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, to acquire and prepare a site for a new facility to replace Shaw Junior High School. The District Commissioners are authorized to assume the responsibilities described in this subsection and, to carry out the purposes of this subsection, the District Commissioners and the Agency are authorized to borrow money pursuant to the early land acquisition provisions of title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, and to issue obligations evidencing such loans and to make such pledges as may be required to secure such loans. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 794, ch. 736, § 6; Sept. 12, 1966, 80 Stat. 758, Pub L. 89–569, § 1.)

AMENDMENTS

1966—Act Sept. 12, 1966, added subsec. (e).

EFFECTIVE DATE

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Aid of private enterprise

Where redevelopment of substandard housing and blighted areas falls within the scope of congressional authority, aid of private enterprise in redevelopment of such areas may be sought. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Area planning

Congress had power, in enacting housing legislation applicable to District of Columbia, to provide that whole area should be redesigned, notwithstanding contention of owner of commercial structure sought to be condemned that his particular building did not imperil health or safety nor contribute to making of slum or blighted area. Berman v. Parker (1954, 75 S. Ct. 98, 348 U. S. 26, 99 L. Ed. 27).

Basis for seizure

Title to realty cannot be seized by the Government merely because a slum presently exists on the realty, and some further necessitous circumstance must exist to validate such a seizure, and it must be either that the clearance of the slum is impracticable without taking title to realty or that proposed restrictions, which can be imposed only through medium of resale, are fairly calculated to prevent recurrence of slum conditions. Schneider v. District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 117 F. Supp. 705).

Diversification for future use

Diversification in future use of entire area for new homes, schools, churches, parks, streets and shopping centers was relevant to maintenance of desired housing standards and was therefore within congressional power in enactment of redevelopment legislation applicable to District of Columbia. Berman v. Parker (1954, 75 S. Ct. 98, 348 U.S. 26, 99 L. Ed. 27).

Property included

Property which, standing by itself, is innocuous and unoffending may be taken for redevelopment pursuant to District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945. Berman v. Parker (1954, 75 S. Ct. 98, 348 U.S. 26, 99 L. Ed. 27).

Public hearing

Question of necessity for public hearing antecedent to designation of urban renewal project area became moot when designation was rescinded and, accordingly, the Court of Appeals was precluded from reviewing that question on appeal from summary judgment for defendants in suit challenging action of Commissioners of District of Columbia in designating area, and appropriate procedure was for Court of Appeals to direct that judgment in favor of defendants be vacated and that case be remanded to District Court for dismissal of complaint. Gudelsky et al. v. Spencer et al. (1957, 242 F. 2d 29, 100 U.S. App. D.C. 56).

Redevlopment area

The District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945 does not authorize the seizure, redevelopment and sale of all realty in any area that the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency might select as appropriate, merely because the area includes a slum area. Schneider v. District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 117 F. Supp. 705).

Congress, in enacting the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act, had no power to authorize seizure by eminent domain of realty for sole purpose of redeveloping area according to the judgment of the administrators of the act as to what a well-developed, well-balanced neighborhood would be, if no slum existed in the area and the seizure was not for public use. Id.

Scope of judicial review

Wisdom or accuracy of decisions made by agencies set up by Congress to accomplish urban renewal are, for the most part, beyond scope of judicial review. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Urban renewal on area basis

Under the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Act of 1945, urban renewal may be brought about on an area, rather than on a structure-by-structure basis thus permitting acquisition of all property within a given project area even if particular parcels may not be liable to be classified as substandard. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

§ 5–706. Transfer, lease, or sale of real property in project area for public and private uses.

(a) After any real property in the project area shall have been acquired by the Agency, the Agency shall have the power to transfer to and shall at a practicable time or times transfer by deeds to the United States or to the District of Columbia, or to the appropriate Federal or District public body, department, or agency, those pieces of real property which, in accordance with the approved project area redevelopment plan, are to be devoted to public uses (other than public housing) falling within the construction or administrative jurisdiction of Federal or District agencies, such as streets and other utilities and works, Federal and District public buildings, public recreational spaces, and schools. The Federal agencies and the public agencies of the District of Columbia are hereby empowered, respectively, to acquire real property from the Agency for the uses respectively specified in the project area plan and to pay for same out of their funds duly appropriated for such acquisition. Excepting for such property as may be transferred by dedication, gift, or exchange, the transferee agency shall pay to the Agency such sum as may be agreed upon or, in the absence of agreement, as may be fixed by the Chief Judge of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia.

(b) The Agency, after it has acquired any or all of the real property in the project area, shall have the power to lease or sell so much thereof as is not to be devoted to public use, as an entirety or parts thereof separately to lessees or purchasers. Said real property may include streets or parts thereof which in accordance with the plan are to be closed or vacated or other than publicly owned properties; and the Federal and District departments and agencies are empowered to transfer said spaces or properties to the Agency for such sums or other consideration as may be agreed upon.

(c) Any such lease or sale may be made without public bidding but only after a public hearing, after ten days' public notice, by the Agency upon the proposed lease or sale and the provisions thereof.

(d) The term of any such lease shall be fixed by the Agency and the instrument of lease may provide for renewals upon reappraisals and with rentals and other provisions adjusted to such reappraisals. Every such lease and every contract of sale and deed shall provide that the lessee or purchaser shall (1) devote the real property to the uses specified in the approved project area redevelopment plan or approved modifications thereof; (2) begin within a reasonable time any improvements on the real property required by the plan; and (3) comply with such other conditions as the Agency may find necessary to carry out the purposes of sections 5–701 to 5–719: Provided, That clause (2) of this sentence shall not apply to a mortgagee or trustee under deed of trust or others who acquire an interest in such real property as the result of the enforcement of any lien or claim thereon. In the instrument, or instruments, of lease or sale, the Agency may include such other terms, conditions, and provisions as in its judgment will provide reasonable assurance of the priority of the obligations of the lease or sale and of conformance to the plan over any other obligations of the lessee or purchaser and also assurance of the financial and legal ability of the lessee or purchaser to carry out and conform to the plan and the terms and conditions of the lease or sale; also, such terms, conditions, and specifications concerning buildings, improvements, subleases, or tenancies, maintenance and management, and any other related matters as the Agency may reasonably impose or approve, including provisions whereby the obligations to carry out and conform to the project area plan shall run with the land. In the event that maximum rentals to be charged to tenants of housing be specified, provision may be made for periodic reconsideration of such rental bases, with a view to proposing modification of the project area plan with respect to such rentals.

(e) Until the Agency certifies that all building constructions and other physical improvements specified to be done and made by the purchaser of the area have been completed, the purchaser shall have no power to convey (except to a mortgagee or trustee under a deed of trust) the area, or any part thereof, without the consent of the Agency; and no such consent shall be given unless the grantee of the purchaser obligates itself or himself by written instrument to the Agency to carry out that portion of the redevelopment plan which falls within the boundaries of the conveyed property, and also that the grantee, his or its heirs, representatives, successors, and assigns, shall have no right or power to convey, lease, or let the conveyed property or any part thereof or erect or use any building or structure erected thereon free from the obligation and requirement to conform to the approved project area redevelopment plan or approved modifications thereof.

(f) No lease or sale of any project area or portion thereof shall be made by the Agency to any public redevelopment company unless the terms of such lease or sale shall provide greater compensation to the Agency than any offer or combination of offers based on substantially the same area and substantially the same redevelopment plan which shall be received from any responsible private sources (eligible as purchasers or lessees under sections 5–701 to 5–719) within a reasonable announced period of time (not less than thirty days) after the public hearing on such proposed lease or sale. It is the intent of this provision that private enterprise as represented through a responsible private lessee or purchaser shall be given a preference over any public redevelopment company in such lease or sale provided such preference can be given, in the judgment of the Agency, consistently with the protection of the public interest and consistently with a purpose to resort to a public redevelopment company only in the event that private enterprise shall not reasonably be available for the development of the project area or the part thereof under consideration.

(g) The Agency may itself demolish any existing structure or clear the area or any part thereof, or may specify the demolition and clearance to be performed by a lessee or purchaser within a reasonable time after such lease or purchase. The Agency may specify a reasonable time schedule and reasonable conditions for the construction of buildings and other improvements by a lessee or purchaser: Provided, That any such time schedule or condition shall be specified prior to the offering of the area or part thereof for lease or sale, and shall be equally binding upon any purchaser or lessee, public or private. The cost of demolition or clearance made by the Agency pursuant to this subsection shall be treated as an item of cost of the acquisition of the area.

(h) In order to facilitate the lease or sale of a project area or, in the event that the lease or sale is of parts of an area, then to facilitate the leases or sales of such parts, the Agency shall have the power to include in the cost payable by it the cost of the construction of local streets and sidewalks within the area or of grading and other local public surface or subsurface facilities necessary for shaping the area as the site of the redevelopment of the area. The Agency may arrange with the appropriate Federal or District agencies for the reimbursement of such outlays from funds or assessments raised or levied for such purposes.

(i) In the lease or sale of a project area or part thereof which is designated for commercial or industrial use under the project area redevelopment plan, the Agency shall establish a policy which in its judgment will provide, to business concerns which are displaced from a project area, a priority of opportunity to relocate in commercial or industrial facilities provided in connection with such development. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 795, ch. 736, § 7; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32 (a), (b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127; Aug. 28, 1958, 72 Stat. 1103, Pub. L. 85–854, § 1 (4—11).)

AMENDMENT

1958—Subsec. (a) was amended by act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(4), which substituted "After any real property in the project area shall have been acquired" for "After the real property in the project area shall have been assembled."

Subsec. (b) was amended by act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(5)(6), which substituted "The Agency, after it has acquired any or all of the real property in the project area, shall have the power to lease or sell so much thereof as is not to be devoted to public use, as an entirety or parts thereof separately to lessees or purchasers" for "The Agency shall have the power to lease or sell the remainder of the project area as an entirety to a redevelopment company or to an individual or a partnership," and "real property" for "remainder."

Subsec. (d) was amended by act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(7), which substituted "Every such lease and every contract of sale and deed shall provide that the lessee or purchaser shall (1) devote the real property to the uses specified in the approved project area redevelopment plan or approved modifications thereof; (2) begin within a reasonable time any improvements on the real property required by the plan; and (3) comply with such other conditions as the Agency may find necessary to carry out the purposes of this chapter: Provided, That clause (2) of this sentence shall not apply to a mortgagee or trustee under deed of trust or others who acquire an interest in such real property as the result of the enforcement of any lien or claim thereon" for "Every such lease or sale shall provide that the lessee or purchaser shall carry out or cause to be carried out the approved project area redevelopment plan or approved modifications thereof and that no use shall be made of any land or real property included in the lease or sale nor any building or structure erected thereon which does not conform to such approved plan or approved modifications thereof."

Subsec. (e) was amended by act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(8), which inserted the parenthetical clause relating to mortgagees and trustees, and deleted "or mortgagee" which followed "grantee."

Subsec. (f), formerly (g), so redesignated by act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(9)(10), and amended by substituting "lessee or purchaser" for "redevelopment company, individual or partnership." Former subsec. (f) was repealed by act Aug. 28, 1958.

Subsec. (i) was added by act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(11).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Aid of private enterprise

Where redevelopment of substandard housing and blighted areas falls within the scope of congressional authority, aid of private enterprise in redevelopment of such areas may be sought. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Commercial properties

In proceeding to condemn property as part of comprehensive plan to develop a waterfront area as well as blighted areas near it, plaintiff, whose properties lay between the waterfront and area of blight and were deemed necessary to the proper completion of the comprehensive plan, was not entitled to defeat the condemnation proceedings on the ground that properties were commercial in character, containing modern and attractive business buildings and were quite distinct from the nearby blighted areas. Donnelly v. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency et al. (1959, 269 F. 2d 546, 106 U.S. App. D.C. 99).

Declaratory judgment

Where plaintiff's tenant operating a restaurant on part of premises taken for a redevelopment plan applied to the Agency for space in the area when redeveloped and proposal at which plaintiff was present in opposition was tentatively accepted and the plaintiff's request for the same site was rejected subject to condition to submit a specific proposal to the Agency, plaintiff was not entitled to a declaratory judgment seeking to exclude the tenant from consideration and obtain the site tentatively allocated to it, where the plaintiff did not name the tenant as a party defendant in her complaint. Donnelly v. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency et al. (1959, 269 F. 2d 546, 106 U.S. App. D.C. 99).

Private use

Congressional legislation authorizing community redevelopment in the District of Columbia was not unconstitutional as taking from one business man for the benefit of another, though it authorized condemnation of commercial structures and use of private enterprise for redevelopment, and permitted certain property owners in area to repurchase their property for redevelopment in harmony with overall plan. Berman v. Parker (1954, 75 S. Ct. 98, 348 U. S. 26, 99 L. Ed. 27).

Scope of judicial review

Wisdom or accuracy of decisions made by agencies set up by Congress to accomplish urban renewal are, for the most part, beyond scope of judicial review. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

Subsequent use

If realty is seized by the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency under the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945 for purpose of eliminating or preventing slums, fact that realty may be sold subsequently to private persons does not vitiate the validity of the seizure. Schneider v. District of Columbia et al. (D.C.D.C. 1953, 117 F. Supp. 705).

The taking of title to realty by the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency under the District of Columbia Redevelopment Act of 1945 for public purpose of eliminating or preventing slums is within the power of eminent domain, even though use to which realty is put after seizure is not a public use, provided that seizure of title is necessary for elimination of slums, or that proposed disposition of title may reasonably be expected to prevent the otherwise probable development of a slum. Id.

Urban renewal on area basis

Under the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Act of 1945, urban renewal may be brought about on an area, rather than on a structure-by-structure basis thus permitting acquisition of all property within a given project area even if particular parcels may not be liable to be classified as substandard. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency v. 40 Parcels of Land etc. (D.C.D.C. 1959, 171 F. Supp. 138).

§ 5–707. Housing for displaced families.

(a) Prior to approval by the District Commissioners, pursuant to subparagraph (2) of section 5–705 (b), of any redevelopment plan, the District Commissioners shall satisfy themselves (and shall so state at the public hearing required by such subparagraph) that decent, safe, and sanitary housing, substantially equal in quantity to the number of substandard dwelling units to be removed or demolished within the project area, under the proposed redevelopment plan, are available or will be provided (by construction pursuant to the redevelopment plan, or otherwise) in localities, and at rents or prices, within the reach of the low-income families displaced or to be displaced (temporarily or permanently), pursuant to the redevelopment plan, from the project area.

(b) Families displaced by slum clearance or redevelopment under sections 5–701 to 5–719 shall be given preference as tenants to fill vacancies occurring in housing owned or operated within the District of Columbia by Federal or District of Columbia governmental agencies until appropriate housing is available to such families. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 797, ch. 736, § 8.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

§ 5–708. Acquisition of property from prospective lessee or purchaser.

As an aid in the acquisition of the real property of a project area, the Agency may accept a fund or, at an agreed value, any parcel or parcels of property within such area, from any redevelopment company or partnership or individual, subject to a provision that in the event the supplier of any such fund or the conveyor of such property shall become the purchaser of the project area or any part or parts thereof such fund or the agreed value of such property shall be credited on the purchase price of such area or part thereof and if there be an excess above the cost of acquisition of the area such excess shall be returned, and that in the event that such supplier or conveyor does not become the purchaser of such area or any part thereof, the amount of the fund or the agreed value of such property (as the case may be) shall be paid to such supplier or conveyor. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 797, ch. 736, § 9.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

§ 5–709. Use-value appraisals.

Before leasing or selling any piece or tract of land in the project area which is to be used for private uses or for low rent housing, the Agency shall, as an aid to it in determining the rentals and other terms upon which it will lease or the price at which it will sell the area or parts thereof, place a use-value upon such piece or tract of land, such use-value to be based on the planned use; and, for the purpose of this use valuation, it shall cause a use-value appraisal to be made by two or more land-value experts employed by it for the purpose; but nothing contained in this section shall be construed as requiring the Agency to base its rentals or selling prices upon such appraisal.

The aggregate use-values placed by the Agency upon pieces or tracts of land within a particular project area leased or sold by the Agency for private uses and for low-rent housing, shall not be less than one-third of the aggregate cost to the Agency of acquiring such land (excluding the cost of old buildings destroyed and the demolition and clearance thereof). (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 797, ch. 736, § 10; Aug. 28, 1958, 72 Stat. 1103, Pub. L. 85–854, § 1 (12).)

AMENDMENT

1958—Act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(12), amended section by substituting "Before leasing or selling any piece or tract of land in the project area which is to be used for private uses or for low rent housing, the Agency" for "After the Agency shall have assembled and acquired the real propert (sic) of a project area, it", and "such piece or tract of land" for "each piece or tract of land within the area which, in accordance with the plan is to be used for private uses or for low-rent housing", and "The aggregate use-values placed by the Agency upon pieces or tracts of land within a particular project area leased or sold by the Agency for private uses and for low-rent housing, shall not be less than one-third of the aggregate cost to the Agency of acquiring such land (excluding the cost of old buildings destroyed and the demolition and clearance thereof)" for "The aggregate use value placed, for purposes of lease or sale, upon all land, within a particular project area, leased or sold by the Agency pursuant to this Act shall be not less than one-third of the aggregate cost to the Agency of acquiring all such land (excluding the cost of old buildings destroyed and the demolition and clearance thereof)".

EFFECTIVE DATE

§ 5–710. Protection of redevelopment plan.

(a) Previous to the execution and delivery by the Agency of a lease or conveyance to a redevelopment company or previous to the consent by the Agency to an assignment or conveyance by a lessee or purchaser to a redevelopment company, the articles or certificate of incorporation or association or charter or other basic instrument of such company shall contain provisions so defining, limiting, and regulating the exercise of the powers of the company that neither the company nor its stockholders, its officers, its directors, its members, its beneficiaries, its bondholders, or other creditors or other persons shall have any power to amend or to effect the amendment of the terms and conditions of the lease or the terms and conditions of the sale without the consent of the Agency or, in relation to the project area redevelopment plan, without the approval of any proposed modification in accordance with the provisions of section 5–711; and no action of stockholders, officers, directors, bondholders, creditors, partners or other persons, nor any reorganization, dissolution, receivership, consolidation, foreclosure, or any other change in the status or obligation of any redevelopment company, partnership, or individual in any litigation or proceeding in any Federal or other court shall effect any release or any impairment or modification of the lease or terms of sale or of the project area redevelopment plan unless such consent or approval be obtained.

(b) Redevelopment corporations may be organized under the provisions of chapter 2 of title 29; and said corporations shall have the power to be redevelopment companies under sections 5–701 to 5–719 and to acquire and hold real property for the purposes set forth in sections 5–701 to 5–719 and to exercise all other powers granted to redevelopment companies in sections 5–701 to 5–719 subject to the provisions, limitations, and obligations set forth in sections 5–701 to 5–719.

(c) The Agency may require that any lessee or purchaser to which any project area or part thereof is leased or sold under sections 5–701 to 5–719 shall keep books of account of its operations of or transactions relating to such area or part thereof entirely separate and distinct from its or his accounts of and for any other project area or part thereof or any other real property or enterprise; and the Agency may, in its discretion, require, for such period as it may specify, that no lien or other interest shall be placed upon any real property in said area to secure any indebtedness or obligation of the lessee or purchaser incurred for or in relation to any property or enterprise outside of said area. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 798, ch. 736, § 11; Aug. 28, 1958, 72 Stat. 1104, Pub. L. 85–854, § 1 (13).)

AMENDMENT

1958—Act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(13), substituted "The Agency may require that any lessee or purchaser to which any project area or part thereof is leased or sold under this chapter shall keep books of account of its operations of or transactions relating to such area or part thereof entirely separate and distinct from its or his accounts of and for any other project area or part thereof or any other real property or enterprise; and the Agency may, in its discretion, require, for such period as it may specify, that no lien or other interest shall be placed upon any real property in said area to secure any indebtedness or obligation of the lessee or purchaser incurred for or in relation to any property or enterprise outside of said area", for "A redevelopment company, individual, or partnership to which any project area or part thereof is leased or sold under sections 5–701 to 5–719 shall keep books of account of its operations of or transactions relating to such area or part thereof entirely separate and distinct from its or his accounts of and for any other project area or part thereof or any other real property or enterprise; and no lien or other interest shall be placed upon any real property in said area to secure any indebtedness or obligation of the redevelopment company, individual, or partnership incurred for or in relation to any property or enterprise outside of said area."

§ 5–711. Modification of redevelopment plans.

An approved project area redevelopment plan may be modified at any time or times: Provided, That any such modification as it may affect an area or part thereof which has been sold or leased shall not become effective without the consent in writing of the purchaser or lessee thereof: Provided further, That such modification may be effected only through adoption by the Planning Commission and subsequent submission to and approval by the District Commissioners, as hereinafter provided. Before approval, the District Commissioners shall hold a public hearing on the proposed modification after ten days' public notice. The District Commissioners may refer back to the Planning Commission any project area redevelopment plan, project area boundaries, or modification submitted to it, together with their recommendation for changes in such plan, boundaries, or modification, and, if such recommended changes be adopted by the Planning Commission and be in turn approved by the District Commissioners, the plan, boundaries, or modification as thus changed shall be and become the approved plan, boundaries, or modification. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 798, ch. 736, § 12; Aug. 28, 1958, 72 Stat. 1104, Pub. L. 85–854, § 1 (14).)

AMENDMENT

1958—Act Aug. 28, 1958, § 1(14), substituted "after ten day's public notice" for "notice of the time and place of which shall be given by mail sent at least ten days prior to the hearing to the then owners of the real properties in the project area and of the real properties immediately adjoining or across the street from the project area."

§ 5–712. Limitation upon tax exemption.

Nothing contained in sections 5–701 to 5–719 shall be construed to authorize or require the exemption of any real property from taxation. No real property acquired by the Agency under sections 5–701 to 5–719 shall be exempt from taxation by reason of such acquisition or by reason of the holding thereof by the Agency; and, in the case of any piece of real property, which, under the project area redevelopment plan, is designated to be used for Federal or District or other tax-exempt uses, the exemption of such real property from taxation granted by or in sections 47–801a to 47–801b, or other statute, shall not commence until title thereto shall have been transferred from the Agency to the United States or the District of Columbia or to a Federal or District public agency as provided in section 5–706 or sold or leased to a public redevelopment company or other public corporation or tax-exempt agency and may thereby become exempt from taxation by reason of the provisions of statutes other than sections 5–701 to 5–719; the intention being that ownership or operation by the Agency in the exercise of its power under sections 5–701 to 5–719 shall not, in and of itself, produce tax exemption. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 799, ch. 736, § 13.)

(c) to appoint and employ such officers and employees as it may find necessary for the proper performance of its duties under sections 5–701 to 5–719 and to prescribe their authorities, duties, responsibilities, and tenures and fix their compensations; such appointments and employments to be made in conformance with the civil-service laws and section 305, chapter 51, subchapter III of chapter 53, and sections 5341, 5342, 5504, 5509 and 7154, of title 5, U.S. Code [relating to the classification of government employees and related matters]; and

(d) to make such expenditures, subject to audit under the general law, for the acquisition and maintenance of adequate vehicles, furnishings, equipment, supplies, books of reference, directories, periodicals, newspapers, printing and binding, and for such other expenses as may from time to time be found necessary for the proper administration of sections 5–701 to 5–719. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 799, ch. 736, § 14; Oct. 28, 1949, 63 Stat. 972, ch. 782, title XI, § 1106(a).)

§ 5–714. Annual report.

On or before the last day of September of each year the Agency shall make an annual report to Congress of its operations and expenditures for the immediately preceding fiscal year, said report to include a financial balance sheet of its entire operations hereunder, and a recital in such particularity as is feasible of what the Agency proposes to do during the next succeeding fiscal year. The Agency shall make such other and further reports, in such form and at such times as the Congress by concurrent resolution shall require. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 800, ch. 736, § 15.)

EFFECTIVE DATE

§ 5–715. Appropriations authorized.

(a) There is hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any moneys in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, whatever amounts are necessary to the Planning Commission, in addition to other funds which may be appropriated to it or private funds made available to it (the acceptance of which is hereby authorized), for the making or modification of a general or comprehensive plan and the making or modification of project area redevelopment plans and for surveys as authorized in sections 5–701 to 5–719, and other administrative expenses in connection therewith. The Commission is also authorized to receive any grants that the Congress may appropriate for said purposes to the various States and municipalities and the District of Columbia.

(b) There is further authorized to be appropriated out of any moneys in the Treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated, the sum of $20,000,000, which sum shall be placed to the credit of a special trust fund to be established for the purposes hereinafter set out. There shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States and credited to said special trust fund all revenues, rentals, proceeds, and other funds received by the Agency. The said special trust fund is hereby made available to the Agency for the purpose of acquiring real property and performing any act required or authorized by sections 5–701 to 5–719. The Agency shall from time to time submit to the District Commissioners estimates of amounts for the reasonable and necessary expenses of the Agency, including personal services, and such amounts as may be approved by the District Commissioners shall be available from the said special trust fund for such expenses.

(c) As of the last day of the tenth fiscal year beginning after approval of sections 5–701 to 5–719, or as of such later date as may be fixed by the Congress, there shall be transferred and credited to miscellaneous receipts of the United States the balance in the said special trust fund after deducting (a) such amount as may be necessary for the completion of any approved project the acquisition of which has been begun and (b) such amount for operating expenses of the Agency for one year as may be approved by the District Commissioners. If the balance so transferred and credited be insufficient to reimburse the United States for appropriations made pursuant to paragraph (b) of this section, then an amount equal to 50 per centum of the deficit shall be payable to the United States from revenues of the District of Columbia in installments of equal amounts for each of ten years. The District Commissioners shall include in their annual estimates of appropriations items for the payment of such installments. The aforesaid deficit shall be determined by deducting from the total of said appropriations an amount equal to (a) the fund transferred and credited to miscellaneous receipts of the United States, (b) the cost to the Agency of the real property owned by it on said date, and (c) the reserve for completion of approved projects. All subsequent proceeds, revenues, and rentals from said real property shall be credited to the said special trust fund, to be disposed of as the Congress may direct. (Aug. 2, 1946, 60 Stat. 800, ch. 736, § 16.)

From and after the termination of the period of one year, beginning August 2, 1946, all authority granted by sections 5–103 to 5–105, and 5–106 to 5–116, to acquire, by purchase, condemnation, or gift, lands, buildings and structures, or any interest therein, is hereby transferred to and vested in the Agency created by sections 5–701 to 5–719. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Commercial properties

In proceeding to condemn property as part of comprehensive plan to develop a waterfront area as well as blighted areas near it, plaintiff, whose properties lay between the waterfront and area of blight and were deemed necessary to the proper completion of the comprehensive plan, was not entitled to defeat the condemnation proceedings on the ground that properties were commercial in character, containing modern and attractive business buildings and were quite distinct from the nearby blighted areas. Donnelly v. District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency et al. (1959, 269 F. 2d 546, 106 U.S. App. D.C. 99).

§ 5–717a. Acceptance of financial assistance authorized.

(a) As an alternative method of financing its authorized operations and functions under the provisions of sections 5–701 to 5–719 (in addition to that provided in section 5–715), the Agency is hereby authorized and empowered to accept financial assistance from the Housing and Home Finance Administrator (hereafter in this section referred to as the Administrator), in the form of advances of funds, loans, and capital grants pursuant to title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, to assist the Agency in acquiring real property for redevelopment of project areas and carrying out any functions authorized under sections 5–701 to 5–719 for which advances of funds, loans, or capital grants may be made to a local public agency under title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, and the Agency, subject to the approval of the District Commissioners and subject to such terms, covenants, and conditions as may be prescribed by the Administrator pursuant to title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, may enter into such contracts and agreements as may be necessary, convenient, or desirable for such purposes.

(b) Subject to the approval of the District Commissioners, the Agency is authorized to accept from the Administrator advances of funds for surveys and plans in preparation of a project or projects authorized by sections 5–701 to 5–719 which may be assisted under title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, and the Agency is authorized to transfer to the Planning Commission so much of the funds so advanced as the District Commissioners shall determine to be necessary for the Planning Commission to carry out its functions under sections 5–701 to 5–719 with respect to the project or projects to be assisted under title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended.

(c) The District Commissioners are authorized to include in their annual estimates of appropriations items for administrative expenses which, in addition to loan or other funds available therefor, are necessary for the Agency in carrying out its functions under this section.

(d) Notwithstanding the limitation contained in the last sentence of section 110 (d) or in any other provision of title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, the Administrator is authorized to allow and credit to the Agency such local grants-in-aid as are approvable pursuant to said section 110 (d) with respect to any project or projects undertaken by the Agency under a contract or contracts entered into under this section and assisted under title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended. In the event such local grants-in-aid as are so allowed by the Administrator are not sufficient to meet the requirements for local grants-in-aid pursuant to title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, the District Commissioners are hereby authorized to enter into agreements with the Agency, upon which agreements the Administrator may rely, to make cash payments of such deficiencies from funds of the District of Columbia. The District Commissioners shall include items for such cash payments in their annual estimates of appropriations, and there are hereby authorized to be appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the amounts necessary to provide for such cash payments. Any amounts due the Administrator pursuant to any such agreements shall be paid promptly from funds appropriated for such purpose.

(e) All receipts of the Agency in connection with any project or projects financed in accordance with this section with assistance under title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, whether in the form of advances of funds, loans, or capital grants made by the Administrator to the Agency, or in the form of proceeds, rentals, or revenues derived by the Agency from any such project or projects, shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States to the credit of a special fund or funds, and all moneys in such special fund or funds are hereby made available for carrying out the purposes of sections 5–701 to 5–719 with respect to such project or projects, including the payment of any advances of funds or loans, together with interest thereon, made by the Administrator or by private sources to the Agency. Expenditures from such fund shall be audited, disbursed, and accounted for as are other funds of the District of Columbia.

(f) With respect to any project or projects undertaken by the Agency which are financed in accordance with this section with assistance under title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended—

(1) sections 5–702 (f), 5–702 (k), and 5–706 (g), and the last sentence of section 5–705 (b)

(2) shall not be applicable to those pieces of real property which, in accordance with the approved project area redevelopment plan, are to be devoted to public housing to be undertaken under Public Law 307, Seventy-third Congress, approved June 12, 1934, as amended;

(2) the site and use plan for the redevelopment of the area, included in the redevelopment plan of the project area pursuant to section 5–705 (b) (2), shall include the approximate extent and location of any land within the area which is proposed to be used for public housing to be undertaken under Public Law 307, Seventy-third Congress, approved June 12, 1934, as amended;

(3) notwithstanding any other provisions of sections 5–701 to 5–719 the Agency, pursuant to section 5–706 (a), shall have power to transfer to and shall at a practicable time or times transfer by deeds to the National Capital Housing Authority those pieces of real property which, in accordance with the approved project area redevelopment plan, are to be devoted to public housing to be undertaken under Public Law 307, Seventy-third Congress, approved June 12, 1934, as amended, and, in accordance with the requirements of section 107 of the Housing Act of 1949, the National Capital Housing Authority shall pay for the same out of any of its funds available for such acquisition.

(g) It is the purpose and intent of this section to authorize the District Commissioners and the appropriate agencies operating within the District of Columbia to do any and all things necessary to secure financial aid under title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended. The District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency is hereby declared to be a local public agency for all of the purposes of title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended. As such a local public agency for all of the purposes of title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, the Agency is also authorized to borrow money from the Administrator or from private sources as contemplated by title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, to issue its obligations evidencing such loans, and to pledge as security for the payment of such loans, and the interest thereon, the property, income, revenues, and other assets acquired in connection with the project or projects financed in accordance with this section with assistance under title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, but such obligations or such pledge shall not constitute a debt or obligation of either the United States or of the District of Columbia.

(h) Nothing contained in this section or in sections 5–701 to 5–719 shall relieve the Administrator of his responsibilities and duties under section 105 (c) or any other section of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended. The Administrator shall not enter into any contract of financial assistance under title I of this Act with respect to any project of the District of Columbia Redevelopment Land Agency for which a budget estimate of appropriation was transmitted pursuant to law and for which no appropriation was made by the Congress.

(i) In addition to its authority under any other provision of sections 5–701 to 5–719, the Agency is hereby authorized to plan and undertake urban renewal projects (as such projects are defined in title

I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended), and in connection therewith the Agency, the District Commissioners, the National Capital Planning Commission, and the other appropriate agencies operating within the District of Columbia shall have all of the rights and powers which they have with respect to a project or projects financed in accordance with the preceding subsections of this section: Provided, That for the purpose of this subsection the word "redevelopment" wherever found in sections 5–701 to 5–719 (except in section 5–702 (n)) shall mean "urban renewal", and the references in section 5–705 to the acquisition, disposition, or assembly of real property for a project shall mean the undertaking of an urban renewal project.

(j) The District Commissioners are hereby authorized to prepare a workable program as prescribed by section 101 (c) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended, and are also authorized to request the necessary funds for the preparation of said workable program. The Commissioners may request the participation of the Agency in the preparation of said workable program and may include in their annual estimates of appropriations such funds as may be required by the Commissioners or the Agency, or both, for this purpose. The District Commissioners are hereby authorized, with or without reimbursement, to cooperate with the Agency in carrying out urban renewal projects and to utilize for that purpose the facilities and personnel of the District of Columbia under agreement with the Agency. (Aug. 2, 1946, ch. 736, § 20 as added July 15, 1949, 63 Stat. 441, ch. 338, title VI, § 609, and amended Aug. 2, 1954, 68 Stat. 630, ch. 639, title III, § 316.)

§ 5–721. Same; determination of necessity.

The said Commissioners shall, prior to transferring to the Agency right, title, and interest in and to any of the said property described in section 5–720, determine whether such property is necessary to the redevelopment of the southwest section of the District of Columbia in accordance with an urban renewal plan approved by them, and, if they so find, they shall, acting on behalf of the United States, transfer and donate to the Agency all right, title, and interest of the United States in and to so much

Any such conveyance of an individual condominium unit shall be deemed to also convey the undivided interest of the owner in the common elements, both general and limited, and of any accessory units, if any, appertaining to said condominium unit without specifically or particularly referring to the same. § 5–911. Termination and waiver of regime.

(a) All the co-owners or the sole owner of a building constituted into a horizontal property regime may terminate and waive this regime and regroup or merge the individual and several condominium units with the principal property; such termination and waiver shall be by certification to such effect upon the plat of condominium subdivision establishing the particular horizontal property regime under the hands and seals of the said sole owner or co-owners, in the presence of two credible witnesses, upon the same plat or upon a paper or parchment attached thereto: Provided, That the said individual condominium units are unencumbered, or if encumbered, that the creditors in whose behalf the encumbrances are recorded agree to accept as security the undivided interest in the property of the debtor co-owner and said creditors or trustees under duly recorded deeds of trust, shall signify their assent to such termination and waiver upon the aforesaid plat, paper, or parchment: Provided further, That should the buildings or other improvements in a condominium project be more than two-thirds destroyed by fire or other disaster, the co-owners of three-fourths of the condominium project may waive and terminate the horizontal property regime and may certify to such termination and waiver: Provided further, That if within ninety days of the date of such damage or destruction:

(1) the council of co-owners does not determine to repair, reconstruct or rebuild as provided in sections 5–921 and 5–922 or,

(2) the insurance indemnity is delivered pro rata to the co-owners in conformity with the provisions of section 5–921 and if the co-owners do not terminate and waive the regime in conformity with this section, then any unit owner or any other person aggrieved thereby may file a petition in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, setting forth under oath such facts as may be necessary to entitle the petitioner to the relief prayed and praying judicial termination of the horizontal property regime. Said petition may be served on the person designated in the by-laws in conformity with section 5–914(a)(7). The court may thereupon lay a rule upon the council of co-owners, unless they shall voluntarily appear and admit the allegations of the petition, to show cause, under oath, on or before the tenth day, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, after service of such rule, why the prayers of said petition should not be granted. If no cause be shown against the prayer of the petition by the council of co-owners, or by any one of the co-owners, the court may determine in a summary way whether the facts warrant termination and thereupon the court may decree the particular horizontal property regime terminated.

(b) In the event a horizontal property regime is terminated or waived, the property shall be deemed to be owned in common by the co-owners, and the undivided interest in the property owned in common which shall appertain to each co-owner shall be the percentage of undivided interest previously owned by such co-owner in the common elements in the property as set forth in the declaration under section 6 hereof.

(c) Upon such termination and waiver the provisions of section 5–910 shall no longer be applicable and reference to the principal property thereupon, shall be to the plat and record of the prior land subdivision and thereupon the restraint against partition or division of the co-ownership imposed by section 5–907 shall no longer apply. In the event of such partition suit the net proceeds shall be divided among all the unit owners, in proportion to their respective undivided ownership of the common elements, after first paying off, out of the respective shares of the unit owners, all liens on the unit of each unit owner. To be valid such termination shall be recorded among the land records of the District of Columbia. (Dec. 21, 1963, 77 Stat. 453, Pub. L. 88–218, § 11; Aug. 21, 1964, 78 Stat. 586, Pub. L. 88–475, § 1(d).)

(c) Each unit owner shall comply strictly with the bylaws and with the administrative rules and regulations adopted pursuant thereto, as either of the same may be lawfully amended from time to time. Failure to comply with any of the same shall be ground for an action to recover sums due, for damages or injunctive relief, or both, maintainable by the manager, the administrator, board of directors or of administration, or as specified in the bylaws or in proper case, by an aggrieved unit owner. (b) All co-owners are bound to contribute in accordance with the said percentages toward the expenses of administration and of maintenance and repairs of the general common elements, and, in proper case, of the limited common elements of the building and toward any other expenses lawfully agreed upon by the council of co-owners.

(a) Real estate taxes, other taxes arising out of or resulting from the ownership, use, or operation of the common areas, special assessments, including, but not limited to, special assessments for sewer mains, water mains, curbs, gutters, sidewalks, alleys, paving of streets, roads and avenues, removal or abatement of nuisances, and special assessments levied in connection with condemnation proceedings instituted by the District of Columbia, and water charges and sanitary sewer service charges levied on the condominium unit, and judgments, liens, preferences, and priorities for any tax assessed against a co-owner by the United States or the District of Columbia or due from or payable by a co-owner to the United States or the District of Columbia, and judgments, liens, preferences, and priorities in favor of the District of Columbia for assessments or charges referred to in this subparagraph.

Upon a voluntary sale or conveyance of a condominium unit all unpaid assessments against a grantor co-owner for his pro rata share of the expenses to which section 5–916 refers shall first be paid out of the sales price or by the grantee in the order of preference set forth above. Upon an involuntary sale through foreclosure of a deed of trust, mortgage, or encumbrance having preference as set forth in subparagraph (b) of this section a purchaser thereunder shall not be liable for any installments of such lien as became due prior to his acquisition of title. Such arrears shall be deemed common expenses, collectible from all co-owners, including such purchaser. (Dec. 21, 1963, 77 Stat. 456, Pub. L. 88–218, § 17.)

§ 5–919. Supplemental method of enforcement of lien.

(a) In addition to proceedings available at law or equity for the enforcement of the lien established by section 5–916, all the owners of property constituted into a horizontal property regime may execute bonds conditioned upon the faithful performance and payment of the installments of the lien permitted by section 5–916 and may secure the payment of such obligations by a declaration in trust recorded among the land records of the District of Columbia, granting unto a trustee or trustees appropriate powers to the end that upon default in the performance of such bond, said declaration in trust may be foreclosed by said trustee or trustees, acting at the direction of the manager, board of directors, or of management, as is proper practice in the District of Columbia in foreclosing a deed of trust.

(b) And the bylaws may require in the event such bonds have been executed and such declaration in trust is recorded that any subsequent purchaser of a condominium unit in said horizontal property regime shall take title subject thereto and shall assume such obligations: Provided, That the said lien, bond, and declaration in trust shall be subordinate to and a junior lien to liens for real estate taxes and other taxes arising out of or resulting from the ownership, use, or operation of the common areas, liens for special assessments, including, but not limited to, special assessments for sewer mains, water mains, curbs, gutters, sidewalks, alleys, paving of streets, roads, and avenues, removal or abatement of nuisances, and special assessments levied in connection with condemnation proceedings instituted by the District of Columbia, and liens for water charges and sanitary sewer service charges levied on the condominium unit, and to judgments, liens, preferences, and priorities for any tax assessed against a co-owner by the United States or the District of Columbia or due from or payable by a co-owner to the United States or the District of Columbia, and to judgments, liens, preferences, and priorities in favor of the District of Columbia for assessments or charges referred to in this section then or thereafter accruing against the unit and to the lien of any duly recorded deeds of trust, mortgages, or encumbrances previously placed upon the unit and said lien, bond, and declaration in trust shall be and become subordinate to any subsequently recorded deeds of trust, mortgages, or encumbrances: Provided, That the lender thereunder shall first obtain from the manager, board of directors, or of administration a written statement as provided in section 5–918 reflecting that payments due under this lien are current as of the date of recordation of such subsequent deed of trust, mortgage, or encumbrance. Such insurance coverage shall be written on the property in the name of such manager or of the board of directors of the council of co-owners, as trustee for each of the unit owners in the percentages established in the declaration. Premiums shall be common expenses. Provision for such insurance shall be without prejudice to the right of each unit owner to insure his own unit for his benefit. (Dec. 21, 1963, 77 Stat. 458, Pub. L. 88–218, § 20.)

(a) In case of fire or other disaster the insurance indemnity shall, except as provided in the next succeeding paragraph of this section, be applied to reconstruct the building.

(b) Reconstruction shall not be compulsory where destruction comprises the whole or more than two-thirds of the buildings and other improvements in a condominium project. In such cases, and unless otherwise unanimously agreed upon by the co-owners, the indemnity shall be delivered pro rata to the co-owners entitled to it in accordance with provisions made by the bylaws or in accordance with a decision of three-fourths of the co-owners, if there be no bylaw provision, after first paying off, out of the respective shares of the unit owners, to the extent sufficient for the purpose, all liens on the unit of each co-owner. Should it be proper to proceed with the reconstruction, the provision for such eventuality made in the bylaws shall be observed, or in lieu thereof, the decision of the council of co-owners shall prevail, subject to all provisions of law and regulations of the District of Columbia then in effect. (Dec. 21, 1963, 77 Stat. 458, Pub. L. 88–218, § 21.)

(a) For the purposes of assessment and taxation of property constituted into a horizontal property regime and to conform to the system of numbering squares, lots, blocks, and parcels for taxation purposes in effect in the District of Columbia, each condominium unit duly situate upon a subdivided lot and square shall bear a number or letter that will distinguish it from every other condominium unit situate in said lot and square.

(b) Each of said condominium units shall be carried on the records of the District of Columbia as a separate and distinct entity and all real estate taxes, other taxes arising out of or resulting from the ownership, use, or operation of the common areas, special assessments, including, but not limited to, special assessments for sewer mains, water mains, curbs, gutters, sidewalks, alleys, paving of streets, roads, and avenues, removal or abatement of nuisances, and special assessments levied in connection with condemnation proceedings instituted by the District of Columbia, shall be assessed, levied, and collected against each of said several separate and distinct units in conformity with the percentages of co-ownership established by section 5–906, and in accordance with the provisions of law in effect in the District of Columbia relating to assessment, levying, and collection of real property taxes.

(c) The council of co-owners shall be liable for the filing of returns and payment of the tax on personal property located in the common areas and held for use or used in a trade or business or held for sale or rent.

§ 5–924. Actions—Right to separate release of judgment.

(a) Without limiting the right of any co-owner, actions may be brought on behalf of two or more of the unit owners, as their respective interests may appear, by the manager, or board of directors, or of administration with respect to any cause of action relating to the common elements or more than one unit.

(b) Service of process on two or more unit owners in any action relating to the common elements may be made on the person designated in the bylaws in conformity with section 5–914(a)(7).

(c) In the event of entry of a final judgment as a lien against two or more unit owners, the unit owners of the separate units may remove their unit and their percentage interest in the common elements from the lien thereof by payment of the fractional proportional amounts attributable to each of the units affected. Said individual payment shall be computed by reference to the percentage established pursuant to section 5–906. After such partial payment, partial discharge, or release or other satisfaction, the unit and its percentage interest in the common elements shall thereafter be free and clear of the lien of such judgment.

(a) Subsequent to establishment of a horizontal property regime as provided in this chapter, and while the property remains subject to this chapter, no lien shall thereafter arise or be effective against the property. During such period liens or encumbrances shall arise or be created and enforced only against each unit and the percentage of undivided interest in the common areas and facilities appurtenant to such unit in the same manner and under the same conditions in every respect as liens or encumbrances may arise or be created upon or against any other separate parcel or real property subject to individual ownership: Provided, That no labor performed or materials furnished with the consent or at the request of a unit owner or his agent or his contractor or subcontractor, shall be the basis for the filing of a lien pursuant to the provisions of section 38–101, against the unit or any other property of any other unit owner not expressly consenting to or requesting the same, except that such express consent shall be deemed to be given by the owner of any unit in the case of emergency repairs thereto. Labor performed or materials furnished for the common areas and facilities, if duly authorized by the council of co-owners, the manager, or board of directors in accordance with this chapter, the declaration or bylaws, shall be deemed to be performed or furnished with the express consent of each unit owner and shall be the basis for the filing of a lien pursuant to the provisions of section 38–101, against each of the units and shall be subject to the provisions of subparagraph (b) hereunder. Notice of said lien may be served on the person designated in conformity with section 5–914(a)(7).

(b) In the event of filing of a lien against two or more units and their respective percentage interest in the common elements, the unit owners of the separate units may remove their unit and their percentage interest in the common elements appurtenant thereto from the said lien by payment, or may file a written undertaking with surety approved by the court as provided in section 38–118, of the fractional or proportional amounts attributable to each of the units affected. Said individual payment, or amount of bond, shall be computed by

After such partial payment, filing of bond, partial discharge, or release, or other satisfaction, the unit and its percentage interest in the common elements shall thereafter be free and clear of such lien. Such partial payment, indemnity, satisfaction, or discharge shall not prevent the lienor from proceeding to enforce his rights against any unit and its percentage interest in the common elements not so paid, indemnified, satisfied, or discharged. CROSS REFERENCE

Constitutionality

Generally, health laws and ordinances are liberally construed, but when they appear to violate a constitutional right, courts must carefully weigh value of the end accomplished. When abatement of a nuisance is provided for only after notice and hearing, health officers cannot inspect, when challenged, without the ordinary preliminary steps for search in the absence of immediate danger or nuisance per se. Little v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 874, affirmed 178 F. 2d, 13, 85 U.S. App. D.C. 242, affirmed 70 S. Ct. 468, 339 U. S. 1, 94 L. Ed. 424).

Police power

It is within the police power of municipal corporations to control and regulate the manner of collection and disposition of garbage, refuse and filth, and in so doing they may provide for the inspection of premises as a health measure but must not unduly infringe upon individual rights in absence of immediate danger or nuisance per se. Little v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 874, affirmed 178 F. 2d 13, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 242, affirmed 70 S. Ct. 468, 339 U. S. 1, 94 L. Ed. 424).

Search and seizure

When abatement of a nuisance is provided for only after notice and hearing, health officers, when challenged, cannot inspect without the ordinary preliminary step for search in the absence of immediate danger or nuisance per se. Little v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 874, affirmed 178 F. 2d 13, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 242, affirmed 70 S. Ct. 468, 339 U. S. 1, 94 L. Ed. 424).

Summary action

Unless the condition which is the object of inspection amounts to an immediate danger or a dangerous nuisance per se, municipal authorities would be acting beyond their power in taking any summary action. Little v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 874, affirmed 178 F. 2d 13, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 242, affirmed 70 S. Ct. 468, 339 U. S. 1, 94 L. Ed. 424).

§ 6–115. Director of public health to provide containers for reception, burial, and identification of ashes of certain cremated indigent persons.

The director of public health is authorized to provide and furnish proper containers for the reception, burial, and identification of the ashes of all human bodies of indigent persons that are cremated at the public crematorium, which ashes remain unclaimed after twelve months from date of such cremation. (May 21, 1928, 45 Stat. 669, ch. 659; July 3, 1930, 46 Stat. 975, ch. 848; Aug. 1, 1950, 64 Stat. 393, ch. 513, § 1.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Burden of proof

Where a person is charged with being one suspected of being infected with a communicable disease and refusing to submit to an examination and accuracy of charge or reasonableness of suspicion is put in issue, except in the case of a common prostitute, the burden is upon health officer and not upon person suspected. Huffman v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 39 A. 2d 558). See, also, District of Columbia v. Huffman (D. C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 502).

Constitutionality

This section authorizing commissioners of District of Columbia to promulgate and enforce reasonable rules and regulations to prevent and control spread of communicable and preventable disease is not objectionable as containing language too broad in its delegation of power to commissioners. Huffman v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1944, 39 A. 2d 558). See, also, District of Columbia v. Huffman (D.C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 502).

Legislation designed to prevent the spread of communicable disease will be upheld so long as it is not oppressive, arbitrary, or unreasonable. Id.

Examination of persons

Where defendant's attorney offered to prove to health officer that his client was free from all infection with communicable disease and offered to submit client for additional examination by any doctor in city selected at random by health department, there was no basis for a reasonable suspicion that defendant was infected so as to sustain a charge that defendant, a person suspected of being infected with a communicable disease, refused to submit to an examination. Huffman v. District of Columbia (D.C. Mun. App. 1944, 39 A. 2d 558). See also, District of Columbia v. Huffman (D.C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 502).

Evidence which disclosed that health department physician had no reasonable suspicion that defendant was infected with venereal disease was insufficient to sustain conviction of charge that defendant was a person suspected by health department of being infected and refused to submit to an examination. Id.

Police power

This section authorizing commissioners of District of Columbia to promulgate and enforce reasonable rules and regulations to prevent and control spread of communicable and preventable diseases constitutes a legitimate exercise of the police power. Huffman v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 39 A. 2d 558). See, also, District of Columbia v. Huffman (D.C. Mun. App. 1945, 42 A. 2d 502).

AMENDMENT

1946—Act Aug. 8, 1946, substituted "The words 'communicable disease' when hereinafter used shall mean such communicable diseases as the Commissioners by regulation shall denominate as such", for "The said Commissioners are authorized to prescribe a reasonable penalty of fine, not to exceed $100, or of imprisonment, not to exceed thirty days, or both, for the violation of any rule or regulation promulgated under the authority of this Act, and all prosecutions for violations of such rules and regulations shall be in the police court of the District of Columbia in the name of the District of Columbia upon information filed by the corporation counsel of the District of Columbia or any of his assistants."

§ 6–119a. Removal of persons believed to be carriers.

Whenever the director of public health has probable cause to believe that any person is affected with any communicable disease or is a carrier of communicable disease and that the continuance of such person in the place where he may be is likely to be dangerous to the lives or health of other persons, or that by reason of the noncooperation or carelessness of such person the public health is likely to be endangered, the director of public health may by written order direct the removal of any designated officer or employee of the Health Department or by any member of the Metropolitan Police force of such person to and the detention of such person in any place or institution in the District of Columbia designated by the director of public health, or any institution located without the District of Columbia which may be designated by the director of public health and which is under the supervision of the government of the District of Columbia or any agency thereof. Such officer, employee, or member so designated in such order shall take such person into his custody and shall remove such person to such place or institution as may be designated in such order. Such officer, employee, or member shall immediately make known to such person the contents of such order, and also shall deliver to such person a true copy of such order. (Aug. 11, 1939, ch. 691, § 3, as added Aug. 8, 1946, 60 Stat. 919, ch. 871, § 2, and amended Aug. 1, 1950, 64 Stat. 393, ch. 513, § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

"Director of public health" substituted for "health officer" to conform to act Aug. 1, 1950. See note set out under section 6–101.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Habeas Corpus

Habeas corpus was available to relator, being detained in hospital section of jail on grounds that he would endanger health if left at large, to test the place of detention. Benton v. Reid (1956, 231 F. 2d 780, 98 U.S. App. D.C. 27).

Where relator was incorrectly denied habeas corpus to secure his release from detention in hospital section of District of Columbia Jail as a person who would endanger public health if left at large, Court of Appeals would remand case with directions to issue the writ and discharge relator from the custody of jail, without prejudice to District of Columbia's right to transfer relator to a hospital or other proper place of detention. Id.

§ 6–119b. Authority for detention—Expiration of order—Hearing—Minors.

A copy of the order provided for in section 6–119a hereof shall be delivered to the person in charge of such place or institution to which the person taken into custody may be removed and shall constitute the authority for the detention of such person in such place or institution until such order expires or until such person is discharged in the manner set forth in this section or section 6–119c. Such order shall expire forty-eight hours (exclusive of Sundays and holidays) after such officer, employee, or member shall take into his custody such person as provided in section 6–119a, unless it shall be continued in force and effect by a judge of the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions, or unless such detained person shall stipulate in writing that the order be continued in force and effect. Such order shall be continued in force and effect if it shall appear to said judge by affidavit that the probable cause, required by section 6–119a, exists. If the judge continue in force and effect the order of the director of public health, the judge at that time shall set a date for a hearing upon the question of whether the person detained is at the time of such hearing affected with any communicable disease or is a carrier of communicable disease and, if so affected, upon the further question whether his release would be likely to endanger the lives or health of any other person. If such person be not sooner discharged such hearing shall be had within ten days of the date of the order of the court continuing in force and effect the order of the director of public health unless such hearing be continued by the court, or unless the detained person shall, in writing, waive such hearing, which waiver shall be filed with the court. Such hearing shall be in or out of the presence of the detained person, in the discretion of the court. If, after such hearing, the court shall find that the detained person is not affected with any communicable disease and is not a carrier of communicable disease, or that the discharge of such person, even though affected with, or a carrier of, a communicable disease is not likely to endanger the lives or health of any other person the court shall order such detained person to be discharged, otherwise the court shall continue in force and effect the order of the director of public health until such person be discharged in the manner set forth in section 6–119c. If a minor is detained pursuant to this section or section 6–119e hereof, or is found guilty and sentence is suspended as provided in section 6–119g hereof, and such minor is in need of treatment for the communicable disease with which he is affected or of which he is a carrier, the court is empowered to authorize the director of public health to administer such treatment or cause the same to be administered. No person under eighteen years of age detained under sections 6–119a, 6–119b, 6–119c or 6–119e, shall be detained in a room in which a person over that age is so detained. (Aug. 11, 1939, ch. 691, § 4, as added Aug. 8, 1946, 60 Stat. 919, ch. 871, § 2, and amended Aug. 1, 1950, 64 Stat. 393, ch. 513, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

CHANGE OF NAME

"Director of public health" substituted for "health officer" to conform to act Aug. 1, 1950. See note set out under section 6–101.

Act July 8, 1963, § 1, substituted "District of Columbia Court of General Sessions" for "Municipal Court for the District of Columbia". Said section 1 superseded act Oct. 23, 1962, 76 Stat. 1171, Pub. L. 87–873, § 1, which contained identical provisions.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Congressional intent

In the absence of specific language, Court of Appeals would not infer that Congress intended to enact a statute providing that a person who would endanger public health if left at large but who was neither indicted for nor convicted of any crime could be confined in a penal institution to suffer the social stigma and bad associations resulting therefrom. Benton v. Reid (1956, 231 F. 2d 780, 98 U. S. App. D. C. 27).

Constitutionality

It was duty of Court of Appeals in interpreting statute authorizing Director of Public Health to designate a place for detention of persons who would endanger public health if left at large, to avoid doubts as to constitutional validity of such statute. Benton v. Reid (1956, 231 F. 2d 780, 98 U. S. App. D. C. 27).

Place of detention

Statute authorizing Director of Public Health to designate as a place for detention of a person who would endanger public health if left at large, any place or institution in the District did not authorize detention of such a person in a place of imprisonment or a jail. Benton v. Reid (1956, 231 F. 2d 780, 98 U. S. App. D. C. 27).

§ 6–119c. Examination and diagnosis—Discharge or detention for quarantine—Application for discharge—Hearing.

It shall be the duty of the director of public health to make or cause to be made by a physician such examination or examinations of such person as may be necessary to determine the existence or nonexistence of such communicable disease in such person or whether such person is a carrier of communicable disease. The diagnosis resulting from such examination or examinations shall be reduced to writing and signed by such examining physician within ten days after the removal of such person to such place or institution and a copy thereof shall be filed in the office of the person in charge of such place or institution and a copy in the office of the director of public health. If such diagnosis does not disclose that such person is affected with such communicable disease or that such person is a carrier of communicable disease, such person shall be discharged from such place or institution forthwith. If the diagnosis does disclose that such person is affected with such communicable disease or that such person is a carrier of communicable disease, the person in charge of the place or institution to which the infected person has been removed shall, subject to the provisions of section 6–119b, detain such person for such reasonable time as may be fixed by regulation under the authority of sections 6–118 to 6–119k as is deemed necessary in the interest of public health and safety for the isolation, quarantine, and restriction of movement of persons affected by the particular communicable disease or of persons found to be carriers of the particular communicable disease, unless sooner discharged by the director of public health or the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions. A person so detained, however, may apply at any time to the person in charge of such place or institution for his discharge, and the person in charge of such place or institution shall deliver the application for discharge to the director of public health, who shall give to such person an opportunity to be heard before the director of public health. If after hearing held by the director of public health, the director of public health be of the opinion that such person is not affected with such communicable disease and that such person is not a carrier of communicable disease, then such person shall be discharged. If denied his discharge such detained person may apply to the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions for such discharge and the hearing on such application shall be in or out of the presence of the detained person, in the discretion of the court. Only such persons as have a direct interest in the case and their representatives shall be admitted to any hearing held pursuant to this section or section 6–119b: Provided, That if the detained person shall request a public hearing then the general public shall be admitted thereto. (Aug. 11, 1939, ch. 691, § 5, as added Aug. 8, 1946, 60 Stat. 920, ch. 871, § 2, and amended Aug. 1, 1950, 64 Stat. 393, ch. 513, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

(Aug. 11, 1939, ch. 691, § 6, as added Aug. 8, 1946, 60 Stat. 921, ch. 871, § 2, and amended Aug. 1, 1950, 64 Stat. 393, ch. 513, § 1.)

(a) In aid of the powers vested in the director of public health to cause the removal to and detention in a place or institution of a person who is affected or is believed, upon probable cause, to be affected with any communicable disease or is or is believed, upon probable cause, to be a carrier of communicable disease as provided in sections 6–118 to 6–119k, the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions, or any judge thereof, is authorized to issue a warrant for the arrest of such person and his removal to a place or institution as defined in section 6–119a, which warrant shall be directed to the Major and Superintendent of Police. When such person has been removed to such place or institution under authority of a warrant issued pursuant to this section, such person shall not be discharged from such place or institution except in the manner provided in section 6–119c.

(b) No such warrant of arrest and removal shall be issued except upon probable cause supported by affidavit or affidavits particularly describing the person to be taken, which said affidavit or affidavits shall set forth the facts tending to establish the grounds of the application or probable cause for believing that they exist.

(c) A warrant may in all cases be served by the Major and Superintendent of Police or by any officer or member of the Metropolitan Police, but by no other person, except in aid of the officer on his requiring it, he being present and acting in its execution.

(e) A warrant must be returned to the court within ten days after its date; after the expiration of this time the warrant, unless executed, is void.

(f) It shall be the duty of the said court to maintain and keep records of all warrants issued and the returns thereon. (Aug. 11, 1939, ch. 691, § 7, as added Aug. 8, 1946, 60 Stat. 921, ch. 871, § 2, and amended Aug. 1, 1950, 64 Stat. 393, ch. 513, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

The Director of Public Health or his authorized agent shall exercise reasonable diligence in ascertaining the whereabouts of a parent, or of a person standing in loco parentis to such minor, and if such whereabouts are ascertained shall as soon as practical notify such parent or loco parentis that such minor is affected with a venereal disease, or is a carrier of a venereal disease, and whether he has received or refused such treatment. § 6–119k. Construction of provisions.

Each and every provision of section 6–118 to 6–119k shall be construed liberally in aid of the powers vested in the public authorities looking to the protection of the public health, comfort, and welfare and not by way of limitation. (Aug. 11, 1939, ch. 691, § 14, as added Aug. 8, 1946, 60 Stat. 922, ch. 871; § 2; renumbered Oct. 11, 1963, 77 Stat. 246, Pub. L. 88–137, § 1.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Illegitimacy proceedings

In illegitimacy proceeding, birth certificate in which attending physician reported that name of father was unknown and that mother was physician's informant was not competent to show paternity, but certificate did indicate that mother, who testified as to father's identity, had informed physician that father's name was unknown, and hence certificate should have been admitted as bearing on mother's credibility, and its exclusion was reversible error. Lee v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1955, 117 A. 2d 922).

Previous inconsistent statement

In illegitimacy proceeding, mother is not bound by a previous inconsistent statement as to father's identity, even though given to physician legally required to make official report, and she may explain why she made previous statement, and whether her explanation is satisfactory is question for trier of facts. Lee v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1955, 117 A. 2d 922).

§ 6–302. False reports of births prohibited—Certificates not to be altered—False or fictitious transcript of record of birth or marriage prohibited.

No person shall, in the District of Columbia, wilfully or negligently certify falsely to any fact whatsoever upon any report of a birth. And after any such report has been received by the director of public health of said District no person shall alter the same otherwise than by amendments written independently of the body of the report and properly dated, signed, and witnessed. No person shall in said District make any false or fictitious report of a birth or any false or fictitious transcript of any record of a birth or of a marriage. (Mar. 1, 1907, 34 Stat. 1010, ch. 2280, § 2; Aug. 1, 1950, 64 Stat. 393, ch. 513, § 1.)

The director of public health aforesaid shall be the custodian of all reports filed under the provisions of sections 6–301, 6–302 and annually, and at such other times as the commissioners of said District

And if any report required by sections 6–301, 6–302 to be made within a specified time be not made within the time so specified each week or part of a week thereafter during which such report has not been made shall constitute a separate and distinct offense: Provided, however, That no report aforesaid nor any information which has been obtained by the prosecuting officer on the basis of such report shall be receivable in evidence against the person filing the same in any prosecution of such person for failure to file such report within the time allowed by law. NOTES TO DECISIONS

This section is not unconstitutional as depriving nonresident owners of property without due process of law nor does it deny them equal protection of the laws although different methods are used for enforcing the law against nonresident and resident owners. District of Columbia v. Brooke (1908, 29 S. Ct. 560, 214 U.S. 138, 53 L. Ed. 941).

Fraud

Where purchaser asked vendor particularly about wiring and plumbing in house and vendor replied that it was all right but said nothing about fact that plumbing was connected to septic tank rather than to public sewer, vendor's conduct would give purchaser right of action for deceit on part of vendor, when failure to disclose fact was considered in connection with code sections requiring connection to be made with public sewers. Kraft v. Lowe et al. (D.C. Mun. App. 1951, 77 A. 2d 554).

Who may challenge validity

Owner of improved property can not challenge validity of provision affecting only owners of unimproved property. District of Columbia v. Brooke (1908, 29 S. Ct. 560, 214 U.S. 138, 53 L. Ed. 941).

§ 6–402. Notice to connect with water-mains and sewers to be given by Commissioners.

It shall be the duty of the commissioners of said District to notify the owner or owners of every lot required by section 6–401 to be connected with a public sewer or water-main, as the case may be, to so connect such lot, the work to be done in accordance with the regulations governing plumbing and house drainage in said District. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Breach of contract

Where sewer was available in 1939, but no notice was given by District to connect to sewer until October 1946, purchasers to whom home was conveyed in 1943 would have no right of action against vendors for breach of contract provision requiring vendors to comply with all notices of violations against or affecting property at date of settlement. Kraft v. Lowe et al. (D.C. Mun. App. 1951, 77 A. 2d 554).

If the owner or owners of any such lot neglect or refuse to make such connections as are required by section 6–401 within thirty days after the receipt of such notice, such owner or owners shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, on conviction in the District of Columbia Court of General Sessions, be punished by a fine of not less than one dollar nor more than five dollars for each day he, she, or they fail or neglect to make such connections. (May 19, 1896, 29 Stat. 126, ch. 206, § 3; Apr. 1, 1942, 56 Stat. 190, ch. 207, § 1; July 8, 1963, 77 Stat. 77, Pub. L. 88–60, § 1.)

§ 6–404. Notice to nonresident—How given—Upon failure of owner, Commissioners to make such connections—Cost of connections by Commissioners' lien on property.

In case the owner or owners of any such lot be a nonresident or nonresidents of the District of Columbia, or can not be found therein, then, and in that case, the said commissioners shall give notice, by publication twice a week for two weeks in some daily newspaper published in the city of Washington, to such owner, directing the connection of such lot with such public sewer or with such public sewer and water-main, as the case may be: Provided, however, That if the residence or place of abode of the said nonresident lot owner be known or can be ascertained on reasonable inquiry, then, and in that case, a copy of the aforesaid notice shall be mailed to said nonresident, addressed to him in his proper name at his said place of residence or abode, with legal postage prepaid; and in case such owner or owners shall fail or neglect to comply with the notice aforesaid within thirty days it shall be the duty of said commissioners to cause such connection to be made, the expense to be paid out of the emergency fund; such expense, with necessary expense of advertisement, shall be assessed as a tax against such lot, which tax shall be carried on the regular tax roll of the District of Columbia, and shall be collected in the manner provided for the collection of other taxes. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Constitutionality

Generally, health laws and ordinances are liberally construed but when they appear to violate a constitutional right, court must carefully weigh value of the end accomplished. When abatement of a nuisance is provided for only after notice and hearing, health officers cannot inspect, when challenged, without the ordinary preliminary step for search in the absence of immediate danger or nuisance per se. Little v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 874, affirmed 178 F. 2d 13, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 242, affirmed 70 S. Ct. 468, 339 U. S. 1, 94 L. Ed. 424).

Police power

It is within the police power of municipal corporations to control and regulate the manner of collection and disposition of garbage, refuse and filth, and in so doing, they may provide for the inspection of premises as a health measure but must not unduly infringe upon individual rights, in absence of immediate danger or nuisance per se. Little v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 874, affirmed 178 F. 2d 13, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 242, affirmed 70 S. Ct. 468, 339 U. S. 1, 94 L. Ed. 424).

Summary action

Unless the condition which is the object of inspection amounts to an immediate danger or a dangerous nuisance per se, municipal authorities would be acting beyond their power in taking any summary action. Little v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1948, 62 A. 2d 874, affirmed 178 F. 2d 13, 85 U. S. App. D. C. 242, affirmed 70 S. Ct. 468, 339 U. S. 1, 94 L. Ed. 424).

§ 6–502. Commissioners may contract for collection and disposal of garbage and refuse.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized to enter into contract or contracts for the collection and disposal of garbage, miscellaneous refuse, ashes, night soil, and dead animals, for periods not exceeding five years, subject to annual appropriations by Congress, under such conditions and specifications as they may prescribe. Night soil may be collected and disposed of by any process satisfactory to the commissioners. (May 18, 1910, 36 Stat. 389, ch. 248; Mar. 3, 1915, 38 Stat. 904, ch. 80.)

AMENDMENT

CROSS REFERENCE

Contracting power of Commissioners in general, see §§ 1–801 to 1–819.

§ 6–503. Disposition by feeding to live stock.

Should the Commissioners of the District of Columbia find that the garbage in the District can be disposed of in a sanitary manner and as economically by feeding it to pigs, live stock, and poultry on the land of the Home for the Aged and Infirm, located at Blue Plains, District of Columbia, or on the land of the workhouse and reformatory, of the District of Columbia, located at Occoquan and Lorton, Virginia, or both, or on such other land as the said commissioners may be able to acquire by purchase or lease in the States of Virginia or Maryland, the said commissioners are authorized to use either or all of said designated lands, or to purchase or lease land in the States of Virginia or Maryland for the purpose, and to adopt the pig, live stock, or poultry feeding method of disposal. (May 6, 1918, 40 Stat. 541, ch. 67, § 6.)

§ 6–504. Collection and disposal of refuse a municipal function—Facilities to be purchased or leased—Sale of products—Employees to accept no gratuities—Penalty.

The commissioners are authorized, if in their opinion such action shall be to the best interests of the District of Columbia, after July 11, 1919, to conduct any or all of the operations involved in the collection and disposal of city refuse of every kind as municipal functions, and for that purpose to purchase or lease the necessary plants, buildings, and land, to purchase or hire horses and horse-drawn vehicles, passenger-carrying and other motor-propelled vehicles, equipment, and machinery, and to employ expert and other personal services, and labor, and to pay traveling, maintenance, incidental, and contingent expenses: Provided, That products arising from such operations conducted as authorized herein may be sold and the proceeds arising therefrom shall be paid for each fiscal year into the treasury of the United States to the credit of the United States and the District of Columbia in the same proportions as appropriations for the expenses of the government of the District of Columbia for such fiscal year are paid from the treasury of the United States and the revenues of the District of Columbia: Provided further, That any or all operations herein authorized to be conducted as municipal functions may be put into effect as such upon the expiration of any of the contracts existing July 11, 1919, for the collection and disposal of city refuse or upon the failure of any of the contractors existing July 11, 1919 to properly perform the work covered by their contracts existing July 11, 1919: Provided further, That it shall be unlawful for any employee of the District of Columbia engaged in the removal of garbage, ashes, miscellaneous refuse, dead animals, or night soil, or for any employee of a contractor doing such work for the District of Columbia, to accept any gift, except from his employer, in money or any other thing of value for any service performed in connection with the removal of city refuse as hereinbefore described; and it shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation, except such employer, to pay or offer to pay, any money or to make any gift to any such employee for such service; that any person violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction, be fined in a sum of not less than $5 nor more than $40 for each such offense. (July 11, 1919, 41 Stat. 39, ch. 6; Feb. 22 1921, 41 Stat. 1144, ch. 70, § 7.)

AMENDMENT

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Evidence, admissibility

In prosecution for violating municipal blackout regulations when it was not sought to charge principal with actions of agent admitting testimony of defendant's admission that he was person in charge of property where violation occurred was not error. Dibble v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 825).

Evidence, sufficiency

Evidence that defendant was the manager and person in charge of premises where light was displayed in violation of municipal blackout regulations, was sufficient to sustain conviction for violating regulations although there was evidence that engineers were in charge of lighting arrangements. Dibble v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 825).

In prosecution for violating blackout regulations, evidence established that plaintiff failed to extinguish the offending light as promptly as possible or within 15 minutes as required by ordinance, and failed to establish any excuse for such violation. Id.

Judicial notice

In prosecution for violating ordinance regulating blackouts, the ordinance was not required to be introduced in evidence, since the municipal court would take notice of the ordinance. Dibble v. District of Columbia (D. C. Mun. App. 1944, 35 A. 2d 825).

§ 6–1012. Same—Damage to other persons and property.

Neither the District of Columbia nor any officer, agent, employee, or regularly appointed volunteer worker in the service of said District, nor any individual, receiver, firm, partnership, corporation, association, or trustee, or any of the agents thereof, in good faith and without willful or gross negligence carrying out, complying with, enforcing or attempting to carry out, comply with, or enforce this chapter or any order, rule, or regulation issued or promulgated pursuant to this chapter, shall be liable for any damage sustained to any persons or property as the result of such activity. (Dec. 26, 1941, ch. 625, § 12, as added Aug. 6, 1942, 56 Stat. 741, ch. 548, § 2.)

The power and duties conferred upon the Commissioners of the District of Columbia by this chapter or any other Act shall not affect, impair, limit, or interfere with the powers of the military or naval authorities with respect to the control and disposition of military or naval personnel or of civilians, or with respect to any other military or naval activity or duty. (Dec. 26, 1941, ch. 625, § 13, as added Aug. 6, 1942, 56 Stat. 741, ch. 548, § 2.)

During the existence of a state of war between the United States and any foreign country or nation, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized to expend, in their discretion, from the money authorized by section 6–1009 to be borrowed, for personal services, supplies, and other expenses in connection with the coordination of nonprotective volunteer civilian services, not exceeding $25,000 per year. (Dec. 26, 1941, ch. 625, § 14, as added July 13, 1943, 57 Stat. 560, ch. 234.)

Up to and including December 31, 1947, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized and empowered, in their discretion, to provide services to veterans and war workers and to expend any moneys otherwise available for expenditure under this chapter for all necessary expenses, including personal services without regard to civil service or classification laws. (Dec. 26, 1941, ch. 625, § 15, as added May 9, 1946, 60 Stat. 169, ch. 249, § 1.)

§ 6–1201. Declaration of intent.

Because of the existing possibility of the occurrence of disaster of unprecedented destructiveness resulting from enemy attack, sabotage, or other hostile action, it is the intent of Congress that plans and programs to provide necessary protection, relief, and assistance for persons and property in the District of Columbia in the event such disaster shall occur or become imminent so as to require such protection, relief, and assistance, should be developed. As used in this chapter, the term "civil defense" shall mean all activities necessary for the development and execution of such plans and programs, unless the context indicates a different meaning. (Aug. 11, 1950, 64 Stat. 438, ch. 686, § 1.)

§ 6–1202. Office of civil defense authorized—Director and other personnel—Compensation.

To carry out the purposes of this chapter, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized to establish in the municipal government of such District an Office of Civil Defense to consist of a Director and such other personnel as may be needed. Such Director shall be the executive head of such office.

Notwithstanding the limitation of any law, there may be employed in such Office of Civil Defense any person who has been retired from any of the uniformed services of the United States or any office or position in the Federal or District governments, and except as hereinafter provided, while so employed in such Office of Civil Defense any such retired person may receive the compensation authorized for such employment or the retirement compensation or annuity, whichever he may elect, and upon the termination of such employment, he shall be restored to the same status as a retired officer or employee with the same retirement compensation or annuity to which he was entitled before having been employed in such Office of Civil Defense. While any person who has been retired from any of the uniformed services of the United States is so employed in such Office of Civil Defense, he may receive the compensation authorized for such employment and his retired or retirement pay, subject to section 5532 of title 5, U.S. Code. (Aug. 11, 1950, 64 Stat. 438, ch. 686, § 2; Aug. 19, 1964, 87 Stat. 489, Pub. L. 88–448, title IV, § 401(b).)

CODIFICATION

The reference in this section to "section 5532 of title 5, U.S. Code" was substituted for "section 201 of the Dual Compensation Act" on authority of § 7(b) of act Sept. 6, 1966, Pub. L. 89–554, set out in note under § 1–251. Section 201(a—e) of the Dual Compensation Act (Aug. 19, 1964, 78 Stat. 484, 485, Pub. L. 88–448, title II) was repealed by act Sept. 6, 1966, 80 Stat. 632, Pub. L. 89–554 (of which § 1 revised and enacted title 5, U.S.C., into law), and is now covered by 5 U.S.C. § 5532. Section 201 (f—h) of the Dual Compensation Act was not repealed by the 1966 act, but was excluded from the revision of title 5, U.S.C., as not permanent and general.

FORM OF INTERSTATE COMPACT

"INTERSTATE CIVIL DEFENSE AND DISASTER COMPACT

"The contracting States solemnly agree:

"Article 1. The purpose of this compact is to provide mutual aid among the States in meeting any emergency or disaster from enemy attack or other cause (natural or otherwise) including sabotage and subversive acts and direct attacks by bombs, shellfire, and atomic, radiological, chemical, bacteriological means, and other weapons. The prompt, full, and effective utilization of the resources of the respective States, including such resources as may be available from the United States Government or any other source, are essential to the safety, care, and welfare of the people thereof in the event of enemy action or other emergency, and any other resources, including personnel, equipment, or supplies, shall be incorporated into a plan or plans of mutual aid to be developed among the civil-defense agencies or similar bodies of the States that are parties hereto. The Directors of Civil Defense of all party States shall constitute a committee to formulate plans and take all necessary steps for the implementation of this compact.

"Article 2. It shall be the duty of each party State to formulate civil-defense plans and programs for application within such State. There shall be frequent consultation between the representatives of the States and with the United States Government and the free exchange of information and plans, including inventories of any material and equipment available for civil defense. In carrying out such civil-defense plans and programs the party States shall so far as possible provide and follow uniform standards, practices, and rules and regulations including—

"(a) Insignia, arm bands, and any other distinctive articles to designate and distinguish the different civil-defense services;

"(b) Blackouts and practice blackouts, air-raid drills, mobilization of civil-defense forces, and other tests and exercises;

"(c) Warnings and signals for drills or attacks and the mechanical devices to be used in connection therewith;

"(d) The effective screening or extinguishing of all lights and lighting devices and appliances;

"(e) Shutting off water mains, gas mains, electric power connections, and the suspension of all other utility services;

"(f) All materials or equipment used or to be used for civil-defense purposes in order to assure that such materials and equipment will be easily and freely interchangeable when used in or by any other party State;

"(g) The conduct of civilians and the movement and cessation of movement of pedestrians and vehicular traffic, prior, during, and subsequent to drills or attacks;

"(h) The safety of public meetings or gatherings; and

"(i) Mobile support units.

"Article 3. Any party State requested to render mutual aid shall take such action as is necessary to provide and make available the resources covered by this compact in accordance with the terms hereof: provided, that it is understood that the State rendering aid may withhold resources to the extent necessary to provide reasonable protection for such State. Each party State shall extend to the civil-defense forces of any other party State, while operating within its State limits under the terms and conditions of this compact, the same powers (except that of arrest unless specifically authorized by the receiving State), duties, rights, privileges, and immunities as if they were performing their duties in the State in which normally employed or rendering services. Civil-defense forces will continue under the command and control of their regular leaders but the organizational units will come under the operational control of the civil-defense authorities of the State receiving assistance.

"Article 4. Whenever any person holds a license, certificate, or other permit issued by any State evidencing the meeting of qualifications for professional, mechanical, or other skills, such person may render aid involving such skill in any party State to meet an emergency or disaster and such State shall give due recognition to such license, certificate, or other permit as if issued in the State in which aid is rendered.

"Article 5. No party State or its officers or employees rendering aid in another State pursuant to this compact shall be liable on account of any act or omission in good faith on the part of such forces while so engaged, or on account of the maintenance or use of any equipment or supplies in connection therewith.

"Article 6. Inasmuch as it is probable that the pattern and detail of the machinery for mutual aid among two or more States may differ from that appropriate among other States party hereto, this instrument contains elements of a broad base common to all States, and nothing herein contained shall preclude any State from entering into supplementary agreements with another State or States. Such supplementary agreements may comprehend, but shall not be limited to, provisions for evacuation and reception of injured and other persons, and the exchange of medical, fire, police, public utility, reconnaissance, welfare, transportation, and communications personnel, equipment, and supplies.

"Article 7. Each party State shall provide for the payment of compensation and death benefits to injured members of the civil-defense forces of that State and the representatives of deceased members of such forces in case such members sustain injuries or are killed while rendering aid pursuant to this compact, in the same manner and on the same terms as if the injury or death were sustained within such State.

"Article 8. Any party State rendering aid in another State pursuant to this compact shall be reimbursed by the party State receiving such aid for any loss or damage to, or expense incurred in the operation of, any equipment answering a request for aid and for the cost incurred in connection with such requests; provided, that any aiding party State may assume in whole or in part such loss, damage, expense, or other cost, or may loan such equipment or donate such services to the receiving party State without charge or cost; and provided further, that any two or more party States may enter into supplementary agreements establishing a different allocation of costs as among those States. The United States Government may relieve the party State receiving aid from any liability and reimburse the party State supplying civil-defense forces for the compensation paid to and the transportation, subsistence, and maintenance expenses of such forces during the time of the rendition of such aid or assistance outside the State and may also pay fair and reasonable compensation for the use or utilization of the supplies, materials, equipment, or facilities so utilized or consumed.

"Article 9. Plans for the orderly evacuation and reception of the civilian population as the result of an emergency or disaster shall be worked out from time to time between representatives of the party States and the various local civil-defense areas thereof. Such plans shall include the manner of transporting such evacuees, the number of evacuees to be received in different areas, the manner in which food, clothing, housing, and medical care will be provided, the registration of the evacuees, the providing of facilities for the notification of relatives or friends, and the forwarding of such evacuees to other areas or the bringing in of additional materials, supplies, and all other relevant factors. Such plans shall provide that the party State receiving evacuees shall be reimbursed generally for the out-of-pocket expenses incurred in receiving and caring for such evacuees, for expenditures for transportation, food, clothing, medicines, and medical care and like items. Such expenditures shall be reimbursed by the party State of which the evacuees are residents, or by the United States Government, under plans approved by it. After the termination of the emergency or disaster the party State of which the evacuees are resident shall assume the responsibility for the ultimate support or repatriation of such evacuees.

"Article 10. This compact shall be available to any State, territory, or possession of the United States, and the District of Columbia. The term 'State' may also include any neighboring foreign country or province or state thereof.

"Article 11. The committee established pursuant to Article 1 of this compact may request the Civil Defense Agency of the United States Government to act as an informational and coordinating body under this compact, and representatives of such agency of the United States Government may attend meetings of such committee.

"Article 12. This compact shall become operative immediately upon its ratification by any State as between it and any other State or States so ratifying and shall be subject to approval by Congress unless prior Congressional approval has been given. Duly authenticated copies of this compact and of such supplementary agreements as may be entered into shall, at the time of their approval, be deposited with each of the party States and with the Civil Defense Agency and other appropriate agencies of the United States Government.

"Article 13. This compact shall continue in force and remain binding on each party State until the legislature or the Governor of such party State takes action to withdraw therefrom. Such action shall not be effective until 30 days after notice thereof has been sent by the Governor of the party State desiring to withdraw to the Governors of all other party States.

"Article 14. This compact shall be construed to effectuate the purposes stated in Article 1 hereof. If any provision of this compact is declared unconstitutional, or the applicability thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the constitutionality of the remainder of this compact and the applicability thereof to other persons and circumstances shall not be affected thereby."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Care of sidewalk

Where a sidewalk belonged to the United States, and it was not sufficiently shown to the court as a matter of law on motion for summary judgment in a personal injury action against the United States and the District of Columbia, that the walk was not also under the care of the United States, the United States was not entitled to summary judgment on theory that District of Columbia had sole responsibility for the sidewalk. Leary v. District of Columbia (D.C.D.C. 1958, 166 F. Supp. 542).

Nature of powers

District of Columbia is a municipal corporation and is responsible for the negligence of its officers having the care of streets, avenues, and sidewalks, as resulted in personal injuries to individuals. District of Columbia v. Woodbury (1890, 10 S. Ct. 990, 136 U.S. 450, 34 L. Ed. 472).

Under this section, the powers of the Board of Public Works have been vested in the Commissioners of the District of Columbia. Bauman v. Ross (1897, 17 S. Ct. 966, 167 U. S. 548, 42 L. Ed. 270).

The Commissioners have the right to make reasonable regulations for the use of driveways across sidewalks, but the right to regulate is one thing, and prohibition is another. The right of access is a property right, though subject to regulation, which can not be taken away without just compensation. Brownlow v. O'Donoghue (1922, 276 F. 636, 51 App. D.C. 114, 22 A.L.R. 939).

§ 7–103. Abutment of Highway Bridge under control of Commissioners.

The abutment into which the second pier from the south end of Highway Bridge was converted, and the roadway built to replace the two south spans of said bridge, shall be maintained and controlled by the commissioners of the District of Columbia. (Apr. 3, 1930, 46 Stat. 139, ch. 102.)

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia shall have the power and authority to change the name of any street, road, avenue, or other highway, whenever any two of such highways have the same name. (June 30, 1898, 30 Stat. 532, ch. 540.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Duties of Commissioners

Under this act the Commissioners were required to prepare a plan for a permanent system of highways throughout the District, exclusive of the cities of Washington and Georgetown, and to cause to be prepared a map of the same showing the boundaries, and the dimensions of the streets, avenues, and roads, established by them with authority to name all streets, avenues, alleys, and reservations laid out or adopted under the provisions of the act. Rudolph v. Warwick (1926, 10 F. 2d 993, 56 App. D. C. 128).

Existing plans

In an act authorizing Commissioners of District to prepare new highway plans, they were not limited to previous plans subject to above section. Wilkinson v. Dougherty (1928, 24 F. 2d 1007, 58 App. D. C. 81, certiorari denied 49 S. Ct. 10, 278 U. S. 603, 73 L. Ed. 531).

§ 7–109. Permanent highway—Plans to be prepared in sections—Conformity to subdivisions—Plans to be submitted to National Capital Planning Commission—Recordation—Landowners to submit plat of proposed highways.

The said plans shall be prepared from time to time in sections, each of which shall cover such an area as the commissioners may deem advisable to include therein, and it shall be the duty of the commissioners in preparing such plan by sections, as far as may be practicable, to select first such areas as are covered by existing suburban subdivisions not in conformity with the general plan of the city of Washington. The commissioners in making such plans shall adopt and conform to any then existing subdivisions which shall have been made in compliance with the provisions of the Act of Congress approved August 27, 1888, entitled "An act to regulate the subdivision of land within the District of Columbia" (25 Stat. 451), or which shall, in the opinion of the commissioners, conform to the general plan of the city of Washington: Provided, however, That no place or street extending no farther than from one principal street to another, which has been opened under the direction of the commissioners, or in conformity with any subdivision approved by them prior to August 27, 1888, and recorded, and which was on March 2, 1893, paved with asphalt or other sheet pavement, shall be altered, affected, or interfered with by any plan adopted or anything done under or by virtue of sections 7–108 to 7–112. Whenever the plan of any such section shall have been adopted by the commissioners they shall cause a map of the same to be made showing the boundaries and dimensions of and number of square feet in the streets, avenues, and roads established by them therein; the boundaries and dimensions of and number of square feet in each, if any, of the then existing highways in the area covered by such map, and the boundaries and dimensions of and number of square feet in each lot of any then existing subdivision owned by private persons; and containing such explanations as shall be necessary to a complete understanding of such map. In making such maps the commissioners are further authorized to lay out at the intersections of the principal avenues and streets thereof circles or other reservations corresponding in number and dimensions with those existing on March 2, 1893, at such intersections in the city of Washington. A copy of such map, duly certified by the commissioners, shall be delivered to the National Capital Planning Commission, who shall make such alterations, if any, therein, as it shall deem advisable, keeping in view the intention and provisions of sections 7–108 to 7–112, and the necessity of harmonizing as far as possible the public convenience with economy of expenditure; and if such commission shall see fit, they may cause to be made a new map in place of the one submitted to them. When such commission, or a majority thereof, shall have come to a final determination in the matter, they shall approve in writing the map which they shall adopt, and shall deliver it to said commissioners of the District of Columbia, and the same shall at once be filed and recorded in the office of the surveyor of the District of Columbia, and after any such map shall have been so recorded no further subdivisicn of any land included therein shall be admitted to record in the office of the surveyor of said District, or in the office of the recorder of deeds thereof, unless the same be first approved by the commissioners and be in conformity to such map. Nor shall it be lawful when any such map shall have been so recorded for the commissioners of the District of Columbia, or any other officer or person representing the United States or the District of Columbia, to thereafter improve, repair, or assume any responsibility in regard to any abandoned highway within the area covered by such map, or to accept, improve, repair, or assume any responsibility in regard to any highway that any owner of land in such area shall thereafter attempt to lay out or establish, unless such landowner shall first have submitted to the commissioners a plat of such proposed highway and the commissioners shall have found the same to be in conformity to such map, and shall have approved such plat and caused it to be recorded in the office of said surveyor. (Mar. 2, 1893, 27 Stat. 532, ch. 197, § 2.)

TRANSFER OF FUNCTIONS

"National Capital Planning Commission" was substituted for "National Capital Park and Planning Commission" in view of act June 6, 1924, ch. 270, § 9, as added July 19, 1952, 66 Stat. 790, ch. 949, § 1, which transferred the functions, powers and duties of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission to the National Capital Planning Commission. See section 1–1009.

The National Capital Park and Planning Commission was established to perform the functions formerly performed by a commission composed of the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Interior, and the Chief of Engineers of the U.S. Army, by act Apr. 30, 1926, 44 Stat. 374, ch. 198.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Further subdivision

It was clearly within the authority of Congress to provide that after the recording of the map under this section, no further subdivision not in accordance with the map should be admitted of record, and such provision did not constitute the taking of land. Bauman v. Ross (1897, 17 S. Ct. 966, 167 U. S. 548, 42 L. Ed. 270.)

Property owner's rights

Provision in this section forbidding commissioners to improve, repair, or assume any responsibility in regard to highways not in conformity with map filed under this section did not affect the rights of owners of the land. Bauman v. Ross (1897, 17 S. Ct. 966, 167 U. S. 548, 42 L. Ed. 270).

§ 7–110. Adoption of subdivision by reference in will or deed.

When any such map shall have been recorded as aforesaid in the office of the surveyor of the District it shall be lawful for the owner of any land included within such map to adopt the subdivision thereby made by a reference thereto and to this section in any deed or will which he shall thereafter make, and when any deed or will containing any such reference shall have been made and recorded in the proper office it shall have the same effect as though the grantor or grantors in such deed or the maker of such will had made such subdivision and recorded the same in compliance with law. (Mar. 2, 1893, 27 Stat. 533, ch. 197, § 3.)

CROSS REFERENCE

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Reference in deed or will Provision of this section giving to any deed or will duly recorded, which referred to subdivision made by map filed under § 7–109, the same effect as if subdivision had been made and recorded by the testator or grantor, benefited rather than injured the land. Bauman v. Ross (1897, 17 S. Ct. 966, 167 U. S. 548, 42 L. Ed. 270).

§ 7–111. Entry upon property authorized for purposes of survey.

For the purpose of making surveys for such plans and maps the commissioners and their agents and employees necessarily engaged in making such surveys are authorized to enter upon any lands through or on which any projected highway or reservation may run or lie. The plat of such readjustment, after being duly certified by said commissioners, shall be forwarded to the National Capital Planning Commission, and when approved by said commission or a majority thereof the change shall be recorded in the office of the surveyor of the District of Columbia and become a part of the permanent system of highways, and take the place of any part inconsistent therewith. And as to any highway or part of highway which by any such map is to be abandoned neither the right of those occupying or owning land abutting thereon or adjacent thereto, nor the right of the public to use such highway or part of highway, shall be affected by the filing of such map until condemnation proceedings looking to the ascertainment of the damages resulting from such proposed abandonment shall have been authorized and actually begun; nor shall the obligation of the municipal authorities to keep the same in repair be affected until they are rendered useless by the opening and improvement of new highways, to be evidenced by public notice by the commissioners of the District of Columbia. § 7–117. Acceptance of dedicated streets—Building restrictions—Right-of-way for sewers and water-mains.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Eminent domain

Commissioners have no authority to widen street 60 feet in width to 120 feet since 15 foot space of the street though dedicated to certain purposes, does not constitute a part of the street for all purposes. Dougherty v. Galliher, (1928, 26 F. 2d 538, 58 App. D.C. 166).

It is not error to allow credit in assessment for benefit of land previously dedicated for street purposes, as well as value of land condemned. Nealy v. Hazen (1934, 71 F. 2d 692, 63 App. D.C. 239, certiorari denied 55 S. Ct. 119, 293 U.S. 602, 79 L. Ed. 694).

Widening of streets

Where a street is 60 feet wide with a mere building restriction on an additional 15 feet, the widening of the street by 45 feet is not authorized, since such widening will not make a 120-foot street. Dougherty v. Galliher (1928, 26 F. 2d 538, 58 App. D. C. 166).

§ 7–118. Streets abandoned under highway plan to revert to abutting owners.

Upon the abandonment of any street, avenue, road, or highway, or part thereof, under the provisions of sections 7–108 to 7–112, the title to the land contained in such abandoned portion shall revert to the owners of the land abutting thereon. (Feb. 16, 1904, 33 Stat. 14, ch. 159, § 2.)

No street, avenue, or public thoroughfare in the neighborhood of the buildings erected upon the United States Naval Observatory grounds, Georgetown Heights, District of Columbia, shall extend within the area of a circle described with a radius of one thousand feet from the center of the building known as the clock room of the said observatory. § 7–121. Extension of Massachusetts Avenue.

Massachusetts Avenue, as laid down in conformity with section 7–120 upon the maps of the engineer department of the District of Columbia, through the grounds of the United States Naval Observatory is declared to be a public street in all respects as the other public streets of the District of Columbia. (Aug. 1, 1894, 28 Stat. 588, Joint Res. No. 40, § 2.)

The commissioners of the District of Columbia are hereby authorized, whenever in their judgment the public interests require it, to prepare a new highway plan for any portion of the District of Columbia, and submit the same for approval, after public hearing, to the National Capital Planning Commission; such highway plans shall be prepared under sections 7–108 to 7–115, and upon approval and recording of any such new highway plan it shall take the place of and stand for any previous plan for the portion of the District of Columbia affected. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Extension or widening of street

Commissioners were authorized to institute a proceeding for the extension of street at an angle. Briggs v. Brownlow (1920, 265 F. 985, 49 App. D. C. 345).

When widening of street benefits properties, the owners of same are not as matter of right entitled to challenge the regularity of the proceedings unless it clearly appears that such owners were in fact prejudiced or defrauded. Nealy v. Hazen (1934, 71 F. 2d 692, 63 App. D. C. 239, certiorari denied 55 S. Ct. 119, 293 U. S. 602, 79 L. Ed. 694).

Question for consideration is whether or not, by the widening of the street, the properties of the respective appellants were benefited to the amount assessed against them; hence they are not in position to challenge the regularity or irregularity of the condemnation proceedings, unless it clearly appears that it operated to their prejudice, or fraud was practiced in making the awards. Id.

Whenever land is needed for the opening, extension, widening, or straightening of any street, avenue, road, or highway in the District of Columbia, authorized by Congress, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia may institute, in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, by petition, a proceeding in rem for the condemnation of the land needed. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491a, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 151, ch. 2070, and amended June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1936, substituted "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia" for "Supreme Court of the District of Columbia."

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Proceedings for extension or widening

Proceedings for extension and widening of street held not to comply with statutory requirements. Newman v. Lynchburg Inv. Corp. (1915, 35 S. Ct. 477, 236 U.S. 692, 59 L. Ed. 792).

Review

Supreme Court denied writ of error in case arising under this section. Statute of District of Columbia is not a law of the United States within the meaning of § 250 of the Judicial Code. American Security & Trust Co. v. Commissioners of District of Columbia (1915, 32 S. Ct. 553, 224 U.S. 491, 56 L. Ed. 856).

§ 7–203. Contents of condemnation petition.

Such petition shall contain a particular description of the land to be condemned and the names of the owners of the fee of said land and their residences, so far as the same may be ascertained, together with a plan of the land to be taken. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491b, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 151, ch. 2070.)

§ 7–204. Public notice—Service of process on owner and occupant—Appointment of guardian ad litem for person under disability.

The said court shall cause public notice of not less than twenty days to be given of the institution of such proceeding, by advertisement in three daily newspapers published in the District of Columbia, which notice shall warn and require all persons having any interest in the proceeding to appear in court at a day to be named in said notice and to continue in attendance until the court shall have made its final order ratifying and confirming the award of damages and the assessment of benefits by the jury herein provided for; and in addition to such public notice said court shall cause a copy of said notice to be served by the United States marshal for the District of Columbia, or his deputies, upon such owners of the land to be condemned as can be found by said marshal, or his deputies, within the District of Columbia and upon the tenants and occupants of the same. The said court shall appoint a guardian ad litem for any person interested in the proceedings who may be under disability. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491c, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 151, h. 2070, and amended Feb. 28, 1916, 39 Stat. 21, ch. 37.)

AMENDMENT

1916—Act Feb. 28, 1916, reenacted section without change.

CROSS REFERENCE

NOTES TO DECISIONS

In general

"It is clear that the statute requires both general notice by publication and personal service of the notice by the marshal upon such owners of land to be condemned as can be found within the District of Columbia." Edwards v. Brownlow (1921, 271 F. 797, 50 App. D.C. 331). See, also, National Savings & Trust Co. v. Reichelderfer (1935, 57 F. 2d 404, 61 App. D.C. 38).

Appearance by counsel

In condemnation proceedings, the provision of the statute as to notice by publication does not apply to one who has actual notice and appeared, represented by counsel.

Cafritz v. Hazen (1936, 85 F. 2d 260, 66 App. D. C. 94). See, also, Mitchell v. Reichelderfer (1932, 57 F. 2d 416, 61 App. D. C. 50).

Computation of time

The statute means that notice shall be given not less than 20 days before the time set, and does not mean on 20 distinct days before that time. Newman v. Lynchburg (1915, 35 S. Ct. 477, 236 U. S. 692, 59 L. Ed. 792).

Construction

Statutes authorizing the taking of property for public use must be strictly construed. Fay v. Macfarland (1908, 32 App. D.C. 295). See, also, Edwards v. Brownlow (1921, 271 F. 797, 50 App. D.C. 331).

Due process

It must be affirmatively shown that all provisions of the statutes that apply to the condemnation of lands have been substantially complied with, otherwise the whole proceeding would be void and without effect. Brown v. Macfarland (1902, 19 App. D.C. 525).

Every step to be taken by public officials in condemning private property must be literally followed. Lynchburg Inv. Corp. v. Rudolph (1913, 40 App. D.C. 129).

The failure to give appellant notice in fact amounts to a taking of property without due process of law. Wilkinson v. Dougherty (1928, 24 F. 2d 1007, 58 App. D. C. 81, certiorari denied 49 S. Ct. 10, 278 U. S. 603, 73 L. Ed. 531).

Notice jurisdictional

Entry of the judgment as to appellant's property, being without notice of any kind or opportunity on his part to object, was a nullity, and the requirement of the statute as to notice being mandatory, a failure to comply is jurisdictional. Smith v. Gotwals (1933, 62 F. 2d 466, 61 App. D. C. 304).

Participation in proceeding

Where owners of land involved in condemnation proceeding received notice contemplated by law and had full opportunity to make such showing as was appropriate to their right, their contention that they had been denied a hearing, and opportunity to cross-examine witnesses and generally to participate in condemnation proceeding was not sustained. Brown v. District of Columbia (1944, 143 F. 2d 374, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 148).

§ 7–205. Jury—Drawing—Oath.

After the return of the marshal and the filing of proof of publication of the notice provided for in section 7–204 said court shall order the jury commission to draw from the special box the names of as many persons as the court may direct, and from among the persons so drawn the court shall appoint a jury of five capable and disinterested persons, to which jury the court shall administer an oath or affirmation that they are not interested in any manner in the land to be condemned, and are not related to the parties interested therein, and that they will, without favor or partiality, and to the best of their judgment, ascertain the damages each owner of land to be taken may sustain by reason of the opening, extension, widening, or straightening of said street, avenue, road, or highway, and the condemnation of the land needed for the purpose thereof, and to assess the benefits resulting therefrom as hereinafter provided. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491d, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 152, ch. 2070, and amended Apr. 19, 1920, 41 Stat. 566, ch. 153.)

AMENDMENT

1920—Act Apr. 19, 1920, substituted "capable and disinterested persons" for "experienced, judicious, disinterested men, who shall be freeholders within the District of Columbia, not related to any person interested in the proceeding and not in the service or employment of the District of Columbia or of the United States, to be summoned by said marshal."

CROSS REFERENCE

§ 7–206. Objection to jurors—Hearings—Verdict.

The court, before accepting the jury, shall hear any objections that may be made to any member thereof, and shall have full power and authority to pass upon any such objections, and to excuse any juror or cause any vacancy in the jury, when impaneled, to be filled; and after the jury shall have been organized and shall have viewed and examined the land and premises affected by the condemnation proceeding they shall proceed, in the presence of the court, to hear and receive such evidence as may be offered or submitted on behalf of the District of Columbia and by any person or persons having any interest in the proceeding. When the hearing is concluded, the jury, or a majority of them, shall return to the court, in writing, their verdict, setting forth the amount found to be due and awarded to the owners of the land to be condemned as damages by reason of said opening, extension, widening, or straightening of said street, avenue, road, or highway, under the provisions hereof, and the lots, pieces, or parcels of land benefited by said opening, extension, widening, or straightening, and the amounts of the assessments for the benefits against the same. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491e, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 152, ch. 2070.)

CROSS REFERENCE

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Number of views by jury

This section authorized the jury to view and examine the "land and premises affected by the condemnation proceedings." It was not error to permit jury to have second view after hearing the evidence. Briggs v. Brownlow (1920, 265 F. 985, 49 App. D.C. 345).

§ 7–207. Condemnation of part of plot.

If a part only of any lot, piece, or parcel of ground is to be condemned, the jury, in determining its value, shall not take into consideration any benefits that may accrue to the remainder thereof from said opening, extension, widening, or straightening of said street, avenue, road, or highway, but such benefits shall be considered by the jury in determining what assessment shall be made or levied against such part of such lot, piece, or parcel of land as may not be taken as hereinbefore provided. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491f, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 152, ch. 2070.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Of the amount found to be due and awarded as damages for and in respect of the land to be condemned for said opening, extension, widening, or straightening, plus the costs and expenses of the proceeding, such amount shall be assessed by the jury as benefits, and to the extent of such benefits against the lots, pieces, or parcels of land on each side of the street, avenue, road, or highway to be opened, extended, widened, or straightened, and against any and all other lots, pieces, or parcels of land which the jury may find will be benefited by the opening, extension, widening, or straightening, as the jury may find said lots, pieces, or parcels of land will be benefited; and in determining the amounts to be assessed against said lots, pieces, or parcels of land the jury shall take into consideration the respective situations and topographical conditions of said lots, pieces, or parcels of land and the benefits and advantages they may severally receive from the opening, extension, widening, or straightening of the street, avenue, road, or highway. If the total amount of the damages awarded by the jury and the costs and expenses of the proceeding be in excess of the total amount of the assessment of benefits, such excess shall be borne and paid by the District of Columbia. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491g, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 152, ch. 2070, and amended Feb. 25, 1907, 34 Stat. 930, ch. 1195; Apr. 11, 1935, 49 Stat. 153, ch. 57, § 6.)

AMENDMENTS

1935—Act Apr. 11, 1935, repealed provisions authorizing the jury to take into consideration, when assessing benefits, dedication and the value of the land so dedicated.

1907—Act Feb. 25, 1907, authorized the jury to consider dedication and the value of land so dedicated, when assessing benefits.

CROSS REFERENCE

Assessment of benefits against lands not condemned, see § 7–221.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Issues for jury

Where notice is given by publication, parties to be assessed for the betterment could not be mentioned by name in the notice since by statute the jury decides what land is benefited as well as the sum with which it shall be charged. Newman v. Lynchburg (1915, 35 S. Ct. 477, 236 U. S. 692, 59 L. Ed. 792).

Part of land dedicated

The value of the land dedicated, as well as the value of the land condemned, should be considered as of the date of condemnation. Briggs v. Brownlow (1920, 265 F. 985, 49 App. D. C. 345).

Congress has delegated to the jury authority to determine not only whether and to what extent any particular piece of property is benefited, but the area within which benefits are to be assessed. Wilkinson v. Dougherty (1928, 24 F. 2d 1007, 58 App. D.C. 81, certiorari denied 49 S. Ct. 10, 278 U.S. 603, 73 L. Ed. 531).

§ 7–209. Objections—Exceptions—When filed—Court may vacate verdict and grant new trial—Vacated in part.

The said court shall hear and determine any objections or exceptions that may be filed to any verdict of the jury and shall have power to vacate and set any verdict aside, in whole or in part, when satisfied that it is unjust or unreasonable, in which event the court shall order the jury commission to draw from the special box the names of as many persons as the court may direct, and from among the persons so drawn the court shall thereupon appoint a new jury of five capable and disinterested persons, who shall proceed to ascertain the damages or assess the benefits, or both, as the case may be, in respect of the land as to which the verdict may be vacated, as in the case of the first jury: Provided, That if vacated in part, the residue of the verdict as to the land condemned or assessed shall not be affected thereby: And provided further, That the objections or exceptions to the verdict shall be filed within twenty days after the return of the verdict to the court. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491h, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 153, ch. 2070, and amended Apr. 19, 1920, 41 Stat. 566, ch. 153.)

AMENDMENT

1920—Act Apr. 19, 1920, substituted "capable and disinterested persons" for "experienced, judicious, disinterested men, who shall be freeholders in the District of Columbia, not related to any person interested in the proceeding and not in the service or employment of the District of Columbia or of the United States, to be summoned."

CROSS REFERENCE

Assessment of benefits against lands not condemned, see § 7–221.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Issues for court

There was no abuse of discretion by the lower court either in not granting the motion for a new trial, under the rules governing trials of civil cases in general, when the issue presented was an alleged error of fact, or in refusing to grant a new trial, under the additional powers given by the special provisions of the condemnation statute, since there was no "grave error of fact indicating plain partiality or corruption." Willis v. United States (1938, 99 F. 2d 362, 69 App. D. C. 129).

In the absence of a showing that property owner was prejudiced or defrauded, the concern of the owner is whether he was benefited by the assessment. Johnson & Wimsatt v. Hazen (1938, 99 F. 2d 384, 69 App. D.C. 151).

In proceeding by District of Columbia to condemn land for street purposes, trial court had no jurisdiction to determine what lands, if any, were exempt from assessment for benefits. Brown v. District of Columbia (1944, 143 F. 2d 374, 79 U. S. App. D. C. 148).

Where landowners contended that while proceeding to condemn land for street purposes instituted by District of Columbia was pending, Federal Government filed declaration of taking against their property and took title thereto whereupon compensation was paid to them by the Federal Government and that thereafter land was no longer subject to assessment for benefits by District of Columbia, issue thus tendered was not appropriate for decision in the condemnation proceeding. Id.

Nature of objections

"Had actual notice been given appellant after the return of the verdict, he could have protected his interests through the filing of objections or exceptions." Wilkinson v. Dougherty (1928, 24 F. 2d 1007, 58 App. D.C. 81 certiorari denied 49 S. Ct. 10, 278 U. S. 603, 73 L. Ed. 531).

Objections and exceptions are in the nature of a motion for a new trial, and are not to be tried by the condemnation jury, but are to be heard by the court, and only in case they are sustained by the court shall another jury be impaneled to retry the issue. Mitchell v. Reichelderfer (1932, 57 F. 2d 416, 61 App. D. C. 50).

Mere filing of objections and exceptions to the verdict of a condemnation jury does not entitle a property owner to reopen and retry the case to the same or another jury. Id.

Time for objection

Objections to verdict in condemnation proceedings must be filed within time limited. Shannon & Luchs Constr. Co. v. Reicheiderfer (1932, 57 F. 2d 402, 61 App. D. C. 36).

It was intended by Congress to require a party in a condemnation proceeding to bring his objections and exceptions to the attention of the court within 20 days, the time limit prescribed, or else be taken to have waived them. Walker v. Hazen (1937, 90 F. 2d 502, 67 App. D. C. 188 certiorari denied 58 S. Ct. 44, 302 U. S. 723, 82 L. Ed. 559).

When the court shall have finally ratified and confirmed the verdict of a jury condemning the land needed for the opening, extension, widening, or straightening of the street, avenue, road, or highway, the amounts of money found to be due and awarded to the owners of the land condemned shall be paid to such owners by the disbursing officer of the District of Columbia from moneys advanced to him by the Secretary of the Treasury, upon requisitions of the commissioners of said District, as provided by law. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491i, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 153, ch. 2070.)

CROSS REFERENCE

Assessment of benefits against lands not condemned, see § 7–221.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Time of payment

In the exercise by the United States of the power of eminent domain, compensation need not be paid, or even finally determined, in advance of the taking, provided reasonable, certain, and adequate provision is made at the time of the taking to ascertain and secure the compensation to be made to the owner. Miller v. United States (1932, 57 F. 2d 424, 61 App. D. C. 58).

§ 7–211. Assessments made liens—How paid—Set-off of damages and benefits.

When finally ratified and confirmed by the court, the several assessments authorized to be made or levied by the jury shall severally be a lien upon the land assessed, and shall be collected as special-improvement taxes in the District of Columbia, and shall be payable in five equal annual installments, with interest at the rate of four per centum per annum from and after sixty days after the confirmation of the verdict of the jury. In all cases of payments the accounting officers shall take into account the assessments for benefits and the award of damages, and shall pay only such part of the award in respect of any lot, piece, or parcel of land condemned as may be in excess of the assessment for benefits against the part of such lot, piece, or parcel of land not taken, and there shall be credited on said assessment the amount of said award not in excess of said assessment. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491j, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 153, ch. 2070.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Abandonment of project

Assessments paid for benefits to property from proposed street extension must be returned where the proposed extension is abandoned. District of Columbia v. Thompson (1930, 50 S. Ct. 172, 281 U. S. 25, 74 L. Ed. 677).

In landowner's action to recover benefit assessment payments made as result of a condemnation proceeding on ground of failure of consideration because project had been abandoned, where court found that improvements were promptly undertaken, that work on project continued after institution of action and that at time of trial all work had been completed, record justified denial of recovery on ground that there had been no "abandonment" or intention to abandon. Boss v. District of Columbia (1943, 134 F. 2d 14, 77 U.S. App. D.C. 142, 145 A.L.R. 1126).

On abandonment of a street improvement project for which assessments had been levied and paid, there is a failure of "consideration" and the moneys received as assessments must be returned to those entitled thereto. Id.

§ 7–212. Power to amend proceedings.

Said court shall have full power and authority, at any time, to allow amendments in form or substance in any petition, process, verdict, record, or other proceeding, or in the description of property proposed to be condemned or of property assessed for benefits whenever such amendment will not interfere with the substantial rights of the parties interested. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 1491k, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 153, ch. 2070.)

§ 7–213. Repealed. July 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 126, ch. 248, § 1.

In all eminent domain cases instituted by or on behalf of the District of Columbia, each juror shall receive as compensation for his services the sum of $10 per day for every day necessarily employed in the performance of his duties. (July 30, 1951, 65 Stat. 126, ch. 248, § 2.)

§ 7–214. Right to appeal—Parties not appealing.

Any party aggrieved by any final order of the court may appeal therefrom to the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia; but no appeal from any order of the court confirming any award of damages or assessment for benefits, nor any other proceeding that may be taken by any person, at law or in equity, against the confirmation of any award of damages or any assessment for benefits shall delay or prevent the payment of the damages awarded to other persons in respect of the property condemned, or delay or prevent the taking of the property sought to be condemned, or delay or prevent the opening, extension, widening, or straightening of the street, avenue, road, or highway. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491m, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 153, ch. 2070, and amended June 7, 1934, 48 Stat. 926, ch. 426.)

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 7, 1934, substituted "United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia" for "Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia."

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Vested title

Once title vests, it stays vested until it passes by grant, by descent, by adverse possession, or by some operation of law such as escheat or forfeiture; but title does not pass by inaction on the part of the owner. Faulks v. Schrider (1938, 99 F. 2d 370, 69 App. D. C. 137).

§ 7–215. Deposit of award in registry—Transfer of title.

In case any of the owners of land condemned are under disability or can not be found, or neglect or refuse to receive the money awarded to them; or in case the title to the property is in dispute or uncertain, the money due the owners of the property for damages for land taken may be deposited in the registry of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia, for the use of the rightful owners without cost or expense to said District; and thereupon the title to the land condemned shall become vested in the District of Columbia. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 491n, as added Apr. 30, 1906, 34 Stat. 154, ch. 2070, and amended Dec. 18, 1908, 35 Stat. 582, ch. 4; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)

AMENDMENT

1908—Act Dec. 18, 1908, amended section generally. Prior to the amendment the section read as follows: "In case any of the owners of the land condemned are under disability or can not be found or neglect to receive the money awarded to them, or in case the title to the property condemned is in controversy, the money awarded to any of such persons, or for any such property the title to which is in controversy, shall be deposited in the registry of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, without cost or expense to said District, to the credit of the person or persons who may be entitled thereto."

CHANGE OF NAME

Act June 25, 1948, eff. Sept. 1, 1948, as amended by act May 24, 1949, substituted "United States District Court for the District of Columbia" for "District Court of the United States for the District of Columbia."

Whenever in the subdivision of a tract of land in the District of Columbia the owner or owners of such tract shall reserve from subdivision any portion thereof, and shall fail to or refuse to dedicate the streets or highways within the reserved portion as shown on the plan of permanent system of highways, the commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized, in their discretion, to institute condemnation proceedings to acquire for street purposes in accordance with the highway plans any or all land comprised in the said streets within the limits of any portion reserved from subdivision, which the said commissioners may deem desirable for the purpose of extending existing or proposed streets or of connecting streets already of record according to the said highway plan. And there is hereby appropriated, out of the revenues of the District of Columbia, such amount or amounts as may be necessary to pay the cost and expenses of the condemnation proceeding taken pursuant hereto and for the payment of amounts awarded as damages, to be repaid to the District of Columbia from the assessments for benefits and covered into the treasury to the credit of the revenues of the District of Columbia. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Abandonment of proceedings

Court cannot assume that Commissioners have abandoned condemnation proceedings but on the contrary must assume that they are acting for the best interest of the public. Johnson & Wimsatt v. Reichelderfer (1933, 66 F. 2d 217, 62 App. D. C. 237).

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Conditions, existence of

Under this section authorizing Commissioners of District of Columbia to open, widen, and straighten alley on petition of owners, when Commissioners deem that public interests require such opening, etc., or when public health officer of District certifies to necessity for same on grounds of public health, each of the three conditions specified need not exist to justify action of Commissioners. Bailey v. Young (1945, 149 F. 2d 15, 80 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

Extension from street to street

Commissioners could not open street running through corners of two squares and across proposed street. Rudolph v. Warwick (1926, 10 F. 2d 993, 56 App. D. C. 128).

Necessity of petition

The commissioners have no authority, except on petition of all abutting property owners, to close an alley. Compton v. Rudolph (1926, 12 F. 2d 152, 56 App. D. C. 211).

Public interest

In action to condemn piece of land for purpose of widening alley and providing space for turning of vehicular traffic at corner of alley, evidence supported determination that public interests required widening, etc., of alley. Bailey v. Young (1945, 149 F. 2d 15, 80 U. S. App. D. C. 65).

Voluntary dedication

Statute authorizing Commissioners of the District of Columbia to open, extend, widen, or straighten alleys and minor streets subject to certain conditions has no application to a voluntary dedication of realty accepted by the commissioners under authority of law for the widening of an alley. Barnard v. Commissioners of the District of Columbia (1957, 246 F. 2d 685, 100 U. S. App. D. C. 404).

§ 7–302. Useless alleys—Sale of original alleys—Reversion of title to owner.

If in the opening, extension, widening, or straightening of an alley or minor street, or in the extension or widening of public streets or highways, an alley or part of an alley may have been, or may hereafter be, in the judgment of the said commissioners rendered useless or unnecessary, said commissioners are authorized to close the same. If the alley to be closed is an original alley, they may sell the land contained therein for cash at a price not less than the assessed value of contiguous lots. If the alley is not an original alley, the title thereto shall revert to the owners of the land abutting thereon, but all such land shall be subject to the assessment for benefits hereinafter referred to. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 1608a, as added Feb. 23, 1905, 33 Stat. 733, ch. 734.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Petition, necessity

Commissioners can not close alley not petitioned for. Compton v. Rudolph (1926, 12 F. 2d 152, 56 App. D. C. 211).

§ 7–303. Alleys may be closed on dedication of new ones—Application of property owners—Future ownership of closed alleys—Plats recorded.

The said commissioners are authorized to accept the dedication of an alley or alleys and in connection therewith to close any existing alley or alleys in the square or block in which such dedication is made upon the application of the owners of all the property abutting on such existing alley or alleys. If the alley proposed to be closed is an original alley, the party or parties making the dedication and the parties applying for the closing of the alley or alleys shall present with such application a mutual agreement in writing and under seal, in duplicate, as to the future ownership of the land contained in the alley or alleys to be closed, together with two plats showing the alley or alleys divided into parcels, with the name of the future owner marked on each parcel, in accordance with such agreement. Copies of the order of the commissioners accepting the dedication and closing the original or subdivisional alley, together with the said agreements and plats in the case of an original alley, shall be forwarded by said commissioners to the surveyor and recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia for record, and thereafter the title to the land in such subdivisional alley shall revert to the owners of the land abutting thereon, and the title to the land in the original alley shall vest in the parties whose names appear on said plat in accordance with said agreement. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 1608b, as added Feb. 23, 1905, 33 Stat. 733, ch. 734.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

All owners must join

A condition precedent to the closing of an existing alley is that the application must be concurred in by all the owners of property abutting thereon. Compton v. Rudolph (1926, 12 F. 2d 152, 56 App. D. C. 211).

Authority to accept land for widening of alley

The quoted words providing that "The said commissioners are authorized to accept the dedication of an alley or alleys" and in connection therewith to close any existing alley or alleys in the square or block in which such dedication is made "upon the application of the owners of all the property abutting on such existing alley or alleys," are not to be read as subject to the phrase "upon the application of the owners of all the property abutting on such existing alley or alleys." Barnard v. Commissioners of the District of Columbia (1957, 246 F. 2d 685, 100 U. S. App. D. C. 404).

Commissioners of the District of Columbia were authorized to accept from owner certain realty for the widening of an alley though owners of property abutting on the other side of the alley in question objected to the widening of the alley. Id.

Building permits

Where building permits granted by Commissioners of the District of Columbia were for lots abutting a portion of alley which, after acceptance of dedication of realty for widening of the alley, was 30 feet wide and with such width, extended to and opened on a street, the granting of the permits was not contrary to Zoning Commission's regulations providing that no dwelling or other building to be used for habitation shall be erected on an alley lot unless portion of alley abutting such lot is 30 or more feet in width and, with such width, extends to and opens on a street. Barnard v. Commissioners of the District of Columbia (1957, 246 F. 2d 685, 100 U. S. App. D. C. 404).

Powers of Commissioners

The Commissioners are without discretion in the premises. Compton v. Rudolph (1926, 12 F. 2d 152, 56 App. D. C. 211).

§ 7–304. Closing narrow alleys—Application of property owners—Disposal of land.

The commissioners are authorized to close any alley or part of alley the width of which is less than ten feet upon the application in writing of the owners of all the abutting property. If the title to such closed alley is in the United States, the land shall be sold, as provided in section 7–302; and if the title is not in the United States, the land shall revert as provided in said section. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 1608c, as added Feb. 23, 1905, 33 Stat. 734, ch. 734.)

Whenever the title in fee simple to an entire square is vested in one person or tenants in common or partners, and such owner or owners desire to improve said square by the erection thereon of a building covering not less than two-thirds of the area thereof, or to use said square for the purpose of some business enterprise, the commissioners are authorized, in their discretion, to order any alley or alleys in such square to be closed, and a copy of said order shall be filed with the surveyor and recorder of deeds of said District for record. (Mar. 3, 1901, ch. 854, § 1608d, as added Feb. 23, 1905, 33 Stat. 734, ch. 734.)

Whenever all the owners of an entire square, or all the owners of a part of a square bounded on all sides by public streets, in the District of Columbia, shall present to the commissioners of the District of Columbia a petition asking that any alley or alleys within said square or part of square may be closed wholly or partially, and shall in said petition offer to dedicate for public use, and shall so dedicate if in the opinion of the commissioners of said District such dedication is necessary, as alleyways ground owned by the petitioners in amount equal at least in area to that of the alleyway sought to be closed, and shall also present to said commissioners with said petition a correct plat of said square or part of square signed by all of the owners thereof, upon which shall be accurately delineated the positions and dimensions of the existing alleyway or ways and a subdivision of the entire area of the alley or alleys sought to be closed into parcels, according to an agreement of all said owners for the future ownership of the same, the name of the agreed future owner of each parcel being marked thereon, and showing also the position and dimensions of the new alleyway or ways proposed to be substituted therefor it shall be the duty of said commissioners, upon being satisfied of the truth of the facts stated in the petition as to ownership and of correctness of the plat and also that the proposed change will not be detrimental to the public convenience, to make an order declaring the existing alleyway or ways closed, as prayed for, and opening the new alleyway or ways proposed to be substituted therefor. The commissioners shall cause a certified copy of the order to be attached to the plat and filed for record with the recorder of deeds of the District and also in the office of the surveyor of the District, each of whom shall record the same, and thereafter the right of the public to use the alleyway or ways declared closed and the proprietary interest of the United States therein shall forever cease and determine, and the title to the same shall be vested according to the agreement of the owners as shown in the aforesaid plat, each person being thenceforward the owner in fee simple of the parcel or parcels upon which his name shall be marked as provided in section 7–306. The new alleyway or ways described in said order and delineated on said plat shall thereafter be and remain dedicated to public use as alley ways, and, like other alleys of said city, shall be under the care and control of the city authorities (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1428, ch. 854, § 1606; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 545, ch. 1329.)

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Rededication of alleys

'To make such a dedication requires not alone that the street or alley be given, but that it be accepted. The reason for this is self-evident The acceptance of a public street or alley imposes burdens on the District. 'The law is well settled that, to constitute a public street or highway by dedication, there must not only be an absolute dedication—by a setting apart and a surrender to the public use of the land by the proprietors—but there must be an acceptance and a formal opening thereof by the proper authorities, or a user which is equivalent to such acceptance and opening'." Watson v. Carver (1906, 27 App. D.C. 555).

"There was no valid statutory dedication, for an essential provision of the statute was not complied with, and without this there could be no valid statutory dedication." Id.

Whenever the title in fee simple to an entire square is vested in one person or in tenants in common, or partners, and such owner or owners desire to improve said square by the erection of a building thereon, covering not less than two-thirds of the area thereof, or for the purpose of some business enterprise, the Commissioners of the District may, on the petition of such owner or owners, setting forth such ownership, the purpose for which it is desired to use such square, and the manner and the time in which it is proposed to improve the same, on being satisfied of the truth of the facts stated in the petition, and also that the proposed change and use will not be detrimental to the public interests, make an order canceling any previous subdivision of said square and obliterating all alleys therein. They shall cause a certified copy of such order to be filed for record with the recorder of deeds, and also the surveyor of the District, each of whom shall record the same. The expense of the recording provided for by this section and section 7–307 shall be advanced by the petitioner to the commissioners under such regulations as they may prescribe. (Mar. 3, 1901, 31 Stat. 1429, ch. 854, § 1607; June 30, 1902, 32 Stat. 545, ch. 1329.)

AMENDMENT

1902—Act June 30, 1902, substituted "filed" for "attached to a plat of said square and delivered to the petitioners, who shall file the same", and added the provisions concerning the advancement of the expense of recording to the commissioners.

NOTES TO DECISIONS

Assessments

The front-foot rule can not be applied to the assessment of a lot for paving an alley, which had a boundary of 233.17 feet facing two alleys, which could not be used commercially, and when the lot is assessed 222 per cent. higher than average assessment of other lots bordering the alleys, the assessment must be revised. Willner v. Hazen (1940, 111 F. 2d 511, 71 App. D. C. 373).

One seeking to cancel an alley paving assessment on a lot, facing two alleys, which, under zoning regulations was limited to one-family detached house, and which was assessed 222 per cent. higher than other lots, was entitled to trial on the merits, and dismissal of complaint was improperly granted. Id.

§ 7–309. Closing alleys—Authorized upon acquisition of abutting property by District of Columbia—Property owner's right of access preserved.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia are authorized to close any alleys or parts of alleys in the District of Columbia when, in their judgment, such alleys, or parts of alleys, are rendered useless and unnecessary by reason of the acquisition of abutting land for municipal purposes: Provided, That the District of Columbia, prior to the closing of any such alley or part of alley, has acquired title to all the land abutting on the alley or part of alley proposed to be closed: Provided further, That the title to the land comprised in the alleys or parts of alleys so closed shall revert to the District of Columbia: And provided further, That no property owner within the block where such alleys or parts of alleys are closed shall be deprived of the right of access to his property by alleys or parts of alleys, unless adequate access to such property be substituted therefor. NOTES TO DECISIONS

Powers of Court

It will be observed that this statute does not require personal service. This is a matter left to the discretion of the court. National Sav. & T. Co. v. Reichelderfer (1932, 57 F. 2d 404, 61 App. D.C. 38).

Where court directed newspaper publication, and personal service on owners found in the District, failure to obtain personal service does not require quashing verdict for damages. Id.

§ 7–315. Procedure—Jury—Qualifications—O a t h—Objections—Hearing—Verdict—Damages—Benefits.

After the return of the marshal and the filing of proof of publication of the notice provided for in section 7–314, said court shall cause a jury of five judicious, disinterested persons, not related to any person interested in the proceedings and not in the service or employment of the District of Columbia or of the United States, to be summoned by the said marshal, to which jurors said court shall administer an oath or affirmation that they are not interested in any manner in the land to be condemned nor in any way related to the parties interested therein, and that they will, without favor or partiality, to the best of their judgment, assess the damages each owner of land taken may sustain by reason of the opening, extension, widening, or straightening of said alley or minor street and the condemnation of lands for the purposes thereof, and assess the benefits resulting therefrom as hereinafter provided. The court, before accepting the jury, shall hear any objections that may be made to any member thereof, and shall have full power to decide upon all such objections, and to excuse any juror or cause any vacancy in the jury, when impaneled, to be filled; and after said jury shall have been organized and shall have viewed the premises, said jury shall proceed to hear and receive such evidence as may be offered or submitted on behalf of the District of Columbia and by any person or persons having any interest in the proceedings for the opening, extension, widening, or straightening of said alley or minor street; but all such hearings shall be in the presence of the court and under its supervision and direction. When the hearing is concluded the jury, or a majority of them, shall return to said court, in writing, its verdict of the amount found to be due and payable as damages sustained by reason of the said opening, extension, widening, or straightening under the provisions of sections 7–301 to 7–308, 7–313 to 7–318, 7–320, 7–321, 7–323, 7–325 to 7–330, and of the pieces or parcels of land benefited by such opening, extension, widening, or straightening, and the amount of the assessment for such benefits against the same. NOTE TO DECISIONS

Answer to condemnation proceedings

§ 7–316. Manner of assessing benefits where part only of parcel condemned.

If a part only of any piece or parcel of ground shall be condemned, the jury, in determining its value, shall not take into consideration any benefits that may accrue to the remainder thereof from such opening, extension, widening, or straightening, but such benefits shall be considered in determining what assessment shall be made on or against such part of such piece or parcel of land as may not be taken as herein provided. The verdict of a new jury summoned in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be final, and if the amount of damages assessed by any new jury summoned as aforesaid shall not be greater, or if the assessment of benefits shall not be less, than the amount assessed by the jury first summoned, according as the objection to the verdict may have been to the assessment of damages or benefits, the costs of the new jury shall be assessed against the property of the party or parties objecting, but if the party or parties should prevail by the verdict of the new jury, either in increasing his or their damages, or in diminishing the assessment for benefits, then, and in that event, the costs of the new jury shall be paid by the District of Columbia, and if the Commissioners of the District of Columbia do not elect that the entire verdict shall be set aside, and the same be set aside or vacated in part, the residue of the verdict and award shall not be affected thereby. NOTES TO DECISIONS

In general

Street Readjustment Act, this chapter, is a condemnation act in reverse, designed, as is the condemnation act, to dispose of all claims in a single suit. Woodbury v. District of Columbia (1937, 92 F. 2d 202, 67 App. D. C. 278).

Whenever a street, road, highway, or alley, or a part of a street, road, highway, or alley, is proposed to be closed under the provisions of this chapter the commissioners of the District of Columbia shall cause public notice of intention to be given by advertisement for not less than fourteen consecutive days, exclusive of Sundays and holidays, in a daily newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the District of Columbia, to the effect that a public hearing will be held at a time and place stated in the notice for the hearing of objections, if any, to such closing. The said commissioners shall, not later than fourteen days in advance of such hearing, serve notice of such hearing, in writing, by registered mail, on each owner of property abutting the street, road, highway, or alley, or part thereof, proposed to be closed, or if the owner can not be located the advertisement provided for above shall be deemed sufficient legal notice. At such hearing a map showing the proposed closing shall be exhibited, and the property owners or their representatives, and any other persons interested, shall be given an opportunity to be heard (Dec. 15, 1932, 47 Stat. 748, ch. 4, § 2.)

§ 7–403. Plats to be prepared showing public way intended to be closed—Approval conditional upon dedication of other property.

After such public hearing the said commissioners, if they are satisfied that the proposed closing will be in the public interest, and that such closing will not be detrimental to the rights of the owners of the property abutting on the street, road, highway, or alley, or part of a street, road, highway, or alley, proposed to be closed, nor cause unreasonable inconvenience to or adverse effect upon the owner or owners of any property abutting on streets connected therewith, nor unreasonably infringe the rights of the public to use such street, road, highway, or alley shall cause to be prepared a plat or plats showing the street, road, highway, or alley, or part thereof, proposed to be closed and the area to be apportioned to each owner of property abutting thereon: Provided, That if the approval of the proposed closing by the said commissioners shall be conditioned upon the dedication of any other areas for street, highway, or alley purposes, and/or the retention by the District of Columbia of specified rights of way for any public purpose, and/or any other reservations deemed expedient or advisable by said commissioners, such plat or plats shall also show the parcels of land so dedicated, and/or the reserved rights of way, and/or such additional area affected by said closing, with alternative openings occasioned thereby, and/or by certificate thereon any such reservations deemed expedient or advisable by the said commissioners of the District of Columbia. (Dec. 15, 1932, 47 Stat 748, ch. 4, § 3.)

§ 7–404. Order for closing public ways—Notice—Effective if no objection within 30 days—Recordation of plats.

If, after such hearing, the commissioners are of the opinion that any street, road, highway, or alley, or part thereof, should be closed, they shall prepare an order closing the same and shall cause public notice of such order to be given by advertisement for fourteen consecutive days, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, in at least two daily newspapers of general circulation printed and published in the District of Columbia, and shall serve a copy of such order on each property-owner abutting the street, road, highway, or alley, or part thereof, proposed to be closed by such order, and copy of such order shall be served on the owners in person or by registered mail delivered at the last known residence of such owners, or if the owner can not be located the advertisement provided for above shall be deemed sufficient legal notice; or if he be a nonresident of the District of Columbia, by sending a copy thereof by registered mail to his last known place of address: Provided, That if no objection in writing be made to the commissioners by any party interested within thirty days after the service of such order, then the said order shall immediately become effective; and the said order and plat or plats as provided for herein shall be ordered by the commissioners of the District of Columbia recorded in the office of the surveyor of the District of Columbia. (Dec. 15, 1932, 47 Stat. 749, ch. 4, § 4.)

When any such objection shall be filed with the commissioners as provided in section 7–404, then the commissioners of the District of Columbia shall institute a proceeding in rem in the United States District Court for the District of Columbia for the closing of such street, road, highway, or alley, or part thereof, and its abandonment for street, highway, or alley purposes, and for the ascertainment of damages and the assessment of benefits resulting from such closing and abandonment. Such proceeding shall be conducted in like manner as proceedings for the condemnation of land for streets, under the provisions of sections 7–202 to 7–212, 7–214 and 7–215, and such closing and abandonment shall be effective when the damages and benefits shall have been so ascertained and the verdict confirmed. (Dec. 15, 1932, 47 Stat. 749, ch. 4, § 5; June 25, 1936, 49 Stat. 1921, ch. 804; June 25, 1948, 62 Stat. 991, ch. 646, § 32(b); May 24, 1949, 63 Stat. 107, ch. 139, § 127.)
